Case 57,563 - Robert S. Coe, Report of Initial Contact - Professor Aaron C. Waters, Department of Earth Sciences, University of California at Santa Cruz

REFS - Headquarters memo on Case 57.563, 30 December 1971
SF-994-71 (Sensitive), Robert S. Coe, 28 December 1971, on Case 54,406

1. On 20 January 1972 we met with Professor Aaron C. Waters, Department of Earth Sciences, University of California at Santa Cruz, and a cordial but not very productive discussion ensued concerning the "US Government official" who showed up on campus during the early part of the summer 1971. Professor Waters could recount few lucid details of what transpired on that particular day. In general, Waters appeared confused and even slightly pixillated over the whole matter; at one point he remarked that he was very pleasantly surprised to discover that Hudson was not the same individual who badgered him a few months ago. How Waters formed the belief that the same man was going to see him at the time of our appointment is unclear, for we explicitly outlined our reason for seeing him when we scheduled the interview. At any rate, the following information, incomplete as it may be, was provided by Waters.

2. The incident occured in late June or early July 1971 just prior to Coe's visit to mainland China. A man came to the door of Waters' office and said that he wished to ask some questions about Robert Coe. He was about five feet eight inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds, had dark hair, and used glasses only for writing. He wore a sport coat and a colored shirt. Neither the name of this individual nor his affiliation can be recalled by Waters for "he mumbled a great deal." Nor can any of the information on the credentials be remembered except that they were similar in design to the ones used by the Agency (we allowed Waters to scrutinize ours) but were not in color. For openers the man asked why Coe was going to China, and then began to ask about Coe's parents. He then inquired about Coe's character and whether he belonged to any subversive organizations. This persistent and offensive line of questioning really turned Waters off, and the man was asked to leave. Waters doubts if the individual were any kind of an impersonator because he has had "similar experiences with the FBI in the past. Needless to say, Waters maintains a high regard for Robert Coe and felt such questions were an infringement upon Coe's privacy and were completely unwarranted.

3. During our conversation with Waters he left the room momentarily and went into Robert Coe's office directly across the alcove. When he returned he explained that he told Coe about our presence and asked him to join us for a few moments. Coe would not. Unless directed otherwise, we plan no further action on this matter.

He praised the heroic Cuban people for the tremendous victories they won under the leadership of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in opposing U.S. imperialist aggression, subversion and interference, defending national independence and state sovereignty and building up their motherland.

He said: This year U.S. imperialism unreasonably detained Cuban fishing boats and fishermen on the high seas on two occasions and savagely attacked a fishermen's village in Cuba and killed innocent inhabitants there, committing one crime after another gainst the Cuban people. The Cuban navy recently captured two pirate ships which participated in the counter-revolutionary activities against Cuba. This is an entirely just action. U.S. imperialism has gone so far as to rampantly bluff and threaten Cuba and other Latin American countries and people who are fighting in defense of their national independence and state sovereignty. The Chinese people strongly condemn U.S. imperialism for its criminal activities against Cuban and other Latin American people and resolutely support the people of Cuba and other Latin American countries in their just struggle against U.S. imperialism.

He said the fact that people of all Latin American countries are joining forces to resist U.S. imperialist aggression and control has become an irresistible historical trend. Whatever tricks it may resort to, U.S. imperialism can never stop the people of Cuba and other Latin American countries in their victorious advance.

Ambassador Jesus Barreiro Gonzalez said: "We are very glad to be invited to attend the gathering this afternoon in commemoration of the 13th anniversary of the victory of our country's liberation, which is filled with fraternal friendship."

He said that January 1, 1959 was a day of special significance. It marked the successful completion of a stage in the struggle for the liberation of Cuba. In a century and more, the ambassador continued, the Cuban people have resisted attempts at colonialist and neo-colonialist domination, the basic hallmark being the liberation wars in 1868 and 1895 against the Spanish colonial yoke and the struggle against U.S. imperialism which attempted to replace Spain and occupy the land of Cuba. He said a new stage began in 1959 after the overthrow of the Batista dictatorial regime which was abetted by the United States.

The ambassador pointed out that the U.S. imperialist government has continued carrying out its policies of aggression, sabotage, subversion, blackmail, economic blockade, invasion and piratical attack against Cuba. But all these schemes have met with the most ignominious failure.

He said that the restoration to the People's Republic of China of her lawful rights in the United Nations and the expulsion of the Chiang Kai-shek clique from the UN is a victory for the people of the world and a failure for the U.S. imperialist government.

A Cuban film "Hundred Years of Struggle" and a Chinese film "The Working Class Creates Miracles" were shown at the reception.

PARTY, STATE OFFICES FETE FOREIGN EXPERTS AT NEW YEAR

Peking NCNA International Service in English 2145 GMT 31 Dec 71 B

[Text] Peking, December 31 (HSINHUA)--The General Office of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China and the Office of the State Council gave a New Year's Eve banquet here today in honor of foreign experts and their wives coming from various countries of the five continents.

Seated at the tables for guests of honor were Rajko Lutovac and his wife, Vasilija, Un Bon Su and his wife, Ha Huu Cy, Frank Coe and his wife, Sol Adler and his wife, Tatsu Tokuda, Rani Karthigesu, Hamid Rashid, Inorz Souvarin and his wife, Mohammed Hassan Aydie, Aysha Amour Zahor, Claudio Cini, Adriana Boltinti, Denise Ly, Jayme Martins, Maria Angelina Picchi, Yaw Ansante, Sid Engst, Joan Chase Hinton, Julian Schuman, Rose Smith, and Leopold Christer and his wife.

Attending the banquet and happy get-together with the foreign friends to greet the militant new year of 1972 were Chou En-lai, member of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and premier of the State Council; Yao Wen-yuan, member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee; Li Hsien-nien, member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and vice premier of the State Council; Chi Teng-kuei, alternate member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee; Keng Piao, member of the CCP Central Committee and head of the International Liaison Department of the CCP Central Committee; Chi Peng-fei, acting foreign minister; Li Po-shih, a leading member of the Bureau of Foreign Experts Affairs; and others.

The banquet was presided over by Wang Tung-hsing, alternate member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and director of the General Office of the CCP Central Committee.

When the leading Chinese party and government comrades entered the banquet hall, they warmly shook hands with the foreign experts and their wives and thanked them for their valuable contributions to China's socialist revolution and construction.

Making a speech at the banquet, Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien extended warm festival greetings and cordial regards to the foreign experts and their wives.

He said: "You experts have come to China from thousands of miles away and have worked diligently in the press, publication, education, health and other departments of our country with your efforts and know-how, you have made valuable contributions to China's socialist revolution and socialist construction and to the support and assistance to the world revolution. Your noble internationalist spirit is well worthy of our emulation. On behalf of the Chinese Communist Party, the Chinese Government and people, I extend to you our sincere gratitude!"

Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien said: "In his solemn statement of May 20, 1970, the Chinese people's great leader Chairman Mao said: 'The danger of a new world war still exists, and the people of all countries must get prepared. But revolution is the main trend in the world today. The development of the world situation in the past year and more has fully proved the correctness of Chairman Mao's wise conclusion. The three Indochinese peoples have won brilliant victories in their war against U.S. aggression and for national salvation. The Palestinian and other Arab peoples are persevering in their struggle against U.S.-Israeli aggression. The Pakistan people are waging a just struggle in defense of state sovereignty and territorial integrity and against aggression and interference.

"The national liberation movements of the peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America are continuing to surge forth vigorously. The revolutionary mass movements of the peoples of Europe, North America and Oceania are developing in depth. Countries want independence, nations want liberation and the people want revolution--this has become an irresistible historical trend. The truculent practice of power politics and hegemony by the superpowers has met with the strong resistance of an increasing number of small and medium countries; the superpowers are beset with internal and external difficulties and are having a tougher and tougher time."

The Chinese vice premier said: "In external affairs, our country has firmly carried out Chairman Mao's proletarian revolutionary line in foreign affairs and won great victories. The exchange of friendly visits between our people and the people of other countries, including the American people, is continuously expanding; and the number of countries which have established diplomatic relations with our country is ever increasing. The vain scheme of the superpowers to blockade and isolate China has gone totally bankrupt!"

He continued: "The domestic situation of our country is also excellent. Since the Ninth Congress and the Second Plenary Session of the Ninth Central Committee of our party, the whole party, the whole army and the whole nation, acting on our great leader Chairman Mao's instruction 'carry out education in ideology and political line', have unfolded a deep-going movement for criticizing revisionism and rectifying the style of work, further heightened their consciousness of class struggle, the struggle between the two lines and of continuing the revolution under the dictatorship of the proletariat, and have won great victories. The struggle-criticism-transformation campaign of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution is continuing to develop in depth. We have reaped bumper harvests for 10 years running. A new upsurge is emerging in industrial production. Prices are stable and the market [is] flourishing. The revolutionary spirit of our people is rising higher than ever. Our socialist motherland is prospering and thriving with each passing day."

Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien wished the experts success in their work and good health. In conclusion, he said: "Let us work together to better promote the mutual understanding and militant friendship between the Chinese people and the people of other countires and support and assist the world revolution!"

The banquet proceeded in a warm and friendly atmosphere. Hosts and guests talked cordially and proposed toasts to the daily consolidation and development of the revolutionary friendship and militant unity of the people of various countries.

Also attending the banquet were leading members of departments under the CCP Central Committee, Chinese Government departments, the Peking Municipal Revolutionary Committee, the Chinese People's Association for Friendship With Foreign Countries and other departments concerned Wang Liang-en, Wu Ching-tung, Ma Wen-po, Yang Te-chung, Tu Wan-jung, Hsieh Hua, Chang Chi-chih, Liu Chien-kung, Cheng Shih-chang, Lu Ying, Li Meng-fu, Liu Fu, Chiu Wei-kao, Liu Chuan-hsin, Wu Yin-hsien, Ting Hsi-lin, Li Ching-chuan, Wang Lei, Chu Kai-yin, Chu Chih-tung and Chiang Shou-li.

L. DETAILS OF MEETING (continued)

1. DELASCIO initiated this meeting with STCLOY/1 to discuss about the following operational matters:-
   a) Can he write to Dr. S.C. SUNG, the Taiwanese bio-chemist in Vancouver, B.C., and invite him down to Los Angeles for a visit?
   b) What is the medical publication he has received which purports a travel of American scientists to Mainland China?
   c) Has he found out the name of that 'Mrs. YANG' who first talked about the travel plans of the American/Chinese engineers?
2. In reply, STCLOY/1 answered as follows:
   a) He can write to Dr. S.C. SUNG, but he does not have a good reason to request for his visit. Unless there is a medical conference or certain occasion of interest to SUNG, STCLOY/1 feels he can not just suggest SUNG to make a trip to see him.
   b) The medical publication which reports the interest of some American scientists in the travel to Mainland China is 'Biomedical News' (copy of the news attached). The II/5-71 issue of the news has published an article written by Harry L. TENNANT entitled 'Scientists Bid For Travel to China', which names Dr. William McElroy, director of the National Science Foundation, and Dr. Philip HANDLER, president of the National Academy of Science, as ones who had suggested to make a trip jointly to China. The article also promotes the cultural exchange of scientists between Mainland China and U.S., and it credits members of two academic committees for their efforts.
   c) The name of that 'Mrs. YANG' is 'Mrs. Paul YANG'. Paul YANG, husband of the woman who first talked about the travel plan of a group of local Chinese engineers to Mainland China, is an engineering staff of Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles. STCLOY/1 does not think that the travel plan as mentioned by Mrs. YANG has materialized yet. Therefore, there is not much to be found out.
3. STCLOY/1 showed DELASCIO two postcards which STGAZER/1 and STPEEK/1 had sent him from Spain. He undertood that STGAZER/1 had returned to Los Angeles a few days ago, and he is going to meet STGAZER/1 to find out when is he going to Canada to bid for travel permission to China. STCLOY/1 also agreed to contact Dr. ROSENFELD to check about their movements as well as new activities of HAN Suyin. STCLOY/1 believed that HAN might play an active role in the near future in the Chinese-American relation developments.
4. DELASCIO sought STCLOY/1's assistance to look for a job for TS'AI Yin-Ying (201-875838), wife of P'AN Han-Sung. STCLOY/1 regretted that he could not help because he does not know directly any hospital laboratory in this area, but he estimated that she should find a position of Lab Assistant to work under a licensed laboratory technician or to work as a clinical assistant in a physician's office if she persists in trying.

M. ACTIONS PLANNED OR REQUIRED - RECOMMENDATIONS:

a. HQ - For information.

b. Local - Please make Xerox copies of Biomedical News and forward to HQ as members of these committees may be good sources to provide us with information about exchanged scientists.

Will see STCLOY/1 to give him the full address of Dr. SUNG because STCLOY/1 has mislaid it. Then will discuss with him again about what reason he can invite SUNG's his visit. Will also pursue the case of Paul YANG and STGAZER/1 and Dr. ROSENFELD.

SECRET

K. ACTIONS (continued)

On 30 June 1971, DELASCIO returned STCLOY/1 with the 'Biomedical News'. At the same time, DELASCIO gave him the business address of Dr. S.C. SUNG, and convinced STCLOY/1 that he could try to write Dr. SUNG, stating that STCLOY/1's office xxxxxxx will soon move to a new address and that STCLOY/1 welcomes SUNG for a visit because SUNG will surely enjoy the new tourist attractions in Los Angeles such as 'The Magic Mountain' and 'The Lion Safari'. STCLOY/1 still doubted that SUNG would spend so much money to make such a trip, but he promised to write this letter inviting him.

Scientists Bid for Travel to China

by Harry L. Tennant

WASHINGTON—Nearly 100 U.S. scientists who are hoping to be China-bound this summer are thread- ray through papers, reports, journals and third country s while they patiently rance from the People's Re- China. This was evident reports that three U. S. have been cleared to enter epped-up activity here in scientific quarters seems to have spurred preparation for what could be an influx into China of U. S. scientific specialists of all types. Early indications point to the possibility that an exchange of citizens between U. S. and China might place the scientist in a priority position over professions of other areas, as well as the general tourist himself.

Meantime, the overall rush was ob[illegible] as by a flood of applications and inquiries from U. S. professors to China's new and only embassy in North America at Ottawa, Canada. The fast-moving breaks came after the two U. S. scientists, Dr. Arthur W. Galston, Yale University plant physiologist, and Dr. Tchan Signer, Massachusetts Institute of Technology biologist, had received clearance. Another scientist, Dr. Robert Coe, geophysicist, University of California at Santa Cruz, also was cleared for entrance.

The National Academy of Sciences said large groups of biochemists and biomedical, biological, and natural scientists are eager to survey the scientific scene. At the same time it was pointed out that Dr. William McElroy, director of the National Science Foundation, and Dr. Philip Handler, president of the National Academy of Sciences, had suggested that they make a trip jointly to China. This view was part of the feeling in science quarters in Washington that an exchange of scientists between both countries would be very beneficial to the two countries even though all sorts of understandings would have to take place. This was the reasoning expressed by President Nixon's science advisor, Dr. Edward Davis, Jr.

Some 10,000 experimental biologists discussed the frontiers of research in physiology, pharmacology, pathology, immunology and nutrition in mid-April when the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology met in Chicago.

Up to this point there has been no official Government effort to initiate exchanges and an early appraisal of this possibility indicates that funds would have to be obtained to finance any sizeable program. Nevertheless, those on the scene say these could probably come from foundations. It is even quite possible that the White House would push for early passage of an emergency request for funds to see that such a scientific venture got underway. The present Administration, which credits itself with the break-through which led to the ping pong matches, is certain to push harder for a more forceful exchange now that the door is slightly open, even if the Administration has to finance an exchange from funds which it might consider of an emergency nature.

The updating of papers on Chinese advancements has been underway for some time. The National Academy of Sciences prepared about 300 papers for just such a possibility in 1968. But the papers remained undisturbed after it became known that an exchange was far in the future.

The Committee on Scholarly Communications with the People's Republic of China, a highly placed group, has been studying the activity intensely. Headed by Dr. John Lindbeck until his recent death, this committee is perhaps the most knowledgeable of any group as to just what is to be found in China, if and when an exchange takes place. Committee members are Professor A. Doak Barnett, Foreign Policy Studies Program, the Brookings Institution, (Chinese Studies); Dr. Horace R. Byers, Academic Vice President, Texas A & M University, (Meteorology); Dr. James Cahill, Department of Art, University of California, Berkeley, (Fine Arts); Professor Jerome A. Cohen, Langdell Hall, Harvard Law School, (Law, Chinese Studies); Dr. Paul Doty, Department of Chemistry, Harvard University, (Physical Chemistry), and Dr. Alexander Eckstein, Department of Economics, University of Michigan, (Economics). Dr. Eckstein heads another group interested in scholarly exchanges, the National Committee on United States-China Relations, and is a well known authority on Chinese economics.

Others on the Scholarly Communications committee are: Dr. Caryl P. Haskins, President, Carnegie Institution of Washington, (Physiology, Genetics); Dr. Gerald J. Holton, Department of Physics, Harvard University, (Physics); Dr. Walsh McDermott, Department of Public Health, Cornell University Medical College, (Medicine); Dr. Emil Smith, Department of Biological Chemistry, University of California, Los Angeles, (Biochemistry, Biophysics); Dr. Kenneth V. Thimann, Provost and Professor of Biology, University of California, Santa Cruz, (Botany, Plant Physiology), and Dr. John A. Wheeler, Palmer Physical Laboratory, Princeton University, (Physics).

Medical Progress

Despite a 25-year period of no exchange of information between the U.S. and China, a vast amount of detailed data has been accumulated, all indicating that China has again stabilized itself after the turmoil of 1966. Since 1969 over 2,000 types of Chinese traditional and Western medicines have been reduced in price by an average of 30 per cent. Imports of scientific equipment and chemicals such as pharmaceuticals, fertilizers and synthetic fibers have dropped because of China's improving capability to produce its own instruments, machinery and chemicals. This accounts in some measure for the fact that the Department of Commerce does not expect a vast amount of medical goods and equipment to be exported when and if the Administration relaxes controls on movement of non-strategic goods to China.

Western Influence

The Autumn Canton Trade Fair recently gave some indication of the trends in China. Among the changes noted were the 30 per cent increase in customers and the Chinese favoritism for West European countries, especially France and Italy, at Japan's expense. Exhibits at the fair reflected numerous technological advances over the previous year. Among the displays were silicon-controlled automatic electronic and punch-tape-controlled tools, measuring and testing instruments, oscilloscopes, microscopes, and a wide range of synthetic plastics, resins and such basic drugs as antibiotics, sulphur drugs and vitamins.

The revolution in Chinese education has produced many schools such as the Shantung University of Science and Technology in Tsinan which opened last October.

Chairman Mao's thinking along medical lines is responsible for the "cooperative medical service" intended to bring medical treatment to all rural areas. It has been reported that one-third of a million city medical workers and graduates of medical colleges have settled in rural areas while 400,000 others were organized into mobile medical teams to tend rural areas. This has prompted shifting of some hospitals from large metropolitan centers to the country. The Hailung area, it is reported, has set up a so-called "red medical network" designed to enable each production team and factory to have its own highly publicized "barefoot doctors."

In another area all medical school graduates have been dispatched to the countryside and one-half of the medical workers in Harbin, Tsitshihar, Mutanchiang and Chiamusze have been sent to the rural and mountainous regions. "In this spirit," the Chinese say, "they have converted rural homes to allow for surgical operations."

Curing the 'Incurable'

Other reports point out that the integration of western medicine and Chinese traditional medicine has resulted in successful treatment of many common and recurrent diseases as well as curing some of the "incurable" diseases such as osteomatosis, epilepsy and chronic laryngitis proliforans.

A mass program in which Chinese traditional medicine and medicinal herbs are being used to prevent and treat diseases and heal injuries is sweeping the country, according to reports. Several instances of rejoining severed limbs to the body by using herbal drugs have been described. As part of this broad movement "red medical counters" have been set up in Canton's state-run drugstores to treat minor injuries and illnesses and recurring diseases by several methods including acupuncture and injections.

To assist in the struggle against disease a new type of diadynamic current stimulator used for back strains, sprains and neuralgia has been developed. Transistors substitute for electronic tubes and ordinary dry batteries for alternating current, the stimulator no larger than a book. A transistor device with a freezing microtome and a unit for cryotherapy has been developed, lessening the time for making thin sections for rapid biopsy inspections and used in the treatment of skin diseases and surgical procedures in dealing with warts and tiny vascular tumors.

Population Control

Shanghai recently has been the scene of posters urging young people to marry later in life, prompting observers to believe the Chinese are taking serious note of the population increase. At a Tokyo family planning conference recently it was reported that the mainland China urban birth rate was down. If this is true, it is the result of a 15-year birth control campaign. Through a combination of contraception, abortion, sterilization and encouragement of the late marriages, China is said to have almost halved its earlier population growth pace.

New developments in the pharmaceutical industry also have been reported. Of particular pride are drugs made from indigenous herb medicines. A new medical herb in Yunnan proved effective in curing 12 cases of acute hepatitis and streptomycin and another antibiotic have been produced from active carbon.

On the research front, there is continued interest in prevention of pollution and re-utilization of waste products. In Shanghai it is reported that an electrolysis plant made six different commodities including cryolite, pure soda and liquified ammonium chloride from waste materials.

Peking Pollution

According to published reports, Peking shares the Western world's concern for environmental control. Methods for anti-pollution measures include producing new substances from chemicals extracted from waste materials for medical and commercial purposes, using unwanted materials from large-sized factories to construct smaller industries, and maximizing possible usage and resusage of material products in order to economize in production costs are under study.

In a controlled set of laboratory experiments using operant conditioning techniques, five of seven patients with moderate to severe hypertension were able to reduce their systolic blood pressure by 9 per cent through their conscious reaction to external stimuli such as tones, lights and projected slides.

The reductions in blood pressure occurred during a series of studies under the direction of a group of four Harvard investigators in the behavioral laboratory of the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory and the Channing Laboratory, Boston City Hospital.

2 U.S. SCIENTISTS WILL VISIT CHINA

Biologists Critical of War Said Either to Be There or About to Go From Hanoi

11 May 71 NYT

By WALTER SULLIVAN

Two American biologists are reported by their colleagues to be in China or about to go there from Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. A third American, a geophysicist from the University of California at Santa Cruz, is also said to have received permission to visit Peking shortly.

The biologists are Dr. Arthur W. Galston, professor of biology at Yale University, and Dr. Ethan Signer, an associate professor of biology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The geophysicist is Dr. Robert Coe, whose father has been living in Peking. Dr. Galston is a specialist in plant physiology who has been an outspoken critic of American defoliation in Vietnam. Dr. Signer, a specialist in the genetics of bacterial viruses, has also been an active critic of the war in Vietnam.

Few, if any, American scientists have been able to visit the Chinese mainland since the Communists took control in 1949. For a number of years scholarly journals were exchanged, but in about 1966 with the onset of the Cultural Revolution this flow was cut off. In fact, publication of many journals in China was apparently suspended during that period of tumult.

However, a trickle of publications out of China has continued, primarily to scientists in countries other than the United States. Thus there has been a limited flow of information on developments in such fields as astronomy, archeology and biochemistry.

Some Western Visitors

There have also been some scientific visitors from Western nations whose relations with China were less hostile than those of the United States, notably Britain, France and Canada. In recent years such visits have become rare. However, it is reported that Dr. Pierre Chouard, professor of botany at the Sorbonne in Paris, has now received clearance for a trip.

The sudden opening of China to visits by American journalists a few weeks ago has raised hopes for a breakdown of the barriers against scientists. Last week the Committee for the Development of Scholarly Communications with the People's Republic of China met in Washington to consider possible action.

The committee was headed by Dr. John Lindbeck, director of the East Asian Institute of Columbia University, until his death in January, and a new chairman has not been chosen. It represents the National Academy of Sciences and other learned societies. Under consideration by the committee is an invitation to some Chinese scientists to meetings to be held in this country next summer.

Another group interested in scholarly exchanges is the National Committee on United States-China Relations. It is headed by Dr. Alexander Eckstein of the University of Michigan, an authority on Chinese economics, and includes businessmen and retired government officials as well as scholars.

Of major importance to the scholarly community will be the restoration of exchanges of specialized journals. Visitors to China have found American journals on file at research centers, but the flow has been one-way and, apparently, of a limited nature.

'American Friends' at Rallies in Peking

CX

Special to The New York Times

HONG KONG, July 10 — Frank Coe and Sol Adler, two aging former officials of the United States Treasury Department, appear to be filling the social niche formerly occupied in Peking by Anna Louise Strong, the 84-year-old American leftist who died last March after years of service in the cause of Chinese Communism.

For the second time in little more than a month Mr. Coe and Mr. Adler were listed this week in Peking reports sent here by Hsinhua, the Chinese Communist press agency, as "American friends" present at a mass function along with top Chinese and foreign officials.

The function, on Tuesday, was a sports performance before 20,000 people in an indoor stadium arranged in honor of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, former Chief of State of Cambodia who now heads a Cambodian government in exile in Peking.

Mao's Wife Present

Tung Pi-wu, the aging deputy head of state; Premier Chou En-lai; Chiang Ching, the wife of Mao Tse-tung; and Huang Yung-sheng, chief of staff of the armed forces, were among the Chinese officials present. In the Prince's entourage were his premier, Penn Nouth, his wife, Princess Monique, and three sons and others of the Cambodian community in Peking.

Associated Press

Frank Coe

The previous occasion at which Mr. Coe and Mr. Adler were listed in attendance as "American friends" was a Peking mass rally on May 21 held to mark the statement made by Chairman Mao the revious day calling for world evolution against "United ates imperialism."

Mr. Coe and Mr. Adler fig-red in Washington investiga-ions of alleged Communist subversives in the United States Government in the late 1940's and early 1950's, at the time of the Alger Hiss case. They have both been in Peking for many years and seem to have escaped serious trouble during the Cultural Revolution purges in 1967-68.

Wives Also in Peking

Whether they have helped the Chinese Communists as financial specialists is not known, but it is thought here they have mainly been employed in editing English-language news and propaganda material.

Both have wives in Peking. Mr. Adler is author of a book on the economy of Communist China.

There are a few other Americans in Peking in good standing with the regime there, but only Mr. Coe and Mr. Adler have been listed as "American friends" at the two functions. This is believed to indicate that they have been selected to act as the American representation at public affairs at which the Chinese wish to give the impression of broad international participation.

I have been informed by a source which may be considered reliable that an American of the name /fnu/ COE who arrived in Prague in August and stayed there until September 1961, ostensibly as a tourist, had his hotel room booked beforehand by the Party headquarters /he lived in the new hotel "International"/.

During his stay there he had several conferences with the Communist Americans resident in Prague, George S. WHEELER and /fnu/ CLARK. COE is reportedly a fattish man in the fifties with dark hair and rather smallish /about 165 cm/.

Regarding the recent U.S. defector to CSSR, Prof. Charles JUNGE, who came to Prague with wife and child, everything was reportedly prepared before his arrival. His son Larry had a Czech tutor after arrival and the hotel room had been booked.

Coe Calls Charges 'Outrageous, False'

By Herbert Foster
United Press Reporter

V. Frank Coe, former secretary of the International Monetary Fund, yesterday denounced as "outrageous and false" charges that he was a fugitive and once tried to regulate Austrian currency valuations to favor the Communists.

FRANK COE

He read his statement to reporters after secret questioning by the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee. Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S.Dak.) said Coe refused to say under oath whether he is a Red.

Apparently there was little testimony concerning charges by two former United States officials in Austria that Coe tried in 1949 to block negotiations to devalue the Austrian shilling because Communist Czechoslovakia had objected.

Mundt gave Coe until Friday to go over his records. At that time, he will be questioned in private again before testifying in public.

Coe told reporters the subcommittee had released "two serious allegations concerning me ... that I was a fugitive, and that I in some manner had attempted, in concert with the Russians or Czechs in 1949, to have the Austrian currency devalued in a way desired by those governments.

"Those allegations are outrageous and false," he said.

Mundt said Coe testified that he is not a spy now nor was he one last December 2. But he said the witness refused to say whether he had been a spy on December 1, when he was questioned by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Last Friday, Mundt announced that the subcommittee was unable to locate Coe and was asking the Attorney General to search for him.

The 46-year-old Coe said he has been out of work since his forced resignation from the Monetary Fund last December and had traveled in Canada, Cuba, the Bahamas and Mexico looking for a job. He would not say why his wife did not know his whereabouts.

McCarthy Suggests Borders Of Nation Be Closed to Coe

By G. Milton Kelly
Associated Press Reporter

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) suggested yesterday that the State Department "immediately close the borders" to Frank Coe, saying the former secretary of the International Monetary Fund should not be allowed to leave the country.

"I think he is an extremely dangerous man," McCarthy said after Coe, a former Federal financial expert, refused to say whether he is a Communist or was a Communist spy while holding his $20,000-a-year job with the Monetary Fund.

Coe protested what he called McCarthy's "command" to the State Department.

McCarthy told him he had not commanded the State Department to do anything but had suggested that Coe be forbidden to leave the country.

The exchange came at a hearing by McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Coe was called before a televised public hearing of the subcommittee to answer testimony that in 1949 he had tried to block a revaluation of the Austrian currency opposed by Communist Czechoslovakia.

He came with a lengthy prepared statement in which he denied he had a hand in any such intrigue.

The currency matter was scarcely mentioned, however, as the Senate investigators went over his record and fired questions at him about Communist Party membership and espionage.

McCarthy asked Coe if he had contacted any member of the Russian secret police on a recent trip to Mexico.

Coe replied that he saw a great many people in Mexico, but so far as he knew none was a member of the Soviet secret police.

... in exchange with McCarthy

Asked if he had met with any members of the Communist Party in Mexico, Coe refused to answer. He said that to do so might tend to incriminate him.

Were any of the persons he met there members of an espionage ring? McCarthy asked.

Again Coe replied that so far as he knew none was.

It was at that point that McCarthy suggested to L. M. Drury, a State Department security officer present as an observer, that the borders of the United States immediately be closed to Coe.

Coe, 46, is a witness McCarthy's group has been trying to get before it for a long time.

Coe, who showed up Wednesday, denied he was a fugitive. He said he had been looking into employment possibilities in Mexico, Cuba and elsewhere. He resigned his well-paid job with the Monetary Fund last December 2 after refusing to tell another Senate group whether he was a Communist.

Coe testified he is "not engaged in espionage now" and was not last December 2. But he refused, on grounds that the answer might tend to incriminate him, to say whether he was so engaged on December 1.

Datelined: New York, Nov. 29, (AP).

"A cryptic note hinting that the Russians obtained plans for two prewar American superbattleships was read today at an explosive session of Alger HISS' perjury trial.

"The Government also bared secret reports intended to show how a fantastic Soviet underground web was woven deep into Washington in the early New Deal days to influence United States Government Policy.

"Both disclosures came in the form of reports by Government officials of talks with Whittaker CHAMBERS, chief accuser of HISS and former courier for a Russian spy ring.

"The battleship note, jotted by Assistant Secretary of State Adolph BERLE in 1939, read:

'Plans for two superbattleships -- secured in 1937 -- who gave KARP -- brother-in-law of MOLOTOV -- working with Scott FERRIS got this released -- now; naval architect working on it, why; FIELD was original contact. He introduced Z to GOMPERTZ (Hedda) -- Z relationship was casual -- shall excuse? ---where is Hedda GOMPERTZ? --Z and FIELD supposed to have been both members of party.'

"The Z referred to an individual whose name was blacked out. Defense Attorney Claude B. CROSS said he did not object to the document but thought use of the name would affect the reputation of a dead man.

"MOLOTOV, former Russian Foreign Minister, now is Deputy Premier.

"A Hedda GUMPERZ MASSING is a former wife of Gerhart EISLER, who fled the U.S. last spring after being identified as the No. 1 Communist in this country.

"Mrs. MASSING has been described as a 'cooperative witness' in post-war American spy hunts.

"There was no clew to the identity of "FIELD" or the "Scott FERRIS" mentioned.

FORM 867 USE PREVIOUS EDITIONS. SECRET (7-46)

"CHAMBERS has testified that he approached BERLE in 1939 to warn him of Communist activities in the U.S.

"CHAMBERS has also accused HISS of feeding him State Department secrets before the war in wholesale fashion. HISS was indicted for perjury when he denied ever giving CHAMBERS state documents or even seeing him after January 1, 1937.

"HISS was tried for perjury last spring but a jury split eight for conviction and four for acquittal, and a new trial was ordered.

"The second report in the form of twin memos on the underground was full of some of the names from Franklin D. ROOSEVELT's early New Deal. The individuals were described as 'anti-Administration' at the time.

"The names came out in memos written by Raymond MURPHY, Security officer of the State Department, who made notes of two talks in 1945 and 1946 with CHAMBERS.

"The underground's purpose was said in the memos to be 'far more important and cunning' than spying.

"'.......... each member (was) to advance as high as possible in the Government to shape legislation favorable to the program of the Communist government,' read the hitherto secret reports.

"Named in the memos were: Alger HISS and his brother, Donald (HISS); Harold WARE, Lee PRESSMAN, Henry COLLINS, Charles KRAMER (KRIVITZKY), Helen WARE, Alice MENDHAM, Harry Dexter WHITE, Nathan KAPLAN, Rose WEINSTEIN, Nathan WITT, John ABT, Eleanor NELSON, Nat PERLOW, and persons identified by their last names only, as CDLER, GLASSER AND COE.

"The guiding genius of the entire underground was identified as Hungarian-born J. PETERS, a 'little dark fellow, small feet and wavy black hair.'

"Top man and founder of the 10-man Washington cells was said to be the late Harold WARE, who died in 1936, and was allegedly succeeded by Nathan WITT and later by John ABT.

"Immediately below him in order of importance, the reports charged, were Lee PRESSMAN, former general counsel of the CIO, and Alger HISS, later to become a top-level State Department aide.

"The memos said HISS' job 'was never to make converts -- his job was to mess up policy.'

"The Government aides whom CHAMBERS accused were said in the memos to have 'arranged among themselves a program committing this Government to a policy in keeping with the desires of the Communists.'

"Underground headquarters in Washington, the memos said, included 'a violin study near Dupont Circle run by Helen WARE, (and) a school on the outskirts of Washington run by Alice MENDHAM.'

"CHAMBERS was quoted as saying he entered 'the Washington picture' in 1935 and left it and the party at the end of 1937.

"'The heads of the various underground groups in Washington who met with PETERS,' the memos continued, 'were the HISSES, KRAMER (KRIVITZKY), Henry COLLINS who was either a secretary or treasurer of the group; John ABT, Lee PRESSMAN, Nat PERLOW and Nat WITT.

"'These men met regularly at special meetings, with the exception of Donald HISS, who did not have an organization. They headed parallel organizations......'

"The memos alleged there were other underground Communist groups in Washington at the time, 'but this was the elite policy-making, top-level group.'

"'It was not a spy ring,' read the records, 'but one far more important and cunning because its members helped to shape policy in their departments.'

"The memos described Henry COLLINS, as an employee of the forestry division of the Agriculture Department at the time and said he took the lead in deliverying Government documents to CHAMBERS.

"In testimony after the memos were read, CHAMBERS said sailors or stewards of the North German Lloyd Line usually took Government secrets to Europe for the ring."

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, WH/COG

SUBJECT: James C. Wray

1. I called Mr. James C. Wray today to determine his reason for having called the Agency on 27 February regarding Antonio CUESTA Del Valle's patent application. At that time Wray had stated that as a patent attorney he was representing CUESTA who had an application pending on which some $140 in fees was due.

2. Wray advised that he had been retained by CUESTA several years ago to file an application concerned with a high speed boat on which a patent was ready to issue upon payment of $140 in filing fees. He stated further that as a consequence of CUESTA's subsequent capture he had been unable to communicate with him and that he had failed in his efforts to interest CUESTA's friends in assuming responsibility for the fees. Wray readily accepted my representations that the Agency had no responsibility in the matter. According to him, he had called us merely as a matter of last resort.

3. I found Wray's description of the boat's configuration and attributes to be interesting. While emphasizing that we had no responsibility for his client's present situation or for his fees, I suggested that he might want to provide me with the boat's specifications. Wray accepted this suggestion. My thought here was that an item of this nature might be of interest to SOD/Maritime Branch.

CUIS Recruitment of IDENTITY

ACTION REQUIRED REFERENCES

1. On 8 and 13 June 1967 the local LNERGO officer who is handling the *IDENTITY case informed a JMWAVE officer that she had been recruited by the CUIS on her recent visit to Cuba. LNERGO requests that the knowledge of this information be kept to a minimum, for they intend to operate her as a double agent. LNERGO does not intend to disseminate any information on the case, at this time; however, the following information was provided so that JMWAVE could furnish LNERGO with traces and comments:

A. IDENTITY received permission from U.S. and Cuban authorities to travel to Cuba to visit her imprisoned husband. She arrived in Cuba on 7 April 1967 and *(fnu) INFANTE of the MININT met her at the airport. In general, INFANTE was her escort; however, she also had to keep Tita (lnu) at *telephone number 30-2056 informed of her movements. *Enrique ECHEVARRIA was also assigned to IDENTITY's case and she thought possibly that he was INFANTE's superior officer. She described ECHEVARRIA as a DSE officer who had formerly been in the U.S. and who had some type of a back ailment.

B. *Omar HERNANDEZ was in charge of her husband's case and *Raul ALFONSO was his assistant. IDENTITY said that her husband was normally kept at the Campo Libertad Hospital, not at the main building, but at a small building on the hospital grounds. She visited him frequently at the hospital and on one occasion they met in an office at the Villa Marista Detention Center. This office had*telephone numbers 40-3535 and 40-3536.

C. On 13 April INFANTE made the recruitment pitch to IDENTITY. He said the pitch was on behalf of the DSE and would benefit her and her husband. He said if she would successfully report on anti-Castro activities in Miami, and especially activities of the Commando L, for a period of six months they would release her husband from custody; and after three years of reporting they would grant him permission to depart from Cuba. She said that she certainly wanted to help her husband; however, she did not have any information regarding her husband's activities nor information about anti-Castro activities in Miami. INFANTE instructed her to just do her best and he thought everything would work out all right.

D. For the next few days, INFANTE debriefed her on her family, friends, work, etc.

E. From 20 thru 22 April she was picked-up daily by INFANTE and taken to a safehouse in the Marianao district of Havana for training. Somewhere along the route, they would stop and pick-up the instructor, *Pascual (LNU). Pascual gave IDENTITY training in document photography, development, and techniques in the collection of information. She was instructed in the use of a single lens reflex camera and although she claimed to have done very poorly, Pascual assured her, that with more practice, she would do OK. He told her to purchase a camera and two goose neck table lamps with 100 watt bulbs on her return to Miami and practice until she became proficient.

NK [illegible]

F. IDENTITY was instructed to print or typewrite (using all uppercase letters) her reports as she obtained the information, hold them and every fifteen days photograph them, develop the film, destroy the reports, and hold the negatives. Every six months she would take all of the negatives to New York and deliver them to *Chafik Homero SAKER Zonni (201-335014) at the Cuban U.N. Mission. Her first assigned meeting with SAKER was scheduled for any work day between 28 September and 2 October 1967.

G. IDENTITY was told that she would have no further contacts with the DSE in Cuba, but should she have any serious trouble, she could write to *"Rafaela Domenech S.
Avenida 41 # 6011
Ent. 68 y 70, Ceiba,
Marianao, Havana, Cuba"

NK; which might be related to DGI [illegible]

She was told to make up a false name and return address and sign the letter with the first name used in the return address. She did not receive a code name, was told nothing about SW, was not promised money nor expenses, and was not given any further information or training.

[This report was developed by an Air Force AFNIN representative assigned to the office of preparation.]

1. My secretary recently returned from a 17-day visit to Havana, Cuba. Through conversation, with her, I learned of her visit and permission to visit her husband, Antonio Cuesta Valle, a political prisoner of the Cuban government.

2. Cuesta, who was active in an anti-GOC movement, was taken prisoner on 29 May 66 in company of four other men, while on an infiltration mission. While trying to escape he supposedly blew up his boat and as a result of the explosion he lost his left hand at the wrist. He was captured along with Eugenio Saldivar Cadena, and both are presently held prisoners at the Military Hospital in Marianao, Havana.

3. While in Havana she was permitted, on a daily basis, to visit with her husband in his hospital cell. She was permitted to visit alone with him on one occasion in a room that had several mirrors and for a period of approximately 15 minutes. The remainder of her visits were in the presence of her assigned escort or the guard assigned to her husband's ward. She knew her escort as "Infante," and he was always dressed in civilian clothes. He was most polite and courteous at all times. She was told what hours she could visit her husband by phone each specific day, and her escort would pick her up and take her to the hospital.

4. I was told that her husband has been given the best treatment available and that he had no complaints in that respect. He is suffering from advanced active cataracts and is almost blind. He has been treated by two Soviet doctors, but due to the language barrier proper treatment was not administered and the Soviets became very angry at the nurses at the hospital. Considering his background he is being treated like a VIP. He was told that a Cuban specialist is going to take his case in the near future. He said that his food is very good and generous servings are the order of the day. By direct order of Fidel he is furnished a box of the best cigars, and they are replenished each time the box becomes empty. During a Sunday afternoon he and his wife were taken to the beach, complete with a picnic lunch, in company of four guards that kept a distance of about 100 feet.

5. He has not been formally charged and she was told that because of his condition a date could not be set. However, she was told not to worry because Fidel was a kind man and would be most lenient with his case. She was also told that as far as the Cuban government was concerned she could visit with him again at any time in the future.

6. She stayed with family members of her husband and was permitted to go anywhere she liked when not visiting her husband, but because of fear she stayed in her quarters.

Honorable J. Walter Yeagley
Assistant Attorney General
Department of Justice
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Yeagley:

By letter of 5 January 1966, you advised that the Department is contemplating prosecutive action against certain individuals involved in the hit-and-run raid conducted in the Havana Harbor area in November 1965. In this connection, you requested our comments relative to any past or current interest this Agency might have had or has in Antonio CUESTA Del Valle and whether disclosure of that interest in the event of prosecution would be detrimental to its operations. In addition, you also requested to be advised whether this Agency has or ever had an operational interest in Jorge MAS Canosa or his anti-Castro organization, the Cuban Representation In Exile (RECE).

This Agency has no present operational interest in CUESTA or MAS, although it did have in times past. We do not believe that disclosure of these past interests would have any serious consequences for the Agency.

For your information, with 303 Committee approval, this Agency does have a relationship with the RECE pursuant to which limited financial support is provided for the maintenance of its Miami office. While MAS should not be knowledgeable of this fact, any statements he might make should not affect our relationship with that organization.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Lawrence R. Houston
General Counsel

1. Mr. Bladergroen of OGC phoned on 12 January. After checking back with Dept. of Justice he learned that latter is in contact with Army concerning Cuesta. He suggested I not tell Army this but tell them that Justice has an interest in the man.

2. This date I called Maykovich who was well aware of the Justice interest. He said that Justice was now waiting for an assessment of the man by Army.

1. According to Luis Diaz, a member of Comandos L, a militant Cuban exile organization, Antonio Cuesta del Valle has been in Puerto Rico for several months attempting to set up a camp there for training Cuban exiles. He has also been attempting to obtain permission from the Dominican Republic to use the Dominican camp which was used by Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, a military leader of the Segundo Frente Nacional del Escambray (SFNE, Second National Front of the Escambray), and has been making regular trips to the Dominican Republic from Puerto Rico for that purpose.

2. On 3 February 1965, Ramon Font Saumell, second in command of Comandos L, told Diaz that the recent accusations made against the top Dominican military personnel by Gutierrez after his capture in Cuba in January had jeopardized his organization's good relations with the Dominican Government.

SUBJECT: SAUREL, Jean K.
DOB: 17 December 1929
POB: Port au Prince, Haiti
VISA: Haitian

1. Reference is made to the I-57 form regarding Subject who entered the United States on 2 October 1964. The files of this office contain the following pertinent information.

2. According to another office of this Agency, a Pan American Airways employee who spends considerable time in Haiti stated that during her many trips there she learned Subject has demanded and received things from members of the Ton Ton Macoutes (TTM, President DUVALIER's internal Security Force). One incident occurred at a DUVALIER rally held at the Presidential Palace on 1 May 1964. A palace guard refused to allow Subject to leave the grounds while someone was speaking. SAUREL called a member of the TTM, demanded to be released, and was allowed to leave. On 20 September 1964, a subsource of unknown reliability, whose family was well acquainted with Subject, commented that Subject was a member of the TTM.

3. According to a report received in September 1964 from an untested source, Subject, a former employee of Pan American Airways in Port-au-Prince who was recently named Director of the Haitian Tourist Bureau in New York, is an agent of President DUVALIER. DUVALIER is counting heavily on SAUREL because of the latter's experience in dealing with American personalities and situations.

4. In a report dated 23 June 1964, a Pan American Airways employee who spends considerable time in Haiti advised another office of this Agency she attended a cocktail party in Port-au-Prince in late November 1963. Other guests included Jean and Susanne SAUREL and George and Jeanne DEMCHRENSHILDT. [This office has previously furnished the Federal Bureau of Investigation with information concerning the DEMOHRENSCHILDT's (file 100-32965) who were acquainted with Lee Harvey OSWALD.] Although it was not clear to Source if Subject and his wife were personally acquainted with the DEMCHRENSCHILDT's, the SAURELS provided the following information about George DEMOHRENSCHILDT at the party:

a. He is of Polish descent or citizenship.

b. At the time of the KENNEDY assassination, he had a $100 thousand contract with the Haitian Government to explore the country's natural resources.

c. He is said to be a geologist.

5. It is requested that the above information not be disseminated further without the prior approval of this Agency.

22 September 1959

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Conversations with REICHHARDT, 8, 9, 16, 17 September 1959

1. On 8 September Reichhardt phoned to report the following:

a. He took Marcos DIAZ Lanz to the office of INS on Monday, 7 September to take care of his immigration status. (Comment: I was later called by Bill COTTER of the Alien Branch, OS concerning this. COTTER said that when they reported this to INS - that service said that AHRENS, the INS man in Miami has told them that DIAZ' hearing had already been held shortly after his arrival. COTTER implied that Bernie was not reporting accurately on the situation in Miami. I have not repeated this to Bernie, because Alien Branch seems to be in something of a tissy in regard to the new people in INS with whom they are dealing as a result of recent transfers of personnel.)

b. Bernie asked me to clarify what I wanted in the way of an affidavit of support for the wife of Marcos DIAZ. I dictated a simple statement and told Bernie to have it notarized and accompanied by a bank statement or similar document indicating WILLIAMS' ability to support Mrs. D should it become necessary.

c. Bernie reported that Mrs. Catherine TAAFE, the international busybody claims that she is going to Cuba on our instigation. She is accompanied by her entire family. This information came from the Miami Chief of Detectives to the OO Representative.

d. Bernie asked how he could identify himself to the three evacuees in Miami we have instructed him to contact re going to the Dominican Republic on our behalf. I told him to use Dave Morales' name.

e. He asked me for information on our dispatch to Cuba in connection with the PRQs for AMCOO and the gift. I told him I'd check and let him know. (Comment: The same day I saw a dispatch from Havana answering the questions, an info copy of which went to Bernie.)

2. I phoned Reichhardt on 9 September and we discussed the following matters:

a. I told him about the visit of Angel ROS. He said he had talked with BYERS on this matter and that BYERS 04 reported that ROS came to Miami on 1 September and left on 3 September. 04 BYERS thinks ROS is a secret police agent. Bernie is to see BYERS for details on 04 this. (Comment: Reichhardt's report was received on 11 September.)

b. Reichhardt asked me to check on his money situation since no deposit has been made.

c. Reichhardt asked if I had seen copies of the news letter being distributed by Emilio NUNEZ Portuondo called Latin American Events. NUNEZ is listed as editor and publisher and the firm is Latin American Affairs Inc., 1028 Connecticut Avenue, Washington. The first issue was published on 7 August. The 17 August issue includes a list of Communists. (Comment: I am arranging for the CIA library to procure loan copies of the publication for me to review.)

d. NUNEZ was in Miami last week. ORTEGA did not see him, but according to ORTEGA's sources, NUNEZ strongly implied that he has succeeded in obtaining US support in the Departments of State and Defense including commitments for training sites in the United States. NUNEZ also said that he is in touch with Col. King. This was covered in UFGA-15.

3. On 15 September I talked with Reichhardt concerning the following:

a. Ricardo LORIE saw ROS. Bernie will see LORIE about this.
b. Bernie will see FOX this week.
c. The addresses for the two evacuees who came by way of El Salvador are not correct. I told Bernie to try to find out where they are from the third, with whom he is in contact.
d. Bernie asks that his local travel order be renewed. (Comment: I checked this and the order has been renewed through 31 December 1959.)

4. On 16 September the following matters were discussed with Reichhardt:

SECRET

a. SALVENTIS: He called in the morning to ask for information on this man. According to Reichhardt, LORIE says that he was fired from the DIER for anti-Communist activities and was expected to arrive in Miami last night. LORIE is worried about him because of his previous post as No. 2 man in the DIER. The Cuban card confirms that he held the latter post.

b. De LORIE says that he knows ROS well, and likes him. They met in Miami last week. ROS is in Miami again. ROS is principally interested in getting Reynaldo BLANCO out of Cuba. ROS says he was told the American Embassy can have no part of this but suggested he (ROS) ask De LORIE to see his Miami contact about assistance. Bernie discouraged LORIE about helping BLANCO. Bernie feels it is strange that Station Havana would tell ROS about LORIE's Miami contact and that the former might have mis-represented what was said. (Comment: We cannot positively identify BLANCO - although such an individual was listed by LORIE and the DIAZ Lanz as an Army officer. He may have been one of the 1957 regular army plotters.)

c. LORIE also asked help in converting Pesos to dollars. Bernie did not give him an answer on this.

d. LORIE said he wants to establish contact with ROS. The plan we have so far only envisages communication from ROS in Havana to LORIE. While Bernie would prefer to handle the matter personally, I think I convinced him that this is unfeasible because of the danger of provocation. He therefore suggested having 04 Cheesman brought into the picture, anonymously, as an individual who would get in touch with LORIE when there is something for him from ROS - and who will call LORIE periodically to find out if LORIE wants to transmit anything to ROS. This sounds OK to me. Bernie will see CHEESMAN within the next few days on this. 04

e. LORIE told Bernie that Cuban opposition views BONSAL's trip to the US as a victory for the opposition - but that if BONSAL returned to Cuba they will view the return as a triumph for CASTRO.

f. According to an OO source Mrs. Katherine TAAFE will be returning to the US from Cuba in a few days. She told at least one American in Cuba, Harry Rosenfeld, that she is working for CIA.

g. In connection with my earlier query re the report from Cuba that the Revolutionary Air Force is planning to remove a couple of planes from the US to Cuba without an export permit, Bernie got the following information 04 from BYERS. A Cuban air force mission is in Miami concerning the aircraft. The Cubans are happy with the 04 way BYERS has handled things for them even though they don't have the export license yet. BYERS has been asked 04 to a party in Havana to be given by Juan Almeida in his honor. He may go on Friday. Do we have requirements for him?

5. On the morning of 17 August I phoned Bernie to tell him about the followup on the report concerning the planes (Haba 2653). He said Keynolds 03 phoned him on the evening of 16 September about this. Bernie said he passed the information to Customs, who said that since the Cuban Air Force are the owners of the planes (they are AT 6's) there is little that can be done if they file flight plans for a local flight and then leave for Cuba. They asked Bernie for suggestions and he said he had none. BYERS reports that 04 the Cubans asked him if he could find American pilots for the planes - and he said he'd try, but actually has no intention of doing so. BYERS 04 was impressed at the speed and accuracy of our information, but believes that the Cuban Government is being precipitate in expecting to get the planes out.

REFERENCE(S)
UMWA-11

1. QDCHAR was asked first to bring me up to date on what he and the others in his group have been doing and he reported that they were not doing much of anything except waiting. Waiting, first, for some funds which they are expecting to come primarily from the sale of the C-46; and, second, waiting for the establishment of some better communication with their contacts in Cuba.

2. With regard to the aircraft, DALLM told me on this date that he believes he does now have a sale for the aircraft and he thinks the sale price will be between US$50 and US$55 thousand.

3. QDCHAR said that QDCOVE has communicated with someone (he wasn't sure of the name) in an attempt to solicit funds from people in Cuba. QDCHAR presented this in the light that QDCOVE 02 was "authorizing" some people in Cuba to go ahead and solicit funds. In this connection, QDCHAR mentioned that at one time in the past Julio LOBO (note: this name has never been mentioned in any previous conversations with this group) had considered donating US$100 thousand for the air force school which QDCHAR was promoting at that time. but apparently became frightened of the deal and nothing along this line materialized. QDCHAR said that he was hopeful that sometime he would be able to re-establish contact with LOBO. All this reference is entirely coincidental to my suggestions made to LEBANOW that I might try to bring this group together with Julio LOBO. Having learned of this previous connection, I want to revive this idea and proceed with the plan to bring these two together.

4. If and when they are able to accumulate some funds, it is their intention to go ahead with their plans for the establishment of a propaganda program which would be initially voice radio. QDCHAR said that he had been trying to persuade 02 QDBIAS and QDCOVE to a more narrow program within the limitations which I had cited for them in a previous meeting (See UMWA-11). He said he thinks now that this is the more realistic approach, but 02 QDCOVE holds to the original thinking that they 02 cannot commit themselves to such limitations. QDCHAR informed me that QDCOVE requests another meeting with me. He was told that I would be away for a few days but would contact him as soon as I return.

5. I then questioned QDCHAR about his knowledge and QDBIAS' knowledge of the presence of Soviet Russians in Cuba. QDCHAR stated that his only information had come 05 to him through Douglas ROOT (this is the Canadian whom QDCHAR referred to frequently in his earlier debriefing by SADELLY et al). Root claimed to him to have seen the 05 Soviets in Santiago de Cuba and QDCHAR said that furthermore he had obtained the names which he passed to Colonel NICHOLS in the American Embassy in Havana. When asked if he thought these were the same Soviets that QDBIAS had referred to in his testimony in Washington, QDCHAR said he felt that they were, although he believed QDBIAS' information was obtained independent of his, QDCHAR's, source.

6. Going on in this vein, QDCHAR stated that ROOT is one of several people whom QDCHAR encouraged to remain in place and to go along with Raul CASTRO and others for the purpose of obtaining more specific information on Communists and Communist activities in the armed forces. He said that along this line ROOT had been intro- 05 duced to Fidel CASTRO's secretary, whose name is Maria. QDCHAR said her full name is a Russian name but at the moment he can only recall the name "Maria". Through this relationship, it was expected that ROOT 05 would develop a good deal of information. Others named in this connection were Ramir VALDES, who is close to Raul Castro, Juan FERNANDEZ de Castro of the Air Force, and Efrain FECHARDO, whom QDCHAR says is an American. QDCHAR is certain that if he by some means can re-establish communication with these individuals he will obtain important information regarding Communist activities in the Cuban armed forces.

7. In answer to his appeal for assistance, I said I would try to help him devise some means of establishing this communication. He suggested that we pass word to his wife to contact Juan FERNANDEZ de Castro before she leaves for the purpose of putting him in contact with anyone we want to name and to instruct him in QDCHAR's name to pass on any and all information he has at this time.

8. This group still believes, in spite of what has been reported from Cuba, that, while they may have some little different view as to how much MORGAN can be trusted, Eloy GUTIERREZ Menoyo and MORGAN and the men of the Second Front of the Escambray are and will remain anti-Castro and eventually will move against him.

9. It was learned that QDCHAR is presently living in Frank FIORINI's house at 2030 SW 60th Court, Miami, telephone [illegible] 7-[illegible]. He also informed me that ODENVY had been talking with him about some local friends through whom he produced the names of some acquaintances of those whose names are Russian. I have not yet had an opportunity to discuss this with the ODENVY agent involved.

10. I will meet with the group again at the end of this week, at which time I expect they will have some modified position with regard to their activities and will appeal again for assistance. Meantime, it is recommended that QDCHAR's recommendation with regard to having his wife get in touch with FERNANDEZ de Castro and to get him debriefed be passed to the Havana Station.

As in other newly recruited JMPALM assets, the agent was regularly critiqued as to the value of his information and was provided with regular guidance in order to better strengthen his value to JMPALM. Following is a list of those persons with whom the subject is in contact on a regular basis or with whom he corresponds frequently:

1. ON 15 AUGUST 1962 ANTONIO VARONA LOREDO, DEPUTY CHIEF OF THE CUBAN REVOLUTIONARY COUNCIL (CRC), VISITED PRESIDENT ROBERTO CHIARI OF PANAMA AND REQUESTED CHIARI TO ORGANIZE AND HOST A MEETING OF CENTRAL AMERICAN CHIEFS OF STATE ON THE CUBAN ISSUE WITH EMPHASIS ON INFILTRATION OF CASTRO AGENTS INTO CENTRAL AMERICA. VARONA SAID THAT SUCH A MEETING SHOULD BE HELD AT A VERY EARLY DATE AND THAT CHIARI SHOULD INVITE PRESIDENT KENNEDY TO ATTEND. CHIARI TOLD VARONA THAT THIS WOULD BE A MOST SERIOUS UNDERTAKING REQUIRING INTENSIVE STUDY AND THAT HE COULD MAKE NO COMMITMENT TO VARONA ON THE MATTER. ON 16 AUGUST VARONA LEFT PANAMA FOR SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, SAYING HE WOULD RETURN TO PANAMA ON 20 AUGUST AND HOPED TO TALK TO PRESIDENT CHIARI AGAIN AT THAT TIME.

2. ON 20 AUGUST A GROUP OF CUBAN EXILES IN PANAMA CALLED ON MARCOS ROBLES, PANAMANIAN MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT AND JUSTICE, AND REQUESTED ROBLES TO TRY TO PERSUADE PRESIDENT CHIARI TO PERMIT THE ESTABLISHMENT IN PANAMA OF A TRAINING BASE FOR CUBAN EXILES.

3. ON 21 AUGUST PRESIDENT CHIARI SAID THE MAIN PURPOSE OF VARONA'S VISIT WAS TO REQUEST CHIARI'S APPROVAL OF A TRAINING BASE IN PANAMA, AND THAT HE HAD TOLD VARONA HE WOULD TAKE THE MATTER UNDER CONSIDERATION. HOWEVER, CHIARI DISCUSSED IT WITH MEMBERS OF HIS GOVERNMENT SUBSEQUENTLY AND IT WAS AGREED THAT PERMISSION WOULD NOT BE GRANTED FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A TRAINING SITE.

4. HEADQUARTERS COMMENT: ON 13 AUGUST DR. JOSE MIRO CARDONA, PRESIDENT OF THE CRC, SAID IN MIAMI THAT VARONA WAS LEAVING MIAMI 14 AUGUST ON A TRIP TO PANAMA AND COSTA RICA. MIRO SAID THAT THE PURPOSE OF THE TRIP WAS GENERAL PUBLIC RELATIONS WITH NO PARTICULAR MOTIVE IN MIND. HE MENTIONED THAT VARONA WOULD SEE PRESIDENT CHIARI WHILE HE WAS IN PANAMA TO DISCUSS THE CUBAN PROBLEM IN GENERAL AND ATTEMPT TO ENLIST "FURTHER SUPPORT FOR THE CAUSE." HE SAID VARONA WOULD ALSO INQUIRE OF CHIARI WHETHER THERE WERE ANY NEW DEVELOPMENTS ON A SUGGESTED MEETING OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF CENTRAL AMERICA WHICH HAD BEEN DISCUSSED WHEN HE (MIRO) WAS IN THE AREA IN JUNE. THERE WERE APPARENTLY REASONS FOR VARONA'S TRIP OTHER THAN THE OSTENSIBLE ONES STATED BY MIRO. THERE ARE RUMORS THAT SOME MEMBERS OF THE CUBAN EXILE COMMUNITY IN MIAMI ARE MAKING EFFORTS TO OBTAIN HELP IN CONVINCING PRESIDENT CHIARI TO PERMIT THE ESTABLISHMENT IN PANAMA OF A CUBAN GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE HEADED BY DR. MIRO CARDONA.

2. Source said he was a member of SAC, FAL and Vertice Tres ("The Third Position").

3. Source said that SAC (Salvar a Cuba) was destroyed by Cuban security forces.

4. Source said that FAL (Fuerza Anti-Comunista de Liberacion) is well organized, the best organized being the forces in Pinar del Rio Province. He said that FAL has some arms and ammunition, and is an action type group, conspiring to provoke an uprising and cutting off communications. Source was reluctant to name any FAL contact, but finally named 06 [Reno Parejon Perez] as a contact man. He said that he could arrange bona fides with Parejon, and he was told that perhaps in the future someone would call upon him and introduce themselves as "amigos de Roberto" and discuss this in further detail. He agreed. He said that some months ago the FAL sent out microfilmed maps showing sites for landing arms and also its proposed caching sites, but he did not know to whom this information was passed.

MRP uses microfilm all the time to transfer its documents'

5. Source said that he was also associated with Vertice Tres, and described this organization as being composed of intellectuals and professionals. Its mission is not clear because as he described it one of the functions is to explain the horrors of the Communist system to the masses by the adoption of a third position. Vertice is also interested in more subtle approaches, such as industrial slowdowns and sabotage. The emphasis, however, appears to be on propaganda and he said Vertice is on the point of obtaining a radio plant. He was asked if this was a "pirate radio", but he replied no, that it would remain on the air so that it could be heard. When asked about the DFing problems, he said he was told by an engineer who is working on this project that it was a "Delta System Radio" and they would not have to be afraid of DFing. (This does not make sense, but it was all the source knew on this subject.)

6. Source said that Vertice needs supplies, such as Minox cameras, but he would not or could not give the name of a Vertice contact in Habana.

He said there/

He said there is a Vertice contact in Miami, Gerardo (lnu) and although he did not know the lastname or address of Gerardo, he was going to try and locate him. He was again reminded of the "amigos" who would call on him for this information.

7. Source said that before he left Cuba he met with Maccio Carrillo, the niece of Justo Carrillo. She told him that Justo sent in a message saying "Be careful with Flavio." 06 Maccio asked the source to get in touch
06 with Justo and tell him that if he had derogatory information on Flavio he should send the details. 06 She thought Justo's message was confusing. Source said that "Flavio" is the war name for Evelio Duque who also uses "Frank" and "Manolito." Source said that it is believed that the name Evelio Duque is in itself a war name.

8. Source identified Arturo Golpi, an employee of the National Bank, Agencia 4-10-40, Linea y O Vedado, Habana, as a self-admitted member of G-2. Arturo is about 32 years old, white, stocky (about 190 pounds), 5'8" tall, white, black hair and has a large mustache. He was formerly the handyman at the bank, but because of his G-2 position he is now a man of prestige and catered to by all.

1. I suggest that the story of AELADLE, from the moment he walked into the home of Martin A. HOODINE until he was safely under ALBAHA custody in the United States, deserves compiling, analysis, and publication in the form of an Operational Aid. It richly illustrates the many problems which must and can be surmounted, and could be highly instructive to Chiefs of Station in all countries where the next Soviet defector might appear.

2. Here is the Frankfurt contribution (written at my request) to such a compilation: a cliffhanger from start to finish, but also a commentary on the many types of problems which can arise, and the fact that it takes hard work and skillful improvisation to solve them. It was a cliffhanger both before and after the Frankfurt chapter (I nominate HOODINE for a medal for his part) and ought to make excellent reading.

3. The handling of defectors obviously is not a new responsibility to the German Station. The CAMKZONE facility which exists primarily for the receipt, establishment of bona fides, debriefing, and resettlement of defectors has existed here for the last decade. Nor is the movement by black evacuation of operational personnel a unique task for us to perform. We have accomplished this many times by use of our own integrated ODUNIT facility and also by the furnishing of alias documentation to the person of interest and accomplishing the transport via scheduled NATS flights. The significant points which made the AELADLE case unique may never again in their entirety be duplicated but in part they may well be, and therefore should be enumerated:

a. A Soviet diplomat, and member of the RIS, stationed in a non-Satellite but politically sensitive country, which at the time of AELADLE's defection was under considerable Soviet pressure.

b. The fact that the actual circumstances concerning his act of defection were such that an immediate decision by the man on the scene had to be made to take advantage of the opportunity.

c. The fact that little alternative could be given, under the facts as described in (a) above, except to believe the defector's statements and acquiesce in his demands, i.e., he possessed information of a significant and perishable nature and would disclose it completely only upon arrival in the United States.

d. The fact that once the commitments in (c) above were made every reasonable effort had to be made to accommodate the defector's demand.

e. In order to accomplish all this an untried method of evacuation, i.e., black evacuation via commercial aircraft had to be accomplished in order to successfully proceed with the undertaking.

4. A retrospective analysis as to how this case commenced, and the unique factors connected with it as enumerated above, lead me to suggest for Headquarters study what I refer to as "findings" and "areas of study." What I have labeled as "findings" in effect represent facts which, if not present, quite probably would have deprived us in Germany of participating successfully in the movement of the AELADLE family. The "areas of study," on the other hand, represent either answerable questions or matters in areas wherein operational discussions may well take place to see if some type of school-book solution can be devised.

5. I will elaborate below, where appropriate, on some of these "findings" but will first record them:

a. The wisdom of ALMARK maintaining in the European area at least one field installation having assigned to it personnel representing the many competencies necessary in the intelligence undertaking has been reconfirmed.

b. The wisdom of obtaining appropriate security clearances, and having Stations brief and make witting of at least an AIS contact, the resident senior United States citizen personnel of United States flag air carriers operating within any Station's area.

c. The fallacy of depending on marginal or obsolescent equipment to accomplish sensitive tasks of high priority. We here refer to 17-year C-54 aircraft.

d. A realization that a ratio exists between the number of people made aware of a given undertaking in relation to the obstacles encountered in successfully accomplishing that undertaking.

6. A few words of elaboration are in order on the four preceding points. Because the initial endeavor at black evacuation by ALMARK aircraft aborted, we were given an opportunity to see with great clarity the application of these points. If the attempt to evacuate by ALMARK-assigned aircraft had been successful, then knowledge of the defection could have been held to approximately six staff and assigned military personnel. Because that endeavor was unsuccessful, at least nine additional staff and military personnel became generally or specifically aware of the matter, plus the Consul General and one of his senior officers. Additionally one private United States citizen, the senior Pan American official in Frankfurt, became very much aware of this sensitive case. This increase in the number of individuals came about because of an immediate need late in the evening of Saturday, 16 December, to use two CALZONE staffers to assist in the safehousing function, a total of six KUTOPAZ staffers (documentation, graphics, photographic) to prepare and issue fraudulent and alias passports, and an assigned enlisted man to act as a safehouse guard. The Consulate General had to affix visas to the fraudulent passports. The most crucial individual involved, however, was the Pan American official who to a certain degree put his position in jeopardy by being as cooperative on the matter as he was. Without previously having cleared and briefed this official (His counterpart in TWA is also so cleared and briefed) the whole undertaking would have been precluded. It would have been impossible to accomplish departure without documentation on a commercial aircraft without the connivance of the commercial airline involved. Indeed with such connivance it was difficult and risky enough. Finally, the point concerning obsolescent equipment speaks for itself. Headquarters is fully aware of the feelings of this Station concerning the inadequacy for our purposes of assigned aircraft. Suffice it to say that when defectors apparently of significant value refuse to ride such aircraft the matter merits thorough study.

7. The matter of "areas of study" appears to us to encompass at least the following:

a. Average time differences in transmitting high precedence electrical communications between and among representative groupings of Stations. The German Station is extremely fortunate in having KW-26 circuits with Headquarters. It affords us a facility for instantaneous communication. We can make certain rough estimates as to how long it might take appropriate Headquarters officials to answer our queries and we can then approximate the arrival time of answers to high precedence traffic. Other Stations, however, do not have KW-26 equipment, all do not have the same type of cryptological equipment, and there is a different pattern as to the type of circuitry, i.e., direct leased lines, twx, straight commercial service, etc. We believe there is merit in the appropriate Headquarters unit endeavoring to group geographically Stations and then based on the type of communications and cryptological equipment and the channel of transmission to come up with predictions as to the average length of time the transmission of a priority or operational immediate cable would take between and among the various representative groupings. In the case under study, which represented a rather fast-breaking situation, it was not possible for us to estimate the length of time it took to transmit an operational immediate cable between Stockholm and Frankfurt. It would have been of value to us to have had some idea on this matter.

b. Coordination between U.S. Air Attaches and COS. We believe it would be worthwhile to request each Chief of Station in a location where the Air Force or Navy has an assigned attache plane to establish procedures whereby the Air or Naval Attache will advise COS of any absence of the attache plane, the point of designation of the aircraft, and the duration of the absence. There have been previous defections where attache planes were used as the initial vehicle of black evacuation. In the evacuation plan of Stockholm 14-3 for AELADLE they informed us by cable that they proposed to use the attache plane. We are of the opinion that when the statement was made Stockholm 14-3 made the assumption the plane was immediately available. As was later discovered by us the particular plane in question was at Wiesbaden and not Stockholm. 14-3 This, however, was some six hours after Stockholm 14-3 stated its intent to use that aircraft. While in this particular case matters eventually worked out successfully the story might be otherwise in a different set of facts.

e. Priority furnishing of traces. When a Station is alerted to a request to render operational support to the movement of a defector and simultaneously answers a request in the negative if it can furnish traces, the following procedure is worthy of study. If Headquarters possesses, and time permits, we believe it worthwhile to forward an immediate summary to the Station rendering support if the background of the defector is such that it would be a matter of local interest. This would have been the case in AELADLE. As subsequent headquarters debriefing developed (and we assumed it would have been disclosed in Headquarters traces) AELADLE had previously been stationed in Berlin. Had such facts been known here, and had time allowed, certain debriefing on the Berlin period designed to elicit any matter of immediate concern could have been undertaken.

18 December 1961

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

SUBJECT: Handling at German Station 16 and 17 December of Soviet Defector from Russian Embassy at Helsinki

1. This memorandum is designed to record, soon after the event, all facts pertaining to the handling within the German Station of the evacuation of a Soviet Vice Consul (and member of the RIS) from the Russian Embassy at Helsinki. At the time of this writing there is still lacking certain information to complete the entire story. However, it is felt worthwhile to record all events while the memory is still fresh. In the following paragraphs the defector is referred to as "subject" and pseudonyms and identities are used in all other cases.

2. At approximately 0730 hours Saturday, 16 December, Arnold J. LYACK (Chief, CABEZONE) contacted me at my home and asked me to proceed immediately to the residence of Joel D. BENTHAM (Chief of Station). Upon arrival at BENTHAM's residence, BENTHAM and LYACK briefed me on the Stockholm cable which announced Stockholm's intent to endeavor to fly subject and family "black" from Stockholm to Frankfurt aboard the Air Attache aircraft. Cable also requested Frankfurt to have an aircraft available to receive immediately subject and family and take off forthwith to the United States. LYACK also mentioned an IN cable from DIR which requested Stockholm to move family soonest to CABEZONE in Frankfurt for establishment of bona fides. 14-3 02

3. We then adjourned to the office and awaited more word from either Stockholm, which would advise on the arrival time of the family at Frankfurt, or from Headquarters concurring in Stockholm's request for immediate departure of the family for the United States upon arrival at Frankfurt. EAOB was immediately alerted and they made arrangements to have a C-54 with augmented crew prepared to depart for the United States by 1200 hours. A compartment for the subject's family was put in the C-54 and the regularly assigned tail number was removed and a false number put on the aircraft. Conrad V. LAPOLLA (Acting Chief, COS/KUSODA) was contacted and asked to come to the office immediately. Discussions were then held with LYACK and Carl T. UPDILL as to the availability of a KUDOVE case officer with Russian language capability to act as escort.

4. Having heard nothing from either Stockholm or Headquarters by 0945 hours OPIM traffic was sent in both directions telling them Germany was prepared to receive and effect immediate black evacuation of the family to the United States. In the meantime, it had been determined that IDENTITY A would be used as the security escort and Russel K. MUCHANE (AD/PI Staff) would be on standby to serve as a KUDOVE escort. This was a contingency arrangement because we lacked knowledge whether or not a KUDOVE officer from either Helsinki or 14-3 Stockholm was prepared to travel with subject all the way to Washington.

5. Around 1100 hours I asked Edward P. TOCHENSKY (Chief, EAOB) to establish contact with the Wiesbaden Air Base tower and lay on arrangements to monitor the flight of the 14-3 Stockholm Air Attache plane. This was done because we have had previous instances of "black" arrivals at Wiesbaden where the aircraft actually arrived before the EPA cable from 14-3 the Station dispatching the body. At about 1115 hours TOCHENSKY informed me by telephone that the 14-3 Stockholm Air Attache aircraft, a C-45, was and had been at the Wiesbaden Air Base since 12 December. At about 1130 we cabled this information to Stockholm 14-3 and DIR and also offered to dispatch an aircraft to Copenhagen to make the pickup if 14-3 Stockholm could move the body there. Because of technical difficulties involving air clearances and lengths of runways, we could not immediately get into any field north of Copenhagen.

6. At approximately 1145 hours a cable was received from Headquarters concurring in the immediate evacuation from Wiesbaden by EAOB aircraft of subject's family upon arrival. If such could not be arranged we were then requested to hold subject and family at CABEZONE. 02

7. Having heard nothing from Stockholm by approximately 1600 hours we again sent them OPIM traffic asking that they inform us immediately of their intentions. I had previously left the office about 1430 hours in order to get some lunch and take care of one or two personal items. I had called Nelson R. POLIAKOFF (Deputy for Administration Staff) in to cover for me and had briefed him on the then current situation. When I returned at 1600 hours MUCHANE had come into the office prepared for the trip. We then sent the above-mentioned cable and suggested that MUCHANE return to his quarters and await further developments. I phoned TOCHENSKY and suggested that he and his communicator return to their quarters. LAPOLLA, in the meantime, had gone to Rhein/Main Airport to meet an incoming staffer carrying classified material and get him through Customs. He then returned to his home. I left word with the Signal Center Watch Officer that any incoming traffic on subject's trip should be telephoned immediately to LAPOLLA who would come in, review the traffic and contact me. The Watch Officer was also asked to immediately phone the Wiesbaden Communicator who in turn would contact TOCHENSKY and both of them would go to their office.

8. At approximately 1900 hours LAPOLLA contacted me at home from the Signal Center and informed me that an ETA and other information was in from [Stockholm] 14-3. I told him to stand by and I would immediately come in. Based on [Stockholm's] 14-3 cabled statement that Martin K. ROODINE [(Chief of Station, Helsinki)] was escorting subject to the United States, I told LAPOLLA not to alert MUCHANE. I arrived at the office at 1930 hours and immediately dispatched the Guard Sergeant to buy certain types of foods and magazines that [Stockholm] 14-3 asked to be put aboard the United States-bound aircraft. We contacted TOCHENSKY and ascertained that EAOB was in a state of immediate readiness. David R. MULFALL (COS/KUSODA Office) then arrived with IDENTITY A. IDENTITY A was given a general briefing on the mission and his responsibility following which he and LAPOLLA took off immediately for Wiesbaden. They took with them the purchases of the Guard Sergeant. 27, 14-1

9. I then proceeded to the home of Ronald M. CORBANE (COS Lawyer) where we were guests for dinner. At approximately 2200 hours I received a call from LAPOLLA that subject and family had arrived, the turnover was made, and that the EAOB aircraft was airborne at approximately 2150 hours. I telephoned this information to BENTHAM.

10. At approximately 2245 hours I received a call from the Signal Center Watch Officer who relayed to me the following message from the Wiesbaden Communicator. That message stated the EAOB aircraft was immediately returning to Wiesbaden because of a sick passenger. Immediately thereafter I received a call from LAPOLLA who was at the quarters of Arthur G. DREIBELLIS (EAOB) in Wiesbaden. LAPOLLA stated that he had gotten hold of the Air Base Flight Surgeon and was proceeding to the Air Base. He knew at that time no other details. I told him Chester E. FAGERLUND (COS Medical Officer) and myself would leave immediately for Wiesbaden Air Base.

11. FAGERLUND was in attendance at the same dinner party and we departed immediately for the Air Base. Upon arrival at approximately 2300 hours the EAOB aircraft had already landed and maximum security provisions were observed in the area. Air Police had the "Hangar 34 Area" blocked off two blocks in either direction.

12. TOCHENSKY met me outside the building and informed me that immediately after take-off subject's six-year-old daughter had become extremely airsick and suffered respiratory difficulties. She was administered oxygen. The mother became hysterical and the father demanded that the aircraft immediately be returned to its point of departure. He further stated he would not agree to further travel to the United States except by commercial jet. We then entered the Operations Office of the 7405th Flight Squadron where I was introduced to ROODINE, who recited basically the same story as told by TOCHENSKY. We also ascertained that the Flight Surgeon had looked at the daughter and had found nothing organically wrong. We then asked ROODINE to bring FAGERLUND into the room where subject's family was staying and introduce him as an "American Intelligence Service Medical Officer" and have FAGERLUND examine the child. FAGERLUND's results were the same as the Flight Surgeon and no medication was given the child. A discussion of some fifteen minutes then took place as to how best to proceed with onward transportation arrangements. ROODINE took me aside and strenuously impressed me with the fact that subject was of the opinion that certain of his information on the matter of Soviet/Finnish relations was of great perishability and that subject deeply felt his necessity to arrive in Washington and state this information within the next 48 hours. ROODINE also stated he concurred in subject's feelings. All KUBARK representatives then on the scene again got together and the undersigned made the decision to abort the mission, arrange immediate safe-housing overnight for subject and his family, and attempt commercial transportation on Sunday.

13. Earlier in the day LYACK informed me that he had cleared out their Eschborn safe-house in case we should need it. I immediately tried to contact LYACK by phone but there was no answer. I then phoned Henry R. GARLINGAY (Deputy for Administration Staff) and asked him to do for me the following things:

a. Contact Stephen R. LACKLEN (CABEZONE) and tell him we had an immediate need to house a family of three, plus two KUBARK officers at Eschborn. To further tell LACKLEN to be standing by at Opel Circle opposite the Minneapolis Honeywell Building at 0100 hours and be prepared to escort another vehicle to Eschborn.

b. Phone BENTHAM and tell him we would drop by his house later that evening to brief him on any developments.

c. Phone LYACK and tell him we were using Eschborn.

14. All concerned departed Wiesbaden Air Base at approximately 0020 hours on 17 December and arrived at the meeting point at Opel Circle at exactly 0100 hours. Subject's family plus MULFALL, who had also gone immediately to Wiesbaden, followed LACKLEN's car to Eschborn. FAGERLUND, LAPOLLA, ROODINE, and myself went immediately to BENTHAM's house.

15. BENTHAM was then fully briefed on developments and ROODINE gave certain operational information of a sensitive nature from subject to BENTHAM. After necessary analysis and discussion the following decisions were reached:

a. We would endeavor to remove the family out of Frankfurt by commercial aircraft that day, i.e., Sunday, 17 December.

b. In the absence of the ability to accomplish this, we would endeavor to remove them on an Air Force Medical Evacuation Flight on Monday, 18 December.

c. Joseph Q. KLEMACK (Chief, COS/KURIOT) was contacted by phone from BENTHAM's residence and said he believed that his people could affix in the subject's passports a Federal Republic entry stamp. This was considered necessary in order to prevent embarrassing questions by German Immigration Authorities on Sunday when the family would depart by commercial air. The family had entered the Federal Republic "black" and accordingly there was no entry permit in their Soviet Diplomatic passports.

d. We would return LAPOLLA and ROODINE to the safe-house and I would also send out one enlisted guard with sidearm.

16. A cable to Headquarters was drafted on the basis of all this information and everyone departed the BENTHAM residence for their respective missions. I proceeded to the Signal Center and released the drafted cable.

17. I arrived back at my quarters about 0330 hours. At about 0410 hours I received a call from KLEMACK, wanting to get in touch with LAPOLLA on matters pertaining to the documentation work he was trying to accomplish. I gave him the telephone number of the Eschborn safe-house. It turned out that the cold weather had affected telephone communications to Eschborn and the phone was dead. KLEMACK then went out to Eschborn and discussed his problem with LAPOLLA and ROODINE. I am informed, but as yet do not know the technical reason why, that KURIOT could not put in the subject's passport the required German entry stamp. It was decided at the meeting at the Eschborn safe-house that KURIOT would try to make and have ready by the next morning Austrian passports for subject and his family.

18. At about 0600 hours I received a call from the Signal Center Watch Officer informing me that Headquarters "approved your plan." I immediately tried to contact the Eschborn safe-house by phone but to no avail. Around 0630 I contacted KLEMACK at the KURIOT installation and was then informed by him of his earlier visit to Eschborn around 0400. He told me during his phone conversation that LAPOLLA was going to get up about 0700 hours. I surmised that LAPOLLA would proceed immediately to the office and then did so myself.

19. LAPOLLA arrived at the office sometime shortly after 0800. We then discussed what our possibilities were, based on the situation as we then saw it. We had no guarantee that the [Austrian] passports would be finished by AURIOT in time to be used by an early afternoon United States flag commercial jet. We discussed again, as we had the previous evening, contacting Mr. William Naylor, the Pan American Senior Officer in Germany and a cleared and witting contact, as to whether or not he could arrange to board passengers without going through German Immigration, i.e., Passport Control. The question of the availability of seats was also involved. LAPOLLA suggested that we phone Naylor in his residence in Bad Homburg and explain to him we had a matter of serious urgency and ask him to come immediately to the I.G. Farben Building and discuss the matter with us. The phone call was made and Naylor agreed to do this. LAPOLLA then contacted the MATS Office at Rhein/Main to ascertain if MATS had any commercial jets chartered for departure that day. He discovered that they had no commercial jet chartered flights that day but at midnight on Sunday they were dispatching a C-135 configured to carry 66 passengers. He was further informed that 36 of these seats had been given to the Air Force and 30 to the Army to be used only by single military personnel departing to the States on Christmas leave. No families could be sent on the flight. Inasmuch as a C-135 is the military cargo version of a Boeing 707, LAPOLLA and myself discussed seriously the advisability of endeavoring to get military authority to fly this family out. We decided against such course of action for several reasons. We anticipated that there would be too much conversation among the single military personnel aboard the flight when they observed five civilians, three of whom were obviously a family, flying on the same plane. The fact that the six-year-old daughter spoke no English also contributed to the adverse situation we anticipated. Secondly, subject and family had already been aboard one cargo type aircraft and were reported by ROODINE to have made a series of uncomplimentary remarks of the type transportation that they were being afforded.

20. Naylor arrived at the office at about 1000 hours and was made generally aware of our problem. He was informed that the principal traveler involved was a defecting Russian diplomat, plus wife and child, and that we were under obligation to expeditiously and securely return them to the United States by jet aircraft. He was further informed that we lacked the proper documentation to board them on the commercial aircraft through normal clearance procedures and we had no guarantee that we would have the documentation by flight departure time of PAA No. 73 at 1315 hours. We then asked him what he considered to be the possibilities of working out a procedure to board the party "black" and to prevent any divulgence of their existence to the German Immigration Authorities. After considerable discussion it appeared that there existed a very good possibility to get the passengers aboard the aircraft and successfully circumvent German passport controls. Naylor contacted his own assistant and the PAA Operations Officer assigned to Rhein/Main, both of whom are United States citizens, and asked that they proceed to the airport and stand by to assist him in the handling of some very important personages who were departing on PAA No. 73. He then ascertained that only three first class seats were available on this flight. He told his assistant to seat two passengers in the aircraft lounge and he would accept full responsibility for it. This is somewhat touchy in the airlines business as lounge seats have no safety belts. He also knew additional first class seats were available out of London.

21. In the meantime, KLEMACK and one of his men working on the documentation had returned to Eschborn to take pictures of subject and his family that would be necessary for the Austrian passports. The best reading we could get from the KURIOT people working on the documents was that they would not be ready on time. Inasmuch as decisions had been made, we decided to set the wheels in motion and started the family to the airport. LAPOLLA accordingly took off for Eschborn and a plan was agreed upon where he would arrive with the family in front of the Rhein/Main Departure Building at 1230 hours. Naylor would be standing by the entrance and take the family via a circuitous airport building route to the PAA Operations Office which is located on the second floor of the building beyond Passport Control. Naylor departed at about the same time as LAPOLLA and went directly to the airport.

22. Earlier in the morning I had asked BENTHAM if he could effect arrangements at the Consulate to have a Visa Officer standing by to put United States visitors' visas for subject's family in the Austrian passports. BENTHAM accomplished this and, at Naylor's suggestion, we asked if the Consulate Officer could go to the PAA Operations Office at Rhein/Main and stand by there to accomplish his visa work. By so doing we could save approximately 30 minutes time. I contacted Mr. Rollie White of the Consulate office and he agreed to meet us at the airport at 1245 hours.

23. I next phoned BENTHAM and made him aware of our situation. It did not look as if we would have any usable documentation to pass the family and would have to take the chance of circumventing the Passport Control. Our principal concern was that a German Immigration Officer would be standing by the aircraft departure area and would ask to see subject's passport. We could not get subject's family aboard the regular bus that goes from the departure building to the aircraft because there was no way we could get them to the bus loading area without going through Passport Control. BENTHAM asked how we evaluated an ability to withdraw gracefully at plane side if challenged by German authorities. I told him the chances were better than even and that we would appeal to the fact that this was a VIP party being handled out of the regular airport procedures and that the passports had been left in the PAA office. We would then put the party back in the vehicle that took them out and just keep going. BENTHAM authorized us to proceed with the "black" evacuation.

24. I then made one last call to KURIOT and told them if they could not complete their work and get the passports to the airport by 1315 hours to forget it. With that MULFALL and myself left for Rhein/Main.

25. We arrived at Rhein/Main exactly at 1230 hours as subject's party was drawing up. The group was then taken by a circuitous route to the PAA Operations Office. It was ascertained that PAA No. 73 would arrive at 1245 hours, approximately thirty minutes late.

26. During our wait at the PAA Operations Office, ROODINE got me aside three or four times and kept me continuously aware of subject's fear that an attempt would be made to sabotage his plane. He had evidenced this concern ever since his arrival in Frankfurt. Subject told ROODINE he felt sure that Soviet agents would be found among some of the employees of the commercial airlines and the management of Rhein/Main Airport. He mentioned the section of the RIS that works specifically on assassinations and sabotage. He was fearful of any baggage being loaded very late or any "spare baggage" that might be found aboard the aircraft. I told ROODINE we were very sympathetic but we were not about to ask Naylor, who had now gone much further than one could be reasonably expected to on our behalf, to off-load the baggage of 184 passengers and search it.

27. Two events happened while we were waiting in the office to board the parties that were of some disturbance. The airplane Captain reported to the PAA Operations Officer that a gun was found aboard the plane. Upon investigation it was determined that this gun belonged to an Armed Forces courier who had carried classified material on the aircraft to Frankfurt. The airplane captain, upon being asked by Naylor if there had been any unusual activities on the part of the passengers, then described one party flying in the first-class compartment. This flight had originated in San Francisco and was flying around the world westbound. At New Delhi a United States citizen, a correspondent for an unknown newspaper, boarded the plane with his wife and a female nurse. The flight crew had been informed that he was an alcoholic and was being returned to the United States at the request of the United States Embassy at New Delhi. For part of the trip he had acted in somewhat of an obnoxious fashion and had insulted some of the other passengers. The Captain had investigated the situation and was of the opinion that the correspondent was now sufficiently drunk and lacked sufficient stamina to insult anybody. I asked the Captain if there was a purser or a male attendant assigned to the first-class section. He stated on this particular flight all cabin service personnel were female. He stated, however, that another PAA Captain was flying dead-head on the trip, was a big burly sort of fellow, and if need be, could spend most of the trip in the lounge to watch the correspondent. IDENTITY A expressed grave reservation about now going forward with the trip because of the correspondent. It was my opinion, however, that between IDENTITY A, ROODINE, and the extra PAA Captain that if the correspondent again got obnoxious they could sufficiently cope with him. The regular Captain left the definite impression with me that the correspondent was sufficiently drunk, that he would either soon pass out or in any event would not represent a threat to subject's making the trip. It was, therefore, decided that the trip would proceed. IDENTITY A informed the Captain that he was a United States Government representative escorting a family aboard the plane and requested the Captain to keep the door of the flight deck locked from the inside during the length of the trip. To this the Captain agreed.

28. Subject's party, accompanied by Naylor and the PAA Operations Officer departed the office at 1325 hours, entered a PAA crew bus, drove immediately to the first-class ramp and successfully boarded the aircraft. At about 1335 KLEMACK arrived with subject's two original Russian passports. These were then put in a brown manila envelope and one of Naylor's United States citizen employees was asked to proceed immediately to the aircraft and give these to ROODINE.

29. At about 1300 hours we had phoned to KURIOT and told Ralph O. NASSBOCK that he had another thirty minutes to get the Austrian passports to the airport because of the aircraft's delayed departure. The Austrian passports arrived at approximately 1345 hours. Hollie White immediately started to enter in those passports the United States visitor's visas. At approximately 1355 the PAA Ground Crew Chief notified PAA Operations that Flight No. 73 was mechanically cleared for departure and completely loaded. At that time a PAA representative started to run from the Departure Building to the plane with a little piece of luggage. Naylor was coming back from the plane in the crew bus. He intercepted the PAA employee and took the bag and drove it back to the plane. He later told us he opened the bag, one of the flight bag variety, and on his own initiative examined the contents. It contained items of apparel used by ladies that will not be further identified.

30. At 1400 the Ground Crew Chief stated again the plane was ready for departure and asked why the plane was being held up. It was being held up because White had not finished all the entries on the passports. However, the PAA Operations Officer informed the Ground Crew Chief that the weight of the loaded plane had been questioned and they were recomputing total weight. At about 1405 the Austrian passports with United States visas were carried in a brown envelope by a PAA United States citizen employee and given to ROODIGE. The plane was then cleared for departure and rolled out at 1414 hours.

34. The only other information known at the time of this writing is that the aircraft was diverted to Bermuda because of bad weather conditions in New York. Naylor telephoned me that information about 1000 hours on Monday morning, 18 December.

ESBW 8273 dated 8 February 1960 (Information on FRANK travel plans plus background info)

1. The ODENVY approval for passage of information on Subjects to the INANITIONS was received in February, but, apparently through an inadvertence, was retained an inordinately long time in KUDESK. It has just now reached our hands.

2. ODENVY has approved the following for passage to the INANITIONS:

> "Susan FRANK, nee Heiligman, wife of Richard C. FRANK of New York City, has for several years been active in Communist front organizations in the United States, has taught courses in such schools as the Jefferson School of Social Science, which appears on the Attorney General's list, and her writings have appeared in such magazines as "Political Affairs", which has been listed in the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications", and described as an official Communist Party theoretical organ. Susan FRANK appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on 22 July 1959, and declined under "Privileges under the Fifth Amendment" to answer the Committee's questions as to whether or not she was a member of the Communist Party, had written an article which appeared in the November 1949 issue of "The Worker" entitled "No Peace for the Chinese People", had ever lectured on Chinese culture and Chinese civilization and had been an instructor at the Faculty of Social Sciences. Susan FRANK had used the name Susan Warren in her lectures and writings, most of which indicate her interest in Chinese affairs.
> "Richard C. FRANK, born 22 August 1922, has described his occupation as a free lance moving picture assistent director. He is known to have received Communist literature, is believed to have made financial contributions to the Communist Party in the U.S., and there is information to indicated Communist Party membership on his part as late as 1957."

3. ODENVY states that they have referred the case of the FRANKs to the Legal Attaches in London, Paris and Tokyo to alert appropriate security services concerning possible travel of the FRANKs in England, France, and Japan. Should the IRAKTIONs be able to furnish any additional info concerning travel of Subjects, it is requested that you communicate it to the appropriate KUBARK station for passage to the Legal Attache, and into info Hqs. This is still pertinent for - although Subjects would by this time probably be in China if they did in fact intend to go there - they may possibly return to the U.S. via Prague, with a break of a month or so for travel in Western Europe. According to what is known of their plans, they do not intend to return to the U.S. before August or September.

ESBA 8833 dated 30 December 1959

1. The information provided in reference was most timely in its arrival. Shortly after we had received it, ODENVY informed us that the Frank couple was traveling abroad, and that in view of Susan Frank's interest in Far Eastern affairs and Chinese history it was not unlikely she and her husband would attempt to travel to China before returning to the U.S. ODENVY asked for any information we might receive which would indicate Subjects had traveled to China. We have passed the gist of the information in reference to ODENVY. We shall appreciate receiving any additional information on the activities of Subjects which you may be able to uncover utilizing liaison as you see fit. FYI: Susan Frank has indicated she does not expect to return to the States until August or September, and most likely the latter month.

2. The material in Headquarters' file on the Franks, all of which was supplied by ODENVY, indicates they are active members of the Communist Party in the U.S. Upon receipt of ODENVY's approval to our request to pass a summary of this material to our official source of reference we shall forward the summary to you for passage to the IMARTYIONS. Meanwhile, the following, most of which was supplied by informants rated as having provided reliable information in the past, is forwarded for your information:

a. Susan Frank, nee Heiligmann, born 8 November 1913 of Russian parentage, resides with her second husband, Richard Cyril Frank, at 110 Christopher Street, New York City. There are reports as early as 1942 providing information on Susan Frank's activities in behalf of Communism, all of which refer to her as Susan or Sue Warren, the alias she has commonly used in her Communist activities and in articles she has written. One example of her activities in 1942 refers to an application for a permit to operate a public address system at street meetings in New York City. The application bore the signature of Sue Warren, and listed her as Chairman of the Communist Party at 132 East 26th Street, New York City. Since 1942 there have been numerous informant reports of Sue Warren's active participation in Communist affairs in the U.S., the most recent describing her as a member of the Greenwich Village Section, NY County CP as of October 1959. Frank has given her present occupation as writer and lecturer, and has taught at the Faculty of Social Sciences and Jefferson School of Social Sciences, conducting courses entitled, "The New China", "The Chinese Communes", "World of Socialism", "On the Correct Handling of Contradictions (Mao)", etc. The Faculty of Social Sciences was apparently established by Max Weiss, who was referred to in the April 1956 edition of the "Daily Worker" as "National Educational Director, Communist Party". The Jefferson School of Social Sciences has been designated by the Attorney General.

CONTINUATION OF DISPATCH	CLASSIFICATION SECRET	DISPATCH SYMBOL AND NO. EGBW 8273

On 22 July 1959 Susan Frank appeared before the House Committee on UN-American Activities, and refused under provisions of the Fifth Amendment to answer questions as to whether she had ever lectured on Chinese culture and Chinese civilization, had been an instructor at the Jefferson School of Social Sciences, was the author of an article in the 13 November 1949 issue of "The Worker" entitled, "No Peace for the Chinese People", and was "at this time" a member of the CP.

b. Richard Cyril Frank was born 22 August 1922 in Rochester, New York. He has given his profession as film technician and has worked in various directing and production jobs in television. Indications of Richard Frank's CP membership and activities in behalf of the CP are:

1. In June 1956 Sue Warren (Frank) stated at a Greenwich Village CP meeting that she could not contribute the $75.00 she had previously pledged because her husband (Richard Frank) had given $100.00 in "his club", and they had planned to contribute together only $150.00.

2. Frank was reported to have been seen on 1 February 1954 at a meeting of the New York Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions, which has been cited as a Communist front organization.

3. Frank has written letters in behalf of persons on trial for their Communist activities, has provided storage in the basement of his residence for cartons containing volumes of Communist literature, has received through the mail CP literature from Czechoslovakia, and has been a recipient through the mail of the "Daily Worker".

4. He has refused to speak to agents of ODENVY about his activities.

"Richard Frank (born 1922), U.S. citizen, film technician, resident of New York, arrived at the Hotel Savoy in Bern with his wife Susan on 10 December 1959; they stayed there until 12 December leaving for Zurich. Frank inquired for a flight ticket to Prague from Zurich. While in Bern, Frank had contact with the Chinese Communist Embassy on two occasions; he or Mrs. Frank having called at the Embassy. AMSPELL Underground Activities - November 1962

Action: For your information

Ref : UFGA-5897, dated 25 September 1962

1. Forwarded under separate cover as Attachment A is a copy of the original, and translation of a letter from the National Coordination Committee of AMSPELL in Cuba dated 28 November 1962. This letter was obtained through the AMBLEAK courier intercept channel prior to delivery to AMSPELL on 4 December 1962.

2. The communication is of interest since it contains the most recent report of AMSPELL underground activities and particularly claims commitment of a guerrilla warfare effort in two provinces. It also refers to the infiltration of AMHINT-58 as still feasible, and confirms the arrest of AMHINT-40, who is described as a prisoner in Block 9 at La Cabana Prison.

3. Attachment B is a report of underground financing for October 1962 and is the first detailed analysis of Cuban finances ever received by JMWAVE. This report was compiled by "Cuca" (National Coordinator for Civil Resistance identified in Para 5 of Reference). It should be noted that the total of $9,129.67 Cuban pesos as monthly maintenance is for the "Resistance" only and does not include the "National Military Committee" expenses for the month.

Attachment A to UFGA 6557 Havana, 28 Nov 62

Dear Brothers:

I hope from my call (LD telephone) yesterday you are aware of how desperate we are, financially. The week before last, I went to Las Villas and I want you to know that the DRE flag has now been raised in the Free Territory in Cuba. A small guerrilla (group) well supplied, is now representing us in the North Zone of Las Villas. And the guerrilla banda in Matanzas to whom we have offered some support will no doubt come into our organization if assured a little more help from the DRE.

We have been working on the total reorganization and if we cannot claim complete success it is because if our limited resources. Propaganda, although on a small scale, is functioning well, I am enclosing a copy of our last issue of Trinchera and examples of the seals we are producing in homes of Pre- University members. These are now appearing in public places. As you can see there is a willingness to work and with a little material support a great deal of effective work could be forthcoming.

I cannot understand yet, the delay in sending money. You remember how you witnessed our needs that day in Varadero, Luis? We only had a few centavos in capital? Well, that is the way we are now. We have asked a small local loan and after that must travel to Las Villas for a loan from the Provincial (Committee) there, since they seem to have money. I hope upon receipt of this (letter), if you have not sent money, you will do so immediately.

Concerning the travel of Angel (AMHINT-58 infiltration), advise me as soon as this can be arranged so that we can check the security aspects here. Our purpose is to be organized to facilitate the work of the infiltrees since it has been our unfortunate experience that if those infiltrating must move about, the exposure to arrest is greater.

Write at the first opportunity and advise me of the planning sq that we may work toward that end. Greetings from Marivi, Maggie, Pancho, Lazaro, etc. Rest assured we have not forgotten you.

(Signed) Ramon

P.S. Julio's mother has visited him and found he is well (AMHINT-40). Apparently all of them (prisoners) have been transferred to La Cabana. Luis, Julito is in the Cabana, Block 9 and tomorrow, Thurdday, is visiting day. They have not given me a copy of Trinchera as yet.

La Habana 28-Nov 62

Queridos hermanos:

Espero por mi llamada de ayer se habrán dado cuenta de lo necesitados que estamos, economicamente hablando. La semana antepasada estuve en Las Villas, sepan que la bandera del D.R.E. ondea ya en Territorio Libre de Cuba. Una guerrilla pequeña, pero bien abastecida. nos representa en la zona Norte de Las Villas. Y los alzados de Matanzas a los que hemos hecho llegar varias cosas, de podérseles hacer llegar una ayuda más efectiva, no dudarían en pasar a las filas del D.R.E.

Se ha trabajado en la reorganización total de la organización y si no te digo aún que está totalmente organizada es porque la ~~escasez~~ escasez de recursos no se ha hecho sentir mucho. Propaganda, con lo poco que tenemos está funcionando bien. Con esta les va una copia del último Trinchera y una muestra de los sellitos, que con material casero han fabricado los muchachos de la Pre y que ya hoy se empiezan a ver en los lugares públicos. Como verás los deseos de trabajar son muchos y de tenerse los medios necesarios, el trabajo sería mucho más efectivo.

No comprendo aún la demora con el dinero; nos las hemos visto, como aquellos días de Varadero. ¿Te acuerdas, Luis? Cuando teníamos unos centavos por capital, bueno pues así estamos. Ahora pedí una pequeña cantidad prestada y como no podemos mantener más esta situación voy a Las Villas a pedir un préstamo a la Provincial ya que son los únicos que tienen algún dinero. Espero si al recibo de esta aún no han enviado el dinero, lo hagan inmediatamente.

El viaje de Angel, avísame tan pronto se pueda realizar, para comprobar aquí la seguridad. El propósito nuestro era organizarnos, para facilitar el trabajo a los que vengan ya que si después de estar aquí tienen que ponerse a organizar, iríamos a caer nuevamente en otra desgracia.

Tan pronto tengas una oportunidad escribe para saber qué planes hay y organizarnos con vistas a eso. Recuerdos a todos, y salúdenme a Mariví, Maggie, Pinolo, Lázaro etc. Tengan la certeza de que no los olvidamos.

Ramón

Nov. 23 de 1962

La Habana, Noviembre 23 de 1962

Querido Bruno:

Adjunto enviamos el Estado de Cuentas desde el 19 de Octubre hasta el 23 de Noviembre. Te haremos algunas explicaciones:

1 .- Cuando recibimos los $10,000.00, pagamos el mes de Septiembre (el 19 de Octubre). Más tarde dimos la mitad de la ayuda correspondiente a Octubre.

2 .- La Sra. de Montoya y Ruiz* son las encargadas de repartir el dinero entre los familiares y presos de Boniato y San Severino respectivamente. Próximamente enviaremos un informe detallado de cada prisión y de cada giro.

3 .- Al Abogado, M. Calás* se le habían dado $100.00 y faltaban $250.00. Es el encargado de defender al grupo de Pinar del Río y Rafael, Máximo y Orestes.

4 .- Cuando veas tres nombres y $180.00 quiere decir $60.00 para cada uno.

5 .- Mongo ha firmado varios vales porque se está encargando de arreglar y recoger los carros.

6 .- El traspaso varía de precio según los papeles que se tengan. Casi todos tienen a los dueños presos o fuera del territorio Nacional, y para no perderlos hay que ir por trasmanos. No es verdaderamente un traspaso si no la inscripción para la nueva chapa y tiene que ser personalmente.

7 .- El cojín fué para la Sra. que vivía en la calle 6 que falleció y es donde duermen los muchachos cuando no tienen donde ir. Luis conoce el lugar, pues tuvimos allí una reunion.

8 .- El mes de Noviembre fué la ayuda familiar solamente de $20.00 pues no había más. Solo Oquendo recibió mas, $30.00, porque la Sra. tuvo un bebito muerto, nacido antes de tiempo y estaba ingresada delicada de salud.

9 .- Malanga y Fernando reciben el dinero quincenalmente, por eso es que aparecen dos veces en el mismo mes.

10.- Ninguna familia recibe la cantidad de la madre de Julito, pero esto es provisional, ya que el padre está también preso y sin su firma Julia no puede cambiar cheques ni sacar dinero del banco.

11.- Juanoco era el encargado de Finanzas y me entregó $409.00 que era lo que tenía en caja. Uno de los carros que estaba a su nombre lo tenía que entregar al gobierno porque se embarcaba y nos dió $500.00 por el, aunque nos tiene que dar más, ya que costó $2,400.00 ó $2,500.00, no me han informado aún.

12.- Yo no soy responsable de Finanzas, sólo he aceptado guardar y repartir el dinero provisionalmente hasta que se nombre a alguién definitivamente.

No tenemos que decirte la necesidad que hay de dinero. Ya Luis te habrá explicado como está el asunto de la comida, por ejemplo. Para comer hay que comprar en bolsa negra o si no morirse de hambre. El pollo está ya a $2.50 la libra en pie, y todo por el estilo. Esto no quiere decir que empecemos a comer pollo y no picadillo, pero el asunto es que se puede conseguir uno y no lo otro.

Te aseguramos que no malgastamos ni un centavo. Si quieres tener mas datos nos lo dejas saber que con mucho gusto te complaceremos. Hoy en día ni se consigue ni la gente tiene para hacer donativos. Acuérdate que ha habido un canje "FUNESTO" y no hay muchas personas con efectivo.

Espero me escribas aunque sean dos líneas, ya que no me has mandado mas que recados con los muchachos. Dime si ya eres padre, pues nos gusta estar al tanto de los acontecimientos de nuestra GRAN FAMILIA.

Un abrazo para todos mis sobrinos en XTO.

AMSPELL organization in PBRUMEN, including the situation in the underground, compartmentation, organization, communications control and intelligence structure. Subjects are undergoing intelligence debriefing on a continuing basis.

01

b. While AMHINT-53 was arranging his exfiltration and AMSPELL Psywar operations in PBRUMEN and the hemisphere were continued on their normal course, the AMHINTs were still smarting from the ODYOKE confiscation of their vessel, the JUANIN-I, as a consequence of the 24 August attack on Havana. AMHINT-2 went to Caracas on 7 September for a meeting with President BETANCOURT (or his official representative) and a press conference where he released an AMSPELL statement, which in effect, served a notice on PBRUMEN and the USSR that any Communist shipping encountered in PBRUMEN territorial waters will be attacked on sight. (Reference F and G) 01

01

c. Behind the scenes, however, AMHINT-2 was reportedly (Reference D and E) negotiating with Venezuelan Naval Officials for surfacecraft and possibly a base from which to operate. What success he achieved in this quest, or to what extent President BETANCOURT is prepared to help AMSPELL, is still an unknown quantity. Judging from their attempts to raise funds in other spheres, allegedly for the purchase of a replacement vessel, they were not very successful in Caracas. (A PM Case Officer handling the CEDAR team has reported that one of the members complained of forfeiting a 20-percent "kick-back" in his AMSPELL salary. (For a breakdown of AMSPELL salary see Attachment B.)

d. AMHINT-2 returned from Caracas and as to be expected, gave no indication of the "secret negotiations" or their outcome. On 27 September, along with AMHINT-5, he requested a meeting with the JMWAVE officer for discussion of the AMBARB funding disagreement and the general AMSPELL situation (See Attachment C). Perhaps this session gave JMWAVE a bit more insight as to AMSPELL plans and intentions, but no real solution for the AMBARBs resulted. In short, AMSPELL policy is to mold PBPRIME public opinion and bring pressure to bear on ODYOKE and GPIDEAL for action in the PBRUMEN situation within the next four months.

e. To implement such a policy, AMSPELL has exploited the impact of their 24 August attack on PBPRIME news media, as well as their Caracas Declaration. Also, they have published a weekly news letter in English entitled "The Cuban Report" (Reference C) and about 1,000 copies are mailed out to ODYOKE officials and congressmen. Initiated in late August, the main theme of this publication has been the Soviet/Bloc materiel buildup in PBRUMEN. (See Attachment A)

4) Development and Plans:

All planning phases of AMSPELL activities supported by JMWAVE at the present time are subject to the results of meetings with AMSPELL concerning increased control, and, the decisions of JMWAVE to continue a support relationship if an acceptable degree of KUBARK control can be established.

B. AMHINTS:

1) General:

a. As reported in Reference B, the most important AMHINT development during September was the exfiltration of AMHINT-53. 01 This was also significant for JMWAVE, since all negotiations with AMSPELL would be transferred from AMHINT-2 to 01 AMHINT-53. 01 Although AMHINT-53 01 will undoubtedly be fully briefed and re-indoctrinated by AMHINT leaders concerning AMSPELL present status and operational relationship with JMWAVE, AMHINT-53 01 is a mature and astute leader and can be expected to appreciate the broad scope of JMWAVE-AMSPELL operations.

b. In the Psywar field, the AMHINTs in PBRUMEN continue to produce "Trinchera" on a hand-operated mimeograph machine in Havana and distribute about 10,000 copies monthly. They are also committed to the collection and transmission of reports and photographs on the Soviet buildup, at least until the DAMSON intelligence operations are begun. This activity is in direct support of the AMSPELL policy cited in Paragraph A.1)e above. The AMSPELL propaganda section is divided into four departments to carry out this program: PBRUMEN, Latin American, PBRUMEN Exile Community and PBPRIME.

c. 24 Diplomatic pouches intercepted for JMWAVE by AMBLEAK-1 have revealed much of AMSPELL operational planning not heretofore reported. In a series of letters written by the AMSPELL national coordinators in exile to their opposite numbers in PBRUMEN on 20 September, it was indicated that:

i. Negotiations by AMHINT-2 01 in Caracas, Costa Rica and Panama are practically completed for an AMSPELL operations base. (Letter from Bernabe PENE to AMHINT-40)

ii. AMSPELL has levied intelligence requirements on AMHINTS in PBRUMEN for sending out information on PBRUMEN ports that can be attacked from the sea. (Intelligence Plans Numbers 5, 6 and 7, in a letter from AMHINT-39 to "Jesus", National Coordinator for Intelligence.)

iii. In the interim, reports on Mariel, Cabanas, Bahia Honda, La Habana, Matanzas and Cardenas are requested on a continuing basis.

d. Subsequently, in an incoming pouch and probably crossing with the foregoing communications, a series of letters from the National Coordinators in PBRUMEN reported a severe blow to AMSPELL clandestine organization. Jore MEDINA Bringier ("Mongo"), National Coordinator for Military Reception and Supply, reported that AMHINT-40 01 (PBRUMEN National Coordinator) had been missing. (Later reported as arrested and being held at G-2 Headquarters on Ave 5 in Miramar.) Also, "Juan" and "Miguel" were arrested in Havana. Several others were missing. MEDINA went on to describe security measures implemented and report on a re-organization of the National Coordinator Committee. He closed with a plea for a small shipment of small arms for defensive use, clothing and medicine, and a full-scale propaganda effort if AMHINT-40 should be sentenced to summary execution.

24

01 e. In this same pouch, the National Coordinator for Propaganda, Nicolás PEREZ Diez-Argüelles ("Jose Alfredo") rendered a detailed report on Agit/Prop assets in PBRUMEN. The printing and distribution of "Trinchera" has been moved up to every fortnight, and efforts to get it printed on a commercial printing press in Havana appear to be successful. Regular couriers are being trained for delivery of the newspaper to the provinces. PEREZ also reported their progress in mounting two clandestine radio transmitters for Agit/Prop purposes, one in Las Villas and one in Havana. These are powered by 110 volt generators usually found on a small farm. It is projected to transmit a regular propram, probably entitled "Tele-periodico Trinchera". The report does not explain what counter measures will be taken to prevent GOC detection. Finally, PEREZ describes an Agit/Prop program already in progress: First a plan for printing and marking walls with their organization abbreviation, carried out in one operation, synchronizing municipal and borough teams for the job. As a follow-up phase, large cloth banners bearing the same letters will be raised or tended in congested areas and photographs taken for publication in "Trinchera". Also, with the aid of their Intelligence Section, AMHINTS have penetrated two radio stations in Havana and are identifying all Sov/Bloc personnel employed there, their security practices, addresses and routes for commuting.

2) Total AMHINT Support for September 1962: $5,000.00

(Included in AMSPELL General section of this report)

3) Intelligence Production:

(Reported in AMSPELL General Section.)

4) Development & Plans:

(See this section under AMSPELL General of this report)

C. AMBARB

During the reporting period no changes occurred 01 in AMBARB personnel assignments. With the exfiltration of AMHINT-53 from PBRUMEN it is hoped that it will be possible to negotiate with AMBARB the still unsettled question of AMBARB funding. We will report further to Headquarters as soon as an agreement is reached with AMBARB on funding of AMBARB representatives in the field by local KUBARK Stations. For the present it can only be said that the AMBARB leaders are strenuously resisting any effort by JMWAVE to increase to more than eight the number of their people whom they will permit KUBARK to fund directly rather than through AMBARB Headquarters in Miami.

The inspection tour of AMBARB-16 to delegations in Latin America resulted in the general report forwarded for your information as Attachment D: in reading this report, it is useful for reference purposes to examine Attachment E a report which the AMBARB office has prepared on its general progress since inception

REPORT

During the recent trip I made through the DRE Delegations in Latin America, the results of the sending of propaganda by mail to Cuba were reported to me. For the better understanding of the agreements reached, we will now explain them within each Delegation visited.

VENEZUELA.-

The Delegation at Venezuela sent some months ago the propaganda we sent them to be mailed to Cuba. They used the lists of addresses given by Roger.

Venezuela has continued this system using the propaganda edited by the DRE and the propaganda prepared in Venezuela. An average of 1,700 letters was sent during May, June, and July, mailing them from Caracas one month, from Maracaibo another month, and from Barquisimeto another. All security means were studied (that they be sent by different persons with different handwriting, that regular, and not commemorative, stqmps be used, ordinary envelopes, and mailed in different post offices, etc.)

BRAZIL.-

The Delegation at Brazil also sent the propaganda given by Roger, but no reply was obtained from any person. We studied the security means and the conditions for the sending of the propaganda to Cuba. The Delegation remarked on the risk run with the mail and the violations to which it is subject in Brazil (they explained that the salaries of post office employees are so low that they take off the stamps from the letters when they have not been marked, to sell them, and then they destroy the letter.)

They sent 1,500 letters during May, June, and July.

URUGUAY.-

We did not send the propaganda to Uruguay because then we had no Delegation there.

CHILE.-

The Delegation at Chile sent the third propaganda given by Roger, which was the propaganda on the members of the 26th of July that are imprisoned or have been executed. They sent 1,000 letters.

NOTE.- The list of addresses had to be previously checked up, because there were persons in it who are actually working in the underground, and the sending of propaganda addressed to them could, consequently, place them under great danger.

3. While AMHINT-[illegible] 01 is now PBPRIME, he will determine AMSPELL policy as approved by the AMSPELL Executive Committee. However, the activities of the last four months were planned and controlled by AMHINT-2 01 and assisting him were AMHINT-5 and Bernabe PENA, who were present at this meeting. After the AMBARB discussion, the meeting turned into a long discussion of the International Communist situation, ODYOKE, KUBARK and AMSPELL policies as related to this situation. Some of the noteworthy items revealed:

a. AMSPELL had the 24 August Havana attack plan for six months, but had shelved it for the "right time" and a considered decision not to embark upon a course independent of KUBARK approval. The Sov/bloc buildup changed that decision.

b. AMSPELL analyzes the situation as hopeless for the PBRUMEN revolutionary movements after four months because:

1- The Soviets will be firmly established and ODYOKE policy as defined by GPIDEAL tends toward and will probably result in a hemisphere acceptance of PBRUMEN as a satellite.

2- After four months, the degree of police controls, repression and persecution will make any internal action in civic resistance and guerrilla warfare virtually impossible.

c. AMSPELL feels that ODYOKE policy on PBRUMEN cannot be influenced by the rising tide of public opinion and congressional action, partly because GPIDEAL is surrounded by a group of advisors who are "one step from being parlor pinks or worse". The list began with Chester BOWLES.

d. This situation ~~is not an original~~ AMSPELL observation. During his European travel in August, AMHINT-2 went to the Vatican for a meeting (claimed to be high level) which had been arranged some time ago. His impression of thinking in the Vatican re World Communist advance, was that ODYOKE or PBPRIME was no longer calculated as an effective power for defending the world against total takeover. That the Catholic Church was beginning the long process of preparing their forces for a world dominated by Communism.

4. As a result of their observations and analysis, AMSPELL has assumed a "now or never" attitude and policy. They feel they must resort to tactics that mold PBPRIME public opinion and bring pressure to bear on ODYOKE and GPIDEAL for action in the PBRUMEN situation. Latin America must also be kept aware and urged to support an action. They would hope that such an AMSPELL policy and resultant activity would not be interpreted as opposition or hostility to KUBARK or ODYOKE, and that their KUBARK relationship would survive the critical months before them. They recognize that KUBARK is bound by policy and burdened by ~~xxx~~ bureaucracy, and feel that the actions - although independent and uncontrolled - of AMSPELL might contribute to the formation of action policy in PBRUMEN, despite consternation in ZRMETAL.

1. The meeting with AMHINT-2 was to clarify the continuing misunderstanding and disagreement over AMBARB funding. The original AMBARB policy meeting with AMHINT-2 was reviewed, and AMHINT-2 pointed out that it was not agreed that KUBARK station would pay all AMBARBS, but only the coverts. Without going over the entire evolution of the AMBARB project funding, it was pointed up to AMHINT-2 that the project was a two-way arrangement, of great mutual convenience, and we must find a functional "middle-ground" upon which to operate, although it may not be entirely satisfactory to either of the parties. AMHINT-2 agreed, and the following ground rules were arrived at as a workable funding plan:

a. AMBARBs assigned as overt AMSPELL representatives will be funded by AMSPELL from Miami on all future assignments. Those now being funded by station will remain status quo.

b. Covert AMBARBS for station contact will be assigned by individual processing, both parties agreed, and station will fund and control.

c. Re the four pending cases where stations have requested funding as soon as possible - a meeting is to be held where each case will be considered individually and decided upon.

2. While this arrangement is not entirely acceptable, it is believed that upon the return of AMHINT-53 to the operational control, a better arrangement can be made.

REPORT

SUBJECT. Eduardo Muñiz' trip to Latin America.

This report is aimed on narrating briefly the results of Mr. Eduardo Muñiz recent trip to several countries of Latin America carried through for the purpose of visiting the D.R.E. Delegations.

In order to make easier the understanding of its points, we will outline the impressions gathered throughout the different countries according to the order in which they were visited, and dividing them into the following aspects.

A.- Actual situation of the Delegation

B.- Deficiencies

C.- Future possibilities.

VENEZUELA

A.- Actual situation of the Delegation.

Undoubtedly, the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela is at present the best delegation the D.R.E. has in Latin America

There are many reasons for which this Delegation has reached to occupy the first place in the Latin American Plan of the D.R.E. Suming them up they are the following.

1.- It is identified with the nation's problems and national aims.

2.- Team-work coordination and unity in the accomplishment of labor

3.- A high sense of duty and a skilful plan of labor intelligently organized.

Consequently, the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela has succeeded in attaining a high prestige for the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil among the most representative elements and institutions of the Venezuelan people agreeing their ideals with ours. The central management of the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela is located in Caracas. It is a small office situated at a central city point.

att. D to UFGA 6140

It has two sub-delegations, one in Maracaibo, a northern city of Venezuela, under the direction of Roberto Frego, Ramon Celera, and Ricardo Rodriguez, and the other one in Barquisimeto.

At the central office of the D.R.E. Delegation in Venezuela under the direction of Rafael Tremols, General Delegate of the D.R.E. in Venezuela, José Miguel Gonzalez Llorente, Lorenzo Martin, Joaquin Perez, and Luis Boza are actually working. In Caracas, the D.R.E trasmits a daily radio broadcast which lasts for 30 minutes. Also in Maracaibo the D.R.E. transmits a radio broadcast which holds great popularity. (It is interesting to point out as a proof for the advantageous effects of this broadcast that a group of action men of the communist party tried to burn with Molotov bombs the radio station which transmit the broadcast).

The labor accomplished by the D.R.E. in the student field is of vital importance. At present the Delegation has the possibility of moving enough forces in a definitive moment to counteract Communist action inside the University which is totally controlled by Communists.

We can ~~to~~ point out as highly important the so - called "personality - building courses" which were created by the members of the D.R.E. and which are carried through today due to intimate cooperation, among the D.R.E. , the government, the Cristian Social Party and ecclesiastical hierarchy. Each of these courses last for approximately one week and las for approximately ~~one week~~ and are generally given in a farm. The attendants are almost always no more than 35 and are submitted during one week to strong military discipline and intensive indoctrination which lasts until night , ending the activities of the day with a General Assembly in which the results attained during the day are discussed. I had the opportunity to assist personally at one of these courses which was being given by Ricardo Rodriguez, member of the D.R.E. Delegation at Maracaibo, in a farm given by the Venezuelan government for such purpose. Up to the present 1,800 Venezuelan Students have received these courses and, certainly, their effects have influenced greatly in the consolidation of the democratic system in Venezuela.

We could now tell of the many other activities of the Delegation but would result unending. That is why we have only pointed out the most important.

B.- Deficiencies

Generally, we could assert that the balance maintained by the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela on this aspect cannot be more positive. Excepting the logical and natural deficiencies in the labor due greatly to the limitations, the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela does not have any deficiencies of importance. On the other hand, the Delegation at Venezuela presented to me a complaint which was also made by the rest of the Delegations, as I will explain further on. It is that the Delegation has been an several occasions under emotional pressures motivated by the large periods of time it has gone through with no visits by anyone of the Central Office of International Relations. In other words, the D.R.E. Delegation at Venezuela asked through all its members more frequent visits in order to avoid a feeling of forlorness during our common struggle.

C.- Future possibilities

The D.R.E. has huge future possibilities in Venezuela. The prestige it actually has among the people and inside government circles opens new fields for a near future in all the aspects. We will synthesize these possibilities in the following points.

1.- More "personality-building coursses" in order to double the number of Venezuelan students receiving them.

2.- Organization of brigades to encounter Communists and move them out from the Central University of Caracas in the elections next year.

3.- Increase in the propaganda

4.- Spreading of activity throughout all the States of the country.

BRAZIL.-

A.- Actual situation of the Delegation.

For the better understanding of the situation of the DRE in Brazil, we will first consider the situation of the DRE Delegation at Rio de Janeiro and then the labor of the Delegation at Sao Paolo.

As well as the Delegation in Caracas, the Delegation in Rio de Janeiro has succeeded in carrying through a labor which is worthy of all praise.

In spite of the idiosyncrasy of the Brazilian people and the seriousness of the interior situation of the nation, we believe that the Delegation at Brazil follows the Delegation at Venezuela in best functioning. We could point out as main reasons for this success the following.

1.- The members of the Delegation are fully identified with the reality and problems of the Brazilian nation . All the members of the Delegation speak Portuguese.

2.- As well as in Venezuela there is"team work" and unity in the accomplishment of labor.

Undoubtedly, the labor at Brazil is the hardest to be carried through, followed by Chile. The idiosyncrasy of the Brazilian people, which are in general somewhat ignorant about the most serious problems the world is actually encountering, the powerful forces of extreme left, the desperate economic situation product of the growing depression which has more than once almost drawn the nation to civil war, are the reasons for which many times the Cuban problem has been placed in second level, generally giving it little importance even inside democratic sectors.

For approximately one year, the DRE Delegation at ~~the~~ Rio de Janeiro has been struggling against this real difficult situation, and the results obtained cannot be better.

1.- The Press which for long time had held an indifferent attitude towards the Cuban problem - most of the times it even refused to publish any communiques or news given by the DRE - has offered us its support for the first time and the name of the DRE appears frequently in its pages (at my arrival at Rio de Janeiro they interviewed me).

2.- In the student ground, the National Union of Students of Brazil (U.N.E.B.) has already experienced the labor the DRE is accomplishing. At the National Assembly recently held by the UNE, though the DRE Delegates were not permitted to speak, the support our movement has awakened among the Brazilian students was clearly displayed, when several State Student Unions protested for the measures taken against us. During the trip recently made by Benito Diaz Paret to Santa Catarina he succeeded in attaining a resolution voted by that State Union and signed by [illegible],000 students soliciting the intervention in Cuba to move out the Russian troops which have been recently landed in the Island.

3.- The Delegation has already edited three pamphlets in Portuguese which have had great acceptance among the people "Que es el DRE" (What the DRE is) "Bases para una revolucion Latinoamericana" (Fundamental points for a Latin American revolution) "Cuba Socialista" (Socialist Cuba). Good relations are held with the Government of Carlos Lacerda. Useful trips to Recife, Minas Gerais, and Belo Horizonte, have been made and good contacts have been established.

B.- Deficiencies

In general terms, the deficiencies of the Delegation are very few, though the limitations are greater. The legal situation of Carlos Valdesuso and Julio Hasger in the country is rather difficult due to the fact that Joao Goulart's Pro Communist government has obstructed them greatly in their staying at Brazil. Nevertheless, the solution of this problem is shortly expected. As well as in Venezuela the Delegation protested because of the "supposed" abandonment to which it is submitted (since January nobody has visited them). Undoubtedly, this visit encouraged them greatly and lifted up high their moral spirit.

The Delegation also complained about the lack of propaganda. For such purpose they solicited funds in order to reprint in Portuguese the most important propaganda the DRE edits.

C.- Future possibilities

It is important to point out that the Cuban Embassy at Brazil formally protest to the Brazilian government because of the presence of Eduardo Muñiz in the country, also other Communist Brazilian figures backed up the protest. However, new activities for the future were planned. They are.

1.- Continue editing pamphlets of guidance for the people on the Cuban problem.

2.- Send two Delegates to Recife for the next visit of President Kennedy to Brazil.

3.- Perform several trips throughout the country in order to establish groups of supporters in the different places of the nation.

4.- Attaining of a radio broadcast.

5.- Intensify the labor with the democratic student groups in order to continue the work to restore the U.N.E. to our democratic cause.

SITUATION OF THE DRE DELEGATION AT SAO PAOLO

The case of the DRE Delegation at Sao Paolo which is composed by Raul Gonzalez Simon and Antonio Vega, can be considered as an exceptional case inside the Latin American plan. In Sao Paolo, I had the opportunity to hold deep conversations with Raul Gonzalez Simon, and we reached at the following conclusions.

1.- In one whole year the DRE Delegation at Sao Paolo HAS NOT BEEN ABLE TO ACCOMPLISH ANY EFFECTIVE LABOR, nothing has been published by the DRE, not one communique of the Delegation has appeared in the [illegible] event held by the Delegation, not one of the campaigns and plans traced by the Section of International Relations has been carried through. Summing up the genuine words of the DRE Delegate at Sao Paolo, Raul Gonzalez Simon, together with the conversations held at my arrival at Miami with Antonio Vega, another member of the Delegation at Sao Paolo, we reached at the following conclusion.

a.- During one year no effective labor has been accomplished in the city of Sao Paolo on the Cuban problem.

b.- Time has been wasted uselessly to obtain only as a result a sounding failure.

The motives for this failure can be outlined as follows.

1.- The DRE Delegates in Sao Paolo have been submitted to the arbitrary direction of Mr. Vladimir Lydoskenky, director of the S.E.I. (Service of Inter American Studies) who during the whole year prohibited the Delegates to work in the name of the DRE, submitting them to a labor system which has nothing to do with the Cuban problem. It would be wise to point out that for the Chancellors ' Conference held at Punta del Este, special funds had been dedicated to the Cuban case. But Mr. Lydoskenki, did absolutely nothing about this, remaining this unsuccessful the "handling" of such funds.

2.- The DRE Delegates did not take in time the decision of working independently in order to accomplish something useful, and consequently, continued submitted to an entirely discredited organism which is the S.E.I.

Future possibilities.

Both Mr. Raul Gonzalez Simon and Mr. Antonio Vega are unwilling to continue working with the S.E.I. For such end, Mr. Gonzalez Simon and Mr. Antonio Vega are preparing numerous and detailed reports which will openly disclose the attitute taken by Mr. Bladimir Lydoskenki, for what he has used the fonds destined to the Cuban case, his repeated boycott to everything which holds the name of ~~the DRE~~, and the little labor accomplished throughout the year. In the report which is being made by Mr. Raul Gonzalez Simon, a plan of labor to be carried through in Sao Paolo will be presented. The DRE well engage to accomplish in 6 months a superior labor then that accomplished by the S.E.I. during one whole year on the Cuban problem. Good contacts and a well traced plan are arranged for such ends. The plan together with the reports will be presented as soon as they reach us.

A.- Actual situation of the Delegation

Though the DRE Delegates in Uruguay, Mario Garcia and Armando Frias, have been in Montevideo for scarcely one and a half month, they are beginning to carry through a very positive labor which promises to bear splendid fruits. We must have in mind that anti-Castrist propaganda has widely circulated throughout Uruguay. Up to the present a great number of public acts have been held and it results difficult to move public opinion on the Cuban problem, since it is somewhat exhausted. Nevertheless, the plans which have been worked out will strengthen public opinion on this aspect. During my stay at Uruguay, the voting campaign for the elections which will be held on next November was being carried through. Thus it was rather difficult to turn the attention of public opinion towards the Cuban problem. However, in order to reinitiate the labor, the Delegation has worked out a plan which will last for one month and end with a great public act. While I was there, 100,000 leaves of propaganda exhorting the people to express their protests for the presence of Russian troops in Cuba were distributed throughout the city. Also a manifestation which took place the 8th of September in front of the Cuban Embassy was organized. The Dele gation will shortly begin to edit a news bulletin which will be sent to the Press, Radio, TV, to political, civic, and religious leaders. Also a trip throughout the different cities of the country in order to strengthen the contacts we already had there is being planned.

In the student field, the Delegation is striving to work to achieve unity in the groups of opposition to the FEUU (Federation of University Students of Uruguay) by creating a common front and thus move out the Communists which control fully the leading position of the FEUU.

B.- Deficiencies

The deficiencies of the Delegation at Uruguay can be considered as little important due to the fact that it has been functioning for only a few weeks and this does not permit to see things clearly and judge them how they really are. In general, the Delegation is at present in a process of consolidation and self-securing, for which reason its deficiencies cannot be fully observed.

C.- Future possibilities

The DRE Delegation at Uruguay has huge possibilities which we believe will be determined during the next few days. In addition to the news bulletin and the trip through the different cities of the country, a one-hour radio broadcast and new public acts are being planned. Besides the Delegation is working together with a group of students that are interested in creating the DREU (Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil of Uruguay).

CHILE

A.- Actual situation of the Delegation

The DRE Delegation at Chile -which is composed by Nelson Amaro, Rafael Espinosa, and Nolis Mesa- is now accomplishing a rather hard labor. However, it is beginning to bear fruits. As we had stated before, the Delegation at Chile follows Brazil in a situation which implies great care in Latin America. The outstanding force of the FRAP in contrast to the weak position held by Christian Democracy towards the Cuban problem have enormously hindered the development of labor. Undoubtedly, however, the situation has greatly improved. During the last month, three different posters were printed and distributed throughout Santiago, short trips through the communities of the country were made and conferences on the Cuban problem were given, a half-hour radio broadcast is transmitted every Sunday (it is the only anti-Castrist radio broadcast in Chile). In the student field, the best relations are held with the Union of University Federation of Chile (UFUCH), maximum student organism of the nation.

B.- Deficiencies

On repeated occasions the Delegation has had to face the distrustful attitude taken by Demo-Christian leaders. As a consequence, the Delegates have sometimes felt disconcerted, in a situation of disorganization at work and lack of coordination. However, through repeated efforts the Delegation has succeeded in keeping itself functioning, and is actually fully working.

C.- Future possibilities

After glancing over the labor already accomplished, we reached at the following conclusions in several assemblies we held at Santiago. We determined what were to be the next steps to be taken in Chile.

a.- Strengthen the bonds which tie us with the UFUCH and with the youth of the Democrat Christian Party.
b.- Create a clashing force ready to be used at any moment.
c.- Begin the edition of a news bulletin which will be sent to all the radio stations, the press, TV, Senators, Representatives, and institutions of the nation.
d.- Attaining of a radio broadcast to be heard throughout the nation.
e.- Strengthen our activities inside the communities and the popular mass by means of giving conferences, public acts, etc.
f.- Plan the possibilities of carrying through an action with relation to the Cuban Embassy.

INTRODUCTION

This report is a general analysis on the labor performed by the Section of International Relations of the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil (DRE) and on its plans for the future. Hower, it would take much time to make a precise account on the labor accomplished in more than one year, so we will limit it to be a general outline, hoping that in the near future a more detailed one may be presented.

GENERAL VIEW OF THE LABOR ACCOMPLISHED

The DRE can firmly assert that the labor carried through by the Section of International Relations has been a definite triumph for the organisation, due to the importance of the ground of operation and the intensity with which it has been developed. It is not an easy task to organise in such a brief term an international field of operation like ours, which has already born fruits and, in only one year, has attained great renown, even outside the borders of our continent. If all the motives for which the DRE's Latin American Plan has attained such success were to be outlined, we would never finish. We are going to list those which we consider are the most important:

A.- There can be no doubt that the most important labor has been the one developed by teh DRE Delegates in Latin America. During many months, the economic support given to the Section of International Relations was so short that only with the voluntary sacrifices of our delegates in Latin America could the section be kept in function. We can name countless examples of generosity and self-sacrifice to our cause: There were Delegates who, for many months, slept in cots and even on the floor, others who lived surrounded by a wretched atmosphere, and others who even went hungry. Our delegates fought to undergo all difficulties and, many times against hostile atmospheres, equipped only with their enthusiasm and their ardent desire to carry our truth throught America. The merits of our enterprise belong solely to them.

B.- Maintain the DRE identified with the struggles of Latin America Students, with whom we have shared ideals and cooperation during this year.

C.- Mantaining the system of propaganda from Miami to the labor which has made the DRE known throughout the continent and has increased Delegations its prestige, in spite of the lack of information and economic means.

D.- Maintain the DRE identified with the representative movements in each country, its firm position fighting for the redonstruction of Cuba, crossing out Batista's abhorrent past and Castro's inhuman present, and holding an understanding posture towards the serious problems in Latin America, social injustice, oppression, militarism and ignorance. We have made also ours the longing for the ransoming of our continent. We have experienced all this surrounded by gigantic difficulties, limitations and, in many occasions, incomprehensions by those whom we had trusted. Moments of downheartedness have lived within us more than once , but our spirit has maintained its firmness still hoping that the people of the world towards our desperate calling may be some day achieved and that they may stretch their friendly hand to our patient, but erect, people. For the better understanding of the labor accomplished we will synthesise the main steps taken by this section in the develop ment of the mission the DRE has assigned it.

ORIGIN OF THE SECTION OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The Section of International Relations was created by the National Executive of the DRE in the months of November-December 1960. Luis Bosa Bomingues, ex-President of the Faculty of Science of the University of Havana, was appointed for its direction on January 1961, Mr. Eduardo Munis was ordered to come to Miami and was assigned the coordination of the DRE's labor in Latin America. Mr Munis arrived on the 8th of February, 1961.

THE FIRST STEPS

Before Muniz's arrival at Miami, the DRE's activity in the international ground was so limited that it lacked importance, even thought had sent a Delegation to the Chancellars' assembly which was held on 1961 in the city of San Jose Costa, Rica, and had also sent a Delegation to Central America for the purpose of establishing contacts with student leaders in these countries. On the last days of February 1961, a DRE Commission composed by Ernesto Fernandez Travieso, Teresa Valdes Hurtado, and Eduardo Muniz was sent to Washington for the purpose of delivering a letter written by the DRE as genuine representation of Cuban Students to the President of the United States John F. Kennedy. This letter was handed to Mr. Richard Godwin (se ignore if it ever reached President Kennedy) It stated the basis and ideals which moved the DRE to fight the Castro regime and the common inspirations which led it together with the rest of Latin American Students towards the ashievement lf social justice for the people of our continent.

Despite all this - and for motives which have not yet been given to us - during February, March, and April 1961, we were entirely restrained in the development of our labor because of the poor admitance given to our plan. Our labor was reduce to the sending of some propaganda to Latin America, to the organising of files of contacts and organizations, and to the maintaining relations with them by mail. However, at the beginning of March 1961 the first three DRE Delegations in Latin America were stablished : Costa Rica, Venezuela , and Mexico. These Delegations practically, received no economic support for more than five months (they subsisted almost only by their own means) and so its labor was reduced to the least.

GIRON INVASION; NEW OUTLOOKS

New possibilities in the Latin American ground were disclosed when, on the 17 th of April, the invasion through Playa Giron was defeated by the Communist forces, demonstrating thus the mistake which the administration of the United States had performed in not relying upon continental publick opinion which had been skillfully influenced by Castrist propaganda. An objective glance on the actual reality clearly made this known to us, continental opinion supported the Castro regime, Latin American youth beheld Fidel Castro as the legendary leader who would guide the Latin American people towards their total emancipation and development. Little or nothin had been done to face this skillful propaganda. The possibilities of opening a battle front against Castrism in the Latin American countries - the fundamental point of our plan - began to be taken into consideration. The first attempts were;

1.- In May 1961, our members Zoila Dias, Marta Elena Rosdrigues and Raul Gonzales Simon were sent to Sao Paolo, Brazil, and stayed there for one month carrying through labors of propaganda.

2.- Immediately after Alberto Muller, Secretary-General of the DRE, was caught, a Delegation composed by Jorge Dorticos, Rogelio Helu and Joaquin Perez Rodrigues, traveled through Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and Chile working to avoid the execution of our Secretary-General by the Castro regime. The labor it accomplished together with the labor accomplished in other countries turned public opinion towards our cause. When the Deletation arrived at Montevideo, Uruguay, the " Congreso por la Libertad y la Democracia " was being held in that city, and the Delegation was invited to take part in it, holding an outstanding posture in its acting.

3.- Immediately after the trial of our Secretary-General, Alberto Muller, and other 32 prisoners with him, one of the strongest and most successful campaigns we have accomplished, was carried through. Four delegations were urgently sent to Latin America, organized as follows.

Brazil - Raul Gonzales Simon, Mario Garcia, Jose Basulto
Chile - Nelson Amaro, Alejandro Portes, Rafael Oller
Argentina- Rogelio Helu, Jorge Dorticos.
Uruguay - Eduardo Muniz, Rene Morato, Ramon Machado

At the same time, cables were sent from our main office at Miami to all the governments of the continent, Student Unions, and civic organizations, making use of the contacts we had made by mail from our beginnings. The results of the campaign were really astonishing. All the governments of the continent pleaded in favor of Muller and the other prisoners, almost all the Student Unions, countless civic organizations did the same, public manifestations were made in Mexico, Panama, Chile, Venezuela, Ecuador, and Peru, stones were thrown at the Cuban Embassy at Bolivia all the Liceos (High Schools) in Montevideo, Uruguay, went on strike on the day of the trial, the Federacion Estudiantil Universitaria(FEUH) in Honduras also went on strike for one day, through the streets of San Jose, Costa Rica, a great student manifestation was made, and the Federacion Estudiantil Universitaria (FEUCR) proposed to change Alberto Muller for one tractor.
The labor performed was so effective that traitor Ernesto Che Guevara, in his interview with President Janio Quadros during his stop at Brazilia returning from the Conferencia Interamericana Economica y Social (CIES), was asked from the Brazilian government to spare the lives of Muller and the other prisoners. We must point out that in speech pronounced by Guevara in the city of Manzanillo in Oriente province, Cuba, he stated that in his trip through South America he had seen certain stirring in favor of a group of prisoners caugh in Cuba. (He was evidantly talking about the campaign in favor of Muller) . This Campaing clearly showed the great possibilities we had in Latin America and the urgent need to carry through all the nations the great truth of what was happening in Cuba.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE LATIN AMERICAN PLAN

In Agust, 1961, the fust conversations to achieve the economic support for our plan were held. They lasted for approximately one month because we were not in accordance on several points. It was decided that permanent delegations were to be established in Latin America and for such purpose we made a well-studied and detailed plan in which we exposed our opinion on how to develop the labor throughout the continent. Unfortunately, many of the points we exposed in the plan were not approved (time gave us after the reason for as labor was being developed it was necessary to enforce many of the points which had once been rejected) and we began to develop the plan through the limited means we passessed to achieve the objectives we had assigned ourselves. The main objective in the first plan of the DRE were:

A.- Make the DRE known through continental public opinion, principally the Students ' opinion.
B.- Make openly known the truth of what was happening in Cuba through all the means which could be useful.
C.- Stir public opinion in favor of our cause.

Delegation were established in less than three months in the following countries : Costa Rica, Venezuela , Mexico, Bolivia , Brazil (Sao Paolo) , Peru, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay. Later, Delegations were established in Colombia, Ecuador, Panama, Honduras, Guatemala, Puert Rica and Santo Domingo and Brazil (Rio de Janeiro) The activity unfolded since then needs not be narrated, not only because it would take mucha time , but also because evident facts demostrate the importance and the dimension achieved by the labor in the plan of the DRE for Latin America. In general form we will list wome of the most important events during this period of time.

1.- 27th of November: day of duel for Latin American Students in memory of the Students executed in Cuba. At the IV Latin American Assembly of Students (CLAE) to which a DRE Delegation assisted and which we detail later on this report, it was decided to declare the 27th of November (date in whichi 8 students of Medicine were shot by the Spanish soldiers during the Cuban war of Independence) day of duel for Latin American students. This date was commemorated in almost all the Latin American countries, being this one of the first great blows we achieved coordinately throughout the continent. All the acts which were performed and the propaganda which was issued are filed in our office.

2.- Student manifestation in Costa Rica on the 17th of October. It was possibly the greatest student manifestation that has taken place in San Jose. More than 6.000 students asking the goverment to break relations with Castro were present at it.

3.- The campaign to save the life of Miguel Garcia Armengol. For this campaign, as well as for the campaign in favor of Muller, we appealed to every means possible, thus attaining the help from the Latin American governments and from almost all the Student Unions and civic organizations of the continents.

4.- The campaign to save the life of Hans Gengler and Juan Pereira (Juanin) As in the previous campaigns, we moved continental public opinion in favor of our just demands. Unfortunately, our dear Juan Pereira Varela was killed in the coast of Cuba, before the pleadings for mercy from all places of the continent reached Castro and before the Secretary of Foreign Relations of Brazil, San Thiago Dantas, could interseds for his life, as he had promised Jose I. Rodriguez, with whom he had held a private interview. The whole account on the labor we accomplished for this campaign and for the campaign in favor of Miguel Garcia Armengol, is filed in our offices.

5.- Help rendered to Latin American Student Unions. From the Latin American outlook, this labor has probably been one of the most important labors carried through by our Delegations. During this year many of our Delegations have worked intimately with the democratic leaders of the Student Unionsof the continent in order to throuw the Communists out from the positions which they control and to attain success in student elections of simply maintain the actual positions held. Some efforts which deserve to be named are: The labor accomplishe by our Delegation in Panama due to which (according to the exact words of student leaders in Panama) the direction of the Union de Estudiantes Universitarios (UEU) which had follen in Communist control, was reconquered by the Democrats. The labor accomplished by our Delegation at Venezuela has been perhaps the mos important, through which student groups of the Partido Social Cristiano (COPEI) and the Partido Accion Democratica (AD) have stronly apposed in armedactions the Communist groups which control the University and have even received the compliments of President, Romulo Betancourt. The labor accomplished by our Delegation at Honduras, through which it has helped and guided the democratic administration of the Federacion Estudiantil Universitaria (FEUH) and also payed for the publication of the newspaper "Avance", official reporter of the FEUH. The account on the labor carried through by the DRE together with the Confederacion Universitaria de Bolivia, the Federacion Universitaria del Peru, with that of opposition of Uruguay, Argentina and Brasil and Santo Domingo is filed in our offices.

6.- The system of propaganda of the Section of International Relations. Our system of propaganda is probably one of the most strong in the student Latin American ground, in spite of the limited means we possess. Our labor of propaganda has been so intensive that we have practically had to use a larger place, to file the propaganda the Delegations have issued and sent us. We have maintained the best relations with Latin American press, which frequently publishes articles on the DREalso the international news agencies (UPI, AP, etc.) have published cables related to the DRE. For the better understanding of the labor developed we are going to divide it in written propaganda and propaganda by radio broadcasts.

a.- Written propaganda

Mexico.- Tho newspaper " Ataque ", official reporter of the Delegation, is published. Many pamphlets,as the one about the 27th of November, and tons of written propaganda have been edited.

Costa Rica.- Posters and great amounts of written propaganda have been printed and pamphlets edited by our main office at Miami have been printed again.

Venezuela .- "Trinchera", official reporter of the DRE Delegation at Maracaibo, is edited in Maracaibo. The Delegation at Caracas has printed the pamphlet, "Cuba, Misery and Hunger", propaganda which had been edited in Miami,as the pamphlet " Mire Ud como nos autodeterminamos ". Posters and tons of written psopaganda have been also printed .

Peru .-TheDelegation aids the edition of the magazine "Clamor", though not in the name of the DRE. The series of pamphlets " Seguiremos Informando " are edited and also posters and lots of written propaganda.

Uruguay.- The DRE Delegation at Uruguay edited the pamphlet "Cuba Comunista" and has also edited a great amount of written propaganda.

Ecuador .-The Delegation has edited the pamphlet " Fidel Castro tridos a America", countless posters,and has printed again propaganda received from Miami, Brazil .- The Delegation at Rio de Janeiro has edited the pamphlets "Bases para revolucion latinoamericana ", "Que es el DRE". The Delegation at Sao Paolo has also edited countless pamphlets with photograph illustrations.

Santo Domingo .- The Delegation has printed lots of propaganda sent by the main office at Miami.

Bolivia, Colombia, Chile, Argentina, Panama, Honduras .- These Delegations has printed Propaganda edited by the main office at Miami, also posters and lots of propaganda, and have regularly written articles in the press.

b.- Propaganda by radio broadcasts

Honduras.- The Delegation broadcasts daily "Trinchera" by radio America, Santo Domingo.- The Delegation broadcasts daily "Trinchera" which lasts 30 minutes by Radio Caribe.

Venezuela.- The Delegation broadcasts daily "Trinchera" which lasts 30 minutes, by radio "Libertad"

Costa Rica.- The Delegation broadcast " Trinchera Estudiantil Cubana" three times a week by " Voz de la Victor"

Panama.- The Delegation broadcasts "Trinchera" three times a week by radio Miramar .

Chile.- The Delegation broadcasts "Trinchera" once a week by radio Chile

Bolivia.- The Delegation broadcasts daily " Trinchera" by radio "Amauca"

Uruguay.- The Delegation broadcasts " Trinchera" three times a week by radio " Rural".

Colombia- The Delegation broadcasts daily "Trinchera" by radio"Santa Fe"

Peru, Ecuador, Puerto Rico, - broadcast weekly programs.

c.- Photographic propaganda.

There can be no doubt that the success attained in this fiel is of the greatest importance. The main office has been supplying photographic material to the Delegations for several months, so that they could use it for propaganda. A great blow was achieved with the photographs illustrating the events at the Ecuador Embassy in Cuba, when three Cubans, seeking political assile, tried to enter the Embassy and were shot by the militia being already inside Ecuatorian field. These photographs were distributed among all the Delegations and a day was appointed for their publication in all places of the continent. Thus, a great success was achieved. This same the photographs were published in almost all the Latin American newspapers, and, later, they were even published in extra-continental press.

It is of vital importance to point out the success achieved by the photograph exhibition, organized by the photograph department of the Section of International Relations. This exhibition was composed of 30 enlarged photographs to be shown at public squares and organizations and were sent to each Delegation. These exhibitions are still being shown in Latin America. Thousands of persons have visited them and the success achieved up-to-date has been great.

7.- Intelligence and Agitation. During one lo ng year we have received through the Delegations many informations on Castrist activities throughout the continent, as well as on Communist activities in general. Stirring has neither been absent - Two libraries of the Communist Party were destroyed in Montevideo, a place were support for Fidel Castro was received was also destroyed in Montevideo, and students groups in Venezuela have been trained.

THE CHANCELLORS ' CONFERENCE

When the Chancellors' Conference was held inJanuary 1961, there was a plan to turn public opinion in favor of taking energetic steps against the Castro regime. For this purpose, the 25th of January was appointed as the day in which " La Marcha del Silencio" (The Silence March) was to be carried through in the principal Latin American cities, to give support to the Conference and protestd for the crimes accomplished by the Castro Communist Regime. The results were truly astonishing. In Bolivia more than 20,000 people took part in " La Marcha del Silencio", they all carried lighted torches since it was at night fall. In Peru , more than 10,000 persons were assembled and in Guayaquil, Ecuador, around 5,000. Also smaller manifestations were made in Honduras, Panama, Mexico, and Colombia. The DRE Delegation sen to the Chancellors ' Conference visited several countries before arriving at Montevideo, so as to develop in them the labor of propaganda and organization previous to the events that would take place during the Conference. This Delegation was divided in two groups. The first one was composed by Juan M. Salvat, Fernando Garcia Chacon, Jose Maria Lasa, Ernesto Fernandez Travieso, and Mario Pita. This group visited Bolivia, Peru, Chile, and Argentina. The second group was composed only by Eduardo Muniz, who visited Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama, and Brazil. During this trips, press conferences, interviews with secretaries of Foreign Relations, and with Presidents of the nations, were held. In Uruguay, the first photograph exhibition was shown in the Plaza Libertad, a gigantic meeting was held in Montevideo and four meetings were held in other cities of the country (San Carlos, Piriapolis, Minas, and Maldonado), pest bombs were placed at the Communist meeting in the University, press conferences were held, and radio programs were broadcasted, all during the Conference.

In a general form, we have explained some of the activities developed by the Section Of International Relations of the DRE. It would be impossible to describe them all completely.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ASSEMBLIES

We are going to narrate separately the labor accomplished by the Section of International Relations in the international student assemblies, for it results of great importance. The DRE has sent Delegations to three great student assemblies: IV CLAE (Congreso Latinoamericano de Estudiantes), III CEUCA (Congreso de Estudiantes Universitarios de Centro America) and X CIE (Conferencia Internacional De Estudiantes). A Delegation was also sent to travel through several countries of Africa (Senegal, Ghana, Kenya, Egipto, Marruecos, Nigeria, Argelia, and Tunez) in order to establish contacts with the Student Unions of Africa in preparation for the CIE.

a-. IV Congreso Latinoamericano de Estudiantes (IV CLAE)

The DRE sent a Delegation to the IV CLAE -the most important LatinAmerican student assembly- composed by: Luis Fernandez Rocha, Luis Boza Dominguez, Joaquin Perez, Jose I. Rodrigues Lombillo, Antonio B. Abella, and Eduardo Muniz.

The report on the labor accomplished by this Delegation in the IV CLAE -a Delegation from the FEU of Cuba was present at it also- has been already presented. But we will only list the following resolutions which were taken in the assembly due to our vigorous action.

Condemn the executions of students in Cuba.
Demand freedom for Alberto Muller and the other imprisoned students.
Proclaim the 27th. of November day of duel for Latin American students, in memory of the Cuban students that have been executed.
Ask the Comision de Estudios e Informacion (RIC), organism of the International Student Conference, to perform an investigation on the situation of Cuban students.

b-. Congreso de Estudiantes Universitarios De Centro America (III CEUCA)

The DRE sent a delegation to this assembly, held in San Jose, Costa Rica, led by Rogelio Helu and composed by delegates of the DRE in Costa Rica. The celebration of the III CEUCA did not finally take place because the Unions controlled by Communists asked that the Cuban Revolution be given a vote of confidence. Mexico, Costa Rica, Guatemala, and Honduras, opposed this petition. At this critical situation, the democratic delegation retired, finishing thus the Assembly and leaving the Communists unable to reach their objective.

c-. Conferencia Internacional de Estudiantes (X CIE)

In the X CIE just held at Quebec, Canada, the DRE Delegation obtained the greatest success ever in the assistance to a student assembly. This Delegation was composed by: Jose I. Rodriguez Lombillo, Rafael Tremols, Joaquin Perez, Lourdes Casals, Rogelio Helu, and Eduardo Muniz. Their assistance at the assembly turned out to be a great success owing to the efforts of the Delegation. The assembly condemned, with only one vote of opposition from India, the executions and imprisonments of Cuban students and the suspension of the publication of the newspapers of the University by the Totalitarian State.

Copies of this resolution will be sent to all Student Unions of the world, to the United Nations, and to the government of Fidel Castro. The report on the X CIE will soon be delivered.

d-. The Delegation sent by the DRE to Africa

On the last days of May, 1962, the DRE sent a delegation to Africa composed by Jose I. Rodriguez Lombillo, Raul Gonzalez Simon, and Lourdes Casals. They traveled through these countries: Senegal, Nigeria, Kenya, Ghana, Egypt, Marruecos, Tunez, and Argelia. They established contacts with the leaders of Student Unions and distributed among them extensive informations on the actual situation of Cuban Students, translated to English and French. The leaders were greatly impressed by the panphlet "The Parversion of a University". The positive sesults of this trip to Africa were clearly disclosed at the X CIE, where the Student Unions from Ghana, Nigeira and Kenya ardently defended us.

e-. Actually the DRE is planning to send a Delegation to the Festival Mundial de la Juventud whcih will be held this year at Helsinki, Finland.

DEFICIENCIES AND DIFFICULTIES

During more than one year of vigorous working, the Section of International Relations has encountered countless deficiencies and difficulties, many of which have been already surpassed, though others still prevail. We will state bellow the main difficulties which we are actually facing and which we endeavor to surpass as soon as possible.

1.- Personnel

The problem on lack of personnel has been and is one of the main difficulties which the Section has encountered in its labor. Countless are the motives for this, among which we can list.

A.- Lack of capable personnel : Due to the importance of the labor developed in Latin America, the personnel with capacity for the work is not very abundant.

B.- Personal problems of the aspirants to Delegates : This is one of the most conflictive motives we are actually facing.
More than exile by the Cuban people, what is actually taking place is a massive exodus of our people. Consequently, being in the need of working to help their families, many Delegates have had to give up their labors and cooperation with us. In many cases, aspirants to Delegates have been forced to abandon the Plan remaining only a few days for their departure.

C.- Problems on obtaining visas: The difficulties in obtaining the visas for several countries (like Colombia, Mexico, El Salvador, Santo Domingo) has also , on many occasions, hindered the departure of the Delegates for Latin America. There is a specific example in Mexico, for which it has been absolutely impossible to obtain the visas; in spite of all the efforts made. Many delegates in these said conditions of inactivity have consequently abandoned the plan.

D.- Problems of Delegates in the respective countries: The problems the Delegates have had to face in the different countries have been so many that it results imposible to outline them all. We will try to point out those which we consider are the most important:

a.- Economic difficulties : The Delegates lacked operational funds to develop their plans for approximately one year. Their field of operation was logically reduced to the least. Actually the delegates do have these funds, though, evidently, many of the plans could not be carried through them.

b.- Problems with American officials in the different countries: Though in the majority of the countries our relations are the best, nevertheless, we have had to face problems in some. For example, in Honduras we have had to change the Delegate due to pressure of Batista supporters. In our Delegation at Sao Paolo, Brazil, our Delegates have even had to clean fields, just as simple workers, (they were not sent to Latin America for such purposes) and further more they have even been prohibited to use the name of the DRE.

C) Psychological pressures which influence on the Delegates. One ought to understand the situation which a DRE Delegate has to encounter in Latin America. Generally, they are young boys and the lonesome atmosphere in which they are, influences greatly upon them. In repeated occasions we have stated the need of making frequent trips to the Delegations, but up to the present, no heed has been paid to our demand. We consider this of vital importance and, once again, we state our demand of traveling to the Delegations in order to maintain high the moral of the Delegates and to avoid a feeling of forlornness and isolation in them.

We have briefly exposed some of the deficiencies and difficulties which we are actually facing. They have been written in the best spirit and not moved by any wrong motive, but for the only purpose of attaining a prompt solution for our problems.

Bombardeo a Cuba fue militarmente premeditado - dicen jóvenes cubanos

300 mil son los exilados que luchan por liberar a Cuba de rojos

Que el último bombardeo a La Habana, por miembros del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil, fue "militarmente premeditado", revelaron a LA CRONICA, Roberto Pérez San Román y Rafael Quintero, miembros de la Brigada de Asalto 2506 que participaron en la invasión a la isla Cochinos y que actualmente visitan el Perú. El primero, tiene el cargo de Jefe de Artillería. En su visita a nuestro diario estuvieron acompañados de Rolando Fernández, delegado del DRE en el Perú.

Manifestaron también que esos ataques se estaban preparando desde hace tiempo y que en el momento del bombardeo al hotel ICAP, Fidel Castro se encontraba comiendo con los técnicos rusos. "De allí el bombardeo al hotel", dijeron.

Revelaron igualmente que el gobierno de Fidel Castro va a fusilar a seis jóvenes, entre ellos estudiantes y líderes obreros y campesinos, acusados de ser autores de los bombardeos. Esto, sin juicio previo.

Como se sabe, el bombardeo a La Habana, se produjo en la noche del viernes 24 del presente, hecho que motivó que Cuba culpase a Estados Unidos de ser el autor intelectual.

El objetivo de estos dos exilados cubanos, miembros del Consejo Revolucionario Cubano, recorrer toda Latinoamérica, con el objeto de informar sobre la verdadera situación de Cuba. Ellos ya han visitado Caracas, Montevideo y Santiago, y posteriormente encumbrarán a Colombia y de allí a Centro América.

Dijeron también que visitaban Latinoamérica, para recabar toda ayuda que estos países podrían proporcionar y contribuir así a la liberación de la Cuba oprimida.

"Hay en Miami — manifestaron — más de 300,000 exilados cubanos que están haciendo esfuerzos desesperados por lograr la liberación de su país. Ellos — continuaron — prefieren morir luchando por la liberación que estar impasibles ante los fusilamientos impunes que se hacen en Cuba".

Revelaron que en la prisión de La Cabaña se encuentran Manuel Guillot, estudiante de la Universidad de La Habana, y Enrique Cepero, sobrino de un actual Ministro de Fidel Castro.

Los exilados cubanos que actualmente se encuentran en el país. De izquierda a derecha, Rolando Fernández, Delegado Oficial en el Perú del DRE, y Roberto Pérez San Ramón y Rafael Quintero, miembros de la Brigada de Asalto 2506.

DECLARACIONES DE ROLANDO FERNANDEZ

El Delegado en el Perú del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil de Cuba, Rolando M. Fernández, declaró "que la actual política de Estados Unidos con respecto de Cuba parece querer ingresar a una etapa de convivencia".

"Llegó a esta conclusión — expresó — luego de considerar las afirmaciones hechas por el Departamento de Justicia y el Encargado de Prensa del Departamento de Estado del país del Norte, referentes al bombardeo efectuado desde el mar contra una zona militar de La Habana, y la incautación por el gobierno estadounidense de las dos embarcaciones que tomaron parte en la citada acción naval".

"Me pregunto — dijo el Delegado cubano — ¿qué beneficios puede aportar a la democracia, a la lucha contra el comunismo amenazante una actitud como la que está adoptando Estados Unidos? Me pregunto, también, si es posible creer que vamos a fortalecer la democracia impidiendo actuar a los cubanos demócratas o si va a aumentar el prestigio del sistema occidental cristiano disponiéndose la incautación de los instrumentos que sirven a la lucha contra el comunismo ateo".

"Yo en particular, desearía equivocarme en la consideración de los propósitos norteamericanos, porque juzgo que una política de convivencia de la democracia continental o de la democracia estadounidense con Cuba comunista no arrastraría sino una secuencia de perjuicios muy grandes para el sistema Interamericano y el robustecimiento del comunismo en América. Lamentablemente, empiezo a dudar de las palabras del Presidente Kennedy, en el sentido de que "Cuba no será abandonada".

"El movimiento democrático de los cubanos en el exilio y de los cubanos de la resistencia en Cuba contra el régimen de Castro, reitero, o discrepa totalmente de toda actitud o política que pretenda dirigirse o se dirija a lograr una coexistencia con el comunismo que desgobierna a la república del Caribe. Estamos, por el contrario, de acuerdo con toda posición que no signifique daño para la democracia continental y sí, más bien, el debilitamiento y la destrucción del [illegible] en Cuba y sus ves- [illegible] vo, más que el [illegible]

NUEVA YORK, 27 (UPI).—La fortificación de Cu gana de cantidades importantes de técnicos militares y del bloque soviético, se realiza mientras el Gobierno de se diariamente que aviones norteamericanos de la base tenemos "violan" el espacio aéreo y las aguas territoriales Aún no ha sido determinada la relación que puede existir entre los hechos. Se sabe que autoridades norteamericanas están preocupadas particularmente ante la posibilidad de que entre el equipo automático por la Unión Soviética haya proyectiles de lanzamiento lateral, por ejemplo.

La instalación de este equipo cerca de Guantánamo, por ejemplo, podría aumentar peligrosamente la tirantez cubano-norteamericana con respecto a la inmensa base naval que el Primer Ministro Fidel Castro confía en que eventualmente estará bajo su control, según indicaron fuentes políticas.

En los dos últimos meses, el Ministerio de las Fuerzas Armadas de Cuba publica comunicados diarios en los que acusa a aviones, barcos y submarinos norteamericanos de "violar" territorio cubano. En su mayoría, las supuestas violaciones ocurrieron alrededor de la base de Guantánamo.

La más reciente de estas acusaciones, publicada ayer, dice que un avión norteamericano voló sobre varias poblaciones en la provincia de Matanzas durante una acción que duró 28 minutos después de la medianoche del viernes. El comunicado no indicó de qué manera pudo ser establecido el punto de origen del avión.

Según el comunicado, un avión bimotor voló el viernes sobre un barco cubano en aguas de Cuba, al noreste de Mariel.

El estilo, contenido y continuidad de estas acusaciones se asemejan mucho a las "advertencias" frecuentes que la radio de Pekín, en China Comunista, dirige a Estados Unidos, al acusar a embarcaciones y aviones norteamericanos de cometer "violaciones" territoriales.

Los comunicados cubanos frecuentemente contienen acusaciones ag cionales, sobre ataques armados de la Infantería de Marina norteameric na "hacia Cuba" desde la base.

El anuncio hecho el viernes último por el Gobierno norteamericano sobre la llegada de refuerzos soviéticos a Cuba coincidió con las afir maciones de exilados cubanos de que tropas rusas y de otros países c "bloque soviético" se encuentran en gran número en La Habana.

No obstante, funcionarios norteamericanos se refirieron a "técnic y a "técnicos militares" y no a soldados.

El anuncio fue hecho, además, pocas horas antes de que refu cubanos, en dos lanchas, lanzaran un ataque contra el litoral de La bana, el viernes por la noche, utilizando un cañón de 20 milímetros

Un grupo de estudiantes exilados en Miami se atribuyó la resp bilidad por el ataque. Sólo promesas convertidas en hambre hizo Fidel Castro al pueblo de Cuba

MIAMI, Agosto 27 (UPI).— Hace hoy justamente un año que el Primer Ministro de Cuba, Fidel Castro, prometió al pueblo cubano que en unos meses "su cinturón estaría nuevamente ceñido", y que serían resueltos los principales problemas de abastecimiento de la nación, según recordó un diplomático destacado en Cuba, de paso en esta ciudad.

Hace un año, tuvo lugar la primera reunión nacional de producción y el discurso central de ese acto fue dicho por Castro. El cuadro de promesas halagüeñas presentado por el Primer Ministro, afirmó el diplomático, fue el siguiente:

—En el mes de Diciembre de 1961, estaría resuelto plenamente el abastecimiento de aves en La Habana, y para el 1º de febrero del entrante año, en todos los mercados nacionales.

—A partir de Enero de 1962, la producción de viandas —tubérculos— superaría las necesidades del mercado nacional.

—En junio de 1962, la producción de pescado satisfaría la demanda del consumo.

—El 1º de Enero de 1963, quedaría abolido el racionamiento de grasas comestibles.

Sin embargo, apuntó el diplomático, en vez de la mejoría prometida, la situación se ha agudizado. Por primera vez en su historia, el pueblo cubano sufre los rigores e inconvenientes de la libreta de racionamiento para obtener alimentos.

Doce meses pues de aquella histórica reunión —agregó— la escasez de alimentos, ropas, zapatos y medicinas se hace más agobiadora.

Las futuras madres tienen que hacer largas colas, para obtener piezas de telas con qué hacer pañales. Ni siquiera pueden enviar a un familiar, pues para comprarlas tienen que exhibir su estado de gravidez.

En las tiendas de ropa interior de mujer o de hombre, sólo venden dos piezas por persona.

En las tiendas de calzado, para evitar que los escaparates se vean vacíos, se obliga a que sean llenados con cajas vacías.

En cuanto a los alimentos, el diplomático se remitió a las propias admisiones públicas de los gobernantes, durante el año actual, mucho después de las promesas de hace un año:

—El 24 de Marzo, el Presidente del poderoso Instituto Nacional de la Reforma Agraria, Carlos Rafael Rodríguez, admitió que el "racionamiento empieza a sembrar el descontento y la desconfianza en nuestro pueblo". Castro a- [illegible] de Marzo, [illegible] tendremos q'

GUATEMALA, agosto 27. (UPI).— El Canciller Jesús Unda Murillo declaró hoy que la presencia de tropas comunistas rusas, checas y chinas en Cuba "justifica poner a prueba inmediatamente la efectividad de los artículos sexto y noveno del Tratado de Río de Janeiro que prevén el caso de agresiones armadas contra el Continente americano.

"Justificaría también una conferencia inmediata de Ministros de RR. EE. para tomar medidas en nuestra propia defensa, en lo que estimo que estarían de acuerdo muchos Gobiernos americanos" —agregó.

"La llegada de esas tropas a Cuba —explicó Unda Murillo— significa grave peligro para la América en general y especialmente para Centro América, considerada como el punto más vulnerable de la defensa del Continente.

"Ello es parte de la maniobra militar anunciada en Moscú hace tiempo, que persigue dividir al continente en dos fracciones, dejando aislados en esta forma a los Estados Unidos, que constituyen la fuerza militar más poderosa capaz de enfrentarse al comunismo soviético.

"Estos hechos —la llegada de tropas— pueden significar dos cosas: primero, que Castro ha perdido la confianza del propio pueblo y de las milicias populares y se ve obligado a recurrir a fuerzas mercenarias comunistas para sostenerse en el poder.

PARIS, Agosto 27 (AFP).—"Los Estados Unidos preparan una acción directa contra Cuba". Tal es la opinión expresada en los círculos oficiales y en los diarios gubernamentales de Cuba después del ataque por mar lanzado el pasado viernes por la noche contra La Habana por contrarrevolucionarios cubanos.

Para establecer esta conjetura en La Habana se ha unido el ataque del viernes a cierto número de [illegible] concordantes": la gira efectuada por el General Maxwell Taylor, Jefe del Estado Mayor Conjunto Norteamericano, a las tres bases [illegible] situadas alrededor de Cuba, la presencia desde hace quince días frente a las costas norteñas de la Isla de un barco de observación estadounidense, el "Oxford", las "violaciones" del espacio aéreo cubano por aviones norteamericanos, sobre las cuales el Ministerio cubano de las Fuerzas Armadas lanzó ayer su 142 denuncia después del 1º de julio. Por otra parte, los exilados cubanos en Florida son presentados como "mercenarios al servicio de los Estados Unidos".

Por su lado, Lombardo Toledano, que dirige en México el Partido Popular Socialista, protestó ayer en la noche, lo mismo que otros movimientos de izquierda mexicanos, contra el ataque del pasado viernes, y declaró: "Si el Presidente Kennedy no condena esta agresión y a sus autores, la responsabilidad de esta nueva violación a la soberanía cubana recaería sobre el [illegible] un portavoz del Departamento de [illegible] de su país en la [illegible] los guardacostas estadounidenses utilizados en este

Delegado de los estudiantes anticastristas hace declaraciones sobre bombardeo a Cuba

El delegado Oficial en el Perú, del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil, Rolando M. Fernández, declaró ayer "que las declaraciones formuladas por el Departamento de Justicia de los Estados Unidos son impropias e improcedentes, ya que lo que se ha violado no es la Ley de Neutralidad de ese país, sino el Tratado de Río celebrado por los cancilleres de la Organización de Estados Americanos, al permitir en este Continente en primer lugar el propio Gobierno de los Estados Unidos— que impunemente tengan acceso a la Isla del Caribe, barcos repletos de armas y hombres procedentes de una potencia extracontinental."

En relación con las declaraciones hechas por Robert Mac Closkey, encargado de Prensa del Departamento de Estado, Rolando M. Fernández dejó constancia, "Que la Delegación del DRE en el Perú es la que no comprende de cómo si el Departamento de Estado se da cuenta de la actual situación existente en ese Hemisferio— como consecuencia de la intervención comunista en Cuba— formula semejantes declaraciones".

Para nosotros los cubanos —afirmó el Delegado del DRE en el Perú— la Liberación de Cuba de las garras del comunismo que la oprime, ha estado y estará siempre por encima de cualquier otra consideración, y jamás estaremos dispuestos a entrar en una política de convivencia con los rojos.

Al conocerse la noticia del bombardeo a La Habana, el Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil, por intermedio de su delegado en Lima, emitió el siguiente comunicado:

Como era de esperar, los últimos acontecimientos que se refieren al traslado a Cuba de soldados y material bélico comunista realizado por buques soviéticos ha provocado la reacción enérgica de las fuerzas contrarias al régimen de Castro.

Es, pues, la intervención militar comunista en Cuba la que ha originado el bombardeo de un hotel de La Habana en el que se hospedaban militares de países de detrás de la Cortina de Hierro y la que ha precipitado el alzamiento armado de un importante grupo de patriotas del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil de Cuba en la histórica Sierra del Escambray.

Como era lógico, también, que tenía que ocurrir, el Gobierno de Castro con el claro propósito de engañar a la opinión continental trata de desprestigiar la valiente acción armada iniciada por las fuerzas que se le oponen. Ha llegado a decir, incluso, en una maniobra netamente demagógica, que los disparos hechos contra el citado hotel habían puesto en peligro la vida de varios niños.

Reiteramos la transmisión radiofónica del DRE lanzada al aire desde el mismo suelo cubano, que hizo un dramático llamamiento a las naciones del Mundo Libre sobre la situación cubana y planteó la "lucha frontal contra el despotismo rojo", las declaraciones sobre cómo Cuba comunista vulnera impunemente los tratados de Defensa Continental como el de Río de Janeiro, la Carta de Bogotá y los acuerdos de Punta del Este y la política de "guerra total al presidio que las circunstancias nos exigen". * * *

Este suceso parece un episodio ocurrido bajo el régimen comunista de Fidel Castro; o quizá bajo el de su predecesor, el Dictador Fulgencio Batista. En realidad este incidente ocurrió hace casi 30 años atrás, durante el régimen de otro tirano cubano, Gerardo Machado. La victima era un estudiante, apresado por realizar actividades contra el gobierno, quien fué deliberadamente fusilado, mientras trató de escapar. La brutalidad no es nada nuevo en la Perla de las Antillas; tampoco lo es, el valor.-

El pequeño bombardeo en la Habana castrista, hace 15 días, fué obra de una nueva generación de estudiantes cubanos que no está de acuerdo con el gobierno. Estos estudiantes son miembros del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil.-

[illegible]:

El Directorio se formó durante los sangrientos días de Machado, contribuyó a derribar al Dictador en 1933, asesinando al Jefe de la Policía Secreta y al Presidente del Senado. (Uno de los pocos fracasos, lo constituyó el intento de asesinar al propio Machado, abriendo un túnel que iba a dar a un cementerio, donde Machado pronunciaría un discurso fúnebre). El Directorio también se opuso al ex-sargento Batista, cuando tomó el poder en 1952. Encabezado por un estudiante de derecho, llamado José Antonio Echeverría, el Directorio llevó a cabo una serie de actos contra el Dictador Batista, por toda la Isla, cooperando entonces con Castro, pero manteniendo su independencia.-

Su acción más espectacular tuvo lugar en la tarde del 13 de Marzo de 1957, en el Palacio de Batista, en la Habana. Un camión llegó al Palacio y de él saltaron 35 estudiantes, miembros del Directorio. Lanzando granadas de mano y ametrallando, tomaron de sorpresa a la Guardia del Palacio, tiraron abajo las puertas, y llegaron hasta el segundo piso, antes de que muriera el último de ellos. Batista, tembloroso y con pistola en mano, estaba en el tercer piso.

Cerca de la Universidad, Echeverría tomó una emisora de radio para llamar a ¡Revolución!, pero fué capturado por la policía, y fusilado luego. Hacía sólo unas semanas que él había dado al Directorio su lema: "Los estudiantes cubanos no tememos la muerte". En otro acto, miembros del Directorio irrumpieron en la Boite Montmartre en La Habana, y mataron al Jefe del Servicio de Inteligencia Militar de Batista.-

BOMBAS CON CAPA DE CHOCOLATE:

Después de la huída de Batista, de Cuba, en 1959, los miembros del Directorio tuvieron divergencias con Castro. En el mes de febrero de 1960, estudiantes del Directorio, llevaron a cabo la primer demostración contra el régimen comunista de Castro, un motín en La Habana, durante la colocación de una corona al Primer Diputado Soviético, Premier Anastas Mikoyan, ante el Monumento a José Martí. Dirigidos por el estudiante de derecho, Alberto Müller, de 20 años; y el de sociología, Juan Manuel Salvat, de 19 años; un grupo de jóvenes estudiantes del Directorio, tomaron las armas nuevamente, cuando el viejo comunista cubano Carlos Rafael Rodríguez, ocupó una cátedra universitaria.-

Los jóvenes volaron plantas generadoras de electricidad (su herramienta favorita la constituía una bomba recubierta con chocolate, que era fácil de transportar en el bolsillo), tomaron parte en el incendio que destruyó la tienda "El Encanto", en La Habana; usaron durante 3 meses una estación transmisora clandestina, desde donde salían al aire en un programa de 15 minutos, tres veces por semana, utilizando la frecuencia de un canal de T.V. de La Habana, que se encontraba en desuso. El Directorio estuvo también envuelto en el plan relacionado con la invasión de Bahía de Cochinos, pero sufrió consecuencias desastrozas: Müller, con órdenes de abrir un frente guerrillero en Sierra Maestra, no vió ninguno de los prometidos abastecimientos que le enviarían por paracaídas; tampoco recibió la noticia de la invasión, por lo que él mismo bajó de la Sierra para averiguar. Fué capturado, y actualmente está preso en la Isla de Pinos, condenado a 20 años de prisión. Aún así tiene suerte, el Directorio dice que entre 170 y 200 de sus miembros han sido fusilados luchando contra Castro.-

"Los [illegible]":

A pesar de sus víctimas, el Directorio es una de las pocas unidades efectivas, entre las 30 ó más, de grupos anticastristas que trabajan dentro y fuera de Cuba. El mes pasado, Salvat y tres miembros más del Directorio, viajaron a Helsinki para hostigar a la delegación castrista que se encontraba allí, participando en el Festival Mundial de la Juventud, patrocinado por los rojos. Salvat fué golpeado por 6 de sus compatriotas comunistas.-

Hace dos semanas, Salvat y 7 hombres más, salieron en una lancha veloz, de 31 pies, con un viejo cañón alemán de 20 mm. (que ellos compraron por 300 dólares), sobre la cubierta.-
Luego Isidro Borja, un estudiante de ingeniería, de 26 años, que comandaba el ataque, contó lo que había ocurrido:

"A las 9 p.m. vimos las luces de La Habana. Nos dirigimos directamente al Castillo del Morro, y dimos vuelta a la derecha. Contábamos con el hecho de que el radar estaba más alto que nuestra lancha, por lo que podíamos pasar por debajo. Llegamos a 250 yardas de la costa, frente al Hotel Rosita de Hornedo (donde se alojaban técnicos del bloque comunista). Hicimos fuego durante 7 minutos, efectuamos alrededor de 24 descargas. Nuestros proyectiles atravesaron las ventanas y las luces se apagaron. Cuando comenzamos a escapar, huímos de verdad. Pusimos los motores a toda velocidad, durante más tiempo del que se debía, luego disminuímos. Nos besamos unos a otros. Todos llorábamos como niños. Acabamos sentándonos en el piso de la lancha, y lloramos".-

"Fidel Castro traiciono la revolucion!" -- declara o estudante cubano Benito Diaz

Convidado pela direção da União Catarinense dos Estudantes, encontra-se em nossa Capital, o estudante cubano Benito Diaz.

O acadêmico Rogério Duarte de Queiroz responsavel pela secção "Notícias Universitárias" dêste matutino procurou ouví-lo a respeito da Revolução Cubana, bem como da situação atual do regime imposto por Fidel Castro, resultando no que se segue.

Quem é Benito Diaz

Benito Diaz nosso entrevistado, iniciou seus estudos superiores na Faculdade de Direito da Universidade de Havana quando se viu forçado pelos acontecimentes a pedir e obter asilo na embaixada brasileira em Havana, lá permanecendo pelo espaço de três meses, após o que veio para nosso país no dia 28 de março dêste ano

Conta 20 anos de idade e continua atualmente seus estudos de Direito na Pontifícia Universidade Católica da Guanabara. Lutou ativamente contra o regime de Fulgêncio Batista participando da Frente Estudantil Nacional, que agrupava tanto estudantes secundários como universitários. Após a memorável vitória sobre Batista continuou apoiando a Revolução durante dois anos quando compreendeu que a mesma tinha sido traída em seus princípios. Daí em diante passou a lutar contra Fidel Castro principal traidor, filiando-se ao Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil — DRE —, usando de todos os meios necessários como guerrilhas, sabotagens constantes e atentados pessoais.

Cuba: Situação atual

Respondendo primeiramente, qual a situação atual de Cuba, declarou-nos Benito Diaz, que o racionamento de viveres e gêneros de primeira necessidade é constante, provocando com isso muitas desorderas e descontentamento na população. Apesar da bem armada e terrivel milícia, a luta contra Fidel continua progredindo. Comícios organizados contra o regime são sempre dissolvidos pelas armas sendo prêsos seus manifestantes .Contudo, é oportuno que se destaque — prossegue — que essas mesmas milícias viram-se contra Castro quando têm oportunidade de fazê-lo com êxito.

Quanto da chegada à Cuba de contingentes do exército russo disse que nada podia acrescentar além daquilo que tem lido através de jornais.

Frisou, porém, que quando de sua vinda ao Brasil, grande era o número de russos, tchecos e chineses que entravam diàriamente em Cuba com a finalidade de garantir o regime castro-comunista, mas, rotulados todos êles de técnicos, os quais vivem confortàvelmente instalados nas antigas mansões dos latifundiários inclusive com carros de luxo à disposição numa afronta ao bom povo de seu país.

O operário cubano

É lastimável as condições do operário cubano — declarou nosso entrevistado. Não possuem a mínima liberdade sindical sendo seus órgãos de classe dominados pelos comunistas, e seus legítimos líderes, como aconteceu com David Salvador secretário-geral da Confederação dos Trabalhadores de Cuba e dirigente máximo da clandestinagem operária contra Batista que foi condenado a 30 anos de prisão.

Além diso a classe operária cubana se viu privada do direito de greve, direito de enfermagem por nove dias, e 13.o salário que vinha percebendo há cinco anos. O regime castrista, impôs ainda um desconto mensal obrigatório de 14% dos salários e quase que diàriamente fazem-se coletas voluntári para todos os fins chegando-se e tão a um desconto aproximado 25% ao mês.

Como são realizados os comícios dos todos os operários. Aquêle que não aceita tal convite é tido como contra-revolucionário sofrendo as consequências de seu ato. E claro que a grande maioria prefere ouvir as demagogias de seu falso líder a ter que enfrentar "el paredón!

Resultados positivos da Revolução

Indagado dos resultados positivos da Revolução Cubana respondeu que a mesma conseguiu despertar o povo latino-americano para seus problemas.

Disse que as desapropriações e nacionalizações das emprêsas e companhias americanas de nada resolveram, pois apenas trocaram de patrão, passando para os russos.

Sôbre o ataque de Playa Girón

"Grande êrro que não devia ter sido cometido, pois destruiu completamente a clandestinagem e mesmo porque, não era o momento propício. Mal preparados militarmente, não consideraram as tropas de Fidel. O próprio povo cubano foi colhido de surprêsa pela invasão, pois não esperava".

Afirmou Benito, que não se precisará de nova invasão, pois Fidel Castro não permanecerá por muito tempo no poder.

Diretório Revolucionario Estudantil

O que é DRE? Explicou-nos o estudante cubano: "O Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil — D.R.E. —, é o representante da opinião e do sentimento dos estudantes cubanos e por esta causa faz questão de levar ao conhecimento de todos os estudantes e povos da América Latina o que está acontecendo de verdade na minha terra. E mtodos os países de govêrno democrático de nosso continente temos representantes. No Brasil somos em seis quatro no Rio e dois em São Paulo".

Fez questão de acentuar que o DRE não é contra-revolucionário, mas, sim revolucionário contra a traição comunista!

Terminando suas declarações, pediu ao reporter que transmitisse aos estudantes e povo catarinenses o seu abraço cordial, e a confiança de melhores dias para Cuba!

O DRE de Cuba e o desembarque de tropas comunistas em Havana

"O Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil de Cuba denuncia perante o povo de Santa Catarina o desembarque de cêrca de 10 mil soldados do bloco comunista mandados chamar por Fidel Castro neste momento que os operários, os camponeses, e os estudantes estão lutando e pondo em perigo a continuidade do regime comunista do traidor Castro. Entre os dias 26 e 31 de julho desembarcaram no pôrto de Mariel, na costa norte de Pinar del Rio, de 2.500 a 3.000 "técnicos" com uniforme verde-escuro, casquete branco, mochilas, fuzil-metralhadora; 2 mil de aspecto asiático ou coreano entre 4 e 9 de agôsto no pôrto de Casilda, na costa sul de Las Villas. Chegaram em jipes e caminhões, trazendo canhões e ambulâncias-hospitais; entre 26 e 31 de julho aportaram em Banes na costa norte de Oriente, 500 homens, a 7 de agôsto no pôrto de Havana 2.000 russos.

Também em Matanzas ocorreu um desembarque sôbre o qual não há outros detalhes. As informações recebidas indicam que as tropas invasoras estão localizadas em Guatana, antigo campo de tiro entre os quilômetros 7 e 8 da estrada que vai de Pinar del Rio ao pôrto de La Coloma. Em San Julian, onde nem a entrada de Dermidio Escalona, chefê militar de Pinar del Rio é permitida; na Cordilheira dos Orgãos, perto de Cabana; na Costa norte de Pinar del Rio, entre os portos de Santa Lúcia e Esperanza e entre o de Santa Lúcia e Dimas, em Torrens e Limonar, nas províncias de Havana e Matanzas; em La Cayuga, no aeroporto subterrâneo de San Antônio de Los Banos em Havana. Com todos êstes desembarques de soldados estrangeiros a serviço do imperialismo soviético, que dirão os defensores da "auto determinação de Cuba"? Possivelmente calarão e não reconhecerão que neste momento a verdadeira auto determinação do povo de Cuba está em perigo. Não reconhecerão que o povo cubano continua lutando pela sua liberdade. Continua lutando contra o homem que traiu a revolução cubana, a verdadeira Revolução Cubana. E nêste momento a América Latina não pode permanecer calada ante a invasão de Cuba por soldados comunistas. O O D.R.E. de Cuba faz um apêlo ao povo de Santa Catarina, para que expresse ao conselho de segurança da OEA sua condenação. O D.R.E. faz um apêlo a juventude catarinense, a todo o povo de Santa Catarina para que não permita que Cuba seja uma nova Hungria, para não permitir que sejam afogados êsses gritos de revolta do povo cubano pela sua auto determinação.

De vocês depende nêste momento que Cuba seja Livre !

Benito Díaz, Delegado".

Foi inaugurada, quinta-feira última, com a presença de várias autoridades, representantes de entidades estudantis e colégios da Guanabara, a primeira concha acústica do Rio.

A PUC, que foi a contemplada, por assim dizer, com esta peça indispensável às realizações artísticas e culturais da Universidade Católica, deu mostra do que serão as atividades neste setor nos próximos anos, convidando a magnífica orquestra sinfônica do Corpo de Bombeiros para a cerimônia de abertura.

Entrevista Exclusiva Com Eduardo Muniz

À esquerda, Eduardo Muniz, ao lado de Carlos Valdesuso, delegado no Rio de Janeiro, no aeroporto do Galeão

— Qual o motivo de sua viagem por todos os países da América Latina?

— Coordenar ao máximo o trabalho que vêm realizando os delegados do Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil, ao lado dos estudantes latino-americanos, nesta etapa decisiva de nossa luta.

— Quais são os planos insurrecionais do DRE para derrubar a Tirania, e que importância teve a ação levada a cabo no dia 24?

— Primeiramente, dividimos nossa luta em dois campos de vital importância, dentro de Cuba e no estrangeiro; enquanto, no interior do país, preparam-se as circunstâncias propícias para o levante das massas, através ações de sabotagem nas cidades e incremento das guerrilhas nas montanhas, no estrangeiro levamos adiante uma campanha de esclarecimento, que contribui para que ganhemos adeptos, que nos auxiliem moral e materialmente. Assim sendo, o climax da luta só se produzirá quando tenhamos as condições necessárias. Lograremos o triunfo com o desembarque de fôrças expedicionárias, armadas na mesma proporção em que o estão as tropas de Castro. Êste desembarque será efetuado em coordenação com os elementos da clandestinidade, que conduzirão o povo: as fôrças castristas se encontrarão entre dois fogos e êsse será o comêço do fim.

— Quais os resultados do ataque do dia 24 de agôsto ao litoral cubano?

— Em primeiro lugar, logrou que se produzisse, sem maiores dificuldades, o soerguimento de nossa resistência na Serra de Escambray, ao se distraírem os esbirros de Castro com o ataque marítimo; em segundo lugar, serviu para fazer lembrar ao tirano que os estudantes de Cuba não se conformarão diante da já consumada invasão soviética da nossa Ilha, e, se bem que a localização de Brigadas Internacionais em Cuba coloca a libertação em mãos de organismos internacionais, não será por isso que cruzaremos os braços, embora os esperemos que êles atuem; nossa luta é sem quartel, e nela deixaremos até o último gemido de nossa existência.

— O que nos pode dizer quanto à posição dos EE.UU. em relação a Cuba?

— Sinceramente, devo dizer que não estranhamos a atitude de coexistência pacífica por êles assumida com respeito a Cuba, pois que inúmeras vêzes sua posição foi errada para com muitos povos da América Latina; no entanto, confiamos em que modifiquem esta posição, e o mesmo dizemos de outros países da América Latina, que se mantêm em plano idêntico.

— Como é que vocês se intitulam — Revolucionários? O FC não é um Revolucionário?

— Esta pergunta, companheiro, é quase uma insinuação de que somos Contra-revolucionários; nada mais falso, já que os militantes do "Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil" são jovens que combateram a Tirania Batistiana, seguindo os ideais daquêle que foi então o líder do Diretório Revolucionário, o Mártir Universitário José Antônio Echevarría. Não somos sòmente revolucionários quanto à ação, mas também quanto à ação, mas também quanto à ideologia. Quando lutamos contra Batista, tínhamos ideais bem definidos, sabíamos claramente que era necessária uma mudança radical das estruturas existentes; víamos com ânsias a implantação de uma Reforma Agrária, que proporcionasse uma distribuição mais justa das terras, proscrevendo o latifúndio, tecnificando a produção agrícola e pecuária em todos os seus aspectos, inspirando aos camponêses a criação de cooperativas, para evitar que se produza o fenômeno do minifúndio por meio de uma educação bem orientada e intensiva, para que as ditas cooperativas sejam única e exclusivamente dirigidas pelos camponêses que a formem, sem intervenção estatal, a não ser uma ajuda desinteressada de tipo econômico e técnico. Bem assim as demais reformas: educacional, urbana, fiscal, reforma de Emprêsa, a instauração de um Salário Social de Rendimento. E quanto à política no exterior, uma de total independência em nossas decisões, reafirmando nossa soberania e repudiando todos os totalitarismos, desde o soviético até os dos Somoza, Stroessner, Salazar e Franco.

ACABAR COM A UNE, CONQUISTÁ-LA OU CRIAR OUTRA ENTIDADE?

O movimento universitário brasileiro se apresenta na atual conjuntura dividido em três grandes correntes: acabar com a UNE, conquistá-la ou criar outra entidade.

O processo que muitos advogam para acabar com a UNE seria o desligamento em grande escala dos diretórios acadêmicos. Simplesmente passariam a ignorar a União Nacional dos Estudantes, por a considerarem nefasta à vida universitária do país. [illegible] não vejam mais os pés.

Esta parcela da opinião estudantil, despolitizada, bem intencionada, mas sem compreender o mecanismo usado pelos totalitários para se perpetuarem no poder, comporta-se como crianças face a um aparelho indecifrável. A primeira reação é quebrá-lo ou deixá-lo de lado.

Outra coisa não querem os atuais dirigentes da UNE do que continuar a receber 1 bilhão e setecentos milhões que deve subir em 1962 para 2 bilhões e 400 milhões fora o financiamento do senhor Santos Vahlis via governador Brizola, sem apresentação de contas, e baixar o dinheiro do povo em viagens, gastar em propaganda política de entidades estudantis e sindicais dominadas pelos pelegos e comunistas, conforme revela o próprio relatório da UNE apresentado ao seu 1º Conselho Ordinário na gestão Aldo Arantes. Enfim, continuar com a vida que pediram ao bom deus totalitário. O estudante [illegible] dane; o negócio é enriquecer com a política.

Os estudantes que defendem o extermínio puro e simples da UNE são tão inocentes e irresponsáveis que ignoram que a União Nacional dos Estudantes não é propriedade do atual grupo da UNE. Por mais que seja exibida como instrumento pelos totalitários que vivem de [illegible] idéias como dinheiro, demagogia e agitação, pertence aos universitários.

É pela falta de participação dos democratas, que nem sequer comparecem às assembléias para eleger o presidente do seu diretório ou para impedir a [illegible] a paralisação da vida universitária, que o movimento estudantil, deturpado, se transformou na desonesta galinha dos ovos de ouro conhecida, em 1962, como UNE.

Os estudantes comodistas, que não comparecem às eleições do seu diretório, ou quando o fazem é sem critério de escolha, são os principais responsáveis pela utilização dos diretórios acadêmicos para finalidades puramente políticas, [illegible] da sujeira e da desonestidade dos pelegos e dos ignorantes como Santos Vahlis, que põe em dúvida a capacidade dos nossos professores, como fez nesta semana com o ilustre professor e amigo dos estudantes, Alcântara Figueiredo. Espera que o Santos Vahlis não vá à Faculdade Nacional de Ciências Econômicas para ter uma idéia do conceito de que ali goza atitudes, só servindo para conservar os atuais dirigentes da UNE no poder.

Conquistar novamente a União Nacional dos Estudantes para as verdadeiras causas da universalidade do homem e particularmente para ajudar decisivamente, através de uma aprimorada educação, o povo a libertar-se das garras do subdesenvolvimento e do totalitarismo que já nos ameaça [illegible] — esse é o pensamento da grande maioria dos estudantes brasileiros, que atualmente sentem a vergonha de ver a UNE esbanjar [illegible] o suor do povo ao visitar as suas [illegible], muitas vezes parcela do que tem [illegible] aos próprios filhos. Sentem a vergonha de ver a UNE se fazer representar com exclusividade para os círculos do poder nos conclaves totalitários, representando os [illegible] como o pequeno [illegible] em Helsinque. Sentem a vergonha de ver a UNE [illegible] no [illegible] dos estudantes [illegible] o governador Brizola quando faz [illegible] estudantes, [illegible] [redacted] [illegible] a vergonha de ver a [illegible] na [illegible] Venezuela [illegible] Vermelho [illegible] UNE [illegible] vermelho [illegible] [illegible] aberta.

Esta é a vergonha estudantil brasileira. E contra este [illegible] que a grande maioria está disposta a lutar. Aos poucos, tomam consciência de que a operação se faz [illegible] e para isso começam a participar das atividades dos seus diretórios, a comparecer, a votar e a [illegible] enquanto [illegible]. Os futuros médicos da Faculdade de Medicina já tomaram providências, os da Odontologia idem, os da Nacional de Ciências Econômicas fazem o orçamento do [illegible], os da Engenharia estudam [illegible] para que nada falte.

[illegible] que [illegible] as [illegible] do [illegible], como as [illegible] do mundo presente [illegible] a [illegible] da [illegible] espiritual do homem [illegible] existência de Deus.

Não [illegible] os títulos de "[illegible]", "[illegible]", "[illegible]" com que os dirigentes [illegible] dos títulos.

[illegible] com [illegible] estudantes [illegible] formados em [illegible] trazidas [illegible] leira.

Somos um grupo [illegible], muito mais numeroso do que parece, que temos consciência viva e grave dos trágicos problemas dêste mundo que espera de nós sòmente preparação profissional.

Como estudantes sabemos que nosso [illegible] deve ser urgentemente essa preparação e como [illegible] observadores do mundo e dos problemas brasileiros, [illegible] temos consciência do [illegible] da educação, da competência profissional, na [illegible] problema do desenvolvimento [illegible] melhor [illegible] numa reforma universitária [illegible] de uma mobilização geral de todos os recursos do país para a educação, e que permita oportunidades iguais a todos [illegible].

Em matéria de política, nossa experiência, alimentada pelas fontes do cristianismo, nos levam a repelir tôdas formas de totalitarismos que são, essas sim, verdadeiras alienações. Temos como critério principal a especial nobreza da natureza humana e seus direitos fundamentais, que os totalitarismos desconhecem ou ferem.

Democracia, para nós, é a forma política que se coaduna com os direitos do homem e que, por imperativos de justiça, e não por uma lei mecânica, procura levar a todos os frutos do gênero humano e a melhor participação dos frutos da terra.

Finalizando, desejamos ardentemente a concórdia em nosso meio, mas não poderemos, de forma alguma, aceitar um falso compromisso, uma paz de conveniência, com sacrifício de nossas mais profundas e vitais convicções de brasileiros e cristãos.

LEVANTE EM CUBA

O Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil em Caracas, Venezuela, informa que às 21,30, hora local, do dia 24 de agôsto, o Comando Marítimo do Diretório Revolucionário Estudantil, sediado em Cuba, bombardeou o Hotel Rosita Hornedo e o Teatro Blanquita, próximos ao mar, onde se encontravam os tchecos e russos chegados recentemente a Havana para reforçar as tropas fidelistas.

Ocorreu também um Levante dos Comandos de Resistência nas serras de Escambray.

Foi distribuído clandestinamente um manifesto concitando o povo à revolução.

[illegible] na-paga e [illegible] de dinheiro.

Infelizmente muitos estudantes, bem intencionados, vivem situações normais em tempos anormais. Esquecem que nos dias que atravessamos, além de estudar, temos que lutar para continuar estudando. O duplo esfôrço é enorme, mas êsse é o preço da liberdade.

Êsse grupo simplesmente abandona a luta, apesar de vontade e vitalidade para lutar, considerando a UNE invencível, apesar de os estudantes livres da Alemanha comunista, no intervalo entre uma aula e outra, atirarem suas pedradas no muro da vergonha, e os portuguêses aliarem-se aos professôres também nos intervalos das aulas, para lutar pela democracia.

A segunda corrente advoga o desligamento dos diretórios acadêmicos para a posterior criação de uma entidade autênticamente democrática, capaz de fazer frente à União Nacional dos Estudantes, mesmo sem possuir 1 bilhão e quatrocentos milhões, para serem gastos da mesma forma que a do ano anterior, a não ser que o atual tesoureiro da UNE, Kleutau, disponha-se, no entender de alguns, a preservar o conceito de honestidade de que goza entre os seus colegas de estudo, independentemente de qualquer posição ideológica, fizer pé firme na prestação de contas que nunca foi feita e enfrentar as iras do Partido Comunista, negando-se a compactuar com êste acinte ao povo.

Esta corrente, quase tão despolitizada quanto a primeira, não explica como criar uma nova entidade, impedir a infiltração da mesma, participar do [illegible] movimento universitário. Falam em criar uma entidade sem saberem como mantê-la, arregimentar estudantes, politizá-los, impedir que a famosa minoria domine os diretórios acadêmicos e, o que é fundamental, acabar com a imoralidade existente na UNE em nome do estudante e em prejuízo da nação. Com a mesma boa intenção da primeira corrente, consideram a UNE propriedade dos que viajam enquanto o povo passa fome.

Esta parcela dos estudantes, os totalitários também não temem e sabem perfeitamente que a tentativa não dá em nada, muito menos em nova entidade. Não precisarão sequer utilizar a violência e o terrorismo, como aconteceu em Quitandinha, para derrotá-los. Afinal de contas sabem os da UNE que, se demora algum tempo para fabricar um totalitário com todos os apetrechos tècnicamente necessários, demora muito mais educar um ser humano. Esta posição de criar outra entidade é, como a primeira inútil e sem sentido para o movimento univer- [illegible] se preparava [illegible] UNE, porque pretendem [illegible]. [illegible] fique boa na primeira tentativa, serão feitas a segunda, a terceira e quantas se fizerem necessárias.

Os [illegible] desligaram-se da UNE que estão [illegible] em todo o país são o protesto contra a [illegible] que houve no XXV Congresso da UNE e a orientação dada à entidade nos últimos anos. A grande maioria dos estudantes, que não votaram no congresso da UNE, votam agora no desligamento, enquanto a UNE for totalitária, não compactuando com a opressão e a desonestidade.

O desligamento dêstes estudantes da UNE, não é uma fuga, não significa retirada, é sua participação política no seu diretório, onde [illegible] para decidir sôbre os destinos ideológicos do estudante e da Universidade brasileira.

Votem os democratas que são órgãos nos centros acadêmicos, dispostos a comparecer, em 1963, em massa ao Congresso da UNE, para pôr abaixo o [illegible] muro da vergonha dos estudantes brasileiros, representado pelo domínio dos atuais detentores do poder na Praia do Flamengo, face ao totalitarismo vermelho.

Não acreditam os [illegible] que [illegible] de dentro da UNE, em [illegible] que não possuem coragem suficiente para enfrentar os prepotentes, e [illegible] físico e intelectual. [illegible] estudantes na política estudantil são definidos ideològicamente e exigem definição. Repudiam a covardia, o mêdo e [illegible] de muitos que se dizem [illegible] e se calam. São democratas e [illegible] que o são. E são dispostos a [illegible] um dia se fôr necessário para salvar [illegible] ou ganhar a [illegible], acabar com o comodismo, principal fator da vitória das minorias e, para isso, [illegible] mais democrático, a assembléia [illegible] a maioria diz não à UNE, não [illegible] e partem para a conquista daquilo que é de todos, dos estudantes, dos velhos, dos moços, do povo: a UNE. Estão dispostos a acabar com a falta de vergonha dos [illegible] do bem público e lutar por uma educação adequada à realidade brasileira juntamente com os seus professôres. Estão cansados dos falsos, dos demagogos, dos que só querem poder para afirmar a personalidade, muitas vêzes perdida no próprio trabalho para infelicidade de todos.

PALAVRAS INICIAIS

Na primeira publicação feita por esta delegação do "Directorio Revolucionario Estudantil de Cuba" no Rio de Janeiro, G. B. (BASES PARA UMA REVOLUÇÃO LATINOAMERICANA), adotamos uma posição ideológica a respeito dos critérios que pretendem orientar o desenvolvimento econômico, social e político de nossos países. Já sendo conhecido nosso pensamento a êsse respeito pelos estudantes e pelo povo brasileiro, agora nos propomos a lhes trazer informações concretas sôbre o que ocorre presentemente em nossa pátria.

Foi implantado em Cuba um regime marxista-leninista, comumente chamado comunista. Isso não é novidade, porque todos o sabem. Seu líder máximo teve que mentir muito até chegar a tal ponto; teve que trair a todo um povo.

Não viemos aqui analisar a espécie de traição de que fomos vítimas; em outra ocasião, será analisada devidamente. Vamos demonstrar que o regime marxista-leninista introduzido em Cuba não conseguiu realizar a prosperidade e nem levar à liberdade, mas sim à miséria e ao terror.

Vamos citar palavras dos dirigentes comunistas cubanos e suas próprias leis. Discursos e leis estas que qualquer comunista tem... mas que não querem divulgar como o fazem ao propagar os ensinamentos de Marx e Lenine. Tão terrível é, portanto, o comunismo que nem as suas próprias doutrinas e realizações pode revelar.

Vamos esquematizar apenas tudo o que se passa em Cuba, apresentando exatamente a legislação revolucionária e os discursos de Fidel Castro, de Guevara, e outros.

VAMOS MOSTRAR O QUE REALMENTE SE PASSA NA "CUBA SOCIALISTA".

O Primeiro encontro Nacional de Produção

No sistema comunista implantado em Cuba por Fidel Castro e seus camaradas, seguem-se ao pé da letra as práticas dos partidos comunistas de todo o mundo. Uma delas consiste nas reuniões de autocrítica entre todos os membros participantes de uma determinada atividade do Estado comunista.

A baixa do nível da produção, o aumento dos preços, a qualidade inferior dos produtos, o aumento exorbitante dos custos da produção, o fechamento de indústrias e os deficits enormes das chamadas Indústrias Consolidadas — tudo isso, produto do plano de industrialização do Ministério de Indústrias, controlado por Ernesto Guevara — obrigou o estado maior comunista cubano a convocar uma reunião de todos os elementos que intervêm no processo de produção.

Entre os dias 26 e 27 de agôsto de 1961, com dois anos e nove meses de govêrno revolucionário, no Teatro Blanquita de Havana, localizado em Miramar, os "líderes da indústria cubana" estiveram reunidos, analisando o fracasso de seus planos e o êxito conseguido na destruição das principais fontes de riqueza de Cuba.

Os jornais, controlados pelo regime, reproduziram aspectos de tais reuniões, transmitidas pelo rádio e pela televisão, mas às quais quase ninguém prestaria atenção, por já estar acostumado demais a tais "shows". Ao ser publicada a matéria relativa a êsses encontros, evitou-se menção a todos os insultos e recriminações que os "camaradas" se fizeram ao tentar cada um sair mais "limpo", mas foram tantos os insultos que a censura não pôde policiar a todos.

As expressões de Fidel Castro e de "che" Guevara aqui vão citadas, (1) e delas se deduzem muito bem as "grandes" conquistas realizadas no processo da industrialização de nosso país, e que se constituem numa das bases da propaganda do regime para a América Latina.

EIS AS EXPRESSÕES PROFERIDAS POR ERNESTO GUEVARA, MINISTRO DAS INDUSTRIAS :

"Não se realizou nenhuma das metas assinaladas para a produção. Apenas uma ou duas das quarenta Emprêsas Consolidadas conseguiram isso".

"Na Emprêsa Consolidada do Fósforo, êsse produto é uma das maiores vergonhas que temos a registrar no Ministério das Indústrias".

"A verdade é que os refrescos têm o sabor de algo que não se sabe muito bem o que é... A Coca-Cola, que era o mais tomado, tem um gôsto de Xarope de tosse".

"Todos estamos enfrentando a falta de garrafas. Ela se faz sentir tanto para os refrescos como para os vidros utilizados nos laboratórios médicos e apresenta-se também para o leite, em alguns momentos".

"Isso quer dizer que havia uma série de indústrias que estavam se ressentindo da falta de vasilhames adequados e as fábricas de vidro permaneciam paradas, muito provàvelmente por falta de capacidade".

"Não é nada bom, por exemplo, haver sabão em Havana e não haver no campo, devendo ser o produto distribuído de tal forma que não haja falta em parte alguma".

"No caso da borracha, houve insuficiência nos começos de ano. Houve ausência de papelão e de sacos de papel, em momento determinado. Há atualmente escassez de pastas para dentes. É necessário ser pontualizada a razão. Há quatro meses que se vem verificando paralização do fabrico e não se tomou ainda providência urgente, como seria de desejar".

"Se bem que não tenham sido muitas as indústrias paralisadas, o ritmo da produção tem sido mais lento do que era previsto".

"A escassez de sucos concentrados foi uma falta de previsão dos companheiros do INRA na planificação de sua produção dos sucos de laranja".

"A "Antilhana do Aço" foi obrigada a parar".

"É verdade que o Ministério do Comércio Exterior cometeu êrros e que alguns dêles nos custaram paralização, mas não é menos verdade que houve uma ausência total de previsão por parte da maioria dos diretores de emprêsas".

"O crescimento da produção poderia ter sido mais intenso e a distribuição mais eficiente, se se houvessem superado as falhas de organização postas em destaque no curso das exposições e discussões".

"NÃO PODEMOS CONVERTER NEM O IMPERIALISMO, NEM O AUMENTO DO CONSUMO EM "TOTI" (*) E PRETENDER QUE TUDO SEJA INCRIMINADO PELO AUMENTO DO CONSUMO, PORQUE NÃO É EXATO".

EXPRESSÕES DE FIDEL CASTRO NO PRIMEIRO ENCONTRO NACIONAL DE PRODUÇÃO.

"Cada um de nós se encontra ante a circunstância de fazer algo que jamais tinha feito antes, e daí tôda a atual situação do país, a reestruturação nacional, a sua administração terem caído entre mãos que não tinham experiência de tais trabalhos".

"No primeiro aniversário da Revolução havia abundância de tudo, nada faltava e os armazéns andavam abarrotados".

"Já existem muitas obras projetadas e falta cimento, faltam vergalhões de ferro e não há o material necessário para começá-las".

"Além de tudo, êsse primeiro encontro está cheio de deficiências de organização".

Ser mais claro não é possível. Aí está o desastre na bôca dos próprios líderes. Bem como a necessidade de consertar um pouco as coisas, com umas tantas promessas. Por isso Castro prometeu que em dezembro de 1961 estaria solucionado o problema do abastecimento de aves em Havana; a partir de janeiro de 1962, a produção de cereais superaria tôdas as necessidades do mercado nacional; em junho de 1962, a produção do pescado atingiria as necessidades do consumo; a 1.º de fevereiro de 1962, estaria abolido o racionamento de banha de porco, etc., etc.

(*) Toti, pássaro tropical cubano.

"A culpa é do toti", frase popular cubana, usada para encerrar as discussões.

Mas o que sucedeu com as promessas?

A 12 de março de 1962 foi promulgada a lei n.º 1015, (2) que diz o seguinte:

"Lei sobre a melhor distribuição do abastecimento".

Art. 4.º — Revogam-se as disposições legais e regulamentares em contrário com a presente lei, a qual começará a vigorar a partir de sua publicação na "Gazeta Oficial" da República.

Havana, 13 de Março de 1962, "ANO DA PLANIFICAÇÃO"

Junta Nacional para a Distribuição dos Gêneros

Pior que os escravos da Colônia

Estão os cubanos fazendo História. Em 1842, sob o domínio espanhol, os escravos tinham, garantidos por lei e tradição, ao menos 280 gramas ao dia de carne ou bacalhau, 2.240 gramas de legumes, 140 gramas de arroz e 420 gramas de banha de porco. (*)

Em 1962 sob a dominação comunista, os escravos — ou seja, qualquer cidadão que não pertença à classe dirigente... nem Fidel nem Dorticós vão entrar na "fila" — só tem direito por lei (o que também não quer significar que seja encontrado efetivamente nos estabelecimentos fornecedores) 59.5 gramas de carne e 17.5 gramas de peixe por dia, 112 gramas de arroz, 280 gramas de legumes e 35 gramas de banha pe porco.

Tudo isso foi o que conseguiu quem afirmou que "sem a satisfação das necessidades do homem não há nem democracia nem liberdade possível": "os homens são escravos de tôda espécie de misérias e por isso, reclamamos um regime que liberte o povo de todo gênero de privações e explorações..." (3)

Uma Sentença Econômica

No mês de abril de 1962, Castro condenou formalmente os frustrados invasores de Playa Girón a trabalhos forçados durante 30 anos, a menos que fossem resgatados por um total de 62 milhões de dólares.

(*) Postos de fritas. Pôsto de churrasquinhos, bolinhos de carne.

(*) Tomado do "Bando de 14 de novembro de 1843 do Governador Don Joaquim Ezpeleta e dos "Apuntes Autógrafos Inéditos" de José Antonio Saco".

(3) Palavras de F. Castro na CMQ-TV 21 de Maio 1959

Não nos interessa analizar aqui a parte moral ou juridica da questão. (Basta dizer que tôdas as organizações revolucionárias cubanas rechaçaram tal proposta de negociação do Tirano):

É interessante frisar apenas a necessidade urgente que têm os comunistas cubanos de conseguir dólares.

Explicação? Muito sutil. A sua maior fonte de divisas é a indústria açucareira. Mas, a troca de compradores — U.S.A. pelo Bloco Socialista — teve resultados inteiramente negativos, apesar das declarações do atual Ministro das Indústrias, Ernesto "Che" Guevara, em março de 1960:

> "FALA-SE EM DIMINUIR A COTA DE AÇUCAR CUBANO E MESMO SUSPENDÊ-LA INTEIRAMENTE. QUANTO ANTES MELHOR; PARA CUBA ERA UM SÍMBOLO DO COLONIALISMO. NÓS NOS ARRUMAREMOS MELHOR SEM OS JUGOS IMPERIALISTAS".

Sirva como ilustração das consequências desta "libertação do imperialismo" o seguinte fato: em 1957, o total dos salários pagos aos trabalhadores agricolas e industriais, no setor açucareiro, subiu a 327 milhões de pesos (dólares), cifra que representava quase 50% do valor total da produção dêsse ano, e que era o resultado das conquistas devidas à Federação Nacional dos Trabalhadores Açucareiros (Os outros fatores da produção eram: os colonos — empreiteiros agricolas — e os fazendeiros — empresários industriais —).

O valor total da produção açucareira vendida ao Bloco Socialista, segundo o Convênio que serviu de base para regular a safra de 1961, elevou-se a $320 milhões de pêsos (4 milhões de toneladas a $ 0,04 as 460 gramas). Isso quer dizer que o total percebido pela safra vendida ao Bloco Socialista não chegou a cobrir o que era antes a participação de um só dos fatores da produção açucareira.

Além disso, essa quantidade paga-se, sobretudo, em mercadorias de má qualidade e não em dólares.

E como se isso fôsse pouco, a safra (como tôdas as demais atividades do país) foi bastante fraca. Em março de 62, afirmou "Che" Guevara, numa reunião de trabalhadores açucareiros: "A primeira afirmação a fazer é que a safra foi má".

E afirmou que a sêca afetou os canaviais, mas que a principal razão da baixa da produção foi o trabalho agricola e industrial mal feitos.

Depois de revelar que sòmente três ou quatro das cento e sessenta usinas de açucar haviam conseguido as cotas previstas, acrescentou: "Trabalha-se com deficiência no cumprimento das metas pré-estabelecidas". Segundo Guevara, a produção dêste ano atingiu sòmente a 3 milhões de toneladas de açúcar bruto.

Por último, revelou que em muitos pontos do território também foram queimados muitos canaviais.

RESUMINDO:

— Não foram criadas novas indústrias.
— Algumas indústrias foram paralisadas.
— Diminuiu a produção.
— Caiu a qualidade dos produtos.
— Há necessidade urgente de divisas.
— O trabalho foi mal feito.
— Há sabotagem.

Tudo isso por que?

Os marxistas apresentam dois motivos: o primeiro, as agressões do imperialismo ianque; o segundo, as dificuldades inerentes ao comêço de tôda Revolução.

Sôbre o primeiro, deve-se afirmar claramente, e de uma vez por tôdas, que foi Fidel Castro quem, deliberadamente, procurou o apoio do Bloco Socialista e a inimizade dos Estados Unidos. E assim procedeu com todo o cinismo, enquanto proclamava o contrário, fazendo-se de vítima.

A 17 de abril de 1959, em seu discurso perante a Associação Norte-Americana de Diretores de Jornais em Washington, Fidel Castro declarou (em inglês):

— Desejo explicar que não viemos aqui por dinheiro. É possivel que muitos outros govêrnos tenham vindo aqui por dinheiro e muita gente crê que cada vez que um govêrno vem aqui vem por dinheiro.

Eu estava mais interessado na opinião pública do que no dinheiro. E não estava de acôrdo com que se confundisse a finalidade da viagem. (4)

O antigo ministro da Fazenda cubano Rufo López Fresquet declarou:

— Quando acompanhei Fidel a êste país em abril de 1959, o primeiro ministro me advertiu, quando saímos de Havana, para que não discutisse assuntos econômicos cubanos com as autoridades, banqueiros ou capitalistas do Norte. Em diversos ocasiões, durante a viagem, Castro repetiu a advertência. Esta é a razão por que, quando visitei o secretário do Tesouro, Robert B. Anderson, não respondi às indicações oficiais de que os Estados Unidos eram favoráveis a prestar ajuda ao nosso país. Também por esta razão, durante nossa permanência em Washington, quando troquei pontos de vista com o Subsecretário de Estado para Assuntos Latinoamericanos, Roy Rubottom, fingi uma indiferença cortês ante sua declaração concreta de que o govêrno dos Estados Unidos desejava saber como e de que forma poderia cooperar com o govêrno cubano na solução das necessidades econômicas mais urgentes. (5)

Outro dos peritos financeiros cubanos, o antigo presidente do Banco Nacional de Cuba, Felipe Pazos, falou da reunião a que assistiram o subsecretário Rubottom, funcionários do Departamento de Estado e do Departamento do Tesouro, o Ministro da Fazenda cubano López Fresquet, o Ministro cubano de Economia Regino Boti e o próprio. Os norte-americanos, que haviam tomado a iniciativa de convocar a reunião, pediram repetidas vêzes aos cubanos que dissessem o que os Estados Unidos podiam fazer para ajudá-los econômica e financeiramente. Atados pelas instruções de Castro, os cubanos só puderam responder que não necessitavam de ajuda e que não tinham nenhum pedido a fazer. Pazos passou pela mesma experiência no Fundo Monetário Internacional. O terceiro perito cubano, Dr. Ernesto Betancourt, fêz as mesmas revelações.

Isto não quer dizer que negociações financeiras ou econômicas entre os Estados Unidos e Cuba teriam tido necessàriamente um desfêcho feliz. Significa, sim, apesar de uma impressão contrária muito disseminada, que Castro nem sequer quis tentar a negociação. Poder-se-ia replicar que a revolução na qual pensava não podia ser apoiada pelos Estados Unidos, mas não é isso o que têm dito os propagandistas de Castro, que têm preferido a versão mais fantástica do Prof. Mills sôbre a "fria acolhida" dispensada, inclusive, a "pedidos de escassa importância".

Muito mais lúcido foi o "camarada" Ernesto "che" Guevara. Fidel demorou mais, porém já proclamou seu pensamento. E assim, a 13 de março de 1961, declarou pomposamente: "Por isso, vista a questão de fôrça contra fôrça, o poderio do imperialismo é um poderio decadente face ao da União Soviética, da Republica Popular da China e dos países socialistas".

A entrega de Cuba ao Bloco Socialista tem trazido fome e opressão ao povo cubano o que parece fazer rir a Fidel e Nikita, unidos em íntimo abraço.

E melhores ainda, mais cínicas e descaradas foram as declarações que circunstâncias internas levaram-no a expressar a 1.º de dezembro de 1961. (6) "Acredito no Marxismo? Sim, creio no Marxismo! Acreditava o 1.º de Janeiro? Sim, acreditava o 1.º de Janeiro (1959)! Acreditava o 26 de Julho? Sim acreditava o 26 de Julho (1953)!"

(6) Palavras de F. Castro na CMQ-TV 1.º de Dezembro 1961

"Terei algumas dúvidas a respeito do Marxismo e entendo que algumas interpretações foram equivocadas, e será preciso revê-las? Não tenho a menor dúvida sôbre êle !".

"Algumas pessoas têm me indagado se eu pensava, quando do ataque ao Quartel Moncada (26-7-53) como penso hoje".

"Quem quer que leia o que dizíamos naquela ocasião verá... que se trata de um documento escrito com muita cautela. "Se o tivéssemos escrito sem cuidado, se houvéssemos lançado um programa mais radical... não teria conseguido a amplitude que teve e que tornou possível a vitória". "Não se poderá esquecer jamais, a meu crédito, os primeiros dias depois do triunfo os visitantes que chegavam a minha casa". "... repugnava-me de verdade aquela procissão em tôrno de mim de tôda aquela gente naquele dia. Bem, mas, em primeiro lugar, que estarão acaso acreditando? E eu dizia: os que acreditam, melhor. Quanto maior número acreditar que poderá vir até cá e contar conosco, melhor! MAIOR SERÁ A SURPRESA QUE ÊLES TERÃO"!

Ei-lo aí, em suas próprias palavras. Marxista há muito tempo, negou essa condi*ção* durante muitos anos e acredita que o bloco socialista está em ascenção do mundo e que a fôrça do "imperialismo" está em decadência com relação a êle.

Pois bem: o "poderoso" Bloco Socialista, liderado por um grande país, que conta com 45 anos de socialismo, não pôde salvar a economia cubana. Isso está sendo já demonstrado... com as leis e palavras dos próprios comunistas cubanos.

A Economia, Talvez, mas a Liberdade, Não.

Agora vamos proceder a concessões no campo da Lógica pura. E vamos conceder muito... Tanto como nem sequer Kruschov concederia... (E se não o acreditam, verifiquem seu discurso, de março de 1962 — 45 anos de socialismo — sôbre a agricultura na URSS). Vamos conceder que o problema econômico possa vir a ser resolvido daqui a 100 ou 150 anos... Mas o que não se pode solucionar é a falta de liberdade; e com isso passamos ao segundo argumento.

As dificuldades inerentes ao início de tôda revoluçã*o* — conseqüência da eliminação da oposição da Direita — não foram grandes.

Isso foi reconhecido pelo próprio Fidel Castro. (7)

"O Comunismo coloca a unidade de um setor e a guerra de classe. Nós queremos a união de todos os setores e de tôdas as condições simplesmente porque devemos procurar colaboração em todos os setores da vida social. E isso já o conseguimos, contando a Revolução entre 90 e 95% do povo, pois o priva de nada e nada lhe exige e sem dúvida adota leis profundamente revolucionárias".

O Povo, de fato, apoiou Castro em seu programa, Encontram-se nas mais ínfimas condições. (note-se o lixo chão, e a falta de assistência médica).

Mas o Povo, logo depois, devido a sua traição, se opôs a Castro. E é por isso que se queimam casas comerciais, indústrias e canaviais. Por isso, o trabalho é mal feito. Por isso, as prisões estão cheias. Por isso, é grande o número de exilados. Por isso, fuzila-se continuamente.

(7) Palavras de F. Castro na CMQ-TV 21 de Maio 1959

Sirva como fato esclarecedor da oposição do povo o êxodo dos profissionais. Dos 5 mil médicos que havia em Cuba saíram do país 1.300; das 1800 farmacêuticos, 300; dos 700 engenheiros agrônomos, 330; dos 1800 contadores públicos, 1000; de 800 engenheiros civis, 350; de 530 engenheiros eletricistas, 300.

Por que? Porque ninguém quer ser escravo. Sim, tal como soa a palavra: ESCRAVO. Porque em Cuba...

O Profissional não tem Liberdade

Muitas Associações Profissionais foram tomadas à fôrça, sem subterfúgios legais de espécie alguma.

Exige-se um juramento de fidelidade ao regime. Torna-se difícil a saída do país, para o que se é obrigado a negar a profissão no passaporte, ou a refugiar-se numa embaixada estrangeira.

Milhares de profissionais dignos têm abandonado o país, colaborando desta maneira ao enfraquecimento do Regime.

Por fim, as Associações Profissionais foram transformadas em "Academias" e os fundos e abrigos, suspensos.

Se se acredita que os profissionais são os "menos mal" tratados pelo regime vigente, pela necessidade que tem dêles poder-se-á formar uma idéia de como terão sido tratados os setôres restantes do trabalho.

O Estudante não tem Liberdade

Nos centros oficiais, foram substituídas as Associações Estudantis pela "Asociación de Jóvenes Rebeldes", organização militar juvenil que teve a sua origem na "Juventud Socialista", generosamente dissolvida "em sacrifício da unidade revolucionária".

Brigadas Universitarias. Hoje em Cuba, o estudante só tem "o direito" de desfilar uniformizado.

Esta A.J.R. conseguiu precisamente o oposto da propaganda castrista: CONVERTER ESCOLAS EM QUARTÉIS, entronizando a ediçião física nos centros de estudos.

A A.J.R., além disso, serviu de trampolim. A 13 de março de 1962 Fidel Castro declarou que deveria mudar seu nome para "JUVENTUDE COMUNISTA". Como se pode verificar, da evolução dos nomes que lhe foram dados, foi ela muito significativa: "Juventude Socialista — Jóvenes Rebeldes (A máscara) — Juventude Comunista".

Para os centros privados, foi promulgada uma lei que permite a "intervenção" do Ministério da Educação em caso de desordens para garantir a normalidade funcional do curso escolar. E paralelamente se fomentou a criação de grupos de "Jovens revolucionários", para provocar tais desordens, ou seja: o pretexto da "intervenção". O primeiro centro a sofrer intervenção por êsse método foi a Escola Eletromecânica Belém, em Havana, em fevereiro de 1961.

Mas, a oposição firme dos estudantes provocou a radical ESTATIZAÇÃO DE TODOS OS CENTROS EDUCACIONAIS NA NAÇÃO, no mês de maio de 1961.

Na Universidade de Havana, a 15 de julho de 1960, em reunião realizada no anfiteatro da Faculdade de Filosofia e Letras, uma minoria de estudantes e alguns poucos catedráticos traidores concordaram em dissolver o Conselho Universitário e todas as Congregações de Professores e constituir uma Junta de Govêrno integrada por quatro es-tudantes e quatro professores para dirigir totalitàriamente os destinos da Universidade. A Junta assim constituída — absolutamente ilegal — conclamou todos os professores a acatarem sua "autoridade" publicamente. Os professores que não atenderam ao "apêlo" — mais de 80% — foram "afastados" de suas cátedras. A 4 de agôsto, por meio da lei 859, o Govêrno legalizou a espúria "Junta de Govêrno".

Na Universidade de Oriente, chegou-se aos extremos de forçar, mediante uma campanha de calúnias, a renúncia do Reitor, fundador da mesma, Dr. Felipe Salcines e de expulsar um numeroso grupo de alunos pelo simples fato de terem assistido às festividades religiosas de "Santo Tomás de Aquino", no Dia do Estudante Católico.

O Reitor da Universidade de Las Villas, Dr. Pedro Oliver, e um grupo professores arriscaram suas vidas, fugindo numa embarcação, face à perseguição de que foram vítimas depois de protestar contra o fusilamento do Presidente da Federação Estudantil Universitária, Porfirio Ramirez, que foi capitão do Exército Rebelde na luta contra a Ditadura de Batista.

Completa êsse quadro da situação universitária o contrôle, por um organismo supra-universitário, composto de representantes das três Universidades, funcionários do Ministério da Educação e do I.N.R.A.; a ausência de eleições estudantis e a substituição do sistema de concurso para a entrada de catedráticos pela contratação.

Resumindo, ouçamos o próprio Castro: "Naturalmente, hoje o Ministério da Educação tem que estar também ao serviço da Revolução". E isto significa: 1) Os pais não podem ministrar a seus filhos a educação que desejarem; 2) Só os membros da "Juventude Comunista" podem ser dirigentes estudantis; 3) Só os professores incondicionais podem ser catedráticos; 4) Em todos os níveis e currículos deve-se ensinar obrigatòriamente o Marxismo, ficando abolido o ensino de qualquer outro sistema filosófico.

O Camponês não tem Liberdade

A Lei de Reforma Agrária Cubana, baseada nos mesmos princípios da mexicana e da boliviana, pode ser sintetizada, enquanto promessa e texto, a êste fragmento da auto-defesa de Fidel Castro no processo pelo ataque ao Quartel Moncada: (8). "Um govêrno revolucionário, depois de assegurar em suas colônias, com caráter de donos, aos cem mil pequenos agricultores que hoje pagam arrendamentos, solucionaria satisfatòriamente e de forma definitiva, o problema da terra. Primeiro: estabelecendo, como ordena a Constituição, um máximo de extensão para cada tipo de emprêsa agrícola e adquirindo o excesso, por meio da expropriação, reivindicando as terras usurpadas ao Estado, secando os pantanais e alagadiços, plantando grandes viveiros e reservando zonas para o replantio florestal; segundo: repartindo o restante disponível entre as famílias camponesas, de preferência as mais numerosas, fomentando cooperativas de agricultores para a utilização comum de equipamentos de grande custo, dos frigoríficos e de uma só direção profissional e técnica para as culturas e a criação e facilitando por fim, os recursos, equipamentos, proteção e conhecimentos úteis aos camponeses".

Na realidade, porém, que aconteceu?

- A formação de cooperativas — sobretudo nas terras dos latifúndios exploradores — já vem viciada desde a própria Lei. Diz o artigo

(8) Folheto "La Historia me Absolverá" por F. Castro 1953

43: "Sempre que seja possivel, o Instituto Nacional de Reforma Agraria fomentará cooperativas agrarias. As cooperativas agrarias organizadas pelo Instituto Nacional de Reforma Agraria nas terras de que disponha em virtude do determinado nesta Lei, estarão sob a sua direção, reservando-se o direito de designar os administradores das mesmas com o objetivo de assegurar o seu melhor desenvolvimento na etapa inicial dêsse tipo de organização econômica e social, até que se conceda por lei a sua mais ampla autonomia"

Como se vê, a Lei pretende organizar Granjas Estatais e o fato de se referir a uma "etapa inicial" não diminui tal juizo, ja que não enumera os principios cooperativos. Tudo fica nas mãos do I.N.R.A. que não procedeu a nenhuma regulamentação tendente à "mais ampla autonomia". E, além disso, não se "fomentou" senão que se "fez" isto é, não foi permitida a livre iniciativa do camponê.

Devido à resistência do camponês pelas imposições da Reforma Agrária Comunista, o Regime têm tido que obrigar as mulheres fazer trabalho de lavoura

• "A terra é de quem a trabalha", é o que pretende defender o artigo 18: "As terras de domínio privado cultivadas pelos colonos, subcolonos, arrendatários e subarrendatarios, parceiros e biscaristas, serão adjudicadas gratuitamente a seus cultivadores, quando a sua extensão não excede do "minimo vital". (*) Quando tais agricultores cultivarem terras inferiores a êsse "minimo vital", ser-lhe-ão acrescentadas gratuitamente as terras necessarias para completá-las, sempre que se possa dispor das mesmas e as condições econômicas e sociais da região o permitirem".

Se as terras cultivadas nos casos que se mencionam no paragrafo anterior, excedem do "minimo vital", sempre que não passam de 67,5 hectares o arrendatario, sub-arrendatario, colono, sub-colono, parceiro ou biscarista, irecebera 27 hectares a titulo gratuito, depois de prévia expropriação feita pelo Instituto Nacional de Reforma Agrária, podendo adquirir do proprietário, mediante venda forçada, a parte de sua possessão que excede da area adjudicada gratuitamente, até um limite de 67,5 hectares.

Mas aqui, como se vê, não se fala de propriedade. E na prática tem sido assim. Relativamente foram distribuidos poucos titulos de propriedade e os repartidos são "papel molhado" (), pois só se pode vender a terra, ceder ou explorar com permissão do I.N.R.A. Raro tipo de propriedade na qual o uso depende da permissão de outra pessoa.

• Além de tudo isso, o artigo 61 põe nas mãos do I.N.R.A. uma arma formidavel: "Toda pratica em contrário aos fins desta Lei, ou o abandono ou aproveitamento negligente das terras que em seu amparo se ortorgam, poderá ser sancionado pelo Instituto da Reforma Agrária, declarando rescindida a transação a titulo gratuito das mesmas e seu reingresso no fundo de reserva de terras. O Regulamento desta Lei regerá a aplicação dêsse artigo".

Mas aqui, como de costume, não foi feita a regulamentação.

• E ainda que existisse, o artigo 54 diz: "São criados os Tribunais da Terra, para julgamento dos processos judiciais que regem a aplicação desta Lei a dos demais relacionados com a contratação agricola e a propriedade agricola em geral. O Instituto Nacional de Reforma Agrária formulará, dentro do prazo de três meses, a partir da promulgação desta Lei, o projeto de Lei Orgânica dos referidos Tribunais".

(*) Minimo Vital. Equivalente a 27 Hectares.

() "Papel Molhado". Significa em Cuba uma lei que não se cumpre.

Passados três meses, a Lei Orgânica ainda não apareceu. Quem resolve na verdade são os advogados do I.N.R.A. NÃO HÁ OUTRA ALTERNATIVA.

E o que é mais conclusivo: o completo contrôle do mercado, que converte o agricultor em vendedor forçoso do I.N.R.A., acaba de delinear a situação atual do agricultor cubano: usufrutuário das terras estatais, sob o seu contrôle completo.

O Operário não tem Liberdade

¡ASESINOS!
BESTIAS.
EL COMUNISMO LES
PAGA con Rublos:
HEROICA

O operario Iulián Montesinos assassinado pela Milicia Comunista enquanto procurava asilo na Embaixada do Equador.

O Govêrno Revolucionário promulgou acaso alguma lei que ponha as massas trabalhadoras em condições de dirigir a produção e distribuição de acôrdo com o interêsse de todos?

Não.

As indústrias, os comércios exterior e interior e os sindicatos estão nas mãos do Estado. O Estado — segundo a "Lógica" marxista — há de refletir as decisões do Partido, não as da sociedade. E por isso não se procurou que representantes livremente eleitos por unidades produtora, setor ou profissão, se constituíssem em assembléias planificadoras, mas os homens do Partido vêm ocupando a direção da vida econômica do país, para dirigi-lo como bem quiserem, sem responder perante o povo.

Os quatro passos principais para conseguir isto foram: as "intervenções", o "censo trabalhista", as "nacionalizações" e as "depurações".

1) A Lei 698, de 22 de janeiro de 1960, orgânica do Ministério do Trabalho, conferiu ao Ministro, no inciso j de seu artigo 7, a faculdade de "intervir em empresas patronais e organizações operárias, patronais e profissionais, quando as circunstâncias o exigirem, para manter em atividade os centros de produção ou o exercício dos direitos sindicais e sociais, sempre por motivo justificado ou com vistas à Lei, designando para isso os delegados interventores que achar adequados por sua capacidade". Estas "intervenções", sem regulamentação, na verdade, convertem o Ministério do Trabalho em patrão efetivo, equivalendo a "nacionalização".

2) A Lei 761, de 19 de março de 1960, dispõe sôbre a confecção do Primeiro Censo Trabalhista, convertendo o Ministro do Trabalho no empregador único, privando assim os sindicatos de tôdas as suas prerrogativas, posto que lhes nega até o direito de negociar com as emprêsas. Em seu artigo 1.º ela dispõe, de acôrdo com o estabelecido na Lei n.º 696, de 22 de janeiro de 1960, sôbre "a organização e realização do Primeiro Censo Trabalhista para efeito do qual o Ministério do Trabalho REGULAMENTE E CONTROLE o movimento do emprêgo em todo o país e se cumpram assim os fins que lhe forem impostos".

3) A 13 de outubro de 1960 foram "nacionalizadas" 381 emprêsas nacionais, por meio da Lei 890 e todos os bancos mediante a 891. Já no mês de junho haviam se nacionalizado (aí tem sentido a palavra nacionalização) as usinas de açúcar de propriedade norte-americana.

A 17 de outubro, Castro comentou tais leis pela televisão e de seu discurso se deduz, implícita, a definição socialista da Revolução. Disse êle: "O programa de Moncada foi cumprido". Mas os trabalhadores que tinham memória não poderiam acreditar. Disse Castro naquela ocasião: "A terceira lei revolucionária outorgava (no caso de ter triunfado o ataque ao Quartel Moncada) aos trabalhadores e empregados o direito de participarem de trinta por cento das utilidades em tôdas as grandes emprêsas industriais, mercantis e de mineração, incluindo as centrais açucareiras. Excetuavam-se as emprêsas meramente agrícolas, tendo em vista a implantação futura de outras leis agrárias".

Decididamente, o programa do Moncada não se havia cumprido.

4) A dominação dos sindicatos foi iniciada pelo Executivo da Confederação de Trabalhadores de Cuba, C.T.C., mediante a submissão, coação ou expulsão de seus integrantes. Face a isso, não foi difícil preparar eleições gerais com candidatura única e colunas em branco. Houve o caso de alguém que tomou a decisão de apresentar sua candidatura pela coluna em branco, em seu centro de trabalho; os milicianos do centro, um dia antes da eleição, deram-lhe a escolher: retirar o pedido ou ir para a prisão. Em outros lugares foi mais fácil: o aviso de ter-se encerrado o prazo da candidatura chegou no dia seguinte ao previsto.

Com tal esquema não é difícil compreender a "nova mentalidade proletária", tal como se expressa na revista "Cuba Socialista" (fevereiro de 1962, n.º 45): "... com antecedência ao XI Congresso Nacional, na totalidade dos Congressos das Indústrias se havia concordado, por unânimidade que, a partir de 1962, se renuncie a algunmas vantagens de ordem secundária que certos setôres operários haviam conseguido, em suas justas lutas contra os patrões. Entre essas se acha, por exemplo, o chamado 13.º mês de fim de ano.

Os milhões de pesos que se destinavam a este conceito, aumentariam os fundos do desenvolvimento industrial... Entre essas vantagens, encontra-se também o pagamento dos chamados nove dias por enfermidade, que em algumas indústrias era feito aos trabalhadores no fim do ano, mesmo sem ter estado doentes. Os Congressos Sindicais de comum acôrdo renunciaram a esta prática viciosa que alimenta a falta ao trabalho...

"O XI Congresso da CTC-R e os Congressos Sindicais das Indu-trias... consideram a necessidade de revisão dos velhos contratos de trabalho, que não correspondem mais à nova situação... e dentro dos quais se encontram cláusulas que freiam o processo produtivo.

Um dos acordos feitos com êsse sentido é o que estabelece que em tôdas as indústrias e trabalhos, com exceção dos insalubres e perigosos, ou em que o trabalho resulte penoso e esgotante, os trabalhadores trabalhem efetivamente o dia de oito horas.

Com esta falta de liberdade é muito fácil mostrar ao mundo um país em que as classes trabalhadoras, "como estão no poder", não necessitam de recorrer a greves ou reclamações.

Em Cuba ninguém tem Liberdade

- Em Cuba não ha liberdade de expressão. Disse Castro a 10 de novembro de 1961. (9)

(As históricas declarações desse dia, ante os Instrutores Revolucionários das "Organizações Revolucionárias Integradas", tinham dois fins: livrar-se da responsabilidade pelas injustiças que citou e ir preparando o ambiente para a creação do Partido Unico com férrea disciplina): "Pois bem, todo êsse aparato (de informação e propaganda) está hoje nas nossas mãos e esteve práticamente em parte considerável desde os primeiros meses da Revolução,", "... já tôdas as estações de rádio estão em mãos revolucionárias e sob a direção da Comissão de Orientação Revolucionária". "As 156 estações estão hoje ao serviço da Revolução, as duas estações nacionais de televisão e todos os jornais".

- Dentro de um esquema totalitário, como o existente em Cuba, é muito fácil usar a coação.

Igual método é usado para conseguir as "grandes concentrações".

"Porque em vez de fazer tantas coletas (Disse Castro) não travaremos uma batalha pela produtividade? Com o aproveitamento dos recursos humanos, em vez de coletar 500 mil miseráveis pesos, pela fôrça, coletaremos 50 milhões de pesos, honesta e revolucionariamente. Não é muito melhor do que andar mendigando, pedindo e recolhendo tostões, e começar tôda a gente ver nos delegados e revolucionários uns "picaretas"? Interessa-nos que comprem uma revista que não se lê? Perde o país, com o papel que consome e perde o jornal porque, então, se procede a um desconto ao leitor, que não o lê, mas que lhe parece ter sido imposto. É muito melhor serem tirados 5 mil, 10 mil exemplares a menos e que todo o mundo o compre espontâneamente. Se causam dano ao jornal, se causam dano à Revolução, as coisas que implicam nesse tipo de descontos obrigatórias, isso está refletido na desconfiança de tôda a gente".

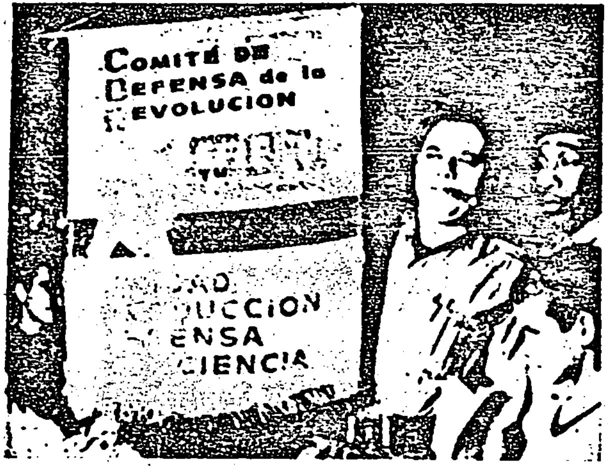
(9) Todos os trechos que seguem foram publicados no Diário "El Mundo" de 11 de Novembro de 1961.

"Quando me indagavam: bem, por que querem descontar o sindicato por assembléias? Porque de outra maneira não pagarão todos. Ou seja: no fundo há um processo coercitivo para obrigar a gente a pagar".

"Há momentos em que são mais psicológicos para falar ao pessoal que outros; talvez no momento em que todo mundo tem fome com vontade de ir logo para casa, se o detêm ali, detem-se a desgosto. Haverá muitos que para que não digam que não querem ouvir, ficam".

- Já mais diretamente, têm a seu cargo a vigilancia os "Comitês de Defesa da Revolução" e os agentes do "Departamento de Segurança do Estado".



Os membros dos C. D. R. são os instrumentos para coagir o povo.

Os "Comités" estão organizados por bairros e centros de trabalho e estão integrados pelos piores elementos populares. Uma idéia disso é-nos dada pelas próprias palavras de Fidel Castro: "... temos o paradoxo de que enquanto intervínhamos nas sociedades da burguesia e havíamos estabelecido nela um Comité de Defesa... Comité de Defesa que tinha êsses lugares num abandono espantoso, que mais parecia um "chiqueiro" que outra coisa".

- Sôbre os temíveis agentes do Departamento de Segurança do Estado ouçamos de nôvo a Castro: "Basta que qualquer companheiro numa granja, numa cooperativa, numa usina de açucar, venha a crer que é membro da Segurança... e que tem poderes omnímodos sôbre a liberdade das pessoas, qualquer trabalhador, qualquer camponês, qualquer cidadão pode se ver prêso durante 15 dias ou 20, sem ver a sua mulher, sem os filhos, sem ver ninguém, e isso é realmente uma iniquidade".

"Mas há algo que me preocupa mais: mencionar o nome do órgão de Segurança, com certo temor, como um aparato misterioso do qual poderia surgir a qualquer momento alguma arbitrariedade...".

"E não é fácil explicar o fato de que um cidadão possa ser vitima de uma arbitrariedade desse tipo. Como explicar que um cidadão esteja 40 dias preso, sem julgamento? Ou que outro fique 30 dias e depois o soltem? Que outro fique 35 e outro 60? E que, nesse interim, além da prisão, lhe tenham tomado o carro e o tenham arrebentado, se é que chegaram a devolve-lo? ... nossa luta face aos ladrões de automóveis, aos "ocupadores de carros livremente", que tinha levado o Govêrno Revolucionário a sancionar uma lei determinando prisão de dez anos a todo o membro das fôrças armadas, miliciano, membro da Segurança, que utilizasse por conta própria veículo de uma pessoa prêsa... lei que, infelizmente não foi aplicada uma só vez".

"E vou dizer com toda franqueza: grande número de cidadãos em nosso país podem ser perfeitamente vitimas inocentes da arbitrariedade de cem e provàvelmente de mil pessoas".

"...a Revolução é a primeira a lamentar que não possa conceder garantias individuais...".

"...propor as coisas como o prêço inevitável da Revolução".

• A essas palavras, que não precisam de comentário, há que se juntar a anulação do recurso de "habeas corpus" e a criação dos "Tribunais Revolucionários", cujas terríveis características são as seguintes:

1) Fazer parte da jurisdição militar, que indica em cada caso os soldados e oficiais do Exército Rebelde e das Milícias que deverão integrá-los; soldados e oficiais, iletrados na maioria das vêzes, que padecem das condições mínimas de imparcialidade, independência e capacidade necessárias à função de administrar a Justiça.

2) Têm faculdades para "definir o delito e suas circunstâncias", assim como para "determinar o grau e quantidade das penas". (*)

Em Cuba, antes, as Leis diziam que "ninguém podia ser julgado por um crime que não estivesse previsto no Código", nem se poderiam impor outras sanções que as estabelecidas nas leis penais". Do mesmo modo proibia-se a aplicação por analogia dos citados preceitos. Mas Castro eliminou tôdas as garantias do moderno Direito Penal.

3) Não há necessidade de provas para condenar um acusado; basta a acusação do agente do Departamento de Segurança do Estado.

4) Não há limite de tempo para a apresentação dos detidos ante as autoridades, nem para a realização dos julgamentos. O caráter irregular dêsses Tribunais tem levado a casos extremos, no Presídio Militar de la Cabaña, de Lázaro Reyes — convocando-se, de surpresa, para julgamento, sem se poder dispor de advogado e condenando à morte em 15 minutos — e Efrén Rodrigues Calo, fusilado após ter sido condenado à pena de 30 anos.

• Para resumir, bastam algumas palavras do magnífico analista do regime comunista, Milovan Djilas:

"O mecanismo do poder comunista é aliás o mais sutil que se possa conceber, ainda que leve à tirania refinada e à exploração mais brutal.

A sutileza desse mecanismo se deve a que um só partido, o Partido Comunista, constitui o fundamento de toda a atividade política, econômica e ideológica. Tôda a vida pública fica detida, avança, retrocede e dá voltas, de acordo com o que sucede nos centros do Partido.

(*) Lei 33 de 21 de Janeiro de 1959.

No sistema comunista a gente se dá conta em seguida do que se lhe permite e não se lhe permite fazer.

As leis e os regulamentos não tem importância mais especial para ela. Mas, sim, as regras reais e não escritas, no que diz respeito às relações entre o Govêrno e seus súditos. Com independência das lèis todos sabem que o Govêrno está nas mãos dos comitês do Partido e da Polícia Secreta".

Conclusões Finais:

O Comunismo Internacional pretende apontar a Revolução Cubana como modêlo para a América Latina.

Sai de Cuba continuamente enorme quantidade de propaganda, absolutamente contrária ao que ali acontece e tem acontecido.

Os comunistas cubanos incitam à realização da Revolução Marxista-Leninista. Inclusive durante a crise brasileira de 1961, Fidel Castro conclamou o povo brasileiro à insurreição. Menos mal que êste povo é inteligente e não lhe fêz caso.

Pois os que fizeram caso do "máximo líder de Cuba Socialista" encontrarão para seus povos a Miséria e o terror.

Esperamos que a leitura dessas páginas ajude a que se compreenda isso.

Quizemos apenas citar fatos, cifras concretas.
Sejam suficientes, por fim, os seguintes:
Em três anos de Revolução:

2.245 fuzilados
93.500 presos
300.000 exilados
1.000.000 de vistos pedidos.

Eis o que é "Cuba Socialista". "Viva o Marxismo-Leninismo"!

"Todo o poder que iria adquirindo a casta de funcionários, unidos pela necessidade de manter-se numa ocupação privilegiada e pingue, iria o povo perdendo, sem ter a mesma razão de cumplicidade com esperanças e proveitos, para fazer frente aos funcionários enlaçados por interesses comuns.

Como tôdas as suas necessidades públicas viriam a ser satisfeitas pelo Estado, adquiriram os funcionários então influência enorme que naturalmente advém aos que distribuem algum direito e benefício.

Aquêle que quer agora que o Estado cuide dêle para não ter que cuidar de si, teria então que trabalhar na medida, por tempo e em tarefa que o Estado pudesse lhe assinalar, posto que êste, sôbre quem cairiam todos os deveres, se daria naturalmente tôdas as faculdades necessárias para conseguir os meios de cumprir aquilo. De ser o servo de si próprio, passaria o homem a ser escravo do Estado. De escravo dos capitalistas, como se diz agora, iria até ser escravo dos funcionários.

Escravo é todo aquele que trabalha para outro que tem domínio sôbre êle; e nesse sistema SOCIALISTA dominaria a comunidade ao homem, que à comunidade entregaria todo o seu trabalho.

E como os funcionários são seres humanos e portanto prevaricadores, soberbos e ambiciosos, e nessa organização teriam grande poder, apoiados por todos os que se aproveitassem ou esperassem se aproveitar dos abusos e por aquelas fôrças vis que sempre cumprem entre os oprimidos, o terror, prestígio ou habilidade dos que mandam, êste sistema de distribuição oficial do trabalho comum conseguiria usufruir em pouco tempo brutalidades, violências, furtos e tergiversações que o espírito de individualidade, a autoridade e ousadia do gênio e da astúcia do vício originam pronta e fatalmente em tôda organização humana. "Do mau elemento humano — diz Spencer — não se podem fazer boas instituições". A miséria pública será, pois, com semelhante Socialismo, palpável e grande. O funcionalismo autocrático abusará da plebe, cansada e trabalhadora. Lamentável será, e geral, a servidão".

1. SUMMARY. The Reference A. AMSPELL exhibit toured six Latin American countries during a five-month period, February-June 1964. With the exception of Guayaquil and La Paz -- where excellent results were achieved -- the tour was only moderately successful, and must be classified a failure in Quito, Santiago and Montevideo. According to AMSPELL, the total number of persons who viewed the exhibit was 6,720. Another 2,792 persons reportedly attended conferences at which the AMSPELL team gave talks on the Reference A. exhibit and the dangers and weaknesses of Castro-Communism. Publicity was given the exhibit by 34 newspapers (47 items), 30 radio stations, and six television stations. AMSPELL estimated the TV audience at 1,300,000. Sample clippings are enclosed under separate cover. Reports from WH stations and the WAVE debriefing of the AMSPELL team lead us to conclude that the tour was a moderate success that could have been much better if if had been better organized and if the AMSPELL team had had more experience. (On balance) we believe the tour was well worth the approximately $12,000.00 KUBARK paid out. We do not, however, believe it should be repeated in the foreseeable future in view of the relative inexperience shown by the AMSPELL team on the recent tour and the many difficulties encountered in trying to organize the exhibit in the various cities.

2. COLOMBIA.

a. Bogota. The AMSPELL team arrived in Bogota on 12 February 1964 but were unable to make contact with the local AMSPELL/AMBARB contact until the next day. They were unable to get adequate advance publicity and had trouble finding space for the exhibit. About 200. persons attended the exhibit, and AMSPELL conferences were attended by approximately 485 persons. HLBA-6911reported GISNEAKER-9's observations on the local reaction to the tour, which he judged to be indifferent. The AMSPELL team freely admitted to WAVE that the Bogota operation was something less than successful, but blamed the lack of advance preparations and the existence of an unfriendly press for their failure. It should also be noted that the AMSPELL team was not on the best of terms with some of the local Cubans, and this fact probably had a good deal to do with the poor showing.

b. Medellin. The showing in Medellin was better than in Bogota. The press was lukewarm but the director of the Caracol radio station gave them considerable publicity, and they were able to hold the exhibit in a central spot in the city. About 400 persons visited the exhibit over a period of three days, and 850 persons attended conferences given by the team.

c. Cali. The team received good advance press play in Cali, which was perhaps one reason for the fact that the local Communist party was also well prepared for their arrival. On the very first morning of the exhibit, a large crowd of Communists tried to enter the exhibit with the obvious intention of starting trouble. and when they were locked out began to throw rocks and "stinkbombs" into the exhibit hall. The incident provided considerable publicity for AMSPELL, as reported in BOGO 4332. A total of 100 persons attended the exhibit. The AMSPELL team claimed that the Communists were very strong in Cali and that working there was like swimming upstream.

3. ECUADOR.

a. Quito. The team arrived in Quito on 25 March, after spending several days in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain visas for Peru. QUIT 5867 reported the AMSPELL team's personality clashes with the local AMBARBs and the consequent poor performance by the AMSPELL team, who complained of the absence of police protection, adequate facilities for the exhibit, etc., and departed just two days later on the 27th. One member remained in Bogota to hold conferences, attended by 325 persons. While not accepting the blame for this fiasco, the AMSPELL team generally corroborated the above story in their debriefing by WAVE. After such incidents as reported in QUIT 5867, we are reluctant to recommend any future tours.

b. Guayaquil. The AMSPELL team considered Guayaquil their most successful operation, an opinion seconded by Guayaquil base who termed it a "resounding success." (See QUIT 5867 and HEGA 2900). The exhibit received front page coverage in "El Universo" and "El Telegrafo", and they were given a half hour on a major TV station. An estimated total of 1,200 persons visited the exhibit, and the team spoke before 40 members of a local group, Frente de Defensa Nacional.

4. Santiago, Chile.

The AMSPELL team arrived in Santiago on 5 March to coincide with the opening of the Latin American Youth Congress (LAYC). The Santiago operation was a complete loss because Chilean customs authorities would not release the exhibit during the congress and the AMSPELL team was unable to obtain space of any kind to hold conferences due to competition from the congress for space. (See SAGO 6577). The AMSPELL team had been counting on a contact in the Catholic University, Fernando SANHUESA, to facilitate their activities but SANHUESA told them that the LAYC was a failure from the Communist side and that the AMSPELL team could contribute more by remaining quiet than by actively propagandizing against (and thereby calling attention to) the congress. The end result was that the AMSPELL team did nothing. An amateurish plan to kidnap a Cuban delegate to the LAYC as hostage for political prisoners in Cuba was quickly scotched by the Station. (See SAGO 6595).

5. La Paz, Bolivia.

The AMSPELL team arrived in La Paz on 17 March, and after some difficulty in obtaining space were finally able to open the exhibit in Club La Paz on 21 March. As noted in LAPA 5550, exhibits and conferences were held in various locations in the city, with the closing performance on 25 March at the Scala Theater hosted by the Venezuelan ambassador. The exhibit received excellent coverage in all four of the leading La Paz newspapers and the three largest radio stations carried AMSPELL conferences. Despite the excellent publicity, a total of only 600 persons visited the exhibit in La Paz. According to AMSPELL, this was due to Bolivian preoccupation with such things as a national day to demand a passage to the sea for Bolivia which stopped all traffic and communication.

6. Argentina.

a. Buenos Aires. The AMSPELL team arrived in Buenos Aires on 27 March during Holy Week. In addition to the delay caused by Holy Week celebrations, the team had difficulty finding space for the exhibit. With the help of the Chamber of Commerce, the exhibit finally opened on 6 April in Chamber of Commerce offices on Leandro Allem street. An estimated 1,200 persons visited the exhibit during a four-day period, and good publicity was also obtained in the La Prensa and La Razon newspapers. The AMSPELL group also obtained 10 minutes on Panorama Mundial, Channel 7 TV, as part of a 30-minute program on Cuba and the overthrow of Goulart in Brazil. According to AMSPELL, the Panorama program is rated as having 500,000 viewers. The AMSPELL team also held four conferences before small groups of Rotarians and university students which were attended by a total of 400 persons.

b. Rosario. The AMSPELL team arrived in Rosario on 11 April and opened the exhibit on 15 April, after the customary difficulties of finding a site due to the lack of advance preparations. The local chamber of commerce finally came through with an excellent site, the "Galeria Libertad", in the center of town. A total of 2,000 persons visited the exhibit during the three days it was open. Local newspapers (La Cronica, La Tribuna, La Capital) gave good publicity to the tour. The local radio stations gave spot announcements of the exhibit but did not give any additional publicity.

c. Cordoba. The AMSPELL team made a hurried trip to Cordoba, where they were able to show the exhibit to an estimated 600 persons during a three-day stay, 20-23 April. The local chamber of commerce was again very helpful in arranging for space for the exhibit and obtaining local press publicity. Good press coverage was obtained in Los Principios and Cordoba.

7. Montevideo, Uruguay. The AMSPELL team reported that Montevideo was the worst performance of the entire tour, with only twenty persons attending the exhibit. They arrived on 26 April and after unsuccessfully attempting to obtain a site in a central location, felt obliged to accept space in the Catholic Club, considered a center of reaction by many Uruguayans and remote from the main thoroughfares. Despite the poor reception and the lack of good local contacts, a fair amount of publicity was obtained in the local press and the AMSPELL team had a one-hour show on the local TV channel 10.

8. Caracas, Venezuela. The AMSPELL team arrived in Caracas on 9 May, having cut Brazil from the tour because of visa problems. Their early arrival caught their local contacts unprepared and it was not until 16 May that the exhibit opened. Excellent support was provided by station assets and widespread publicity was given to the event. However, the exhibit was located in a relatively remote spot and only 300 persons attended the exhibit, according to AMSPELL. (The Station estimate was 400-500). Another 140 persons attended AMSPELL conferences. The station report (HVCA-11393) which has been corroborated by the WAVE debriefing of the AMSPELL team, describes the typical experience of the AMSPELL team throughout the tour with the exception that local support was not always as effective as in Caracas.

9. Enclosed under separate cover is an AMSPELL statistical summary of the tour and press clippings from the countries visited.

1. José Antonio ECHEVERRIA Bianchi[2] and Juan NUIRY Sánchez,[2] leaders of the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil[4] (Revolutionary Student Directory) formed at the University of Habana, met in October 1956 in Miami, Florida, with two delegates of Fidel CASTRO Ruz and with Carlos PRIO Socarrás to plan the uprising against the BATISTA regime. The delegates of the three groups agreed on a plan which called for CASTRO's group to land in Oriente and the other two groups to go into action at the same time in support of CASTRO's landing and subsequent activities. Faustino PEREZ,[2] a physician, and Juan Manuel MARQUEZ,[2] who was killed in the Sierra Maestra fighting, were CASTRO's delegates. Carlos MARISTANY,[2] former Minister of Labor, accompanied Carlos PRIO.[2]

2. After the assassination of Lt. Col. Antonio BLANCO Rico in late October 1956, ECHEVERRIA, NUIRY, and other members of the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil had to go into hiding because they were accused by President Fulgencio BATISTA of having been the authors of BLANCO Rico's death. Since then they have been working clandestinely to organize, arm, and prepare their group to go into action. There are approximately 100 men hidden in the Habana area awaiting the signal to strike, and other groups are ready throughout the island. Considerable support is expected from Cuban Navy personnel, [illegible], as well as from many persons who have asked to join the group but have not been incorporated into the group for lack of proper arms. The Directorio has also been in contact with Army personnel and hopes that many of the troops will desert or go over to the Directorio's side when the fighting begins.[1]

3. The Directorio does not know or understand why the PRIO group, which is believed to be well-armed, has not gone into action as yet. The Directorio knows that PRIO has given instructions to his group leaders to remain quiet, but the reasons behind these instructions have not been determined.

22 September 1958

Chief, New Orleans Office

1. Confirming and supplementing our several long-distance telephone conversations, I report herewith concerning my interview with Mr. Frank Jackson and two members of the Prio Socarras' group in Miami, Florida, on 18 and 19 September 1958. This portion of the report is concerned with the mechanics of the operation and the personalities involved. It would be, I presume, of little interest to FI. A supplemental section contains a description of the material offered by the Cuban refugees, which portion, I assume, you will turn over to FI/WH Division.

2. On arrival in Miami, I called at the office of the FBI with a view to informing that agency of my presence and of the general nature of the activities I proposed to engage in; so that the agents of the Bureau would not be unduly surprised if they learned of my activities from other agents who were presumably keeping my proposed contacts under surveillance. The SAC was absent from the office. I accordingly talked with one of the Duty Officers, a Special Agent named Schilldecker, whom I had met before and who has frequently cooperated with our representative in Miami, John H. Dyer. Schilldecker was most pleasant and cooperative. I informed him that the matter on which I was engaged had been coordinated with FBI headquarters through Mr. Charles Bates and that the Bureau interposed no objections. I then told him, in general terms, about the activities of Mr. Frank Jackson in Washington. The agent said that he had known Jackson for about 10 years and that he considered Jackson to be an unreliable person and a complete opportunist. He said that Jackson had been in Naval Intelligence during World War II and that since the end of his tour of active duty he had held a number of jobs in none of which he had been able to make a success. These jobs included the agency for a wine manufacturer, the position of deputy sheriff in Miami Beach, the agency for a maker of concrete blocks and several other enterprises. In one of his jobs Jackson had been suspected of pilferage and had been discharged on that account, although no prosecution was instituted. Jackson is now, according to Schilldecker, operating a private detective agency and is also acting as public relations adviser to Prio and his group. He is believed to be the owner of a corporation known as "Enterprises Many, Inc," the exact operations of which are unknown.

3. Schilldecker said that Jackson claimed to have excellent sources of information on Cuba and that he particularly had referred to a Captain Salvador Diaz y Verson, a political refugee from Cuba, who had engaged quite intensively in anti-Communist activities. Schilldecker said that the "legal attache" (I assume that means an FBI representative) at the US Embassy in Havana had at one time written to the SAC in Miami about Verson and had said that the latter had once been in a position to obtain valuable information concerning the activities of the Communists in Cuba, but that, in his belief, Verson was given to flights of fancy.

4. Schilldecker pointed out that, although the criminal cases against Prio and Curti had been ended with pleas of nolo contendere and fines, cases were still pending against four other Cuban exiles who are allegedly engaged in the gun-running plot. He said that inasmuch as the cases were primarily the interest of the Customs Department, the FBI was not immediately interested. He voiced the opinion that Customs representatives were maintaining surveillance on the defendants in the various suits.

5. Returning from the FBI office, I telephoned Jackson, as arranged, at 3:00 p.m. and identified myself as directed in WA-9979. Jackson said that it would be impossible to arrange a meeting with the Cubans that afternoon, since the leader of the group would not be available. He said that a meeting could be arranged for the following morning, Sunday, 19 September, at 11:00 a.m., and I accordingly arranged to meet the group in a room at the Columbus Hotel which I had reserved for that purpose. I suggested a preliminary meeting with Jackson so as to obtain information about the persons I was to see, but he said that that would not be feasible on Saturday and that he would drop in on Sunday morning a few minutes ahead of the rest of the group.

6. Jackson arrived at the designated room on Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. He did not request the exhibition of credentials and I did not exhibit them. He said that the meeting with the Cubans would have to be postponed until 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, inasmuch as the leader of the group was at that time engaged in preparing a speech. He said he would bring two members of the group to the Columbus Hotel at 4:00 p.m., and I agreed to meet them at that time.

7. Jackson said that the two men he wanted me to talk to were Senor Carlos Hevia and a Captain Verson, whose full name Mr. Jackson did not know. He said that Carlos Hevia is a leading Cuban consulting engineer and is a graduate of the US Military Academy of the class of 1919. For a short time he was President of Cuba and was subsequently Ambassador to the US. He is a member of Prio's Authentico Party, but belongs to the conservative wing which is highly critical of some of Prio's actions. Hevia was exiled from Cuba when his name was found on an envelope in the possession of Sanchez Arango. He is under indictment in the US District Court but has pleaded not guilty to charges of gun-running growing out of the same incident concerning which Prio pleaded "nolo contendere."

8. Captain Verson, according to Jackson, is and has been for many years the president of the Anti-Communist League of Cuba. During a part of the terms of Grau San Martin and Prio, Verson held the rank of Captain in the Cuban army and was in charge of a counter-espionage section dealing with Cuban Communists. Verson, in his official capacity, was largely instrumental in having the Soviet Embassy in Havana closed. He was removed by Batista from his Army post in 1952 and, after spending some months in sanctuary in the Uruguayan Embassy in Havana, he came to Miami in June of 1954.

9. Jackson also wished me to meet Prio, Dr. Pedro Martinez Fraga and uis Ortega. Prio was currently in New York. Martinez was formerly Ambassador to he US and a delegate to the United Nations. He was described by Jackson as one f the most brilliant persons he had ever met and he said that I could obtain a great deal of information from him concerning the present political and economic situation in Cuba. He was not immediately available and had no connection with the documents allegedly possessed by Verson. Ortega, a former newspaper columnist and member of Batista's Consultative Council, was also described by Jackson as a prolific source of information on Cuban political matters. He too was not immediately available and had no connection with the Verson documents. In the circumstances, I told Jackson that I would defer interviews with Martinez and Ortega until some future time.

10. At 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, 19 September, Jackson returned to the room in the Columbus Hotel, bringing with him Senor Hevia and Captain Verson. Jackson introduced me as Mr. Druton, a pseudonym I had supplied. He told them that I was a representative of the US Government and that we were interested in the documents in Verson's possession. He assured them that the information which they might give me would be treated as highly classified material, and he then left the meeting. It developed that Captain Verson could not speak any English (incidentally, Jackson does not speak Spanish), so that it was necessary to converse with him through Hevia, who acted as interpreter. Hevia is fluent in English and Spanish.

11. The substance of the information supplied by Verson concerning the documents in his possession is contained in the second part of this report. Verson appeared to attach a very high historical value to the contents of his documents and seemed anxious to make them available to US authorities. He disclaimed any desire for a fee and merely said that he wished to retain the originals, since he considered that they constituted an authentic account of the growth of the Communist movement in Cuba, but that we would be entirely welcome to photostat or otherwise copy the contents of his files.

12. At the conclusion of the interview, I thanked the two Cubans for their courtesy and cooperation and told Senor Hevia that I would get in touch with him later in the week either directly or through Mr. Jackson.

13. I enclose herewith a letter to Hevia confirming our interest in the Verson documents and asking him to notify me when it is expected that they will begin arriving, so that we may attempt to facilitate their entry. You will note that I have signed the letter with the name "Druton" which is how I was introduced to Hevia and Verson by Jackson. I think the letter should be mailed in Washington rather than in New Orleans, so as to allay any suspicions that Hevia may harbor that I am not actually a government representative. You will note that I have suggested that Hevia write to me in New Orleans in care of Miss Joan M. Eaton at Post Office Box 1016. He will, no doubt, assume that this is a letter-drop.

14. In view of the fact that I refer by implication to the Customs Department, I suggest that you hold the letter to Hevia until you or Cleveland have discussed the matter with Mr. Emerick, who is the superior of Mr. Wyatt, the Supervising Customs Agent in Miami. I suggest that the letter be sent air mail, unregistered. I have left the date blank and I request that you insert it before mailing. If you wish to change the letter in any way, please do so. Hevia does not, of course, know my handwriting, so that the letter can be signed by anyone.

SINCE ALL CANCELLED CHECKS ARE RETURNED TO THE DEPOSITOR AT THE END OF EACH MONTH THIS CHECK IS NOT AVAILABLE FOR EXAMINATION.

WE HAVE ALSO BEEN INFORMED THAT THERE IS A SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX IN THE NAME OF MRS. CARLOS PRIO AT THE BANK, TO WHICH HER HUSBAND HAS ACCESS. WE HAVE NOT ATTEMPTED TO FIND OUT THE EXTENT OF THE ACTIVITY WHICH HAS TAKEN PLACE IN CONNECTION WITH THIS BOX BUT COULD POSSIBLY DO SO IF IT WOULD SERVE ANY GOOD PURPOSE.

WITHIN THE PAST WEEK CARLOS PRIO PRESENTED ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND PESOS TO THE BANK AND REQUESTED CASH IN EXCHANGE THEREFOR. WE UNDERSTAND THAT THE ENTIRE AMOUNT WAS IN NEW BILLS. HE WAS TOLD THAT THE CURRENCY WOULD HAVE TO BE SENT TO CUBA FOR EXAMINATION AND THAT IN ALL PROBABILITY THE BANCO NACIONAL DE CUBA WOULD WANT TO KNOW THE IDENTITY OF THE PERSON EXCHANGING THE PESOS. CARLOS SAID HE WOULD RATHER NOT HAVE HIS NAME DISCLOSED BUT CONSENTED TO BE NAMED IF THE BANK INSISTED UPON IT. AT THAT TIME, CARLOS TOLD THE BANK OFFICIALS THAT HE HAD PREVIOUSLY SOLD A LARGE SUM OF PESOS TO ANOTHER BANK WITHOUT ANY DIFFICULTY.

APPARENTLY IN THE COURSE OF THE NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE EXCHANGE OF THE PESOS CARLOS REMARKED THAT HE FEARS A DEVALUATION OF THE CUBAN CURRENCY BECAUSE OF THE RAPID DEPLETION OF CUBAN GOLD RESERVES IN THIS COUNTRY, WHICH WOULD RESULT IN A LARGE FINANCIAL LOSS TO HIM.

OUR CONTACT IS AT THE MAIN OFFICE OF THE GUARANTY TRUST AND THE ACCOUNT AND SAFETY BOX OF THE PRIO'S ARE LOCATED IN ONE OF THE BRANCHES. BECAUSE OF THE IDENTITY OF THE DEPOSITOR AND THE MANNER IN WHICH THE ABOVE INFORMATION WAS NECESSARILY OBTAINED, OUR CONTACT HAS ASKED THAT THE DATA BE TREATED IN THE STRICTEST CONFIDENCE. ACCORDINGLY THIS INFORMATION MUST BE RESTRICTED TO CIA RPT CIA INTERNAL USE ONLY.

A. OPERATIONAL

1. During the period under review, financial support to the AMSPELL organization has been reduced significantly. As reported in references, the primary reason for the reduction was the inconsistencies of many AMSPELL activities with current WOFACT directives.

2. Cooperation between AMSPELL and the Station has been maintained through AMHINT-2, the principal agent of the AMSPELL operation. Although no longer being carried on a salaried basis, AMHINT-2 has continued to be responsive to Station guidance.

3. AMSPELL has continued its correspondence with various student groups and leaders throughout the free world, and especially in Latin America. AMSPELL has contacted various international student groups requesting passage money so that its delegates could be afforded the opportunity to attend upcoming international student conferences.

4. A campaign was launched to call attention to the plight of Pedro Luis BOITEL, a Cuban student leader who was unjustly imprisoned on the Isle of Pines by the CASTRO regime. A report/denunciation of the imprisonment of BOITEL was prepared and sent to AMSPELL's principal contacts in the Latin American student field seeking support for AMSPELL's demand that BOITEL be released.

B. PRODUCTION

1. AMSPELL bi-monthly magazine (copy being forwarded under separate cover)

a. AMSPELL efforts during recent months have been mainly concentrated on the preparation of its new bi-monthly magazine. 8,000 copies of the magazine's first edition which was published in May 1966 were distributed as follows:

(1) 3,000 copies sent to Latin America
(2) 1,100 copies distributed by AMSPELL delegations
(3) 3,000 copies distributed among Cubans in the United States
(4) 100 copies were sent to AMSPELL contacts and student movements in Europe, Africa, Asia, Canada, etc.
(5) Members of the AMSPELL organization also received copies in which the AMSPELL internal bulletin was inserted. Each member was asked to promote the sale of subscriptions and advertising space as well as to seek persons who would collaborate with the magazine staff by contributing their talents.
(6) The remainder was distributed among the various embassies, official representations of governments and organizations, both in the United States and abroad, as well as among Cuban exile journalists and organizations.

2. AMSPELL Cuban mailing

Since March 1966, 1,000 envelopes containing AMSPELL propaganda have been mailed to Cuba on a monthly basis. This propaganda is directed particularly at students who support the regime (copies of the propaganda are being forwarded under separate cover).

3. Press

The majority of AMSPELL press releases have been in connection with the mistreatment of political prisoners by the Castro regime. Other releases concerned the aforementioned BOITEL campaign and a tribute to Cuban martyrs who gave their lives fighting against the BATISTA dictatorship in 1957. (Copies of the press releases are being forwarded under separate cover.)

C. FINANCIAL

1. Final payment of AMSPELL salaries and termination bonuses was made in February in line with the Station's reduction of financial support to AMSPELL. Under the present arrangement JMWAVE support is limited to $1,600 monthly, this includes the $200 monthly financial support payment to AMHINT-1's family, office overhead, and support for printing/distributing the bi-monthly publication.

2. The following amounts were expended by the Station in support of AMSPELL activities during the second half of FY 66:

Operational expenses	$ 9,929.74
Salaries and termination bonuses	6,200.00
Total expenditures	$16,129.74

D. FUTURE PLANS

It is anticipated that AMSPELL efforts in the near future will be directed at the upcoming CLAE meeting which is scheduled to be held in Havana 29 July to 9 August 1966.

1. General

During the period under review, AMHINT/2 visited Caracas and turned in a report on the university situation in that country which was submitted in Reference. In addition to the normal propaganda activities, the AMSPELL group waged a campaign for the release of political prisoners and has intensified this campaign since the announcement of the "open door" policy on 28 September 1965.

2. Propaganda Production (samples forwarded under separate cover)

a. 4,800 copies of the bulletin were mailed into PBRUMEN each month. Over 6,000 copies of the international edition were sent monthly to addressees in Latin America and Western Europe. Among the main issues treated in the bulletins were: internal problems of PBRUMEN communism as a result of Ben Bella's overthrow; communist atrocities in Viet Nam; testimony of Alberto Muller on the secret executions in Communist PBRUMEN; the comments of Identity A with respect to the PBRUMEN situation, the exodus and Che Guevara's disappearance.

b. Miscellaneous press clippings and press releases are also forwarded under separate cover. Included is an article by AMHINT/2 on the student discontent in PBRUMEN which appeared in Identity B. Other articles and press releases were used by Identities B, C and D and by AMHIM.

SUBJECT

AMHINT-2 Trip to Caracas

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES
AR: FYI

1. Subject, Identity A, recently visited Caracas for the purpose of obtaining his residence visa and while there was in contact with the local AMSPELL delegation as well as with representatives of the major student political groups at the Central University in Caracas (UCV). AMHINT-2 was particularly interested in promoting a productive working relationship between AMSPELL in Caracas and Identity B, which appears to be a new Christian-oriented group organized to provide Liceo students with courses and seminars in fighting communism. A copy of the Identity B brochure is being forwarded under separate cover No. 1.

2. On his return, AMHINT-2 reported on the present composition of the local AMSPELL group. He indicated that Identity C, who first joined AMSPELL in 1960 in Cuba and who recently arrived in Venezuela from Santo Domingo, has replaced Identity D as leader of the group. A list containing the names of the other members of the delegation, as well as a brief description of their AMSPELL duties, is also forwarded under separate cover, Attachment No. 2.

3. At present, the AMSPELL group in Caracas is concentrating its efforts on working with Identity B and in maintaining good relations with the press in order to carry out propaganda at the least cost with such groups as the Jose Marti Patriotic Club and the UCE.

4. The AMSPELL delegation is in contact with a number of student political leaders not only at UCV but at several of the other universities. These contacts include Identities E, F, G, H and I.

PRINCIPIOS ESENCIALES
DEL
GREMIALISMO ESTUDIANTIL

Un Centro de Estudiantes, para considerarse ORGANISMO GREMIAL, debe distinguirse por su:

UNICIDAD:

— Debe ser único por eficacia, conveniencia económica, educación del estudiante en materia de solidaridad y fundamentos legales de representatividad de TODO el estudiantado.

— En muchos paises (el nuestro) no se da por la violenta división politica.

NEUTRALIDAD:

— No puede identificarse con intereses de grupo.

— Su formulación aparece en un articulo de los estatutos que señala la aconfesionalidad y el apartidismo del gremio.

— No significa desinterés por las actividades religiosas o politicas.

— Tampoco puede significar la neutralidad, que el gremio no puede pronunciarse frente a la realidad: contra el engaño y en favor de la verdad.

DEMOCRACIA INTERNA:

— Principio que tiende a promover y a garantizar la libre contribución de todos los estudiantes en todo lo que atañe a la vida misma del Gremio Estudiantil.

REPRESENTATIVIDAD:

— Un Centro de Estudiantes debe ser el UNICO gremio estudiantil de derecho y de hecho.

— La Unicidad y la Democracia Interna son bases de la Representatividad.

— Lo fundamental es el contenido: SERVICIO DEL BIEN COMUN ESTUDIANTIL.

[illegible] SOBRE VENEZUELA

I) DELEGACION DEL D.R.E.

Hasta nuestro viaje a Caracas el delegado era Enrique Baloira, quien fue sustituido debido a su decision de venir a seguir estudios en Estados Unidos. El nuevo delegado es Lazaro Fariñas, quien es miembro del D.R.E. desde 1960 en Cuba dentro de la Pre-Universitaria y luego en Accion y Sabotaje. En el exilio participo dentro de la seccion militar y mas tarde en Santo Domingo como delegado ocupado en resolver los asuntos pendientes despues de la paralizacion del plan militar. Lleva alrededor de un mes en Venezuela.

✓ Antonio Yaníz, miembro del DRE. desde Cuba en 1960. Actuo como Coordinador Provincial de Las Villas. Mas tardo vino al exilio y se infiltro a principios de 1961 clandestinamente en coordinacion con nuestros amigos para preparar ~~unxx~~ un alzamiento en las Villas. En 1961 llega a Caracas incorporandose a la delegacion. Mas tarde trabaja con un grupo de venezolanos en actividades de Inteligencia en coordinacion con los "[illegible]. En la actualidad estudia Medicina en la Universidad Central donde [illegible] el trabajo de la delegacion.

Jose Miguel Gonzalez Llorente, acaba de terminar estudios de [illegible] en la Universidad Catolica en Caracas. Es encargado de Propaganda de la delegacion. Es necesario recalcar que el trabajo de Propaganda es [illegible] mucho mayor reducido despues de terminar las relaciones entre la delegacion y nuestros amigos, manifestandose unicamente en notas de prensa y relaciones personales con periodistas y organos de publicidad. En estos momentos Jose Miguel se encuentra fuera de Caracas pues fue enviado por unos meses a España por la compania donde trabaja en asuntos de publicidad Lula Santos, igualmente trabajo dentro del DRE desde 1960. En la actualidad estudia Psicologia en la Universidad Católica donde desempena su labor del DRE. Su trabajo especial consiste en asuntos relacionados con la Secretaria de la Delegacion.

Guillermo Boza , estudia en la Universidad Catolica dentro de la Facultad de Sociologia. Ademas trabaja en el Instituto Venezolano de Accion Comunitaria(IVAC) ocupado en conferencias y charlas a campesinos para incorporarlos a un trabajo de desarrollo comunitario. En este campo desenvuelve actividades de la delegacion.

Sergio Gomez, Actualmente trabaja como Vice-Generente de la Empresa de Television "Vene-Vision". Es miembro del DRE. desde 1960 en Cuba. Su actividad dentro de lq delegacion es de colaboracion en diversos asuntos pues carece de tiempo para algo especifico. La importancia basica es la influencia dentro de una estacion de Television, paralizando noticias que alienten o favorezcan el comunismo.

Pacífico Calera, estudia en la Universidad del Zulia junto con Aurelia Bussot. Viven en Maracaibo donde mantienen la delegacion especialmente en actividades de relaciones estudiantiles. Tienen una gran amistad con Carlos Artimani Gasperi(presidente de la Federacion de Centros Universitarios del Zulia) de inspiracion social-cristiana.

German Adolfo Maleiro, Venezolano que estudia derecho en la Universidad de Carabobo. Reside en Valencia. No es miembro de la delegacion pero realiza las actividades correspondientes en los campos de propaganda y relaciones. Trabaja en el Rectorado de la Universidad teniendo acceso a las listas de estudiantes. En caracas se paso una lista de estudiantes comunistas de aquella Universidad brindada por este contacto. Al mismo tiempo se senalo la importancia de mantener relaciones con el a nuestros amigos.

A. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITIES

1. General

AMSPELL has continued its normal propaganda activities as outlined below. On 23 March 1965, AMHINT-2 agreed to the terms outlined in Reference B, including a substantial budget reduction, to become effective 1 April. AMSPELL's chief problem at the present time is to liquidate debts incurred as a result of the defunct AMSPELL paramilitary operation.

2. Propaganda

a. The March 1965 edition of the regular AMSPELL newspaper was mailed to Latin America and AMSPELL delegations in the U. S. (9,800 copies), attachment No. 1 under separate cover.

b. The March 1965 edition of the pony AMSPELL newspaper was mailed into Cuba (4,800 copies), attachment No. 2 under separate cover.

c. The AMSPELL international bulletin was mailed to its normal recipients during March 1965. Spanish edition -- 2,900 copies, attachment No. 3. French edition -- 1,925 copies, attachment No. 4. English edition -- 1,925 copies, attachment No. 5.

d. In connection with the prisoners' campaign (paragraph 5(a) below), 10,000 copies of the Prisoners' Message were printed, attachment No. 6; 5,000 copies of a letter to Chilean President Eduardo Frei, attachment No. 7; 5,000 circular letters to Latin American Identity A organizations, attachment No. 8; and 5,000 copies of a circular letter to AMSPELL Delegates, attachment No. 9.

3. Radio Propaganda

AMSPELL continued its regular radio operations consisting of a 15-minute program Tuesdays through Saturdays on AMTHIGH, and a 15-minute program broadcast every Monday over WMIE and several Latin American stations.

4. Press Releases

Miscellaneous press releases are included as attachment No. 10, under separate cover.

5. Other Activities.

a. The prisoners' campaign got off to a slow start. The Identity B meeting in March, which was supposed to have been the kick-off of the campaign, did not produce the expected results. Identity C was on a Latin American tour and was unable to attend, and Identity D, who had promised to push the prisoners' cause at the meeting, limited himself to pleas for Cuban Identity E prisoners. The letter written to Chilean President Eduardo Frei (attachment No. 7) by AMSPELL members imprisoned on the Islo of Pines was forwarded to the AMSPELL delegation in Santiago for delivery to the President. The Chilean elections, followed by the earthquake complicated this plan and the delivery of the letter was delayed. (See paragraph 2-d above for information re propaganda printed by AMSPELL in connection with the campaign.)

b. In connection with the 13 March anniversary of the assault on the Cuban Presidential Palace, AMSPELL issued a press release (attachment No. 10), all publications contained appropriate editorials and, in addition to full coverage on the regular AMSPELL radio programs, additional radio coverage was obtained on JMHOPE and AMTHIGH with a special interview. The AMSPELL publication re the anniversary is attached under separate cover, No. 11.

c. The AMSPELL delegation in Mexico participated in the tribute to Venezuelan workers (CTV) organized by the Cubans residing in Mexico City. (See attachment No. 10 for pertinent press releases.) Activities of other AMSPELL Delegations including publications and press releases are included under attachment No. 12.

FYI:

REF: UFGA 19,393, 18 January 1965

A. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITIES:

1. General.

AMSPELL operational activities during January and February were of a routine nature, details of which are noted in the paragraphs below. AMSPELL-KUBARK relations have continued to deteriorate since the collapse of the AMSPELL paramilitary effort in the fall of 1964, an at the end of February the Station decided to reduce the AMSPELL subsidy. This problem was discussed in UFGA 20,262, 9 March 1965. We shall start implementing this decision at the beginning of April.

2. Propaganda.

a. The January and February 1965 editions of the regular AMSPELL newspaper were mailed to Latin America and AMSPELL delegations in the U. S. (9,800 copies each), attachment No. 1 under separate cover. This represents a planned reduction from the previous 19,800 monthly figure.

b. The January and February 1965 editions of the pony AMSPELL newspaper were mailed into Cuba (4,800 copies each), attachment No. 2 under separate cover.

c. The AMSPELL international bulletin was mailed to its normal recipients during January and February 1965. Spanish editions--2,900 copies each, attachment No. 3. French edition--1,925 copies each, attachment No. 4. English edition--1,925 copies each. attachment No. 5.

1. Attached under separate cover is AMSPELL production of printed propaganda on the Congo situation. Page two of the AMSPELL December bulletin carried a full-page spread with photographs, attributing the Congo atrocities to Communist intervention. Approximately 3,000 copies of the Spanish-language edition were sent to Latin America and Spain in December. Approximately 2,000 copies each of the English and French language editions are being sent overseas (Europe, Asia, and Africa) during January. (Attachment No. 1, under separate cover.) The French edition was not available as this dispatch was being written but will be mailed 15 January.

2. The pony edition of the AMSPELL newspaper for December carried a brief story with photographs concerning the death of missionary Paul Carlson. Approximately 5,000 copies were mailed into Cuba at the end of December and early January. (Attachment No. 2, under separate cover.) In addition to the printed propaganda AMSPELL also carried appropriate news bulletins regarding the Congo atrocities on its 10-minutes' AMTHIGH program, with editorial comment attacking Communist exploitation of the Congolese.

AÑO 1 DICIEMBRE 1964 BOLETIN INFORMATIVO DEL DIRECTORIO REVOLUCIONARIO ESTUDIANTIL No. 7

NUESTRA OPINION

MENSAJE DE NAVIDAD

Al finalizar un año más, encontramos ante nosotros el panorama de un Mundo Nuevo en muchos aspectos, pero estatico y quizás atrasado en otros sentidos de la vida. La humanidad cumplirá dentro de unos días un año más; ¿pero acaso no está el hombre de hoy buscando para sí al igual que hace siglos un camino que le ayude a encontrar el verdadero objetivo de su Ser?

Diciembre es un mes de meditación en la vida de los hombres. Finaliza un año y comienza otro. Es hora de análisis y planificación de vida. Pero más que todo esto representa el renacimiento de una idea y de un modo de vivir para la humanidad. Un orden nuevo y revolucionario que nació hace veinte siglos, vuelve cada año en este mes a tomar plena vigencia, porque nosotros no hemos olvidado en nuestro duro bregar de meses la verdad y la razón de nuestras vidas.

Cabe entonces en este momento hacer una pregunta: ¿Se ha logrado consolidar la Paz Mundial? Una respuesta semejante y definitiva aparece cada año. El Mundo de hoy no solamente vive alejado de la Paz sino que cada día escoje caminos más dificiles para su logro, llevándole al irremediable peligro de las guerras nacionales e internacionales.

Dos causas hay en la realidad de este Mundo, una de orden Moral, la otra de caracteristicas sociales y políticas. Ambas se complementan entre sí y son necesarias para lograr una estabilidad dentro de la sociedad que ha tocado vivir al hombre.

Se quiere por una parte lograr la Paz en el Mundo de hoy, mientras por otra se rompen las fuerzas de Paz interior que existen en cada hombre. El hombre, la familia y la sociedad; únicos elementos capaces de lograr para el Mundo una Paz real y positiva se encuentran totalmente divididos y dentro de cada uno de ellos se ha sembrado la desconfianza y el temor hacia los demás.

Se ha jugado demasiado con las doctrinas e ideologías y éstas en vez de sembrar en el hombre confianza en su destino y a su función dentro de la sociedad han servido para acrecentar el odio entre pueblos y razas, y aún entre hombres dentro de una misma comunidad.

Razón Moral esta que se basa en el olvido de un mandato: "Amaos los unos a los otros como yo os he amado" y "Mi Paz os dejo, mi Paz os doy".

Razón Social aquella que parte de una realidad olvidada por conveniencias particulares o de gobiernos: "La Paz es solamente consecuencia del establecimiento en cada Nación y el Mundo de regimenes o sistemas de gobierno basados en la justicia y la libertad del hombre".

El Mundo de hoy no es muy propicio a una Paz verdadera. El colonialismo, el imperialismo y los regimenes totalitarios de izquierda y derecha, proliferan sobre el globo ahogando al hombre sus ansias de libertad y justicia.

Nosotros como jóvenes y cubanos tenemos un derecho y deber para con nuestra Patria y la Paz del Mundo. Creemos que solamente habrá Paz en nuestra Patria cuando devolvamos a nuestros hermanos su derecho a pensar y actuar libremente, haciendo desaparecer el régimen de injusticia y terror que hoy sojuzga indiscriminadamente a nuestro pueblo.

El Mundo tiene un camino semejante al nuestro pero en una mayor escala. Debe darse a cada hombre dentro de cada sistema la libertad y la justicia a las cuales tiene derecho todo ser humano.

Prometer y hablar de Paz es un crimen y una cobardía cuando no existen detrás una clara y noble decisión de luchar incansable y tenazmente por su establecimiento dentro de cada país o conglomerado de naciones.

La Paz como todas las cosas valederas tienen un alto precio y hay que luchar por ella. Los enemigos del hombre son sus principales enemigos. Los que matan y esclavizan los pueblos condenándoles a vivir en condiciones indignos también son sus enemigos. Los que niegan al hombre su personalidad calificándole como cosa animal y deshumanizada, están contra la Paz del Mundo porque siembran más que nadie el odio dentro de la sociedad.

Quien quiera la Paz declare la guerra a estos enemigos de la humanidad.

Que estos días de Navidad sirvan para hacernos tomar una decisión definitiva: El restablecimiento moral de nuestra sociedad y el imperio total de la justicia en el Mundo.

LOS SUCESOS DEL CONGO

UNA MUESTRA DE LO QUE ES EL COMUNISMO

Los hechos sucedidos recientemente en el Congo han estremecido con honda preocupación al mundo civilizado, ya que en ellos se han violado los más esenciales principios humanos en un alarde de crueldad y crimen.

Los movimientos de Liberación han tenido para nosotros la natural simpatía porque mejor que nadie conocemos lo significativo de esa lucha. Sin embargo, en el caso de las mal llamadas tropas de Liberación del Congo, no tenemos, al igual que el resto del mundo civilizado, que repudiar esa acción sanguinaria que constituye una contribución más del comunismo internacional en su lucha por llevar a las naciones el dolor y la esclavitud.

El movimiento de Liberación del Congo al igual que otros, ha sido infiltrado totalmente por los comunistas y en este como en todos los anteriores puede verse con claridad el verdadero fin de destrucción y muerte que persigue la Internacional.

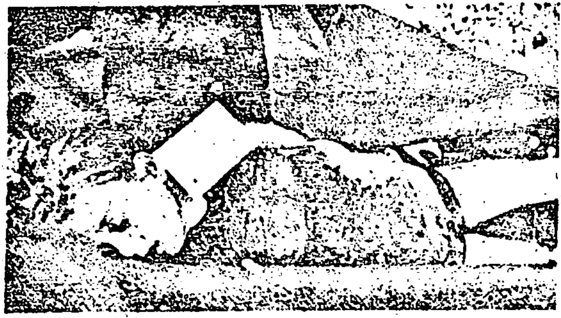
La lucha de Africa ha sido para los jóvenes del mundo una lucha mirada con honda simpatía y el crecimiento del Continente negro en Repúblicas con gobiernos propios es un símbolo de la decisión incontravertible de llevar esos países hacia un destino mejor.

Por ello es que cuando una nación dentro del Continente africano ha peleado por su liberación ha tenido siempre el apoyo de todas las naciones del mundo.

Hoy sin embargo nuestra actitud y la del mundo civilizado y libre es totalmente adversa. Los hechos del Congo no están inspirados en un ansia de justicia y libertad, sino que por el contrario son el reflejo de la política que quieren imponer desde Moscú y Pekín.

Si ha molestado el hecho de sangre con sus consecuencias de crímenes, violaciones y atrocidades mucho tiene que molestar la actitud de los países del Bloque Comunista y de algunos que sirven a sus intereses consciente o inconscientemente.

Estos sin el menor escrupulo se han lanzado a acusar a los países que participaron en la acción de rescate menospreciando totalmente el acto humanitario de salvar la vida a personas de nacionalidades pertenecientes a países no beligerantes.



Esa actitud acompañada con las protestas organizadas de estudiantes dentro de los países comunistas demuestran claramente la dirección e intervención que mantienen en la guerra del Congo que pudiera haber sido una guerra de liberación y que infortunadamente se ha convertido en una guerra de mercenarios dirigida y alentada por las potencias comunistas.

Ante los hechos a un funcionario soviético sólo se le ocurrió decir que se había avisado de la ejecución de los prisioneros si se intentaba rescatarles.

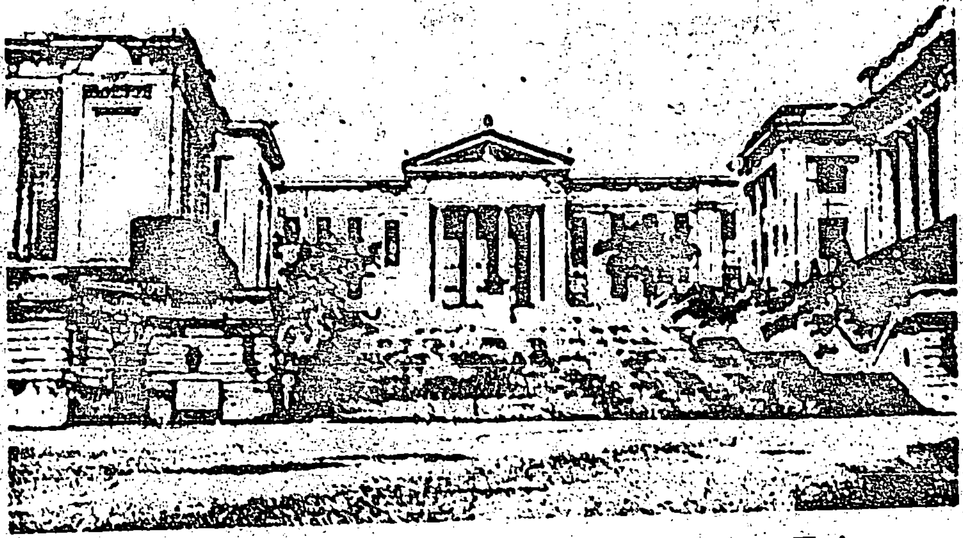
Nosotros queremos hacer una pregunta al mundo civilizado porque sabemos que los comunistas no contestan estas preguntas ya que carecen de sentido humanitario: ¿Desde cuándo y en que Código de Guerra es permitido asesinar masivamente a los prisioneros cuando se les trata de rescatar? ¿Desde cuándo se autoriza a un ejército perpetrar crímenes contra ancianos, mujeres religiosas y niñas indefensas como represalia? ¿Desde cuándo es permitido realizar actos racistas a un pueblo o raza, máxime cuando este ha sido defendido en múltiples ocasiones de la descriminación a que fueron sometidos por intereses colonialistas?

Los asesinatos masivos, las violaciones de religiosas, mujeres y niñas y el crimen del Congo no pueden tener justificación nada más que para los que siembran el odio y dividen los pueblos.

Los comunistas no ganaron esta batalla. Africa tiene que ser libre pero no condicionada a la política soviética o china. Los causantes de estos hechos vandálicos no son representativos del verdadero espíritu del pueblo congoleño y tienen el total repudio de Africa y el Mundo.

Africa se siente avergonzada de esta acción, pero ello servirá para comprender que existe otro enemigo tan peligroso o más que el colonialismo.

La acción criminal del comunismo en Africa sólo tiene una respuesta y se la darán los propios africanos: SU DESTRUCCION.



LA SITUACION UNIVERSITARIA

Antes del Comunismo

1.- Habian 8 Universidades en Cuba.

2.- En 1959 habian más de 30,000 estudiantes Universitarios en las 8 Universidades.

3.- La Constitución de 1940 estipulaba que el 1% del Presupuesto Nacional sería entregado a la Universidad de La Habana.

4.- La Carta Magna Cubana garantizaba la autonomia Universitaria lo que hacia que la enseñanza superior en Cuba no estuviera sometida a ningún gobierno.

5.- En nuestras Universidades existia el ejercicio libre de las ideas, no coartandose ningún pensamiento.

6.- Los estudiantes Universitarios eligian cada año sus representantes estudiantiles en libres elecciones, asistiendo los dirigentes a Congresos Internacionales de juventudes en representación de los jóvenes cubanos.

7.- Las Universidades como centro máximo de la Democracia servian de medio idóneo para plantear las mejoras que el pueblo cubano pedía.

8.- Era requisito para el ingreso en las Universidades el tener 17 años de edad y haber cursado el Bachillerato (enseñanza de estudio) o aprobar severos exámenes de ingreso.

9.- El 90% del profesorado Universitario actuante en junio de 1959, ha marchado al exilio o ha renunciado a sus catedras por no querer aceptar al comunismo o no quererse doblegar a su doctrina.

10.- Cientos de estudiantes Universitarios guardan prisión en las cárceles comunistas, por el solo delito de amar la libertad. Las listas de martires cubanos asesinados ante los pelotones de fusilamiento o muertos por sus gestos de rebeldía han aumentado con los nombres de estudiantes universitarios como, Juanin Pereira, Virgilio Campanería, Julio A. Yebra, Tapia Ruano, Porfirio Ramírez, y tantos otros que han sabido morir antes que claudicar frente al comunismo.

Con el Comunismo

1.- Hay tres Universidades.

2.- Actualmente no llegan a 20,000 los estudiantes Universitarios.

3.- Abolida la Constitución del 40 y según el Presupuesto Nacional del Gobierno Comunista, la Universidad de la Habana ha recibido una rebaja de un 75% de sus entradas.

4.- El gobierno comunista, pisoteó la Autonomía Universitaria, alegando que las Universidades deben marchar junto a la Revolución Roja, sirviendo los intereses del régimen.

5.- El régimen dictatorial de Fidel Castro impuso el marxismo-leninismo, como asignatura obligatoria en todas las carreras y proscribió la enseñanza de cualquier ideológia contraria al comunismo.

6.- Desde octubre de 1959, no se han celebrado elecciones Estudiantiles, ya que la única vez que quisieron legalizar la representación universitaria, los comunistas celebraron una llamada Asamblea General, donde por "aclamación" se aligió la Nueva Directiva que después de 3 años sigue rigiendo, salvo contados casos.

7.- Actualmente las Universidades son organismos serviles al Gobierno comunista, controlados directamente por funcionarios de la Dictadura Roja.

8.- No hay requisitos de edad ni tampoco de haber cursado estudios secundarios. Dandose el caso que jóvenes de 14 años de edad realicen estudios universitarios sin estudios previos actualmente.

9.- No es requisito actualmente ser graduado universitario para ejercer de profesor en las Universidades comunistas de Cuba. Alumnos que han aprobado asignaturas del primer año y que cursan el segundo, son profesores de sus compañeros que inician sus estudios ese año, y asi en la misma proporción los alumnos del 3er. curso con profesores del 2do. y los del 4to. el 3ro. etc.

10.- Mientras los verdaderos estudiantes dejan de estudiar en Cuba, guardan prisión, marchan al exilio o realizan la lucha contra el comunismo, el gobierno Rojo utiliza jóvenes que sin preparación previa asisten a las aulas universitarias con el solo propósito de servir de títeres a los comunistas en el Tablado Internacional.

Noticiero ESTUDIANTIL

CIEN ESTUDIANTES PANAMEÑOS A MOSCU – Según César Bruglatti, estudiante en la Universidad Patricio Lumumba de Moscú y dirigente de la Asociación de Estudiantes Panameños en la capital moscovita, treinta jóvenes de Panamá estudian actualmente allí; su número se elevará muy pronto al centenar. Los becados panameños se dirigen a Moscú vía México, La Habana y Praga.

EN EL FUTURO: UNION DE ESTUDIANTES UNIVERSITARIOS CENTROAMERICANOS – Dirigentes estudiantiles de las universidades de Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador y Panamá se hallan laborando - local y colectivamente - en pro del propósito de fundar una Unión de Estudiantes Universitarios Centroamericanos. La idea no es nueva, pero ahora gana fuerza y es probable que se convierta en realidad antes de que transcurran muchos meses.

EL PROGRAMA DE COOPERACION POPULAR, MOTIVO DE DISCORDIA EN PERU – Los partidos de oposición convienen en la utilidad del programa de Cooperación Popular - asistencia técnica para proyectos comunales - auspiciado por el presidente Belaunde e impulsado por los estudiantes en gran parte, pero se oponen a su centralización de control en las manos personales de aquél. La coalición oposicionista - encabezada por el APRA - reclama que Cooperación Popular sea "municipalizada" o sea que cada municipio reciba los fondos pertinentes y los utilice localmente como estime conveniente. "Así se evitará la infiltración de comunistas en el programa", alega el APRA.

PARA VISITAR ALEMANIA OCCIDENTAL, UN REQUISITO: NO SER JOVEN – Alemania del Este permite que sus ciudadanos de avanzada edad visiten a familiares en Alemania Occidental, pero no deja que los jóvenes den ese viaje. Excusa alegada: "Es más fácil que allá tomen represalias con los jóvenes y no con los viejos". Y agrega el periódico Neues Deutschland de Alemania Oriental, como quien pone un parche: "Nadie debe pensar que nuestro gobierno no tiene confianza en la juventud ..."

UN "NUEVO CAMINO" PARA LA UNIVERSIDAD CATOLICA DE CHILE – En conclave reciente, los estudiantes de la Universidad Católica analizaron "la necesidad de adaptar sus estudios y la Universidad a las exigencias sociales del mundo de hoy". Punto aprobado, entre otros: que la Universidad actúe "con mayor independencia frente a la jerarquía eclesiástica", imprimiéndosele a ese centro de altos estudios "el espíritu renovador de la Iglesia de Juan XXIII y de Paulo VI contenido en el actual Concilio Ecuménico.

ESTUDIANTES UNIVERSITARIOS GUATEMALTECOS EN CAMPAÑA DE ALFABETIZACION – Por boca de su presidente, la Asociación de Estudiantes Universitarios de Guatemala se ha comprometido a emprender una campaña de alfabetización a escala nacional. Se espera que un buen número de alumnos de las dos universidades del país (la de Guatemala y la denominada Rafael Landivar) coopere con la Coordinación de Alfabetización AEU creada al efecto.

CHILE – Santiago: La Federación de Estudiantes de la Universidad Católica (FEUC) llevó a cabo su SEXTA CONVENCION ORDINARIA DE ESTUDIANTES del 30 de septiembre al 3 de octubre, en ella se abordaron temas de gran solidez como: "Idea de Universidad", "Naturaleza y Problemas Actuales de la Universidad"; "Evolución y Situación de la Universidad Latinoamericana", etc. Llegando a conclusiones que abren el camino de una Reforma Universitaria moderna y eficaz. La documentación base se halla condensada en el libro especialmente editado por FEUC: "La Universidad: Nuestra Tarea", única obra en su género en Latinoamérica.

Juanin Pereira Varela

Los hombres que alcanzan a comprender el sentido de la existencia no pueden orientarse a un mero subsistir. Sus vidas encuentran razón y objetivo sólo en el servicio. Servicio a Dios y al prójimo. Quizás estas palabras encierran la grandeza de todos los hombres que han podido ser recogidos por la historia y admirados por la humanidad por los frutos positivos que alcanzaron. El afán de servicio los llevó a construir nuevos órdenes para que el hombre alcanzara plenamente la satisfacción de sus necesidades y adquiriera conciencia acerca de sus fines más elevados. Quizás estas palabras sean las únicas que pudieran hacer comprender a todos los jóvenes del mundo el sentido profundo y absoluto del sacrificio de cientos de estudiantes cubanos y especialmente el sacrificio de Juanin Pereira Varela.

Su vida no contemplaba otros ideales que servir. Servir a Dios, servir a la Patria. Servir a todos los cubanos brindándoles una oportunidad de vivir en una tierra libre y justa. Su vida desde que se consideró como realidad el establecimiento de un régimen totalitario en Cuba, fue dedicada desde las filas del Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil, a combatir y a sembrar. Combatir el mal que rompía la armonía, quebraba la sonrisa, reducía a la impotencia los afanes permanentes de libertad y justicia de nuestro pueblo. Combatir al enemigo que impedía la creación de un Orden Cristiano y que ahogaba la felicidad de sus hermanos de tierra. Sembrar su sacrificio y sus ideas para que en el futuro pudiera existir ese Orden, esa felicidad y esa justicia. Sembrar, pues, su destino no era triunfar humanamente. Su destino era morir y que su sangre hiciera lo que sus manos no lograron. Que despertara las conciencias de su pueblo, resucitando los latidos apagados del patriotismo y de la nacionalidad. Que su sangre fuera riego de destinos que en el futuro se realizacen plenamente para felicidad de su pueblo y para ejemplo del Continente de las Esperanzas, que ya quiere ser continente de realidades humanas.

Esa fue la vida de Juanin Pereira. En su afán de combatir fue abatido por balas milicianas, entregadas por la Unión Soviética para dominar a aquellos que se oponían a su Imperio. Pero esa bala que pretendió cortar su vida en un 17 de diciembre de 1961, en aquella playa de sombras de la Provincia de Pinar del Río, hizo nacer la luz que aún ilumina. Pues esa bala que mataba al hombre hacía germinar la semilla. Semilla que crece oculta entre palmas en cada rincón de Cuba. Semilla que está gritando al mundo el afán de libertad de un pueblo mártir. Semilla que ya no está oculta entre tierras, que ya nace y crece y se levanta altiva para hacer patente que Cuba no se rinde, ni se somete, ni muere. Que Cuba, pese a la traición de algunos de sus hijos, pese a la invasión de elementos extranjeros a nuestra nacionalidad y principios, pese al oportunismo ciego de algunos gobiernos occidentales, se mantiene firme y segura en su victoria. Porque en Cuba aquella semilla regada de sangre que fue y es Juanin Pereira Varela, aún existe en nuestros aires que mantienen sus gritos seguros de victoria y radiantes de esperanza:

YEAR 1 DECEMBER 1964 CUBAN STUDENT DIRECTORATE'S INFORMATION BULLETIN No.7

OUR OPINION

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

As another year draws to its end, we find before a world new in many aspects but sadly stagnant if not actually retrogressive in some of life's most vital facets. Humanity is a year older but is it not still engaged in a relentless search for the true meaning of its being?

December is a thoughtful month in the lives of men. It is the hour of retrospect, of questioning, of reorganization and projection into the future. Above all, December is a yearly reminder of an idea and a way of life for men. A new and revolutionary order born twenty centuries ago, comes vigourously to the forefront for in the long months of toil we have not forgotten the cause and the goal of our existence.

No time is perhaps more adequate to ask this question: Have men achieved for the world a lasting peace? Each year the same unconditional, negative answer meets the question. Not only does mankind live far removed from peace but each new day embarks upon roads that can only lead farther and farther away from it into world of national and international wars.

Two causes exist in the reality of our world, one in the moral order, the other in the realm of social and political entities. Each complements the other and both are necessary to the attainment of stability in the society in which man must live.

Men would have peace in today's world but do nothing to preserve the forces of internal peace in each man. Man, the family, society: the elements capable of achieving for the world a real and positive peace are totally disunited and into each has been sown the seed of distrust and of fear.

There has been such juggling of doctrines and ideologies, instead of being a source of confidence and strength by which men may rule their lives, have served only as a source of fear and hatred among nations and races and even among men in the same community.

Morally, our world has chosen to forget the command: "Love one another as I have loved you".

Socially, convenience and self interest have made this world blind itself to the fact that, "Peace can only be the consequent to the establishment in each Nation and in the world of regimes or systems of government based on justice and the freedom of the individual.

Today world is not a very adequate breeding ground for peace. Colonialism, imperialism, rightist and leftist totalitarianism thrive throughout the world stiffling in man his longing for liberty and equity.

We as young men and as Cubans have a duty and right to our land and to the world. Our land, we firmly believe, will know peace only when we have returned to our brothers the right to think and to speak freely, abolishing the rule of terror and injustice that today shackles our people.

The world faces much our same task but on a vaster scale. Each man must be given the freedom of choice and the justice which are his right.

To promise and to speak of peace without the noble purpose and the firm decision of fighting tirelessly for its attainment is a cowardly crime.

Peace, as all worthwhile things, has a high price and its achievement entails a struggle. Those who would have peace must willingly take up the battle against those forces at work in our world which dehumanize man and make him a prey of fear. No season is as appropriate as Christmas to reaffirm in each of us the determination to carry on this struggle until true peace has been given to man.

THE EVENTS IN THE CONGO

A PROOF OF WHAT COMMUNISM IS

Recent happenings in the Congo have rocked the civilized world, leaving in their wake a deep preocupation in the hearts of all who believed in even the most basic principles of humanity and who see in these acts a vengeful boast of cruelty against the most elemental principles of kindness and respect.

Those who struggle for freedom have always found in us the sympathy and understanding that only those who know full well that this struggle entails can give. We find, however, that in the case of the utterly misnamend "Congolese Troops of Liberation" we must (along with all civilized men) denounce this new and bloody contribution of international communism to the oppression and suppression of all peoples.

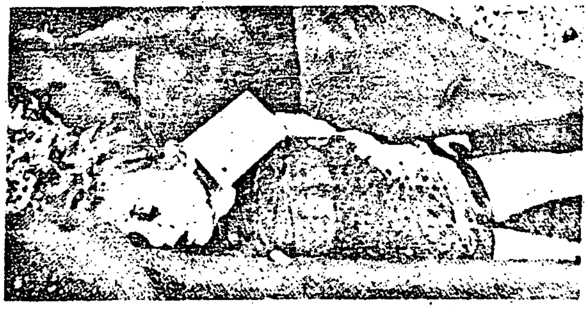
This movement has been, as others have been before, throroughly infiltrated by communists; and in this, as in other cases, the true goal of destruction and death sought by the International can clearly be seen.

The hearts of youth throughout the world have echoed in sympathy the cries, the tears, and the pain of Africa's birth. The growth of the Black Continent into a continent of republics is a symbol of the inconstable right of this Continent to a great destiny.

That is why the sincere struggles for freedom of African nations have met with our support as with that of all freedomloving peoples.

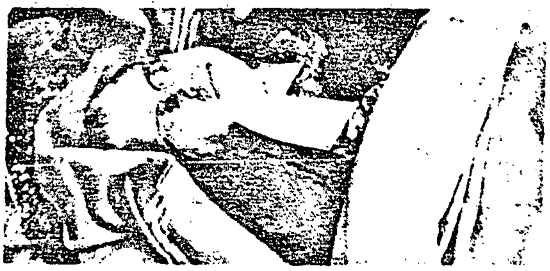
It is this love of true freedom that necessarily places us in a position of adversity towards this movement. The happenings in the Congo find their motivation not in a zealous search for justice and liberty but in the international policies Moscow and Peking seek to enforce in Africa by any and all means.

In the deaths, the rapes, the insults have greived and enraged then how must the attitude of the nations of the Communist Bloc and of those who, conciously or not, serve their interest rankle.



Without the slightest trace of scruple these nations have hurtled themselves into acrimonious abuse of the nations which took part in the rescue mission, whose only purpose was the humanitarian one of saving the lives of non-belligerents.

The attitude of these nations and the "student demonstrations" staged in communist countries to show approval of the Congolese rebels clearly show the direction they would have the Congo's liberation take. Where the Congolese struggle might have been a war of liberation, it has become instead a senseless war run by mercenaries and abetted by the Communist Powers.



When faced with the crimes in the Congo one Soviet official glibly dismissed the violence by stating that the rescuing nations had been warned it would happen if rescue was attempted.

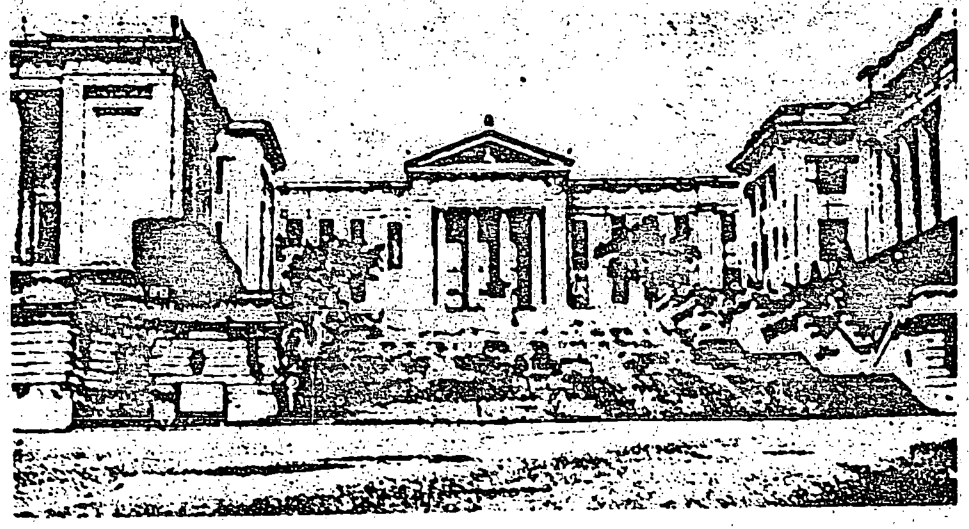
We would ask this question of civilized men: By what Code of war can the slaughter of non-belligerents because of attempts to rescue them be justified? Since when has it been found permisible for an army to do its own ugly will in regards to old men, to missionaries, to women, and to children? Has racism suddenly found a moral justification?

Mass murder and rape can only find justification in those whose creed is hatred and whose aim is to divide.

Fortunately the Communists have not won this battle. Africa will have freedom, and it will not have the mauled, caged communist version of it. Those responsible for so much ugly violence in the Congo do not represent the spirit of the Congolese people and have received the condemnation of Africa and of the whole world.

Africa feels ashamed of what has happened, but this act will help her understand she has to face an enemy as dangerous, or more so, than colonialism.

The criminal actions of communism in the Congo have only one answer and the Africans themselves will give it: ITS REPUDIATION.



UNIVERSITIES STATUS

Before Communism

1.- There were 8 universities in Cuba.

2.- In 1959 there were more than 30,000 students in the 8 universities.

3.- The Constitution of 1940 stipulated that 1% of the national budget would go to the University of Havana.

4.- The Great Charter of Cuba guaranteed autonomy to the Universities, freeing them from interference by the government.

5.- There was a free and open exchange of ideas in the classrooms.

6.- Every year the students elected their own representatives in free elections.

7.- The universities served as spokenmen for the wishes of the Cuban people.

8.- To enter the Universities it was necessary to be 17 years of age and to have graduated from a secondary school or to have taken rigorous tests to prove knowledge equivalent to a secondary school education.

9.- Ninety percent of the University proffessorate is in exile or has retire, unwilling to have communist doctrines emposed upon it.

10.- Hundreds of university students are held in communist prisons, only because of their love for liberty. The lists of cuban martyrs, murdered by firing squads or killed by its rebelion, had been increased by the names of Cuban universities students such as; Juanin Pereira, Virgilio Campaneria, Julio A. Yebra, Tapia Ruano, Porfirio Ramirez, and so many others that had preferred to die than to submit to communism.

With Communism

1.- There are three universities.

2.- There are no more than 20,000 university students presently.

3.- The Constitution of 1940 has been abolished and the Communist regime has cut by 75% the funds destined for the University of Havana.

4.- The regime subjects the Universities requiring them to follow its dictates in all matters.

5.- Marxism Leninism is a required subject for all students and all other ideologies are forbidden.

6.- There have been no election since September 1959. At one point when an effort was made to have them held, the Communists arranged a so called "general assembly" where by, "popular acclaim", those who have since held control, were "elected".

7. Today, they are servile instruments of the regime.

8.- No requisites concerning age or previous education are set. There have been cases of fourteen-year old with little previous education studying at the universities.

9.- It is no longer a requisite to be a college graduate in order to be able to teach at the university. Second year students teach freshmen; third year students teach second year ones, etc.

10.- While real students left their classes, are held in prison, went to exile or fight communism, the Red Government uses uneducated young people as university students, with the only purpose to serve communist International Scene.

GUATEMALA UNIVERSITY STUDENTS START A "LITERACY DRIVE". The Association of University Students of Guatemala has pledged itself to undertake an alphabetization campaign on a national scale. It is expected that a good number of students from the two universities in the country will cooperate in this effort to teach the illiterate.

CHILE. The Federation of Students of the Catholic University (FEUC) held its Sixth Ordinary Convention of Students from September 30th. to October 3th. Among the topics discussed were: "The Idea of a University", "the nature and the Problems of Today's University", "The Development and actual Position, of Latin American Universities". These discussions culminated in a series of proposals which open the way for a effective, modern University Reform. The basic documentation has been condensed in book from under the title, "The University, Our Task" this book, edited by the Federation, is unique in its kind in Latin America.

ONE HUNDRED PANAMANIAN STUDENTS TO MOSCOW: According to Cesar Brugiatti, a student at Moscow's Potrice Lumumba University and President of the Association of Panamanian Students in that capital, there are thirty young men from Panama studying there but the number will soon be raised to one hundred. These students go to Moscow by way Mexico, Havana, Prague.

IN PROSPECT: AN UNION OF CENTRAL AMERICAN UNIVERSITY STUDENTS: Student leaders from the Universities of Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Panama are working - both locally and collectively - on plans to establish an Union of Central American University Students. Although the idea is not a new one it seems to have found a particularly favorable atmosphere at this time and it is highly probable that it will be carried out to completion.

THE PROGRAM OF POPULAR COOPERATION: A SOURCE OF DISCORD IN PERU. The opposition parties in Peru, while accepting as necessary the Popular Cooperation Program - technical asistance for communal projects promulgated by President Belaunde and backed in a mayor part by the students, are opposed to the centralization of its control entirely into the hands of the President.

The opposition coalition - headed by the APRA - asks that the Program be "municipalized" that is that each locality receive the necessary funds and administer them as it deems convenient. The APRA alleges that this would prevent communist infiltration to the program.

TO VISIT EAST GERMANY, ONE PREREQUISIT: AGE. In East Germany elderly people are allowed to visit their relatives in West Germany but young people are not permitted to make the trip. The excuse given by the government: "It is more likely that repressive measures will be taken in the West against the young". Then it adds, somewhat in the manner of a patch: "No one must think we do not trust our youth . . ."

A "NEW ROAD" FOR THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF CHILE
In a recent meeting, the students of the Catholic University analized "the necessity of adapting their studies and the University to the social demands of today's world".

Among the decisions approved: that the University act "with greater independence with regard to the ecclesiastical hierarchy" upon impressing that institution "the renovation spirit of the Church of John XXIII and Paul VI contained in the present Ecumenical Council".

Juanín Pereira Varela

Men who have attained a true understanding of the reason for their existence cannot be satisfied with mere subsistence. Their lives find meaning only in service. Service to God and to man. These words embody, to a large extent, the greatness of those men whom history has claimed for itself and whom huminity holds in admiration for the fruitful results of their endeavors. Their eagerness to service led to acheive for their fellows new horizons of material comfort, of intellectual satisfaction, of spiritual attainment. These same words are perhaps also the only ones which could make youths throughout the world visualize the profound meaning of the sacrifice of hundreds of Cuban Students and in particular of Juanin Pereira Varela.-

His life contemplated no ideal but to serve. To serve God, to serve his Land, to serve his countrymen by gining them an opportunity to live in a free and just land. His life from the moment the establishment of a dictatorial government in Cuba became an unquestionable reality, was dedicated to battle and to toil. From the ranks of the D.R.E., he struggled against the evil that had reduced to angry impotence the longigs for permanent peace and freedom in the hearts of our people. He fought the enemy that impeded the establishment of a Christian system and drowned the joy in the hearts of his countrymen. He toiled to ascertain that in the future that system, that joy, and that justice could exist.

His would not be the joy however of seing his labors bear fruit. It was his lot to die and by his death achieve what his hands could not.

His blood would reawaken in his countrymen the fervor of patriotism and he would stand as an example to the "Continent of Hopes" which more and more demands to be a continent of human realizations.

That was the life of Juanin Pereira. It was brought to an end by militiament's bullets given by the Soviet Union to strike down all who oppose the empire they seek to establish. But the bullet that struck him down on that October day of 1961 brought forth. A seed that now quietly germinates in every corner of his land, that cries out to the world that Cuba does not give up, does not submit, does not die. Inspite of some faithless sons, of foreign troops that tramp through our land, of opportunistic Western governments, the seed watered by Juanin Pereira's blood will bear fruit, it now grows and the land that holds it vibrates with its growth and the skies above it echo more loudly each day:

LONG LIVE CUBA! LONG LIVE CHRIST THE KING!

"LIBERATED BY THE COMMUNISTS"

Graphic Evidence of Marxist Lies About the Actual Events in the Congo.

The missionary Paul Carlson lies dead with a card tied to his throat, assassinated by Congolese communists on a street in Stanleyville. Dr. Carlson, in long and difficult years full of sacrifice, brought a message of hope and encouragement to innumerable Congolese as well as help of all kinds and his personal collaboration. He was eliminated tragically, as shown in the photograph, because of the affection that the masses held for him, and because of his fame and prestige and the adverse influence that he signified for the Communists. He had committed the sin of doing whatever was necessary to help the sick and console the afflicted, and the Reds do not pardon such things. In their final orgy of blood the Communists respected neither women nor children. These were very dangerous "military spies" according to the Communists. These (photographs) are the facts that the propaganda of the (Castro) Government has suppressed in an attempt to present the assassins of missionaries, women and children as "heroes" and "champions of liberty".

CUBA: RAICES DE UNA CRISIS POLITICA

En una situación difícil ha cobrado más vigencia que nunca la pugna interna que está teniendo lugar entre las esferas dirigentes del gobierno comunista cubano. Los antecedentes públicos de esta crisis política, comenzaron a desarrollarse con la expulsión de sus cargos dirigentes, del viejo comunista Aníbal Escalante, figura de gran importancia dentro del Partido. Mas adelante, y con el juicio de Marcos Rodríguez Alfonso, fueron colocados en el banquillo de los acusados, otros dirigentes de la llamada "vieja guardia", en una maniobra de Fidel Castro para colocar al Partido en una posición desventajosa ante la opinión pública. A partir de ese momento se podía adelantar [illegible] la sentencia sobre Joaquín Ordoqui.

No transcurrió mucho tiempo para que la decisión, que seguramente fue tomada desde el juicio de Marcos Rodríguez, fuese puesta en práctica. Joaquín Ordoqui era separado de su cargo dentro del Ministerio de las Fuerzas Armadas y además perdía su asiento dentro de la dirigencia del Partido Unico de la Revolución Socialista, organismo de máxima jerarquía dentro de Cuba comunista. A las pocas semanas se conocía la noticia del suicidio de Augusto Martínez Sánchez, Ministro del Trabajo y, aparentemente un gran amigo de Fidel Castro. Decisión tomada, según las propias declaraciones del régimen, al conocer la noticia de que sería destituido de su cargo, pero con el agravante de que para privarse de la vida deben haber, en este caso, razones de mucho peso y gravedad, que no se resumen exclusivamente en la pérdida de un puesto administrativo.

Esta crisis política, que se está desarrollando en Cuba, tuvo su inicio en los primeros meses del régimen. Lo que está ocurriendo en estos momentos no es más que la existencia latente de una lucha por el poder, de divergencias estratégicas y hasta ideológicas, de sus relaciones con el campo internacional y de las pasiones desbordadas de estos hombres. Son varias las causas que podemos señalar como fundamentos de esta crisis.

PUGNA NATURAL ENTRE LA VIEJA GUARDIA Y FIDEL CASTRO.

La participación de la vieja guardia del Partido Comunista en el derrocamiento de la dictadura de Batista fue nula. Los que llevaban el timón del carro triunfante de la Revolución, eran hombres nuevos, convertidos al comunismo por oportunismo, y guiados por un líder sumamente ambicioso que quiso vanamente convertirse en el redentor de América. Ya desde ese momento quedaban definidos los campos dentro de la dirigencia comunista. Uno disciplinado, tradicional y muy organizado. El otro, indisciplinado, nuevo, desorganizado, pero con las riendas del poder y el aparentemente apoyo popular en sus manos. Los orígenes del régimen, eran unos momentos muy poco oportunos para ninguna acción de la vieja guardia, mas sin embargo, ya comenzaba a trabajar la estructura del Partido, ocupando cargos de importancia dentro del nuevo gobierno.

Los hombres que ocupaban las principales responsabilidades, eran los comunistas del momento, las figuras representativas de la Revolución comunista, pero unos hombres que no lleva-

La Situación de las Universidades

Para demostrar con datos concretos el fracaso comunista en el campo universitario, ofrecemos esta comparación de la situación de nuestra enseñanza de nivel superior antes del advenimiento de la dictadura roja y bajo la misma.

Antes del Comunismo	Con el Comunismo
1. Había 4 Universidades en Cuba.	1. Hay tres Universidades.
2. En 1959 había 30.000 estudiantes Universitarios en las 4 Universidades.	2. Actualmente no llegan a 20.000 los estudiantes Universitarios.
3. La Constitución de 1940, estipulaba que el 1% del Presupuesto Nacional sería entregado a la Universidad de la Habana, lo cual era el mínimum requerido para su desenvolvimiento.	3. Abolida la Constitución del 40 y según el Presupuesto Nacional del Gobierno Comunista, la Universidad de la Habana ha recibido una rebaja de un 25% de sus entradas.
4. La Carta Magna Cubana garantizaba la autonomía Universitaria lo que hacía que la enseñanza superior en Cuba no estuviera sometida a ningún gobierno.	4. El Gobierno comunista, proscribió la Autonomía Universitaria alegando que las Universidades deben marchar junto a la Revolución Roja, siguiendo los intereses del régimen.
5. En nuestras Universidades existía el ejercicio libre de las ideas, no coartándose ningún pensamiento. Ello le valió de inmenso prestigio internacional constituyendo un verdadero ejemplo.	5. El régimen Dictatorial de Fidel Castro impuso el Marxismo-leninismo, como asignatura obligatoria en todas las carreras y proscribió la enseñanza de cualquier ideología contraria al comunismo.

Venezuela decidió aceptar las mociones presentadas por los trabajadores portuarios en las que se decide el boycot a todos los barcos que comercian con Cuba, además de otras resoluciones. A continuación el texto de lo acordado:

EL V CONGRESO DE TRABAJADORES DE VENEZUELA

CONSIDERANDO:

Que en la reciente Reunión de Cancilleres de America, convocada por el Consejo General de la Organización de Estados Americanos (OEA) se acordó decretar el rompimiento de Relaciones Diplomáticas y Comerciales con el régimen comunista de Fidel Castro, ante la agresión comprobada de dicho gobierno, contra el gobierno constitucional de Venezuela,

CONSIDERANDO

Que mientras los países de nuestro continente cumplen a cabalidad con dicha Resolución, varios países de Europa y Canadá, han intensificado su comercio con la Cuba comunista, la cual de esta manera trata de evitar el Boycot y las sanciones impuestas por el Consejo General de la OEA.

CONSIDERANDO:

Que el comercio que se realiza con el régimen comunista de Fidel Castro, desde estos mencionados países, viene a fortalecer a ese gobierno, ya que de esta manera se burla, la sanción económica y moral impuesta por los Estados Americanos,

CONSIDERANDO:

Que la Federación de Trabajadores Portuarios de Venezuela, ha aprobado en sus Consejos Consultivos y en su reciente Convención Nacional, decretar el Boycot contra todos los barcos embanderados de dichas naciones, que han intensificado su comercio con la Cuba de Fidel Castro,

CONSIDERANDO:

Que la Federación de Trabajadores Portuarios, como filial de la Confederación de Trabajadores de Venezuela, se ha dirigido a este organismo para que apoye esta determinación que redunda en defensa del sistema democrático americano,

ACUERDA:

Primero: Decretar el Boycot contra todos los barcos mercantes, que han intensificado su comercio con la Cuba comunista y los cuales están contribuyendo al fortalecimiento de ese sanguinario régimen,

Segundo: Solicitar la solidaridad del movimiento sindical democrático, para que haga extensivo este Boycot desde los puertos, donde se proceda al embarque de mercancía hacia la Cuba comunista, Tercero. Dicho Boycot entrará en vigor cuando lo ordene la Confederación de Trabajadores de Venezuela, a su filial la Federación de Trabajadores Portuarios de Venezuela, como muestra de solidaridad con el pueblo democrático de Cuba, que en estos instantes lucha por liberarse de sus opresores.

Cuarto. Darle publicidad al presente Acuerdo, enviándolo a todas las Centrales Obreras democráticas, para su conocimiento y fines.

En definitiva una conclusión. Los becados del comunismo son los instrumentos ciegos, los esclavos dóciles, los siervos disciplinados que sirven para cualquier cosa que necesiten los amos dirigentes. No existe ningún propósito humanitario, ni patriótico. Solamente llenan una necesidad más del régimen comunista. Quizás también con la esperanza de que después de la derrota servirán de elementos que mantengan la subversión y la anarquía en Cuba. Triste papel el de esa juventud. Y más triste en cuanto no han tenido oportunidad de conocer otra cosa, otra situación, otra alternativa que no sea lo que les imponen desde la mañana hasta la noche los monstruos comunistas.

ron a esos puestos por designio expreso de la Internacional comunista. Los peones del Partido, los hombres que siempre fueron comunistas, que obedecían al Partido, tenían que replegarse momentáneamente y aceptar, como rectores a los seguidores de Fidel Castro. Pero ya quedaban fijados los campos.

LA LEGALIDAD O CONSTITUCIONALIDAD DEL REGIMEN COMUNISTA CUBANO.

Uno de los logros básicos a los que desea llegar la llamada "Vieja guardia" es la legalidad o constitucionalidad del régimen comunista cubano. Por ello se entiende la creación de una constitución comunista que imprima un carácter legal, al estilo comunista, al gobierno de Cuba. Con ello, estarían alcanzando los comunistas viejos, una ambición necesaria para el buen desenvolvimiento administrativo y político dentro de las filas del régimen. Con ello, estarían garantizando la continuidad del sistema comunista, pese a las desapariciones accidentales o forzadas, de distintos dirigentes del gobierno.

Por ello, podrían en definitiva, sustituir al Presidente o al Primer Ministro, sin que se viese afectada de manera vital la regencia del país. Algo parecido a lo que existe actualmente en la Unión Soviética y que funcionó claramente en la reciente destitución de Nikita Kruschev. Y la vieja guardia lucha encarnizadamente por esta realización, ya que en este caso se trata de Fidel Castro el Primer Ministro, y existen serias diferencias de orígenes, de disciplina y de estrategia con el máximo dirigente del fidelismo comunista. El freno que se opone lo representa la vieja guardia, según fuentes, apartar a Fidel Castro o a cualquier seguidor del mismo, mediante el empleo de esa legalidad, o de esa constitución.

PUGNA RUSO-CHINA.

Los fundamentos ideológicos, que han mantenido unidos a los comunistas de todo el mundo, ya no son más que viejas expresiones o materias discursivas para los prohombres del mundo comunista. Lo que antes constituía una fuerza, robustamente unida, hoy se ha debilitado por la pugna interna de poder. Los Partidos comunistas, ya no siguen fielmente los dictados de la Internacional con sede en el Kremlin. Y por último, los dos colosos del comunismo, se enfrentan en una pugna ideológica y estratégica que alcanza dimensiones incalculables.

Lo que está sucediendo en Cuba tiene sin lugar a dudas muchas raíces en esa situación internacional del comunismo. Ha quedado demostrado fehacientemente que Fidel Castro [illegible] seguir la línea dictada por [illegible] de Revolución y [illegible]. Por su parte, la vieja guardia es fiel seguidora de Moscú y de la línea trazada por ellos.

Pero ante esta situación de divergencia, entra a jugar un factor determinante que se levanta como un obstáculo contra Castro y no es más que la situación económica. El asiento económico del régimen cubano está en la Unión Soviética y no en China. Cualquier movimiento político o estratégico adoptado por Fidel Castro puede significar la pérdida de la tan necesitada ayuda económica. Ello ha mitigado hasta cierto punto, este factor de pugna interna, mas sin embargo permanece vigente, pues son bien definidas la militancia internacional, tanto de Castro como la de la vieja guardia.

RUSIA ANTE EL FRACASO DE FIDEL CASTRO.

Es indiscutible que la Revolución comunista de Cuba ha fracasado. Ha fracasado dentro de Cuba y hoy más que nunca se hace más grave la crisis económica y administrativa. Ha fracasado en America, donde la subversión ya no puede llegar a donde ellos quisieran. Ante ello, a Rusia y por consiguiente a la vieja guardia le quedan dos caminos: Uno, mantener el status quo, el otro, acabar definitivamente con Fidel Castro y enton-

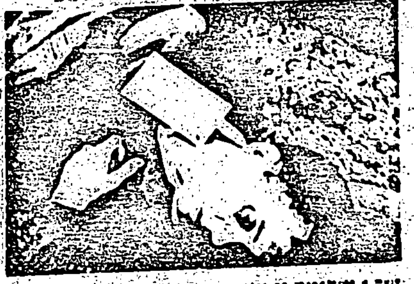
"LIBERADOS" POR LOS COMUNISTAS

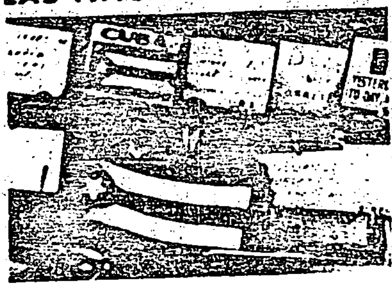
Pruebas graficas de las mentiras marxistas sobre los verdaderos sucesos del Congo



El misionero Paul Carlson yace muerto con una etiqueta amarrada al cuello, asesinado por los comunistas congoleses en plena calle de Stanleyville. El Dr. Carlson durante largos y penosos años de sacrificios había llevado un mensaje de esperanza y aliento a innumerables congoleses a la par que ayuda de todo tipo y colaboración personal. Por las simpatías de que gozaba en la masa, por su fama y prestigio, por la influencia adversa que representaba para los comunistas, fue eliminado trágicamente como prueba la foto. Había cometido el pecado de ayudar al necesitado, de socorrer a los enfermos y de consolar a los afligidos y los rojos no perdonan estas cosas.

En su orgía feroz de sangre los comunistas no respetaron a mujeres ni niños. Estos eran "aseinos militares" muy peligrosos según los comunistas. Estas son las pruebas y estos son los hechos que la propaganda del gobierno ha silenciado en su empeño de presentar como "héroes" y "campeones de la libertad" a los asesinos de misioneros, mujeres y niños.

LA VISITA DEL "CHE" A LAS NACIONES UNIDAS



La visita del comunista argentino, Ernesto Che Guevara a las Naciones Unidas, y sus posteriores pronunciamientos en la conferencia televisada, ponen de manifiesto la deplorable situación, tanto política como económica en que se encuentra el régimen comunista de Cuba. Su aspiración a la mejoría de relaciones entre los Estados Unidos y Cuba y la solicitud de que se reanuden las relaciones comerciales, son una prueba de que la llamada "economía socialista" ha fracasado, y de que quizás, y lo que es lo más importante, Fidel Castro teme ser abandonado a su suerte en cualquier momento por sus aliados comunistas.

Todos los observadores y hasta los representantes de numerosas naciones europeas y latinoamericanas estuvieron de acuerdo en que los pronunciamientos hechos por el detestable Che Guevara, constituía una de las acostumbradas diatribas de los personeros comunistas cubanos y carecían de importancia y valor.

Por otra parte, jamás la ciudad de New York había tenido que emplear tanta fuerza policial y había tenido tanta "actividad" como la de los últimos días. El repudio de todos los hombres civilizados al comunismo y especialmente al argentino Guevara se hizo patente en todas las demostraciones realizadas en esta ciudad. EL DIRECTORIO REVOLUCIONARIO ESTUDIANTIL organizó una imponente manifestación y asimismo sus declaraciones fueron publicadas por numerosos e importantes órganos de prensa de la ciudad de New York y de otras partes de los Estados Unidos.

En una parte de las declaraciones del DRE quedaba claro, que un extranjero, comunista y asesino, no podría representar al pueblo cubano, y que todos los pronunciamientos hechos por el Che Guevara no reflejaban los sentimientos de nuestro pueblo, sino de una minoría comunista que ha impuesto un régimen de terror y esclavitud a todo el pueblo de Cuba.

Joven cubano: A ti van dirigidas estas palabras, motivadas por el más grande acontecimiento de la historia de la Humanidad: el nacimiento de Cristo Nuestro Señor.

Tú, quizás desviado por el constante adoctrinamiento comunista y por lo mismo, incapaz de comprender en toda su trascendencia este hecho, seguramente recuerdas, con un poco de escondida añoranza, las épocas pasadas en que reunida toda la familia, celebraba la Nochebuena feliz, alegre y dentro de un espíritu de amor.

Hoy, el odio, base y fundamento de la doctrina marxista, trata de anidar en tu pecho.

Para ti, joven cubana, eres de naturaleza buena y sincera formada en las mejores tradiciones de cubanía que convirtieron a nuestra patria en ejemplo para todo el Continente. Tú, tendrás mañana en Cuba libre la oportunidad de conocer la verdad y darte cuenta de la magnitud del engaño en que hoy estás sumergido.

Joven cubano: En estas Navidades, tus hermanos que luchamos por rescatar la patria de manos del imperialismo soviético, te deseamos que muy pronto puedas volver a celebrar cristianamente esta fiesta. Que en cercanos días puedas oír la verdad y juzgar por ti mismo con plena libertad para decidir entre el amor y el odio, entre Cristo y Lenin.

Joven cubano: Cristo nació y murió por nosotros y ésta es la única verdad. Es este acto de infinito amor el que debe darte la pauta para tu futura conducta. En estos días navideños, medita en tu posición y disponte a encaminarte por los senderos de la verdad que serán los únicos que conducirán a la salvación de Cuba.

DORTICOS EN RIDICULO

Cuando se planeó el viaje de Dorticós a la reunión de países no alineados en el Cairo, Fidel consideró aprovechar esta oportunidad para que visitara Moscú, abrazara a Kruschev y tratara de conseguir apoyo económico que le ayudara a mantener la situación y apoyo político contra la reciente maniobra de la vieja guardia comunista.

Dorticós se marchó al Cairo con todos los consejos castristas en la cartera. Pero en el camino se tropezó con el hecho de que Kruschev había caído y en su lugar aparecían nuevas figuras con las cuales no existían compromisos previos. Su labor diplomática había agravado su importancia y dificultad.

Durante el viaje se dieron gran cantidad de abrazos y de besos al estilo soviético. Se dijeron palabras muy agradables que no significaban apoyo alguno. Pero se negaron radicalmente las cantidades requeridas para mantener la situación. Al contrario se habló de disminuir la cantidad estipulada para pagar el azúcar.

Pero allí no para el fracaso de Dorticós. Los nuevos [illegible] mandatarios soviéticos le hicieron firmar un documento en que apoyaba la coexistencia pacífica, la paz entre los pueblos, el desarme (aun el parcial que antes se había negado Fidel a firmar en el caso del tratado de prohibición de pruebas nucleares en la estratosfera), la unidad del campo socialista sobre las tesis de Moscú (lo que implica cierto apoyo a Rusia contra China), etc. No había promesas de ayudas económicas, ni militares, ni políticas. No había planteamientos de compromisos entre los nuevos amos y el presidente títere. No había nada de lo que convenía a Castro y sí todo lo que convenía a Rusia. Y por último no dejaron que Dorticós saludara al viejo Kruschev al que Fidel había llamado humano, inteligente, brillante, personalidad fascinante, etc. En definitiva un fracaso. En consecuencia un nuevo paso al total descrédito de Fidel y de su régimen.

Quizás la respuesta de Fidel a estos planteamientos fue la destitución de Ordoqui. Pero ninguna maniobra puede paralizar su destino. Los nuevos pasos que dé solo servirán para lanzarlo más al abismo al que su maldad e incapacidad lo han llevado. Y mientras, la libertad de Cuba está tocando a las puertas de la Isla Mártir.

ESPERANDO SU TURNO...

*Aníbal Escalante primero, Marcos Rodríguez después, Joaquín Ordoqui prisionero, Augusto Martínez Sánchez "suicidado". ¿QUIÉN LE SIGUE? QUIZÁS BLAS ROCA

*Y Carlos Rafael Rodríguez de viaje por Rusia...

Fidel dijo que Suslov uno de los mandatarios del Kremlin mejor situado era un "trotskista trasnochado"... Y Suslov hizo caer a Kruschev...

*El Partido Comunista de Italia y el de Francia se separan cada día más de la línea de Moscú... La quiebra de la Internacional aumenta.

*Dorticós en su viaje a Rusia llevaba como petición la de un nuevo empréstito. Y le fue negado rotundamente...

*Se espera el "suicidio" de Lechuga que también fue sustituido de su cargo en la ONU.

*Revellón desesperado porque lo cambien de la FEU... Quizás tiene miedo a la responsabilidad del fracaso.

*Fidel quiere ir a Chile. Quizás Joaquín Mas le haya contado sobre las [illegible] de Viña del Mar.

*Los becados son como el antiguo lechoncito de Navidad (antiguo porque ahora no hay ni lechones). Los ceban para sacrificarlos. Y si no, que le pregunten a los miles de milicianos (becados) que murieron en Girón.

*Fidel culpa a la burocracia del fracaso del régimen. Pero lo que no dice al pueblo es que el "jefe máximo de la burocracia se llama Fidel Castro. En vez de quitar a Ordoqui o de llevar al suicidio a Martínez Sánchez debería hacerse un juicio a sí mismo...

AMSPELL Progress Report - December 1964

A. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITIES

1. General.

AMSPELL has so far survived the internal crisis brought about by the collapse of its military activity noted in the previous progress report. However, AMSPELL is still faced with a severe financial problem resulting from the termination of the military activity. AMHINT-2 states that AMSPELL has $12,000.00 in short-term loans which must be met shortly, and $20,000.00 in loans being paid off at the rate of $1,300.00 per month. AMHINT-2 is trying to sell the AMSPELL boats in order to liquidate these debts. So far he has had little success. AMHINT-2 has said that he does not intend to give up the idea of active participation in the liberation of Cuba but that AMSPELL will not conduct new military operations in the future without ODYOKE assistance and concurrence. According to AMHINT-2 lack of funds and intelligence information together with pressure by ODYOKE on Dominican authorities frustrated the AMSPELL military operation, and he has no intention of going through a similar disastrous experience again.

2. Propaganda.

a. 19,800 copies of the regular AMSPELL newspaper were mailed to Latin America and AMSPELL delegations in the United States. (Attachment No. 1, under separate cover.)

b. 4,800 copies of the pony AMSPELL newspaper were mailed into Cuba (Attachment No. 2, under separate cover.) Both the pony and regular editions stress the conflict between the old-guard and the "new-guard" communists, the boycott declared by the Venezuelan trade unions, the confession of failure made by Castro in his speech at the University of Havana, and an analysis of the situation at the Cuban universities before and after Castro.

c. 2,900 copies of the December issue of the Spanish-language edition of the AMSPELL bulletin were mailed to Latin American recipients (Attachment No. 3, under separate cover.) Of particular interest is the article on page 2 which discusses the recent Congo atrocities.

d. 1,925 copies each of the November issue of the French and English editions of the AMSPELL bulletin were mailed to overseas areas. (Attachment No. 4, under separate cover.)

3. Radio Propaganda.

AMSPELL continued its regular radio operations consisting of a 10-minute program daily except Sunday on AMTHIGH, and a 10-minute program broadcast every Monday over WMIE and several Latin America stations. Representative themes were: Congo atrocities inspired by Communists, Venezuelan student support of the Cuban cause; Argentine trade union support of world boycott against Red Cuba; economic crisis in Cuba; factional struggle of the Cuban regime; desperate measures undertaken by the regime to prevent a disaster in the sugar industry; statement of a Venezuelan student regarding the training in Cuba of 1,500 Latin American youth in terrorist activities; more on the Congolese situation; transportation in Castro's Cuba; factional struggle in the Cuban regime; Che Guevara's speech in the United Nations creates tense situation between Cuba and the USSR; and Blas Roca working for the downfall of Castro.

4. Press Releases.

Miscellaneous press releases are included as Attachment No. 5 under separate cover.

5. Other Activities.

a. WAVE 5843 dated 8 December 1964 forwarded a candidate for an AMSPELL position in the Dominican Republic.

b. AMSPELL requested that AMBARB-58 be sent to Ecuador to replace AMBARB-28 who was resigning. (WAVE 5842 dated 8 December 1964) The Quito station replied that AMBARB-28 functions had been taken over by ECPLY-2, and that AMBARB-58's services were not required (QUIT 6805 dated 11 December 1964).

c. Attachment No. 6 is a copy of an English-language bulletin produced by AMSPELL without direct KUBARK support which is sent to recipients in the U. S. Pressure will be brought to bear on AMHINT-2 to drop this publication entirely on the grounds that it is not the purpose of AMSPELL to propagandize U. S. citizens.

C. FUTURE PLANS

1. 10,000 pamphlets on AMHINT-1 will be distributed to Latin America and Cuba during January. AMSPELL is planning a hemisphere-wide campaign in an attempt to obtain the release of AMHINT-1 from prison. This campaign will probably not achieve its stated aim but should result in considerable publicity on the nature of the Castro regime.

2. AMSPELL is preparing a draft leaflet illustrating the internal and international failures of the Castro regime during 1964. It is planned to mail this leaflet to Cuba and Latin America.

3. The AMSPELL newspaper both in its pony and regular edition has greatly improved in the past few months. Nevertheless, the large edition will be cut to 10,000 copies a month as this is considered a more realistic figure for distribution.

A. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITIES

1. General.

During the month of April AMSPELL carried on its normal propaganda activities. AMSPELL was also busy adjusting to the new reduced budget which went into effect on 1 April. AMSPELL moved to less expensive office space in April and dropped 10 people from the AMSPELL payroll. AMTHIGH broadcasts were reduced to one broadcast a week, and the large AMSPELL newspaper was eliminated. The prisoners campaign began to gain momentum in April but the crisis in the Dominican Republic made it very difficult to obtain publicity or maintain sustained interest in the campaign.

Las informaciones que llegan de nuestra Patría aseguran un estado latente de rebeldía, actividades de sabotajes violentos y pasivos, inconformidad en los miembros de las fuerzas armadas, grandes preocupac os en las esferas del gobierno y un malestar general en el pueblo cubano.

No hay dudas que el Plan de Alpha 66 contribuyo en alguna proporción a estos fenómenos. Primero anunciamos el desembarco de Vicente Méndez antes del 31 de diciembre con otros hombres, apesar de las dificultades conocidas, se cumplió en gran medida la promesa. Murió en el hecho el Capitan Julio Cesar Ramirez. Sin esperar mucho tiempo, se produjo la gran conmoción Mundial el 17 de Abril con la presencia y los combatientes del Coronel Vicente Méndez y el mayor contingente que llego a tierras cubanas, despues de 1961.

En mayo, hombres del Alpha 66 hundieron 2 embarciones cubanas e hicieron 11 prisioneros comunistas, repitiendo otra conmoción Mundial que motivó el escandalo mayor escenificado por el traidor Fidel Castro y su mayor derrota moral de los últimos tiempos. El gran triunfo lo consigna el pueblo de Cuba en distintos informes que poseemos de nuestras células clandestinas.

Otros movimientos positivos de distintas índoles se produjeron, unos con éxito y otros frustados por las autoridades norteamericanas; pero en fin todos destinados a golpear duramente al tirano y alentar y respaldar a los hombres de las montañas y los grupos clandestinos que se juegan todos los días sus vidas en aras de la libertad.

Con estos antecedentes de gran valor y valides, amén de mas de 20 acciones comandos y de infiltraciones realizadas por nuestros mas destacados hombres y por una pleyade de patriotas que combatieron y combaten en todos los frentes de accion cubana, nos sentimos moralmente respaldados para promover un llamamiento en general a los cubanos de la Isla y a los cubanos del destierro, a la guerra libertadora. No pretendemos convertirnos en sectaristas, sino que cada cual que empuñe el arma que tenga, la actividad que sea compatible a sus posibilidades, la colaboración economica y el apoyo moral, a los que combaten y sobre todo, a los que en la Isla dan la pauta y llevan el mayor peso en la contienda. Sin demora tenemos que acometer acciones vitales para que éste gran momento historico cuaje en la liberación definitiva de Cuba.

Ademas de coordinar las cuestiones internas con otros grupos clandestinos, Alpha 66 esta distrubuyendo cientos de millares de pequeños panfleticos convidando a las milicias,al Ejercito Rebelde y al pueblo a participar de la contienda en contra del Castro-Comunismo. Todos los cubanos que deseen cooperar a este llamamiento pueden pasar por nuestras oficinas para entregarles el material que deben enviar a Cuba. Cada cubano puede servir de puente entre los de dentro y de fuera.

Por último, demandamos de todos los cubanos y de las organizaciones que pasemos de las palabras a los hechos. Que las disputas, las divisiones y las querellas infecundas se eliminen y se convierta cada uno en un esforzado militante de la causa cubana. Lo requieren los hombres y mujeres que en las carceles sostienen la gallarda rebeldía nacional, los combatientes de todos los frentes y el pueblo esclavizado. Pongamos la tragedia de nuestro pueblo por encima de mezquinos intereses y demos cada cubano un impulso y el apoyo moral y guerrero a la epopeya libertadora. De este modo podemos regresar a nuestra Patria con la frente limpia y el corazón henchido de orgullo porque supimos conquistar el derecho a ser libres.

VIVO EN CUBA

ALPHA 66 INFORMA:

Reportes que nos llegan desde nuestras células militantes dentro de Cuba, determinan, que las acciones iniciadas por nuestra Organización, que en una de sus etapas culminó con el desembarco del Coronel Vicente Méndez el 17 de Abril en Oriente, estan teniendo repercusión en otras provincias de la isla.

No es sólo en Oriente donde las fuerzas internas han respondido al estímulo exterior representado por las acciones de Alpha 66; en Camagüey, por ejemplo, se han producido reiterados brotes de rebeldía traducidos en sabotajes, resistencia y en algunos casos enfrentamiento directo con el régimen.

La situación en Oriente, desde luego, es la que revela con mayor claridad la decisión del pueblo cubano de sacudirse el yugo que lo oprime. A tal extremo que los propios medios de publicidad del Gobierno comunista de Cuba han tenido que informar sobre "grandes concentraciones de las Fuerzas Armadas", en ésos sectores se debe a "movilizaciones para incrementar la producción", cuando lo cierto es que la fracasada zafra de los 10 millones, ya prácticamente ha terminado.

Las movilizaciones no han tenido otro objeto, según los reportes que hemos recibido, que frenar la ola de deserciones que se han venido produciendo en las filas de las Fuerzas Armadas y cubrir territorios en los que actúan eficazmente los patriotas cubanos.

Que el régimen de Castro está consciente de la gravedad del momento lo demuestra entre otras cosas, la intensa purga que se está llevando a cabo en las más altas esferas del Gobierno, y que comenzaron con la cesantía fulminante de José Llanusa, como Ministro de Educación y Francisco Padron, como Ministro de la Industria Azucarera. Los desplazamientos de distintos elementos de los importantes cargos que venían ocupando continúan especialmente en los "Estados Mayores" de las Fuerzas Armadas. A tal extremo, de que se da por segura la destitución del Comandante Guillermo García Frías, Jefe del Partido Comunistra en la provincia de Oriente, quien ha caído en "Desgracia" debido a su importancia para contener a los invasores de Alpha 66 y a los elementos que en ésa provincia se han sumado a las acciones.

Este estado de cosas ha llegado a tal situación explosiva, que se esperan en el curso de lo que resta de éste mes importantes acontecimientos que daran un giro favorable a la rebeldía cubana frente al régimen despótico que ocupa el poder.

Ese es en síntesis, el resúmen de los informes que hemos recibido donde figuran datos aún más concretos que de revelarse pormenorizadamente, pudieran acarrear graves peligros a elementos que actuan activamente en ésas dos provincias mencionadas.

Coast Guard Exhibits Arms Taken From Alpha-66. Exiles Say They Were Intercepted In International Waters.

On April 17 (the anniversary of the 1961 Bay of Pigs fiasco) the Cuban exile military organization Alpha-66 landed 13 commandos on the east coast of Cuba. They allegedly were captured, but if so only after Fidel Castro threw an estimated 25,000 troops into the fray. Castro lost several men as well.

Then on May 6, Alpha-66 "naval units" sank, in Cuban waters, two of Castro's high-seas fishing trawlers (used, as well, for spying and infiltrating guerrillas into Latin America).

These two actions set off a chain of events in Washington that would have done credit to the LBJ and JFK Administrations. With Castro massing his mobs for a circus of protest, the State Department hit the panic button and on May 13 called together representatives of federal law enforcement agencies to figure out ways to protect Castro from further forays of this nature.

What really teed-off the State Department was a momentary aberration by Alpha-66 to trade 11 crew members of the fishing vessels for the freedom of survivors of the April 17 landing. They soon thought better of it and sent a telegram to the Red Cross giving the location of the men and asking that they be returned to Cuba.

'CIA Invasion'

Meanwhile, Castro staged a demonstration in front of the former U.S. Embassy in Havana, which is now being used by the Swiss government. He charged the Swiss, who represent U.S. interests in Cuba, with complicity in what he called a "CIA invasion" by mercenaries.

Two Swiss employes were prevented from leaving the embassy for two days. The strategy was to mount Swiss pressure on Washington to crack down on the Cuban exiles. It worked, obviously, and the State Department again danced to a Castro tune.

The demonstration was also used to "welcome" the returning fishermen, who were soon to land at the airport in Havana. But the fishermen were late in arriving.

They were late due to an unforeseen need to change clothing. When Alpha-66 rescued the crews from the sinking vessels (turned around, Castro would have had them shot as he has ordered the shooting of thousands seeking to leave his island in small boats), they found them literally in rags.

Shoes were patched with palm bark; shirts and trousers were in tatters. So, before setting them free, Alpha-66 provided the men with shoes and new clothing. When the men arrived at the air in Havana, they were divested of t new goodies and forced to don old w clothing. Some, we are told, protes vehemently.

The bearded dictator took the casion of the "welcome" extended fishermen to announce that the 10-r lion-ton sugar harvest was a fail Despite closing down factories, sch and offices and marching the peo out to the fields, the harvest on wh Castro had placed "the honor of Revolution" failed to materialize 1952, 350,000 guajiros cut and grou 7.3 million tons in 100 days; Castro h had twice that many working and p duced about 8.5 million tons in days).

Back in Miami, federal agents acting on State Department interpretation of antiquated neutrality laws entered Alpha-66 headquarters. The search warrant alleged that there was evidence that 1) Alpha-66 had launched its attacks from U.S. territory; 2) Cubans were raising funds illegally for bellicose purposes; and 3) all of this was being done to attack a nation with which the U.S is "at peace, to wit: Cuba."

Of the 37 items impounded, those of military significance were "one large carton filled with military-type web equipment...one military-type field pack...and one large cardboard carton filled with plastic military-type canteens." With such evidence, Army-Navy surplus stores could be indicted.

Greater attention was given to files containing the names of contributors. These held special interest because the wording in the warrant found "financial contributions and disbursements to obtain boats and other supplies" possibly prosecutable.

Can the State Department be serious? If this section of the law were applied impartially, how many Jews would today be under indictment for openly soliciting funds for the purchase of bellicose materials for a foreign nation—Israel?

How many senators and congressmen would today have egg on their faces for participating in fund-raising functions, publicly organized and propagandized, for that very purpose? That is how he Cuban community sees the matter.

This author has no particular objecion to fund-raising by Jewish groups in he United States. Cuban exiles certainly io not. Indeed, Cuban Jews in exile have ontributed substantially to Israel's war hest. They are furious when they, as ubans, try to do the same for the liberaion of their country, only to find a double tandard raised against them. Nor are hey happy to see their contributions go own the drain when overzealous federal fficials seize equipment belonging to xile groups.

But what blew it for Miami's 350,00 Cubans was an "edict" read to them y the hapless State Department repreentative in Miami.

According to the heads of exile action roups called to his office, the reprentative stressed that "the spirit as ell as the law" will be upheld. He is id to have told them that fund-raising r a bellicose purpose is definitely outde the law and warned them not only ould they be prosecuted should they unch an attack from the U.S., but ould also be stopped from using anher Latin American country for that rpose.

The exact wording in the instruction from the State Department reads: "We would like to make it clear that if there is sufficient evidence of activity based in the U.S. for any such military expedition, then the fact that a third country is used as a staging area would not preclude the U.S. from proceeding to enforce its laws."

When the story of State Department policy hit the streets, the Cubans exploded. Cuban students from the University of Miami and Dade Junior College (Dade's 20,000 students comprise 8,000 Cuban students) marched on the Federal Building; 600 Cuban lawyers challenged the validity of the State Department position; doctors, dentists, educators, professional groups—57 of them—published a lengthy statement in the Diario las Americas newspaper. Part of that statement reads:

"Title 18, Section 960 of the U.S. Code [invoked against Alpha-66] prohibits certain actions from being taken against a nation with which the United States is at peace—'a friendly nation.' Clearly, Fidel Castro is not at peace with the United States or nations of the Western Hemisphere and, by breaking diplomatic relations with Cuba on Jan. 3, 1961, the United States recognized that Cuba is hardly a 'friendly nation.'"

REMINDER : We still have nearly 700 school libraries to go in filling our commitment to them for the fall. If you have not contributed in 1970, please do so now. Each of you have received a prepaid envelope. Place your contribution in it and mail today ! Time is getting short.

"We conclude," the signatories said, "that this part of the neutrality laws cannot be applied against Cubans who are fighting for freedom."

Sen. Strom Thurmond (R.-S.C.) and Rep. William C. Cramer (R.-Fla.) strongly support the Cuban exiles in their interpretation of the law.

The most recent law outlining U.S. policy toward Cuba was promulgated and signed by President Kennedy on Oct. 3, 1962. It states that the United States is "to work with the Organization of American States and with freedom-loving Cubans to support the aspirations of the Cuban people for self-determination." Furthermore, the United States is signatory to four inter-American pacts and treaties which clearly are designed to combat Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

In any event, this most recent action by the Department of State finds relations between Cuban exiles and Washington at their lowest ebb since the Bay of Pigs failure nine years ago. Cubans are now thoroughly convinced that the State Department is out to "get" them and willing to employ any subterfuge to do so.

One of these subterfuges, say the exiles, is a recent indictment against Andrés Nazario Sargén, head of Alpha-66. Sargén is charged with having "conspired" to purchase arms allegedly stolen from a U.S. arsenal in Connecticut. His bail was set at $100,000, then inexplicably reduced to a mere $2,500 and Sargén asked to plead guilty to be let off on a light sentence.

These shenanigans, say the Cubans, mean that lacking proof that Alpha-66 launched its attacks from U.S. soil, the government will use other means to intimidate exile action groups. Legal action taken against Sargén, they argue, is simply the eager-beaverism on the part of what they believe to be pro-Castro functionaries in the Department of State.

On the other hand, the Department of State has its case. Many officials are only slightly less enthusiastic than Cuban exiles to see the end of Castro's Communist regime. But they argue that the half measures taken by Cuban exile groups are not effective and merely serve to embarrass the United States. Others claim that the Alpha-66 attacks were merely ill-timed, providing Castro with an "excuse" to lay the failure of his sugar crop at the feet of "CIA operatives" based in the United States.

As to this latter claim, those who know Fidel Castro also know that he needs no excuse to gather the mobs and denounce the United States. The history of his 10 years in power bears full witness to the truth of this view.

No Viable Policy

What really comes through in all of this is that Washington has yet to come up with a viable policy toward Fidel Castro to put a stop to his subverting Latin America and even the United States. The only absolute factor in the conduct of foreign affairs is the premium placed on initiative. We don't have it; Castro does.

The State Department cannot merely "wish" Castro out of power, and its policy of "economic denial and diplogate demonstration of America's willingness to resolve international disputes peacefully if the following specific steps could be taken this year:

First, a review by the Secretary of State of all disputes to which the U.S. is a party to ascertain which ones, or portions of them, might lend themselves to arbitration or adjudication. When this review has been completed, we would urge that the United States move to take the disputes that are determined to be justiciable to the International Court of Justice or other appropriate international tribunals.

Second, the employment of the provision of Article 96 of the United Nations Charter to seek advisory opinions of the World Court by the United Nations and the U.N. Specialized Agencies on issues where such an opinion would help to clarify the legal aspects of a dispute.

Third, the instructing of U.S. negotiators to seek inclusion of a provision in future treaties and agreements which provides for the World Court's adjudication of disputes arising under those treaties and agreements.

We believe that these steps, modest though they seem, would be favorably received by the international community and lead to an enhanced regard for the rule of law throughout the world.

As Members of Congress for Peace Through Law, we have devoted considerable time and attention to this question and have sought the advice of skilled international lawyers outside the Congress.

We welcome your comments and reactions to these suggestions and would be pleased to discuss them in greater detail with you or with members of your Administration.

CUBAN INDEPENDENCE DAY

HON. WILLIAM C. CRAMER

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 20, 1970

Mr. CRAMER. Mr. Speaker, May 20 is a very special day for Cubans and Americans. On that date in 1902, the Cuban flag was first raised at the city hall in Havana and at El Morro Castle. On that date Cuba became a free country.

Most Americans know about the sinking of the battleship which made the cry "Remember the Maine" a part of our history. Most Americans know that this country interceded on behalf of the Cuban people battling for independence from foreign domination.

Unfortunately, however, most Americans are not totally aware of the valiant fight put up by the Cuban people, alone and unassisted, for nearly a century.

The Cubans fought a 10-year war from 1868 to 1878 against a powerful Spanish Army. They have consistently sought freedom from oppression and their battle for independence from 1895 to 1898 found the United States fighting alongside of them.

But we cannot forget that the Cubans so loved liberty that the number of casualties in their two wars of independence mounted to a quarter of a million people. The total population of the island at that time was less that 2 million.

What this means is that one out of every four Cubans became casualties in their quest for liberty.

It is shameful to say that the United States seems to have turned its back on Cuba when it is suffering from the imposition of another foreign tyranny, international communism headed by the Soviet Union. Yet, State Department spokesman Robert McClosky, a holdover bureaucrat, threatens freedom fighters who wish to return and help their brothers throw off the yoke of this tyranny.

My colleague, Senator Strom Thurmond, has already brought this to the attention of the Senate. It is my wish to bring it to the attention of my colleagues in the House of Representatives and the American public.

The amount of sabotage being committed by Cubans inside Cuba is in line with the tradition of its people. Just a few days ago, on May 15, the Castro regime announced the execution by firing squad of a campesino who burned down a sugar warehouse at Isabela de Sagua.

This patriot lived in Cuba and gave his life in exchange for the destruction of 2,000 tons of sugar.

From all over Cuba come official admissions that the Cuban people are in massive resistance to the Communist regime of Fidel Castro.

It is fair to say that today resistance to Castro and communism is many times greater than the resistance which brought him to power in 1959. Yet, Cuban freedom fighters in exile are persecuted when their only purpose is to help their fellow man regain the liberty for which 250,000 Cubans fought and were wounded or gave their lives.

I should like to ask this question: Is it not in our own national interest that Cuba be freed from domination by a country a thousand times more powerful than the Spaniards of the 19th century? Does not the presence of a fleet of Soviet Navy ships anchored in Cienfuegos Harbor pose a threat to our own national security?

Among these ships are a missile firing cruiser and an atomic submarine. What is the practical difference between land base missiles which brought on the crisis of 1962 and Soviet ships with missiles now anchored in Cuba? ?

It is no secret that our intelligence community fears that the Soviet Union is now prepared to establish a Caribbean fleet based in Cuba, and surely this fact must relate to our own security. I say that official efforts to protect Fidel Castro by harrassing freedom fighters are dangerous and nonsensical.

True, the State Department apprehends Cuban exiles on the grounds that forays from the United States are in violation of our neutrality laws. But I would like to cite an interpretation of these neutrality laws as rendered by the late Robert Kennedy when he was Attorney General of the United States.

His ruling was that the neutrality laws were, and I quote:

> Among the oldest laws in our statutes books. They were not designed for the kind of situation which exists in the world today.

The late Attorney General continued and I quote from his April 20, 1961 ruling:

> The neutrality laws were never designed to prevent individuals from leaving the United States to fight for a cause in which they believe. There is nothing in the neutrality laws which prevents refugees from Cuba from returning to that country to engage in the fight for freedom, nor is an individual prohibited from the United States, with others of like belief, to join others in a second country for an expedition against a third country.

I believe that ruling not only is just but also was made in the cause of our own security. Unfortunately, it has been all but forgotten by our State Department which continues to harass Cuban exiles and even instructs the U.S. Coast Guard to apprehend freedom fighters on the high seas—a form of official piracy, I might add.

In conclusion, I would like to emphasize that Cuba is little more than a Soviet base dedicated to the destruction of our society, and that of free men everywhere. I should like to emphasize that our freedom is inextricably interwoven with the freedom of the Cuban people. The ominous presence of the powerful Soviet fleet based just off our shores underscores this fact.

1. In a 13 Oct 70 interview with Johnny O'Donnell, free-lance reporter, he made the following information available regarding subject matter: The head man is Miguel Talleda, who is employed as an accountant at Hammer of California, Gardena. He has four daughters, two sons, and his wife baby-sits for neighbors in order to earn extra money. He receives about $1,000 a month. Talleda appears to be honest, hard-working, well disciplined and well organized, not overly emotional, strongly anti-Communist and anti-Castro. According to the Los Angeles Police Department, he has a P.O. Box in his name in Alhambra. The No. 2 man is Nextor Aranguren, also an accountant. He lives in Alhambra, and is believed to be the "bag man" who handles all money collected by the organization. It is the custom of Alpha 66 to inform their supporters how much money they receive. The rally in April 1970 at the Embassy Auditorium in Los Angeles netted them approximately $2,200.

2. One of the staunch supporters of Alpha 66 is a Dr. (fnu) DeCespedes, PhD, the granddaughter of Carlos Manuel DeCespedes, the Father of the Cuban independence who fought against the Spanish in 1868. She spoke at the Maywood American Legion Post Alpha 66 Rally in August 1970.

3. The following are Southern California city delegates: Eligio Vichot from Redondo Beach; Lorenzo Alfonso, from Fullerton, their most fiery speaker, who owns a janitorial service business; Pedro Sanchez from Culver City; Marcos Peralta, Huntington Park. Sanchez, Peralta, and Talleda flew to San Francisco with top man Andreas Nazario Sargeant of Miami when he visited Los Angeles in August 1970.

4. O'Donnell said the Alpha 66 training camp is somewhere in Mexico but they may move it to Central America as the Cubans are worried that the Mexicans might sell them out.

1. Subsequent interviews with Johnny O'Donnell resulting from reference, disclosed he has had no personal contact with the Alpha 66 group in the last two months due to personal financial reasons. He said his funds are depleted and he has had to spend all of his time looking for publishers that will pay for his contributions. He was unable to answer the questions posed in reference at this time. As soon as he gets on his feet financially he will again make contact with the group and try to learn more. He feels he has the complete confidence of the group; they are looking to him for publicity, i.e., "to tell it like it is."

2. O'Donnell said as far as "funding channels" are concerned, Alpha 66 does its own fund raising, such as with rallies, dinners, and "nickel and dime" contributors. He does not know of any single big money contributor.

3. Any information regarding Alpha 66 that comes to the attention of Mr. O'Donnell, will be passed along to us by him.

1. Periodic checking with Johnny O'Donnell regarding his contacts with Alpha 66 people has proved negative. O'Donnell is hurting financially, as reported in LA 1024-70, and he is trying to earn a living by writing articles for various publications. He feels his first concern is to his family (a pregnant wife), so he is devoting his time to anything that will pay off. He is not bitter, and said if he does learn anything in the future regarding the activities of Alpha 66, he will certainly pass it along, but he will not go out to get it at this time.

2. It is our belief that nothing more from O'Donnell will be forthcoming. Please close. We know of no other sources.

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Ramparts: John Garrett UNDERHILL Jr., Samuel George CUMMINGS, and INTERARMCO

1. Ramparts of June 1967, Vol. 5, No. 12, pp. 28-29, contains the following passages about Subjects:

> "The day after the assassination, Gary Underhill left Washington in a hurry. Late in the evening he showed up at the home of friends in New Jersey. He was very agitated. A small clique within the CIA was responsible for the assassination, he confided, and he was afraid for his life and probably would have to leave the country. Less than six months later Underhill was found shot to death in his Washington apartment. The coroner ruled it suicide.
> "J. Garrett Underhill had been an intelligence agent during World War II and was a recognized authority on limited warfare and small arms. A researcher and writer on military affairs, he was on a first-name basis with many of the top brass in the Pentagon. He was also on intimate terms with a number of high-ranking CIA officials--he was one of the Agency's 'un-people' who perform special assignments. At one time he had been a friend of Samuel Cummings of Interarmco, the arms broker that numbers among its customers the CIA and, ironically, Klein's Sporting Goods of Chicago, from whence /sic/ the mail-order Carcano allegedly was purchased by Oswald.

"The friends whom Underhill visited say he was sober but badly shook. They say he attributed the Kennedy murder to a CIA clique which was carrying on a lucrative racket in gun-running, narcotics and other contraband, and manipulating political intrigue to serve its own ends. Kennedy supposedly got wind that something was going on and was killed before he could 'blow the whistle on it'. Although the friends had always known Underhill to be perfectly rational and objective, they at first didn't take his account seriously. 'I think the main reason was,' explains the husband, 'that we couldn't believe that the CIA could contain a corrupt element every bit as ruthlesc--and more efficient--as the mafia.'

"The verdict of suicide in Underhill's death is by no means convincing. His body was found by a writing collaborator, Asher Brynes of the New Republic. He had been shot behind the left ear, and an automatic pistol was under his left side. Odd, says Brynes, because Underhill was right-handed. Brynes thinks the pistol was fitted with a silencer, and occupants of the apartment building could not recall hearing a shot. Underhill obviously had been dead several days.

"Garry Underhill's chilling story is hardly implausible. As a spy apparatus the CIA is honeycombed with self-contained cliques operating without any real central control...."

2. A check of Agency records has yielded the following information about John Garrett UNDERHILL Jr.

a. DPOB: 7 August 1915, Brooklyn.

b. Attended high school in Brooklyn and was graduated from Harvard in 1937.

c. Died 8 May 1964.

d. Was a pictorial journalist for Life, 1938-1942.

e. Ordered to active duty with MIS, Washington, as a second lieutenant, on 8 July 1943. Served with MIS for 2-1/2 years, working on technical and photographic headings for MIS publications, evaluation of intelligence, and enemy uniforms, insignia, weapons, etc. On 9 October 1945 received a War Department staff citation for superior work in military intelligence. Left active duty in May 1946.

f. CIA memoranda of February and October 1949 show that there was interest by the New York office of OO, Contacts Division, in using Subject as a contact for foreign intelligence. Name checks were conducted with various military members of the intelligence community, but these yielded insufficient information, and OO was advised that contact should be developed with caution, on a limited basis, and that Subject was not to receive information classified higher than confidential.

g. On 12 March 1957 national agency checks were again requested on Subject because of interest by the Office of Security.

h. A UP article of unknown date cites an article written by UNDERHILL for Esquire. The article described the U.S. Army as shockingly weak. The UP piece stated that UNDERHILL served in military intelligence in World War II and Korea. UNDERHILL said that he had served as a consultant /probably in 1956/ to an Army coordinating group.

i. A report of 6 August 1954 from the Office of Security, Department of State, concerns contacts between UNDERHILL and one Herman AXELBANK, who was trying to sell photographs of Soviet military subjects. UNDERHILL reported these contacts to the FBI and to CIA. In November 1949

UNDERHILL visited Washington to call the attention of CIA to certain AXELBANK pictures and was advised that Colliers might be interested in some of them for an article on Russia. UNDERHILL discussed AXELBANK with "Ricky" Haskins of CIA.

3. On the basis of the foregoing an inquiry was made of director, Domestic Contact Service, whose office provided the attached reply.

4. The following information about Samuel George CUMMINGS, 201-178343, was compiled from his 201 file and from information provided by the Office of Security and by C/CI/SPG.

a. His date and place of birth are 4 February 1927, Philadelphia.

b. He entered on duty with CIA as a staff employee in December 1950. He was then a GS-9 assigned to Ground Branch, Weapons and Equipment Division, OSI. In January 1952 he was transferred to the Office of Procurement and Supply. During 1952/1953 he travelled abroad extensively, buying foreign weapons.

c. He married a German national and consequently resigned in November 1953, when he became a career agent in Guatemala.

d. Cables of the 1951-1952 period state that CUMMINGS was then buying arms for CIA and that the arms were intended for resistance elements behind the Iron Curtain.

e. On 17 August 1954 CUMMINGS became the principal agent of the CIA-owned companies known 24 as International Armament Corporation and Interarmco Lt., both incorporated in Canada, Switzerland, and the U.S. CUMMINGS engaged in sharp practises in his conduct of business and was also extremely difficult to control.

f. A 1957 cable states that a business man in Panama, an Agency source, knew CUMMINGS to be providing information to the FBI and also knew him to be "careful about keeping the appropriate U.S. Government agencies informed of his deals."

g. In early 1958 CUMMINGS assumed sole ownership of International Armament Corp. and of Interarmco. (An Agency audit established the net worth of these companies as $219,000.00.) 24 CUMMINGS bought them with a non-interest bearing promissory note in the amount of $100,000, payable in four annual installments of $25,000, and certain items of inventory which had a cost value of $67,000 and a market value of $250,000. [These items were to remain the property of CIA, and their cost was to be returned to the Agency after they were sold.] 24

h. On 28 June 1961 the West German publication Der Spiegel reported that CUMMINGS had been employed by CIA as an arms expert during the Korean War and that he had cooperated with CIA in "supplying arms to various trouble spots".

i. Shortly after CUMMINGS left his staff position for Interarmco, contact with him was established by the WH Division. This contact was taken over by C/CI/SPG in September 1954. (CUMMINGS knows him only by alias.) This contact is still maintained. Until recently the principal purpose was to dispose of arms, (and CIA made a sizeable profit on these transactions.) 24 The current contact is not operational. It is not based on a project, and no payments are made to CUMMINGS who volunteers information resulting from his extensive travels and high-level contacts. An operational clearance for CUMMINGS' use by the CI Staff as an informant was granted in March 1958.

3/PW

j. On 4 January 1962 the Rome periodical Vie Nuove stated that CUMMINGS was hired by CIA as an expert in arms and ballistics.

k. In December 1962 the Office of Security recommended against his use by Domestic Contact Service as a source, and in December 1964 the CI Staff advised that it had no operational interest in Subject. (Comment: As was noted above, this statement is correct, because Subject's activity is not directed by the Agency. He volunteers information.)

l. An Interagency Source Register memo to ACSI, dated 1 June 1965, stated that at that time there was "no record of a current operational interest in Subject."

m. An Agency report of 24 February 1966 cited CUMMINGS as trying to procure military equipment from Communist Bloc countries on behalf of DIA.

n. Agency reports of February and May 1967 stated that CUMMINGS had been in close contact with the BND (West German foreign intelligence service) for a year or more, that he had been given requirements by the BND, and that these included lists of Soviet and Bloc arms for procurement. It was also reported that he showed a BND representative a copy of a purchase order for the procurement of a Soviet T-54 tank, the order having originated with DIA. BND officials have often stated that CUMMINGS is a CIA agent.

o. A form dated 1 June 1967 was directed to the Interagency Source Register by "DA", presumably Department of the Army.

5. Agency records contain numerous references to INTERARMCO.

6. It is noted that UNDERHILL, CUMMINGS, and INTERARMCO have not appeared to date in any press or classified reports of the Garrison investigation in New Orleans, with the tenuous exception of the Ramparts article cited at the outset of this memorandum.

1. On 4 January 1963 AMHINT-27 met with QUANTUM-51 in New York City, and QUANTUM-51 advised him that Jorge *MEDINA Bringuier, the Secretary General of AMSPELL in PBRUMEN, is a G-2 agent. MEDINA and *AEDO (fnu), who was said by QUANTUM-51 to be on the AMSPELL National Executive, were actually G-2 penetrations. They planned to "roll up" the entire AMSPELL organization and "other groups" in one sweep and then escape by boat and contact AMHINT-53 in the JMWAVE area. MEDINA was in contact with AMHINT-53 while in PBRUMEN and planned to use AMHINT-53 to establish his bona fides with KUBARK.

2. QUANTUM-51 further advised that another mission of the two G-2 agents, MEDINA and AEDO, was to make contact with Iden A to determine what role it played in anti-CASTRO activities. The secretary of QUANTUM-51 had been a very close personal friend of AEDO's since childhood and AEDO feared she would be implicated, so he told her of his espionage mission. She informed QUANTUM-51 and then arranged a meeting between QUANTUM-51 and AEDO. AEDO told QUANTUM-51 of his mission and arrangements were then made to get all the AMSPELL leaders into asylum in the Uruguayan Embassy. On or about 10 December 1962 about 25 persons, including AEDO, went into asylum.

3. QUANTUM-51 further said that AEDO reportedly was arrested by G-2 a long time ago and then recruited to work for the PBRUMEN Government.

4. Reference C is a chronological summary of AMHINT-33's activities subsequent to his infiltration in PBRUMEN, and his contacts with Chelin, the brother of AMFRET-7. AMFRET-7's arrest was reported in Reference B. The AMFRET-7 Case Officer states that both AMFRET-7 and his brother were arrested, after shooting it out with G-2 and being wounded. As noted in Reference D, AMFRET-7's arrest was made after QUANTUM-55 and Blanca *MARTINEZ de Hoya, aka "Cuca," aka "Cuchi," brought MEDINA, AMSPELL's National Military Coordinator for Reception and Supply, to Iden A where MEDINA recognized AMHINT-33. AMHINT-33 said MEDINA was an old friend of his and had lived near him. RE G-2 PENETRATION AGAINST AMSPELL

5. AMHINT-33 said further that his brother knows MEDINA, that MEDINA is the man whom AMHINT-33 used in 1961 to check up on *REBELLON (fnu), the FEU Secretary General in PBRUMEN. AMHINT-33 added in his S/W Message 11 of 10 December 1962 that "his friends" are still in jail.

6. Reference E transmitted a letter written by AMHINT-33 on 29 December 1962 in which he states that G-2 infiltration is so great that he considers it impossible to organize anything, and he indicates that some of the agents, as in this case, have been infiltrated for more than two years. He presumably means infiltrated into anti-CASTRO organizations and/or activities.

7. Relative to the "other groups" mentioned in para. 1 above, AMHINT-33's Case Officer believes that AMHINT-33 is probably referring to the MRR, the MRP, the MDC and the 30th of November groups. The "friends" mentioned in Para. 5 may be one Eduardo *BRINGAS, who is about 23 years of age, one *GOUMI (fnu), and others previously referred to but not identified by AMHINT-33; they may have worked for AMHINT-33. RE G-2 PENETRATION OF AMSPELL ORG JAN 63

8. JMWAVE traces on the individuals involved in this plot offer little concrete information.

a. It is noted that Jorge MEDINA Bringuier is listed on Page 13 of Attachment C to UFGA-4977 as an MRR member, with a listed aka of Carlos PRADO. JMWAVE tracing identifies one Carlos PRADO as "a brother of Raul, the head of G-2 in Las Villas Province," as reported in HAVA-6437, 5 October 1960; there is no further information on this Carlos PRADO. However, the original source of the information given in Attachment C of UFGA-4977 was a letter brought out of PBRUMEN by AMSTRUT-1 about early July 1962. Said letter contained a $25 money order, issued at Station No. 9, New Orleans, on 16 March 1962, for Jorge MEDINA Bringuier and purchased by Maria Teresa MEDINA. The envelope, addressed to Sra. Consuelo C. de RIVAS in Mexico City, bore the notation, "For Carlos PRADO," and contained a note, "This money order for $25 is for Carlos PRADO from his mother," in addition to the money order. There is one Carlos PRADO in Mexico. He is studying engineering and is the brother of Faustino PRADO Garcia, an engineer who works close to "Che" GUEVARA and is of current KUTUBE interest. Faustino PRADO is married to Clara ARTIME, a sister of Josefina ARTIME, who is a close friend of AMGLEN-9, and she is also of current KUTUBE interest. When AMSTRUT-2, who could have given this letter to AMSTRUT-1 to take out of PBRUMEN, was in Mexico City she called Carlos PRADO by telephone at 249769 and told him that she was a friend of his mother. This PRADO family is a large one, and includes another brother, Angel, who is in Spain, a sister who is a nun in Italy, and another brother who is a doctor in New York City. Additional data could be secured on this family from AMSTRUT-2 if desired. However, it seems probable that this money order may have been sold in Cuba by Jorge MEDINA and purchased, sooner or later, by the mother of the Carlos PRADO who is currently a student in Mexico. A copy of the material carried out by AMSTRUT-1 is being forwarded herewith. It will be noted that a part of the attachment was disseminated as UFG—1239, 13 July 1962.

CONTINUATION OF DISPATCH	CLASSIFICATION S E C R E T	DISPATCH SYMBOL AND NUMBER UFGA-7383

b. It is further noted that JMWAVE files show one "Mongo" listed on Page 14 of Attachment C to UFGA-4977 as captured and sentenced to 30 years in prison. This information came from UFG-779, 12 January 1962, which was based on an AMCUTLER-1 intercept of a report from the MRR Acting Internal Coordinator in PBRUMEN to Hipolito LAZARO, the MRR Internal Coordinator temporarily in PBPRIME, sent via the Argentine Diplomatic Pouch. There was no further identification of this "Mongo." 24

c. It is noted that Reference F identifies Jorge HAEDO as a former anti-Castrista who was tortured and doubled by the PBRUMEN Government; HAEDO appears to be the correct spelling.

d. "Cuca" or "Cuchi" MARTINEZ, who has held the position of AMSPELL National Coordinator for Civil Resistance, is a personal friend of AMCOG-3 and family. She is believed to have taken asylum in the Mexican Embassy. SW Message 12 from AMCOG-3, dated 8 December 1962 and received 12 December, reported that QUANTUM-51 01 advised "Cuca" to hide or be cautious because MEDINA had turned out to be a G-2 member. The message said that this was learned from AMSPELL prisoners and that, during interrogation, they were asked many questions about "Cuca" and AMCOG-2.

9. When the AMHINT-53 security review mentioned in Reference A is received, additional investigation as necessary will be made at JMWAVE.

I am going to place the communication abroad in Sofi's hands; no one better. What I need is that you explain to us better how to make the contact from here over there, that is, how and where to see SARADIA, the contact which you said you had with him. Sofi knows him but doesn't know where she can see him. Remember that Sofi is already being checked because Esteban's wife knows her and asked about her. I am going to try to have the treasurer be a friend of Sofi's who knows where the money is. He is a fully trustworthy boy called Alejandro.

Tell Dr. LAZAGA that I don't write to him about the affair because it is easier for me to write to you, but that he and this boy should have relations, and I with Chichi and with you.

We give the support to LAZAGA together with the Executive, because it would be impossible to only one person, and for the case it was left in our hands. You see that the executive over there is fully answerable to us and that way there will be no problems.

We don't know anything about my namesake. So far all the contacts have failed. Let's see what we can clarify.

Tell Tomas that the news I sent him about Dos Rios was through a contact which I made with our brother-in-law D. He is willing to work and has people in his area, and also in the coast. I believe that a lot can be done up there. Besides, Soto left me a terrific contact also at that coast, whom we have to put in contact with D. Tell Tomas to let me work also in that area, which is mine and of my people, and that if he gives authorization that we can send a guerrilla band to work with that people. Of course, this guerrilla chosen by us to avoid their sending people of the Americans and have them take command away from us. You know how that is.

Write to our other brother-in-law in the embassy and find out when he leaves because I know that he is already leaving but to come back to me immediately. Let's see if he leaves, takes a fast training, and comes back. Have them get much map reading and man to man combat with bayonets which is very good at night and no one here knows anything about that.

You must explain the thing a bit to Soto so that he will gain enthusiasm. If he sees that the thing is serious and has real support he will come. The only thing that like Yayo, he needs support for his family. Explain everything to him and I think he will come. He leaves tomorrow and I gave him your phone. If he needs money for his wife and for himself give it to him from mine. I authorized him to ask you for it.

If they would let me, in our province I would place 4 or 5 guerrillas with the contacts which I had before and have now, and we would fill that up for these people, that is, we would start a war in all the province, plains and everything.

Well, this letter is going with safe hands to Miami where it will be mailed, tomorrow. So the S.W. which I sent will arrive later if I can't get it taken with this one because I already gave it to have it mailed. Let's see if we can get it back in time to have it arrive soon.

I will write to Boba and Martha Elena another day with calm, and I don't have the details of your letters on hand.

Regards to all and you receive love from your brother, comunicación al exterior la voy a poner en manos de [illegible] ti, nadie mejor que ella. Lo que yo necesito es que el contacto que tú me decías tener de Varabia, me expliques mejor como hacerlo de aquí para allá, o sea como y donde verlo a él. Sofi lo conoce, pero no sabe dónde está. Recuerda que a Sofi ya la están chequeando pues la mujer de Esteban la conoce y preguntó por ella. El tesorero voy a tratar que sea un amigo de Sofi que sabe donde está el dinero. Es un muchacho de toda confianza llamado Alfonso.

Manolo.

Díle al Dr. Zayaga que no le escribo sobre el particular porque a ti me es más fácil, pero que este muchacho y él son los que deben tener relaciones, y así con Chichi y contigo.

El apoyo se lo damos a Zayaga junto con el Ejecutivo porque a una sola persona sería imposible y para el caso se dejaba en nuestras manos. Uds. procuren que el ejecutivo en esa responda plenamente a nosotros y así no habrá problemas.

De mi tocayo no sabemos nada, todos los contactos nos han fallado hasta ahora. Vamos a ver que sacamos en claro.

Díle a Tomás que la noticia de Dos Ríos que le mandé fué por ese contacto que hice con nuestro cuñado I., este está dispuesto a trabajar y tiene gente en su zona, a mas de por la costa. Creo que por allá arriba se puede hacer mucho, además Tito me dejó un contacto formidable por aquella costa también, el cual pienso poner en contacto con [redacted] Díle a Tomás que me permita trabajar también para esa zona, que la mía, la de mi gente y que si él dá autorización se puede mandar una guerrilla a trabajar con esa gente. Desde luego esa guerrilla escogida por nosotros, no vaya a ser que manden gente de los americanos y nos quiten la jefatura, tu sabes como es eso.

Escríbele a nuestro otro cuñado en la embajada y averigua a ver cuando sale pues yo sé yá que él vá pero para volver conmigo enseguida. A ver si sale y coge un training rápido y vuelve. Que cojan mucho de lectura de mapas y lucha cuerpo a cuerpo con bayoneta que eso es una cosa buena de noche y aquí nadie sabe nada de eso.

A Beto le tienes que explicar la cosa un poco para que coja embullo, si él vé que es seria la cosa y con verdadero respaldo él viene, lo único que igual que Pepo necesita ayuda familiar, aclárale todo que yo creo que él viene. Mañana sale y le dí tu teléfono, si le hace falta dinero para la señora y para él dáselo del mío, yo lo autorizo a pedírtelo.

Si me dejaran en nuestra prov. yo metía 4 ó 5 guerrillas con los contactos que yo tenía antes y ahora, y le copábamos aquello a esta gente, o sea le metíamos guerra en toda la provincia, llano y todo.

Bueno, ésta vá en manos seguras hasta Miami donde la pondrán en el correo mañana así que el S.M que mandé llegará después que ésta si no logro que lo lleven junto con ésta pues lo dí yá para que lo echaran al correo, vamos a ver si se recupera a tiempo para que llegue pronto.

A Beba y Martha Elena les contesto otro día con calma y los pormenores de las cartas de Uds. que no las tengo a mano.

Recuerdos a todos, y Uds. reciban un abrazo de su hermano—

Manolo

ATTENTION REQUESTED: PW/KUCAGE/KUTUBE. 06

1. On 9 April 1962, [Jose Antonio Sadurni Casas (aka "Che")], born 11 April 193[illegible], Santiago de Cuba; Miami address: [c/o Elisa Sadurni Casas,] 06 .08 [1619 Meridian Ave., Apt. C-10] Miami Beach, telephone: [JE 2-2641,] was interviewed. 08

2. Source said that during the revolution he was a member of the DR in the University of Habana. After the revolution he went to the University of Oriente, Santiago de Cuba, and eventually became the DRE chief for the city. In regard to his former DR association he had no operational leads, claiming that all contact with DR members terminated in 1959, and he knew no one who attained any stature in the Castro Government.

3. As DRE chief for Santiago, the source claimed that he had 50 members who he considered well organized and capable of any type of action. He said that there were, and are, other members, but he does not consider them in the same category with the 50 who are organized into cells. He said each cell has nine men. There are four cells in the University of Oriente and two in the high school.

4. He said that he left Santiago in March 1962 and turned the DRE over to his deputy. He then went to Habana and informed the DRE leadership that the second in command had taken over and he was told that Habana would initiate contact with the new leader. (Note: Since close relations are maintained by the JMWAVE Station and the DRE, no attempt was made to press the source for names and addresses, etc., as this information can be obtained in subsequent outside debriefings. The JMWAVE Officer responsible for the DRE operational matters was informed of the source's arrival and processing.)

5. Source said that at the time he left Santiago, the remnants of the Catholic student organization was trying to make contact with the DRE and he believes that by this time this contact has been made. He said that the DRE member who was following this matter, and who would follow through, was a blind person.

6. Listing the arms and supplies in the possession of the DRE in Santiago, the source said that it has about 5-6 pounds of plastic remaining out of a shipment of 20 pounds which was received from the DRE in Habana. He said the DRE in Santiago placed bombs in places where the explosion would not injure anyone. As far as arms are concerned the source said that the DRE in Santiago has ten 45 caliber pistols; five 38 caliber pistols; one M-3; and one Tommy gun.

7. The source furnished the following KUTUBE-type information:

a. He said that his father is in jail in Puerto Boniato, and that in order to try and get him free, the source went to see Major Belarmino "Anibal" Castilla, the chief of training for the Palma Soriano Military Encampment, whom he knew from their days in the Santiago High School. Source made his plea and "Anibal" told him that before he could act upon it, he would have to talk to the source for five hours in order to determine his political orientation. The source replied that he did not come to talk politics but to plead for his father. "Anibal" answered that he would think about it and call the source one way or another, but he never called. Source thought that this story adequately demonstrated the (Communist) political orientation of "Anibal."

b. The brother of "Anibal" (para 6a above) is "Bertico" Castilla, first name possibly Alberto. He resigned from the army and is now living in Santiago, but the source is not clear on "Bertico's" political orientation.

c. Electra Fernandez, the wife of Mendez Cominche (the Santiago G-2 chief), is no longer the civil head (comisionado) of Santiago. She is now the president of the Federacion de Mujeres Cubanas.

d. The source has given a complete military map of Oriente Province to the DRE member he left in charge of Santiago DRE (see para 4 above). Information is passed from Santiago to the DRE in Habana and the latter, in turn, is to forward the information to the States.

why didn't he bring it with him

e. Source said that his contacts who work in Nicaro report that the Nicaro-Mayari Arriba area is restricted and that unknown types of military installations are being constructed.

f. The foreign instructors in the University of Oriente consist of Czechs and Chileans. The Czechs have started a new medical school in the university and the Chileans have taken over the Business Administration Courses.

1. The student resistance organization in Habana is the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil (DRE, Student Revolutionary Directory). One of its leaders is 06 Lester García Rosales who is the chief of finance for Habana Province. ~~Xhm~~ 06 Roberto Quintairos Santiso is the general coordinator of the DRE. He has an external line of communication, running out of Cuba, through an official of the 11 Uruguayan Embassy in Habana. 06 Quintairos replaced 06 Ricardo ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ Menendez, who is also known as 08 "El ~~XXXX~~ Chino" (the Chinaman). The latter was arrested by the Cuban security forces in January 1962 and is presently in prison.

2. The DRE has a clandestine propaganda newspaper called Trinchera, but~~xxxx~~ it is publish on a very irregular basis.

3. In order to finance its activities the DRE sells bonds in one and five peso denominations. However, because of the security conditions in Cuba, one must be very careful in selling the bonds or else he may sell one to a government agent who are constantly trying to provoke oppositionists to show themselves.

4. During the latter part of February 1962 two bombs exploded in the University of Habana. It was said that the bombing was done by the DRE.

NEW REPORT- SAME SOURCE

In all my time in Habana and until 6 March 1962, the date of my departure, I new saw more than 3 Cuban air force jet/ planes in the air at one time. I have talked to my friends, particularly one who lives near the airstrip at Campo libertad, an no one has seen more than this number in the air at one time. This leaves us to believe that the air force does not have as many jets as they say they have.

d. *Rafael SANTANA Alvarez DPOB - 7 November 1932, Las Villas. Subject ~~was a~~ chauffeur (taxi-driver) and plans to be at 7750 Normandy Drive, Apt. 2, Miami, Florida, while in PBPRIME. He stated that he resided 08 at Bernaza No. 210, Havana, Cuba. Though he was not a member of any clandestine group, he assisted the MRR group in Caibarien and just recently assisted others to leave the country. Subject and the aforementioned persons departed Cuba on board the Cuban M/V BLANCA ESTRELLA owned by INRA 08 but operated by Subject's brother Israel SANTANA Alvarez, who dropped them 06 at Anguila and returned to Cuba to bring others out that were supposed to meet them, but they missed their connections. Subject's group departed from Isabela de Sagua, Las Villas 24 January 1962 at approximately 2400 hours. On 22 December 1961 a group of approximately twenty militiamen and men from the ORI were drinking in various bars and displaying the Communist flag. Anyone who appeared to be unsympathetic was beaten. They also went to the homes of some who were suspected of being anti-Castroites and would beat them also. They beat up approximately twenty persons. This took place in Caibarien, Las Villas. Subject was one of many arrested between 22 and 26 December. When they were taken to a restaurant across from the G-2 office, Subject managed to escape. The other three men that came with him on the boat managed to hide him until they made good their escape by boat. Subject lists the following as G-2 agents:

Antonio OBREGON Correa, Mayor of Caibarien, Las Villas
One TOYO (nickname) is the head of the G-2 in Caibarien
(fnu) VILLASON is the assistant to TOYO
Evaristo HERRERA, who also works on a boat transhipping sugar from Cayo Frances to Caibarien, Las Villas
Roberto ROJOS aka ESPONJO
Luciano BENTAJA, Juanito BENTAJA and four other brothers
Guillermo SANTANA, Andres SANTANA, Lorenzo SANTANA

Cuban G-2

Subject further stated that Pedro MONTERO, Alejo MONTERO and Eduardo MONTERO are active members of the MRR group in Caibarien, Las Villas. 06, 06, 06 06 Francisco ROBLE is the active coordinator for the MRP in this area. Andres and Guillermo GONZALEZ (fishermen) are informers for the G-2 in Caibarien. They will propose that they help Cubans get out of the country. When all preparations are set up, the fishermen inform on those wanting to leave. The same applies to Jose (Pepe) MIRO, Evelio GARCIA and Lado COPA, all of Caibarien, Las Villas. Subject also stated that the 381st and 382nd Battalion of militia are presently in Caibarien, Las Villas. Subject states he is willing to return to Cuba and work for the underground. (Source Comment: If this subject is to be used in any manner, please be reminded that he claims to have escaped from the G-2. He may be trying to infiltrate the groups here or he may be trying to find out how the DRE operates in the Las Villas zone.

AR: FYI

1. During your recent TDY to Headquarters, 05 you requested all available information regarding a young Cuban named LASA who talked to Identity 1.

2. Identity 2 met with 05 Jose Maria LASA Urrutibeascoa and Identity 1 on 2 October 1961. Identity 1, apparently, had been requested by Subject's uncle, a Cuban official in Switzerland, to meet with LASA who had recently departed from Cuba under a safe conduct agreement.

3. During the conversation 05 LASA 05 talked about his uncle, an old school friend of Identity 1 and, also, Subject's father, a minor Cuban Government official also stationed in Switzerland. Both the uncle and father were in disagreement with the CASTRO Government and there was some indication that one or both were willing to defect. Although this point was touched only obliquely, Identity 2 gathered that Subject wanted to get his father into this country with some assurance of support. The question was not asked directly and no commitments were made or implied.

4. After this relatively short talk in Identity 1's office, Subject and Identity 2 went into a conference room where he gave Identity 2 papers dealing with the organization and purpose of the DRE (which were already available) and said he would work with the students in the future. 05 LASA also expressed a wish to go to Switzerland for the purpose of informing the International Red Cross group there of the inhumane treatment of Cuban political prisoners.

5. In parting, Identity 2 had a distinct impression that Subject had not really accomplished the primary objective of his visit, and as he was returning to Miami, the foregoing was passed to Identity 3.

6. For further information on Subject refer to WAVE-8368, 9 Oct 61; DIR-17475, 12 Oct 61; and DIR-23974, 14 Nov 61. Also, see copy of GNVA-1631 (Attachment 2).

1. The source of the information contained in subsequent paragraphs is Jose Ricardo Rabel Ortega, A 12 821 451, Cuban national who is the oldest son of Jose Ricardo Rabel Nunez, the present national director of "Viviendas Campesinas" in Cuba. Source was a Navy cadet at the Mariel Academy from February 1960 to November 1961. As part of the curriculum source spent two weeks in Minas del Frio, Oriente Province, during the latter part of 1960. From February to 12 July 1962, source worked for Viviendas Campesinas as a general office clerk. He may be reached at the following address: c/o Manuel Gomez, 539 NE 70th Street, Miami, Florida, USA.

2. Source gave the following information which is repeated verbatim herein.

08, 06

"In a conversation on 13 July 1962 in Havana, my brother-in-law, Fernando Gomez Fonseca, told me that the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil (DRE) in Cuba had received 14 tons of arms and munitions to be used in the near future against the Communist regime of Cuba. He also told me that experts in the handling of explosives were entering Cuba for sabotage of bridges and railroads.

My brother-in-law, Fernando Gomez Fonseca, is in charge of the DRE in Havana Province. I also know Laureano ("Lino") Pequeno (Jr), who is one of the most important DRE leaders in Cuba. 06

In the conversation, I learned also that the DRE is expecting another ship with arms and ammunition in the near future and a yacht which is now in a Latin American country. The yacht is for use in activities against the Castro government.

The activities against the Castro government to be carried out by the DRE are expected to start within a month or two months at the latest.

2. Source said he formerly belonged to the DRE, but after Playa Giron it disintegrated. Nevertheless, he said, he was able to keep in contact with a few DRE people who are in Havana. He said details on the DRE could be obtained from Manuel Salvat, but he did state that he belonged to the DRE group headed by a brother of Diaz Lanz. This brother is still in Havana. He said this group wants to engage in political assassination, and has repeatedly requested that pistols with silencers be sent from the United States.

3. Source said that his cousin, Salvador *Jomolca, is a guerrilla leader in Las Villas Province, more specifically, operating between Matanzas and Corralillo. He said that his cousin is a lieutenant about 30 years old. He has a small group, few arms, and very little ammunition. He is trying to get outside help but there is no method of communicating with him.

4. Source said that Salvador Jomolca is married to a daughter of "Campito", the elder. (Comment: A previous source reported that there are two "Campito"s, a father and his son. The son is the most reported upon guerrilla leader, the father apparently only accompanying the son.)

2. Subjects a and b are sisters and were questioned together. On the topic of reception of radio programs in Cuba, both were agreed that the best reception was the "Voz de las Americas" which came in strong and clear with rarely any interference jamming. Program content was described as generally good, gave a morale boost to the audience and was becoming popular.

3. In commenting on Radio Las Americas, they pointed out that they had not heard it or attempted to tune in because they felt the quality was much the same as its predecessor, "Radio Swan" which lost its prestige prior to and during the April 1961 invasion attempt. Both declared this was a general opinion among their acquaintances.

4. Subjects commented very favorably on programs heard over station XEW, Mexico and WRUL, New York, describing reception and content as good and with large audiences in Cuba.

5. In referring to other programs, subjects reported that on 1 May, relatives in the Matanzas area telephoned them in Havana to tell them that the "students" (DRE) were on again (TV intrusion). Also, later in the day, friends in the Vedado area called to tell them to tune into Channel 2, that there was a program there(about 2115 hours local). Unfortunately, they had already sold their TV set since they were leaving soon. Both agreed that the system of announcing the TV intrusion broadcasts over CONTE Aguero's program on WRUL a few minutes prior to the intrusion was the key to large audiences. Almost all GOC oppositionists upon hearing this announcement, start telephoning their friends to tune into the TV channel announced.

6. Concerning the DRE internal organization, subjects reported that they had not been active recently and not witting to clandestine operations. They were aware, however, that the DRE internal net was waiting for the infiltration of AMHINT-53 or AMHINT-2 to brief them on the situation in exile and what support would be forthcoming. They reiterated the reports on two bombs set off in the university area by the DRE and burning of cane and henequen fields in Matanzas and Las Villas.

7. When queried on disturbances in Las Villas and/or Matanzas on or about 3 May, they replied that they heard the persistent rumor that a unit (company or regiment unknown) of militia had bolted and gone up into the Escambray Mountains. No further details were known.

8. When questioned on written propaganda such as flysheets or clandestine newsheets, both declared that the last propaganda seen was the clandestine issue on "Trinchera" (DRE organ), that no other propaganda sheets had been seen since before the April invasion.

9. When asked their impression on anti-CASTRO propaganda in general they felt that it was too negative; that while the exiles and opposition groups were busy tearing down the image of CASTRO, he was before the people with some proposal that was based either on truth, had a ring of truth in it, or at least appealed to the masses. That some of their contacts with young girls who served as "brigadistas" (rural tutors in the campaign for literacy) turned up interesting remarks. These girls claimed that many of the country folk would throw up their hands in dismay when Communism was mentioned to them, and [illegible] thing to do with communism, and yet

10. Subjects also felt that propaganda should be directed more toward that sector of Cubans that are not fanatic Fidelistas or communists, and have not commited themselves to the opposition movement for such reasons as indolence, lack of courage, or economic docibility. Raquel remarked that our propaganda seemed to be divided into two broad categories, one directed at or attacking the hard-core Fidelistas and the other for opposition movement consumption.

11. Subject c above was debriefed for her report on reception of a FALCON broadcast in Havana on 1 May 1962. She stated that she was called by a friend at about 2100 hours on 1 May and told that the DRE Trinchera program was being broadcast over Channel 2 at that moment. Miriam turned on her TV and does not recall how high she had to turn up the volume, but to her recollection, not higher than normal. She heard very clearly, the monologue rebuttal of the CASTRO speech earlier that afternoon. She immediately called two of her friends and subsequently received calls from them and others on reception of the program. Her account of parts of the program and the times stated agree with WAVE' file copies of the program script.

Resistance Activity in Cuba

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES
ACTION: FYI

The following information was provided by Francisco Luis Rodrigues Gonzales (CC-1169), a Cuban refugee who arrived in Spain in early August 1962 and had been active in the Revolutionary Student Directorate, an anti-Government resistance group, while in Cuba.

a. Source has been opposed to the Castro regime ever since the defection of Díaz Lanz in May 1959, and was involved in sabotage activity with the Revolutionary Student Directorate. His immediate supervisor was Angel Fontanills, known as "Charles" in clandestine circles. Alberto Muller, the leader of this group, arrived clandestinely in Cuba in October or November 1960 and began to organize the various groups of the Directorate to bring about an insurrection in the Sierra Maestra area, in Oriente Province. These groups were mainly from the provinces of Las Villas and Havana, and received orders to unite with Muller who was already in the Sierra Maestra. The men went there in small groups, and had the seminary in the Santuario del Cobre as their destination. Once in that spot, they received final instructions and military equipment. Source's group, which consisted of two carloads, entered the Sierra Maestra through Bayamo. Source was riding in the first car. When they arrived on the outskirts of Bayamo, source's car was stopped by the militia, but the car was allowed to pass without any check. A few minutes later they realized that they were being followed and tried to escape. An alarm and shots went up, and they were finally captured and taken prisoner. The second car, which was following close behind them and was warned by the shots, was able to escape. 06

b. The prisoners were taken first to G-2 Headquarters in Santiago de Cuba and later to the Boniato Prison, where they were interrogated by the G-2. There were two American prisoners there, and although source did not know their names, he said that they were from the Guantanamo Naval Base.

c. Muller was taken prisoner a few days later (shortly after the ill-fated invasion of Playa Giron). No arms were taken from him when he was arrested. Had this insurrection been successful, about 1,000 men would have risen up.

d. Of the Muller group, which was called the "127", about 60 prisoners were taken, five of whom, including source, were set free. One of these was an infiltrator called Flores, whom no one trusted since they knew that he was not "one of the group." Another of these was Rolando Valdés D'Wolf who is now in prison in the Fortaleza de la Cabaña serving a nine-year sentence. He was captured trying to escape in a car belonging to a militiaman and wearing a militia uniform. He defended himself bravely, but received five bullet wounds which incapacitated him. The other two who were released were Eduardo Díaz Lanz and Jorge Cruz Peña, a sergeant in the Rebel Army who was with Castro in the Sierra. The latter had actually not been involved in the group. Source thought that he (source) and Díaz Lanz were released so that they might be followed and lead the Government to other groups and individuals in Havana who might be involved in resistance activity. Source had been in prison six months before being released, and one thing which he could not explain was that on the paper that he was given which indicated his release, no mention was made of any sentence or penalty.

e. On several occasions, Muller had been subjected to false execution procedures, with the purpose of trying to make him talk, but he did not weaken. During the trial, "everyone remained firm," and source was told that Muller was very brave in his pronouncements against the Regime and, at every moment, abided by his principles. He presented a very brilliant self-defense.

f. When source was in the Boniato prison, he shared a cell with a Captain Aníbal Rodríguez, who belonged to the MRR. This officer, along with other rebel officers and soldiers, had staged an uprising in Imías, in Oriente Province. Later he was sentenced to death and shot.

g. During his last days in Cuba, source avoided all revolutionary activity, since he wanted to leave Cuba more than anything else. However he knew that the various resistance groups worked hard, carrying out a great deal of independent sabotage activity, although there was not much coordination among the various movements. One movement which had a large membership, especially in Oriente Province, was the M-30-II. This group was planning to launch an insurrection in Pinar del Río in January 1962, but they could not carry it out since the repression in the area was so great.

h. Hans, a member of the Revolutionary Student Directorate, was recently taken prisoner, and it seemed that he was tortured a great deal and talked. As a result of this, a house in Wajay, in Havana Province, was seized and arms and gelatina were found. The owners of the house and other persons were arrested.

SUBJECT GENERAL
SPECIFIC Fritz (aka Fred) [illegible]

Reference: State Dept Control Cable 1437, 14 Nov 52, from Bonn

1. On 11 June 52, the Press Attache of the Paris Embassy wrote us the following memorandum:

> According to French records, Fred [illegible] was born May 31, 1903 in Berlin. He was trained as a lawyer, left Germany in 1931, and appeared in France in 1933. In 1939, he enlisted in the Foreign Legion. Some time in 1940, he was demobilized in Morocco. He fled to Switzerland in 1942, and returned to Paris in May 1945. Since that time, he has worked for "Die Tat" in Zurich, "Libera Stampa," a Socialist daily in Lugano, and other papers. In 1949, he went to work for "Die Welt," the British-controlled newspaper in Hamburg. In February 1951, he was replaced on that paper by a German. At the present time, he works for "Radio Sarrebrucken," as well as for "Der Bund." He was naturalized French in 1947.
> Recently, he was cleared by SHAPE to see everything from the Pyrenees to the Elbe. He did so and made a report on the Atlantic Forces. His articles were considered OK by the French, and even were translated in the press review bulletin, "Documentation."
>
> Some time after the articles had appeared, however, a French official expressed astonishment that [illegible] had been given such wide accreditation. Though he had no proof to offer, this same official made the statement that [illegible] was known to the French as an agent of the Cominform. He gave no further derogatory information.

2. We searched our files, found no previous record of Subject, and informed the Press Attache accordingly.

3. On 17 Nov 52, the Press Attache called our attention to State Dept. Control cable 1437, from Bonn, dated 14 Nov 52, a copy of which is attached hereto for your convenience. Basing our request on the information contained in para 1 above, and on the attached cable from Bonn, we submitted queries concerning Subject to both UNION and UNBOUND.

4. On 28 Jan 53, we received the following reply from UNBOUND:

Fritz (aka Fred) SILSCH, born 31 May 1903 in Berlin, of German origin, the son of Willy and Bertha TU[illegible], acquired French nationality by naturalization on 1 April [illegible]. On 19 October 1933 in Paris 10e, he married his compatriot Edith STRIEM, born 24 August 1905 in Berlin. They have one child, born 25 May 1937, of French nationality.

SILSCH joined the Foreign Legion in 1940 and was demobilized in February 1941. In August 1942, fearing lest he be interned in a camp in the unoccupied zone, he decided to go with his wife to Switzerland. Upon his arrival in Switzerland, he was arrested for clandestine border-crossing and interned in a camp at Martigny, (Valais). Later, he was transferred to a labor camp at Sierre. During his stay in Switzerland, he allegedly wrote several articles under the pseudonym "Basal" in the Swiss socialist press, notably in the paper "Libera-Stampa."

In May 1945, he returned to France and settled at Montrouge (Seine), where he still resides at 211 Avenue Pierre Brossolette. Since 1945, he has had a legal office at 63 rue d'Hauteville, Paris 10e, where, according to a usually reliable source, he is reported to have held meetings with Konstantin [illegible] of the Soviet Commercial Mission (sic - see [illegible] 11555) and with LUCCHINI of the Soviet Information Bureau. The activity of this legal office is, in fact, almost negligible.

Since 1945, he also has operated an office for the settlement of disputed claims for the International Rescue and Relief Committee (I.R.R.C.), 35 Bvd. des Capucines, Paris. He equally is administrator of the firm "Vaak and Sluit" of Antwerp, Belgium.

Security Information

SIMSON devotes the greater part of his activity, however, to journalism. He is a correspondent of various French and foreign newspapers, notably the Swiss paper "Der Bund." He is accredited officially to the French Ministry of Information. He has obtained numerous visas for foreign countries in order to fulfill his professional obligations.

He has never attracted attention from the political point point of view, but we suspect him of being identical with an individual of the same name who belonged to the Swiss "Rote Kapelle" network.

SIMSON is in contact with a man named BURCHARDT (sic - see para 5 below), now a correspondent of "Der Bund" in Paris, and who also is suspected of being identical with an ex-agent of the "Rote Kapelle."

We are continuing our investigation of Frits SIMSON.

5. With regard to the BURCKHARDT mentioned above by UNBOUND, we since have consulted with the Press Attache, who has been able to identify him as follows:

Hans BURCHARDT, born 9 September 1906 in Lahr, Germany, presently residing at 105 Bvd. Voltaire, Paris 11e, economic correspondent for "Der Bund," accredited as a journalist to the Presidence du Conseil on 10 February 1946, also works for the Vereinigten Wirtschafts Dienst of Frankfurt, is known as a serious journalist, but otherwise as a doubtful individual.

6. On 4 Feb 53, we received the following less complete reply from UNION:

Frits (aka Fred) SIMSON, formerly a German lawyer, took refuge in France in 1933. He has opened a legal office in Paris and also occupies himself with journalism. Until now, no unfavorable information has been obtained concerning him.

7. We are making all of the above information available to both the Embassy Press Attache and to SHAPE. We would appreciate receiving all possible further derogatory information concerning SIMSON, his various contacts, and his activities. We would be interested to receive, in particular, any information to confirm UNBOUND's suspicion that SIMSON, and/or BURCKHARDT, used to belong to the "Rote Kapelle" network.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE FILES   29 October 1954

SUBJECT: Passing of RR reports to Brasilian Authorities.

REF. : HEP-A-519

1. On 18 October, Marcos BASTOS, ABERNATHY's colleague in the Brazilian Federal Political Police, informed him that on 15 October he had submitted to the Chief of Police a translation of the reports he had received from ABERNATHY. (BASTOS had been given by ABERNATHY sterilized versions of RR-1 to RR-15, inclusive, and RR-17 to RR-29, inclusive, along with the biographical information of the sources of these reports. RR-16 and RR-30 were not passed to BASTOS because they had been obtained from ALLOPATHY.)

2. On 27 October BASTOS informed ABERNATHY that the translation of the reports had been forwarded by the Chief of Police to Colonel [illegible], the present head of the Federal Political Police in Rio de Janeiro, who, in turn, had forwarded it to José PICORELLI, head of the Political Division of the Political Police, for his recommendations. BASTOS stated that he believed PICORELLI would recommend that the reports be forwarded to the Foreign Office and the War Ministry. BASTOS also intends to give a copy of the translations to Ribeiro de ANDRADE, head of the Servicio de Vigilancia of the Department of Political and Social Order (D.O.P.S.), São Paulo, who has indicated an interest in receiving it.

3. As an introduction to the translation of the reports, BASTOS described briefly Brazil's Stateless refugee immigration problem and the voluntary welfare organizations which assist the immigrants in gaining entry to, and settling in, Brazil. The translation of this introduction is as follows:

> "The current immigration of White Russians into Brazil began in 1948. It has diminished since June 1954 in the face of the decision taken by the National Institute of Colonization and Immigration (Instituto Nacional de Imigração Colonização) (N.I.I.C.) on 16 June 1954. On that date, the Directorate of the N.I.I.C. decided to request that the Ministry of Foreign Relations take the necessary steps to stop the issuance of visas for stateless persons for a period of sixty days.
> "On 30 June, Vicente RAO, then Foreign Minister, sent a circular to all the consulates ordering a stoppage in the issuance of visas until a final decision could be reached.
>
> "On 22 September, the Foreign Office issued to the consulates new instructions, according to which, generally speaking, stateless immigrants are permitted entry to Brazil only if they have in Brazil relatives in the direct line of descent whose economic situation is such that they can guarantee the subsistence of the immigrants.

DUCTIONS

"Nevertheless, it may be noted that there are various stateless persons in Hong Kong, with their respective passports in order, awaiting accommodations on one of the five ships of the Hong Kong-Buenos Aires line: the "BOISSEVAIN", "RUYS", "TJISADANE", "TEGELBERG", and "TJALENKA".(1)

"The difficulties which the international organizations encounter in obtaining complete and reliable information on the immigrants are due to a large extent to the fact that these immigrants always reside in areas far removed from the locales of the organizations' offices. One must also recognize the fact that included among the stateless immigrants is a large number of persons useful to Brazil, such as the following types of workers: mechanics, engineers, electricians, chemists, etc.

"There are twelve international organizations who are responsible for preparing the immigrants for the journey - or better, the exit - of these stateless refugees from China and various European countries. They are:

1. A.J.D.C. - American Joint Distribution Committee, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
2. E.O.I. - Entr'Aide Ouvrière Internationale (International Workers' Mutual Aid)
3. H.I.A.S. - Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
4. I.C.M.C. - International Catholic Migration Commission, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
5. I.S.S. - International Social Service, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
6. I.R.C. - International Rescue Committee. Has no representatives in Brazil.
7. L.W.F. - Lutheran World Federation, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
8. N.C.W.C. - National Catholic Welfare Conference, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
9. S.A.E. - Swiss Aid to Europe. Has no representation in Brazil.
10. T.F. - Tolstoi Foundation, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.
11. U.U.A.R.C. - United Ukrainian American Relief Committee.
12. W.C.C. - World Council of Churches, with offices in Rio and São Paulo.

"Two of these organizations handle the largest number of arrivals. One is the W.C.C. whose office in Rio is located at Praia do Flamengo, 180, apt. 602; its office in São Paulo is at Rua D. Veridiana, 390. The São Paulo office is under the direction of Miss Rachel de CARVALHO.(2) The other organization is the N.C.W.C., whose office in Rio is at Avenida Churchill 60; its office in São Paulo is in the Church of Peace (Igreja da Paz) on Rua Glicerio. The São Paulo office is under the direction of Father Mario.(3)

"Since 25 April 1954, many stateless persons who have been unable to obtain a visa for Brazil, Canada or Australia have been repatriated to the U.S.S.R. As a result of this repatriation, it is possible, though not probable, that some elements may be sent from China to Brazil to engage in subversive activities here, while members of their families, who have been repatriated to Russia, are held as hostages there."

Report No: K/P 5929.

Date of Information: Current

Place Acquired: France, Paris

Date Acquired: 8 January 1952

Evaluation: C-3

Date of Report: 12 January 1952

Source: Through a fairly reliable source from an informant with PCF contacts.

1. Joseph LEGRAND, involved in the "Pronnier affair" and as a result expelled from the Central Committee of the PCF in the Spring of 1951, was recently re-assigned the position as Administrative Secretary of the Regional Miners Federation (CGT) in the Nord and Pas-de-Calais regions. Auguste LECOEUR was instrumental in securing this reassignment for LEGRAND, according to source.

2. [illegible] (Leon) and [illegible] (Emile) who were in charge for two years of the reorganization of the Regional Federation have been placed under LEGRAND's orders and have been charged with "insufficient action".

3. LEGRAND has been given "full powers" to visit all syndicates and to eliminate those [illegible] elements judged unnecessary, reducing the directing organisms of the various syndicates. Source stated that LEGRAND's activities are partially dictated by financial necessity and that staffs will be reduced for economic reasons.

4. [illegible] (fnu), Secretary of the Miners' syndicate of Denain (Nord), has been charged with reorganizing the Valenciennes sector, in particular the [illegible]-sur-l'Escaut region, which "has fallen into lethargy as a result of the inertia of the traitor [illegible] (Emile)". According to source, [illegible], former Secretary General of the miners CGT syndicate in Anzin, has for some time been in line for dismissal as a result of lack of discipline and incompetence in syndicate affairs. However, no one wanted to take the responsibility for dismissing him. The first act performed by LEGRAND in his new position was to fire him.

5. [illegible] recently declared that he also has been given full power to purge miners syndicates and that [illegible] (Charles) will not be a CGT candidate in the next elections for miners' delegates.

REF: OFPA-[illegible], [illegible] February 1953

1. The following information on Frederic SIEGG, believed to be identical with your subject, has been translated from a raw report in German received from a "well-placed source in the West German Government", and transmitted to headquarters in MGLA-2606, 24 March 1952:

Name: SIEGG, Frederic (Fred)
Born: 31 May 1[illegible] in Berlin
Address: Montrouge s/Seine, 111 Avenue [illegible]
Profession: Journalist, currently correspondent of the Swiss newspaper "Der Bund", the German daily "Die Welt", and of "Radio Stuttgart".

A politically doubtful person who received an entrance visa for West Germany valid for six months on 22 January 1952. According to information from the French Ministry of Interior (the S. R.), SIEGG was working for the Communist paper "Die Zukunft" (Munzenberger) before the war and during the war for the Swiss Communist newspapers "Die Tat", "Volksstimme", and "Arbeiterzeitung". Allegedly not a Communist! At any rate so stated the present Press Attache of the Consul General (the German Consulate General, Paris) Alexander/EQ.[illegible]/[illegible], on his behalf when SIEGG applied for a visa. On 22 January SIEGG submitted a written invitation on behalf of the newspaper, "Die Welt", "Stuttgart" (Radio), Frankfurt a.M. Nationality: Formerly German. Emigrated (Jew) about 1934 to France where he acquired French citizenship. According to his own statement, ~~he was advised~~ by the West German Press Office in Bonn to apply again for German citizenship as he,

after all, was working for German newspapers. However, he declined, stating that he had a bad press in Bonn anyway. He further stated that he had serious differences of opinion with Paul BOURDIN, Adenauer's former press chief. When Adenauer was not yet Chancellor of West Germany, but only President of the Parliamentary Council, he was refused p permission to interview Adenauer during his Swiss conference. He had never forgiven him for this.

2. We note that there are several references to Alexander L.[illegible] (presumably, Alexander [illegible]) in [illegible]'s file (see [illegible], 12963, 12725, and 12741), and that [illegible] has been closely associated with William [illegible], Georg [illegible] and, probably, others of the [illegible] group. We are also interested in the fact that [illegible] was introduced to [illegible] by Alex [illegible] (see [illegible]). We wonder if Alex [illegible] (correct spelling probably [illegible]), is identical with Alexandre Alexandrovich [illegible], reported in [illegible]-5953 as a contact of Konstantin [illegible], Vice Consul at the Soviet Consulate in Paris, and a suspected [illegible] agent, and if [illegible] has been in contact with [illegible] as alleged.

3. The Hans BURCHARDT now in Paris as economic correspondent for "der Bund", probably is identical with the Hans BURCHARDT mentioned in the "Final EQUAL Report" ([illegible], Part III, Vol. I, p. 34), which states:

Name: Dr. Hans BURCHARDT
Address: Bern, 6 [illegible]
Nationality: German, born [illegible] September 1906 in [illegible]
Occupation: Journalist. [illegible] in Paris as representative of "Europa Presse" of Frankfurt-am-Main, and of "Presse Telegraphique Suisse" of Bern.
Espionage: Unknown, but contact of FOOTE (Alexander) during war.

Part III, Vol. II, P. 31 of the "Final EQUAL Report", of which you have a copy, lists a Charles [illegible], but there is no mention of Frederic (or Fritz) SIMON in the report, or in [illegible]'s study on the Rote Kapelle.

4. We are unable to identify the (fnu) [illegible] of the Soviet Information Bureau with whom SIMON and Konstantin [illegible] held meetings in 1945. The International Rescue (sic) and Relief Committee for which SIMON operates an office, is the International Rescue and Relief Committee which has offices at 103 Park Avenue, New York City, and 53 Boulevard des Capucines, Paris. The organization is an outgrowth of the former International Relief Committee and the Emergency Relief Committee. It was formed originally to assist refugees from Nazi Germany. Since 1945 it has functioned as an anti-fascist organization assisting refugees without regard to nationalities. Although not ostensibly a Communist organization, several Communists have been affiliated with it (see [illegible]) and, therefore, membership in the I.R.R.C. should be viewed with some suspicion.

5. We shall be most interested in any further information on SIMSON and his associates you develop, and in any information on Alex [illegible] you may be able to obtain through appropriate sources. A copy of [illegible], which had not come to our attention previously, is attached. Only the reference to SIMSON has been translated as we were unable to have the entire document translated for prompt transmittal to you.

SUBJECT International Rescue Committee's Program for Hungarian Refugees

During a recent luncheon conversation the Ambassador suggested to General Donovan and other officers of the International Rescue Committee (IRC) that this organization might investigate the advisability of devoting part of its funds and efforts on the student groups among the Hungarian refugees. General Donovan and other members of the Board of IRC have acted favorably upon this proposal. A memo of conversation attached as Enclosure 1 to this despatch indicates the general lines of action being followed by this organization.

General Donovan also discussed with Mr. R. R. Brown, OFC, Frankfurt, the question of [illegible] administrative support for IRC's HRP and student programs and was counseled to submit estimates of the costs prior to contract negotiations.

Claiborne Pell reports the aims of the International Rescue Committee to be as follows:

1. Care and maintenance of and counseling and other assistance to 1000 students (predominantly university rather than high school) for one year. Although IRC will take care of the students whom they have ensured, wherever they may be, the Austrian Government has agreed to pay 18 shillings per day for all of these students who remain in Austria. IRC will endeavor to have some of its students qualify for scholarships offered by U.S. universities and others for 500 scholarships offered by the French Government, as well as any others which may be available. In the case of any student who obtains a full scholarship, IRC's assistance to him will consist primarily of counseling assistance and supplemental aid, if required.

This has been given up.

2. A hostel for 100 students is being established and will be operated near Paris by the French branch of IRC.

3. IRC is covering expenses of a student hostel in Vienna — estimated capacity 300 students.

4. IRC is covering the costs of a hostel for a reported 150 students on Wolfgangsee.

5. IRC has purchased a Volkswagen bus which starts operating as of today near Andau, shuttling refugees from the border to the collection station 6 kilometers away.

6. IRC will furnish 500 assurances under RRP for the U.S. 200 have already been covered. These assurances are not limited to students or intellectuals but the Committee would prefer to assist these types insofar as possible.

7. Some two weeks ago IRC offered the Ministry of Interior to cover the cost of 1000 beds. At the time no beds were available for purchase in Austria so the deal was called off by the Ministry. Since then the Ministry has not followed up IRC's proposal, (although I have personally suggested on occasion to Ministry officials that they should not let this opportunity drop) but IRC still stands ready to cover its commitment.

Poll stated that he had passed along to New York your suggestion that the agency cover provision of clothing and glasses books in Camp Kilmer. However, he anticipates that most agencies will probably cover their own cases with regard to such needs and he does not expect IRC to undertake the entire burden. He did state, however, that the Committee was bringing in two or three more people to support the operation in Vienna. In France they are looking into the Free Europe University in Strasbourg but would prefer not to become associated with FEC because of its government connections.

REFUGEES MAY BE SENT TO U. S.

PROFESSIONAL MEN

By Our Diplomatic Correspondent

A thousand Eastern European anti-Communist refugees of the professional classes may be sent for employment to the United States by the International Rescue Committee. Mr. David Martin, the Committee's Executive Director, is in London on his way to Paris and other capitals to investigate the scheme's possibilities.

It is also proposed to establish, probably in London and Paris, European institutes for the study by refugee experts of every aspect of life in East Europe. Mr. Martin said yesterday:

"The time has come when the free nations must use this mass of human talent to record what is going on and to ensure there are groups available to revive culture in Eastern Europe when the time arrives. We are prepared to bring 1,000 intellectuals to the United States and could, I think, absorb 2,000 - 3,000.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

In June of 1954 this office received a case from ASCA for a woman by the name of PLASILOVA, Vera Maria, who was born in Teplice, Czechoslovakia, on March 01, 1927. At the time her case was submitted to this office she was a student in Geneva residing at 3 Avenue Calas, and she was being processed for immigration to South America.

During a routine check conducted on this individual this office learned that Plasilova was associated with one Siegfried Milly, a suspected espionage agent in Switzerland. The information did not indicate that Plasilova was implicated in Milly's activities. On the other hand, it was indicated that an entry visa to France was cancelled by the French authorities. It was indicated that our sources in Geneva did not have direct access to police files on Plasilova which are alleged to be voluminous. No attempt was made on the part of American personnel to analyze the case at that time. However, it was the opinion of a competent American officer in Geneva that Plasilova should have been questioned in detail about her background and activities for the past seven years.

Based on the above information, Plasilova was denied USEP eligibility. On August 24 I wrote to the American Consulate in Geneva advising them that Plasilova had left Switzerland and immigrated to Mexico on July 5, 1954. Her transportation was covered by a Revolving Fund Loan from the International Rescue Committee because USEP eligibility had been denied. I advised the Consulate that it was my opinion that this information should be brought to the attention of proper American authorities in Geneva, in that Plasilova's presence in Mexico might not be in the best interests of the United States.

REF: A. DIR 25707
B. [illegible] 1007
C. EGBA 5040

1. Synopsis: In accordance with the request contained in Reference A, a summarized evaluation of the potentialities of Identity 1 was forwarded in Reference B. This dispatch is prepared to record in greater detail the information forwarded in Reference B and to report the latest developments concerning Identity 1.

2. Several weeks following the 17 June 1953 demonstrations, a group of East German refugees, who identified themselves as "strike leaders", were reported as forming Identity 1. From several sources, it was determined that the group was receiving behind the scenes moral support, momentum and guidance from such persons as Edward S. Van Fine, Paul V. Boudreau and others who allegedly wished to create a roof organization for West Berlin resistance-type groups. It was previously known that Van Fine was very active for over six months attempting to establish a central file for information concerning East Germany to which all West Berlin organizations would be required to submit information. Publicly, his reason for this was to simplify coordination activities among the Berlin groups, but it is known that his real reason was to establish a personal measure of control over all of these organizations. In the past, his efforts had been unsuccessful due to, among other factors, the absence of a convenient "carrier" organization. The continuing efforts upon the part of Boudreau to regain the position he had prior to his dismissal from [illegible] are a matter of record.

3. It appeared that the creation of Identity 1 as a separate entity would not add anything of constructive nature to the general "cold war" front, and further, that its existence under the behind scenes guidance of the persons mentioned above would merely complicate the already complicated West Berlin scene. The BOB position was, therefore, to attempt to prevent the formation of Identity 1 and to recruit the assets available among the "strike leaders" upon an individual basis. Reference C contains a description of the activities of DILDEL in this regard.

4. On 10 July 1953, prior to the initial meeting of Identity 1, CADORY invited the "strike leaders" to visit the CADORY establishment to be briefed of the manner in which CADORY carries out its East German mission. During this visit, a number of the "strike leaders" discovered that the CADORY East German program encompassed all of the points which were hoped to be obtained by the formation of Identity 1, and since this would constitute an obviously undesirable duplication of effort, approximately ten of the "strike leaders" indicated that they would give their support to CADROIT or other existing organizations rather than to the new group. (The German language report of the CADROIT meeting is forwarded under separate cover as Attachment "A")

5. On 21 July 1953, a special meeting of various West Berlin government and resistance group representatives was called to discuss the feasibility and desirability of encouraging the formation of Identity 1. With few exceptions, all of the major organizations expressed the view outlined in paragraph 3 above. The suggestion was officially voiced that the members of Identity 1 should lend their support to existing organizations. (A German language report of this meeting prepared by the CADROIT representative is forwarded under separate cover as Attachment "B")

6. On 12 August 1953, a meeting was called by HICOG-EAD of representatives of U.S. intelligence organizations in Berlin. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the possibility that the formation of Identity 1 might constitute a threat to the security of American forces in Berlin. HICOG had also received an erroneous report that DTLINEN and CADROIT were rendering Identity 1 financial support. The latter impression was corrected during the meeting, and it was determined that Identity 1 would probably not constitute a threat if it did not receive or develop financial backing. At the time of these discussions, it did not appear likely that Identity 1 would receive such support, and its assets would probably be absorbed in other West Berlin or West German organizations. There were indications that several of the "strike leaders," with the aid of ZRCODIFY, were gaining employment in the Federal Republic.

7. The only direct contact established by BOB with any of the "strike leaders" was with Identity 2, who was considered for employment with DTLINEN. The nature of this contact is essentially covered in the following correspondence: SBRLN 0063, DIR 18181 and EGP-A 6120. Identity 2 was not hired by DTLINEN.

8. On 17 October 1953, the Chairman of Identity 1, Identity 3, informed Nelson O. Henard that he (Identity 3) intended to resign from Identity 1 since he was receiving insufficient support to make a living. He stated that although he was receiving some support from Identity 4, it was not enough to maintain his organization upon a working basis. Identity 3 said that he had made several radio appearances, and that as a result of these, Identity 1 had been receiving up to one hundred visitors a day. He reported that he had attempted to gain financial support from the West German Ministry for All German Affairs and other organizations, but had been unsuccessful. He then suggested to Henard that Identity 1 and CADROIT could establish a covert working agreement with the latter organization furnishing the funds. The offer had one attractive aspect, namely, that CADROIT could, through the assets and name of Identity 1, broaden its present mission and expand into other fields of psychological warfare. However, for the reasons outlined in paragraph 3 above, Henard was instructed to sever all contact with Identity 3. After he was informed that CADROIT would not endorse the suggested working arrangement, Identity 3 admitted to Henard that there were undesirable elements within Identity 1 who would have to be removed before the organization could function effectively.

9. In accordance with the request contained in Reference A that a study of Identity 1 be made, discussions have been held with Identity 5. He stated that he was well aware of the activities of Identity 1 and that they were closely associated with the development of the TPOCCULT Berlin office. Shortly following the Stockholm meeting of TPOCCULT, Grambo, Identity 6 and others met with Identity 5 in Berlin to discuss the advisability of increasing the activities of TPOCCULT in Eastern Germany. Identity 5 felt at the time that Grambo and Identity 6 appeared to be the force necessary to get TPOCCULT on its feet in West Berlin. It was decided that TPOCCULT would form a Berlin office which would be responsible exclusively for East German operations. Although the mission of this office was not initially established, discussion apparently centered about the formation of an underground trade union to oppose the East German FDGB. Identity 6 and Grambo indicated that funds in the amount of DMW 1,000,000 would be provisionally available.

10. Identity 7, an East German refugee who was an active labor leader and had worked with the SPD Ostbüro, was designated the chief of the new TPOCCULT office. He commenced work immediately, but it soon became apparent that he was not going to cooperate with either CADCNA or ZRCODIFY Berlin, other than to use the latter's offices. Identity 5 states that efforts were made by West German and Belgian representatives of TPOCCULT to bring Identity 7 into closer harmony with CADCNA, but these were fruitless. Identity 7 kept knowledge of his activities from ZRCODIFY members, and it also became apparent that he was not informing TPOCCULT of everything either. The latter has evidenced a growing distrust and dislike for Identity 7 which has almost approached the state of complete disassociation. (For recent evidence of TPOCCULT by-passing its own Berlin office, see EGD-A 11223 which describes a TPOCCULT overture to DTLINEN.)

11. Since the TPOCCULT Berlin office was more or less an outgrowth of the 17 June demonstrations, it was natural that Identity 1 would seek a close working association with that group. An attempt was made, but apparently Identity 7, as an individual, prevented the establishment of an effective working relationship. On the other hand, CADCNA looked upon the TPOCCULT office under the leadership of Identity 7 as an increasingly undesirable element in the Berlin and East German scene. According to Identity 5, it was about this time that Boudreau began making overtures to CADCNA, reportedly acting as an "unofficial" representative of Identity 1. Since then, CADCNA apparently has considered Identity 1 as an activity to offset the undesirable operations of Identity 7 and has reportedly been funneling some funds (amount unknown) to Identity 1, possibly through Boudreau. Identity 5 is aware that CADCNA speaks highly of Boudreau, an observation which has been reported by John H. Quintance also.

12. Identity 5 reported further that Boudreau has been quite active gaining publicity for Identity 1. He has, for example, coordinated with Identity 8 in the preparation of an article concerning 17 June for Identity 9. During the Fall of 1953, Identity 8 introduced Identity 5 to Boudreau, and since that time, the latter has frequently pressed Identity 5 for U.S. support of Identity 1. Identity 5 has always told Boudreau that Identity 1 is completely a labor matter and that proper liaison should be made with either TPOCCULT or ZRCODIFY. Identity 5 introduced Boudreau to an American representative of the AFL, but there was no indication of the amount of interest the latter organization showed in the affairs of Identity 1. Recently, Boudreau published a study of the events of 17 June (the source of funds for this venture is unknown, but Identity 5 suggested that they may have come from CADCNA). Boudreau, giving credit to Identity 1 for the material in the report, has mailed copies of the booklet to prominent public figures throughout West Berlin, among them Identity 5 and CADONA. About one week after Identity 5 received his copy, Boudreau telephoned him requesting comment concerning the publication and reiterating his former requests for U.S. support of Identity 1. (A copy of Boudreau's booklet was given John H. Quintance by CADONA. This copy is forwarded under separate cover as Attachment "C")

13. It was reported in Reference B that Identity 5 felt that a major portion of Identity 1's financial support stemmed from Identity 10 sources, however, he now feels that what little support Identity 1 is receiving comes from CADONA for the reasons outlined in paragraph 11 above. Identity 5 was aware that Identity 1 had received welfare items from Identity 4 for further distribution among the families of persons who had been arrested for taking part in the 17 June demonstrations. To his knowledge, however, no funds, as such, were ever given Identity 1 from this source.

14. Nelson C. Henard recently reported that Identity 3 has resigned from his position in Identity 1 and is now practicing law in Western Germany. Henard also stated that he has heard of no recent activity upon the part of Identity 1 and has heard of no replacement being named to fill the post vacated by Identity 3.

15. The membership list of Identity 1 as reported in EGBW-207 agrees in part with a list forwarded by Henard. For comparison purposes, the latter list is forwarded under separate cover as Attachment "D".

16. Since it appears that Identity 1, although reportedly not very active, has been receiving a small amount of financial support from CADONA, it is possible that a continued investigation of its activities may be warranted. If so, it is suggested that future queries be directed to John H. Quintance, the BOQUANT Case Officer who has direct contact with CADONA. Since the attachments are forwarded in single copies, it is requested that they be forwarded to the Home Office following perusal.

[illegible] February, 1952

TO: Chief of Station, Paris

FROM: Chief, [illegible]

SUBJECT: [illegible] "[illegible] Concernant [illegible] Otto [illegible] International"

Louis FISCHER

Reference: [illegible] dated 31 October 1951

1. The files of this office reveal the following information concerning the subject:

(a) The name of Louis FISCHER appeared in connection with the Paul and Hede MASSING case. The FBI report on the interrogation of the MASSINGS dated 8 October 1947 stated that the MASSINGS have known Louis and Markoosha FISCHER over a period of many years. They first knew them very intimately in Moscow in the period [illegible]-1931. At that time FISCHER, who was foreign correspondent for the magazine The Nation, was very pro-Soviet. During this period Hede took the two FISCHER boys to Germany where she kept them for almost 2 years and acted as their governess and teacher. This report further stated that in 1937 after the MASSINGS had returned from Moscow having broken with the Russians, they saw the FISCHERS quite often, and they found that the FISCHERS were also breaking with the Soviets. As of 1947 the MASSINGS were still friendly with both of the FISCHERS and saw them from time to time.

(b) In a report dated 5 August 1950 reviewing his activities in Russia during the 1920s and 1930s, it was stated that FISCHER was well known to have enjoyed unusually close contact with Soviet officials particularly in the Soviet Foreign Office. He sometimes had direct contact with Maxim LITVINOV, Soviet Foreign Affairs Commissar, and was reputed to have something like a pipe-line to the Kremlin through the outstanding Bolshevik journalist, Karl RADEK. RADEK and most of FISCHER's well-placed contacts were liquidated in the Great Purge of 1937-38, and all this contributed, no doubt, to FISCHER's disillusionment and disenchantment with the Soviet Regime. In any event, he contrived with difficulty to get his Soviet-citizen wife and two sons, who had dual U.S.-Soviet citizenship, out of the USSR. Mrs. Eleanor ROOSEVELT was credited by FISCHER with having obtained the exit visas through personal intercession with Soviet Ambassador OUMANSKY in Washington for the Soviet authorities were well aware by this time of FISCHER's disaffection. This report also stated that FISCHER was active during the Spanish Civil War in support of the Loyalists and was reputed to have had good contacts with the last Republican Prime Minister, NEGRIN, who was generally regarded as a Soviet stooge. However by this time FISCHER was regarded in Moscow as a "Trotskyist." The report continued by stating that FISCHER had been very active in supporting the Indian Nationalist cause and was on very good terms with GANDHI. At the same time he had become very critical of the USSR and Communists generally. During 1949 and 1950 he displayed some interest in the Russian emigres in Germany, those who were former Soviet citizens, and collaborated with Boris A. SHUB in publishing a book in the U.S. entitled Thirteen Who Fled which is a compilation of the reputed life stories of certain Russian emigres, mainly from the Vlasov movement.

In this report Markoosha or Bertha FISCHER, wife of Louis FISCHER, who was born in Latvia, was said to have written some books under the name of Markoosha FISCHER. At one time she was a secretary of CHICHERIN, the early Soviet Foreign Affairs Commissar, and Louis FISCHER met her while she was working for CHICHERIN at the Rapallo Conference in the early 1920s. Although she had been very strongly pro-Soviet in Moscow, she reportedly was very bitterly hostile in her present anti-Soviet expressions and writings. Since the war she spent some time in Munich as the representative of the International Rescue Committee of New York. She was reported to have left Germany some time in 1949 to go to Italy where she was supposed to have worked on a book said to be a work of fiction. This document stated that Markoosha FISCHER was currently living at a farm which she owns at Keller's Church, Pa., near Quakertown, Pa., but that she was seeking employment again in work aiding DPs.

Another section of this report was devoted to George FISCHER, son of Louis and Markoosha FISCHER, who is sometimes known by the Russian diminutive, Yuri. He was educated in both Germany and Moscow and came to the U.S. at 14 years of age with his mother. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin. Serving as a captain in Air Force Intelligence during the war, he was used on missions in USSR where his knowledge of Russian proved very useful. This report stated that following the war George FISCHER was at Harvard for several years on a Lowell fellowship and had been working on his thesis for his doctorate. He has done considerable writing on the origins and history of the Vlasov Movement, his output being probably the best material available. To obtain material for articles appearing in a number of American magazines, he made several trips to the Munich area and other DP centers in Germany. His most recent trips were on behalf of the Russian Research Center of Harvard University, and he seemed to enjoy the confidence of Professors KARPOVICH and FAINSOD there. While in Germany in April, 1950, he was travelling on orders from the Air Force Intelligence. He is an officer of the Air Force Reserve. This report further stated that in August 1950 he returned from another trip to Germany where he conducted negotiations for the Harvard Russian Research Center in connection with the establishment in Munich of a Russian Research Institute and also to arrange the details of the Harvard Russian Center's project of sending a group of students to Germany the autumn of 1950 to study the Russian emigration. He informed Professor FAINSOD that upon his return he was withdrawing from further work for the Harvard Russian Research Center in order to concentrate on his thesis. George FISCHER's principal contact in Germany was Boris YAKOVLEV, head of the Vlasovite group, Soiuz Borby za Osvobozhdenie Narodov Rossii (Militant Union for Liberation of Peoples of Russia), the SBONR. On earlier trips he had been in touch with Philip LEGOSTAYEV, chief of SBONR's security section, but since LEGOSTAYEV was reported to be suffering from cancer and therefore not active, FISCHER's later contacts with him were second-hand. George FISCHER is reported to have talked with Col. POZDNYAKOV in connection with research which POZDNYAKOV was doing for Harvard, but FISCHER did not have close contacts with him.

(c) The FBI in an investigative report on Carol [illegible] BRANDT dated 4 January 1952 stated that an informant of known reliability advised that in October and December 1941 and also in January 1942 Louis FISCHER, who then resided at Hotel Duane, 237 Madison Avenue, New York City, was in contact with Carol HILL, literary agent, 22 East 40th Street, New York City. This report quoted a review of FISCHER's book Men and Politics in the 12 May 1941 issue of Time magazine. This review stated: "For 13 years Louis FISCHER was the journalistic delegate from New York's liberal Nation to the Russian Revolution. His two-volume The Soviets in World Affairs made FISCHER an authority on Russian foreign politics and brought him into close contact with Russian politicians." According to this review, while dispatches of their (Time's) correspondent in Russia were objective and full of hostility to Russia, FISCHER's reports were constantly favorable to Russia and he became the favorite Russian author of "Wishful Thinking U.S. Intellectuals." This report also stated that an informant of known reliability advised on 11 July 1941 that FISCHER, a well-known Communist writer, was leaving for England and that another informant of known reliability advised that in 1937 FISCHER was active with the Loyalist forces in Spain. In addition an informant of unknown reliability advised SA George J. [illegible] in February 1942 that he had no positive information but believed that FISCHER was working for the GPU.

(d) In an FBI report on Coleman A. [illegible] dated 21 February 1950, an informant of known reliability stated that he met [illegible], reportedly a member of the Soviet Intelligence organization in the U.S. engaged in industrial espionage, at the home of Louis and Markoosha FISCHER in Moscow in 1939. The report identified FISCHER as an anti-Communist writer, author of Gandhi and Men in Politics, who at that time was pro-Communist and was in Moscow for the magazine, The Nation.

(e) A CIC report on [illegible] and his wife dated 27 August 1950 included a list of names and addresses discreetly obtained from the subjects. The name of Louis FISCHER, 237 Madison Avenue, New York City 16, telephone no. MU-3-9500 appeared several times and the date 15 December 1947 mentioned. The name of FISCHER also appeared on a list headed "Letters".

(f) In a document from a usually reliable source dated 29 September 1951, Louis FISCHER, an American citizen born in Philadelphia 29 February 1896, was reported as staying at the Hotel Inghilterra in Rome from 3 April to 23 April 1951. He was accompanied by his alleged wife, Berta FISCHER born in Latvia on 2 January 1890. He was in possession of passport No. 35133 dated 1 November 1950 and his wife, No. 157303 dated 13 February 1948, both issued in Washington. Berta was reported as departing for Florence on 7 April 1951 where it seemed she was joined by him. According to personnel of the hotel, FISCHER was a homosexual. He claimed to be a journalist, but there were some doubts as to this claim. When leaving Rome, he left his trunk with hotel personnel, and it was later picked up by an unidentified friend. In Rome FISCHER had contacts with fellow-Americans. The purpose of his trip to Italy was unknown.

(g) A report dated 18 September 1951 stated that one GRAZIANI and wife, and CANVASI and wife spent the holiday of Easter, 1951, at Formia (near Naples) together with the "well-known anti-Stalinist newspaperman, Louis FISCHER." This report also stated that GRAZIANI had Communist affiliation but that CANVASI gave no indication of being aware of this.

(h) In a report dated 22 December 1949 Louis FISCHER was included among delegates to a conference of the International Labor Organization to be held 27 December 1949 in Mysore, India. The report also stated that it was presumed that FISCHER was from France but that this was not definitely known.

(i) In a document dated 18 January 1951, Louis FISCHER was reported to have made contributions to the SBONR, a political organization composed of the activist remnants of the wartime Vlassov movement. SBONR carries on both overt and clandestine activities aimed at the eventual overthrow of the Soviet dictatorship. The activities of this organization have been financed mainly by dues, contributions, and indirectly by Harvard University through the Institute for the Study of the Soviet Union which is staffed wholly by SBONR personnel.

2. There is also a reference to Louis FISCHER in MFPA-8135 dated 28 May 1951.

3. In requesting information concerning subject, MFPA-9714 invited our attention to the following references: MFPA-6835 dated 14 December 1950, MFPA-6879 dated 23 December 1950, and B. C. Tyndall's memorandum of 5 January 1951. It is the opinion of Nicholas A. Renard, author of MFPA-6835, that Louis FISCHER described in these references is not identical with Louis FISCHER cited in the KATZ synthesis.

4. We have no information concerning the present whereabouts and activities of subject; however, we have requested this information from the FBI and will advise you upon receiving their report.

5. The information contained in this dispatch is not to be distributed outside your office in full; however, you may give [illegible] a brief outline of our findings in paraphrased form, and you may tell him that we shall forward any additional information which we may obtain in the future. In so far as hiring the applicant or subject is concerned, we feel that this decision should lie exclusively with [illegible]'s organization in view of the vacillating political attitudes assumed by FISCHER.

(a) IRC finds many valuable intelligence sources in Europe and that he should be able to contact CIA overseas personnel in order to pass such information and receive their aid in getting the sources to this country. I replied that this was impossible but that CIA's New York Field office, with which he has already been in contact, would be glad to forward any dossiers of candidates for admission under Section 8 of Public Law 110 to Washington for consideration.

(b) CIA intercede with the Department of Defense for IRC's use of some of its quota for entrance of DP's and refugees. I replied that I felt that he should deal directly with the Department of Defense on this.

(c) CIA should go to Congress and press for amendments to the McCarran Act in order to further its intelligence potential as well as assist in a mass defection movement. I replied that this was a policy matter for State Department to solve, that CIA in an effort to maintain anonymity was averse to getting into controversial public disputes but would undoubtedly state its position if called on by congressional committees to do so.

(d) CIA take up with CIC in Germany its inadequacies in the screening of DP's. I replied that this was none of CIA's business and that he should discuss this with HICOG on his next visit to Germany.

(e) CIA contribute to the support of a proposed Research Institute in Paris, Germany, Austria and Turkey which would provide employment for emigree scientists, journalists, etc., and result in a source of excellent intelligence. I replied that CIA had no funds for financing

1. In a recent conversation with Mr. Richard R. Brown, CFCEP, Frankfurt, he read several portions of a letter which he had just received from his Washington headquarters directing some fairly strong criticism to the German country unit in its handling of the program. Needless to say, Brown was considerably upset since it appears that much of the criticism stemmed from KUBARK. It was his impression that our conversations of last November and December and the remedial action taken by [illegible] at that time relative to the USEP German unit's handling of the Soviet program had indicated his willingness to do anything possible to correct deficiencies and to forestall just such criticism. In paragraph 1 of the reference we indicated that satisfactory answers to our questions had been received. In this connection we enclose as Attachment A a copy of Brown's written answers to our specific questions. (Attachment B is a criteria for USEP assistance.)

2. In regard to the criticism levelled at Brown and the German unit by the former's [illegible] office, the following pertinent excerpts were passed to the undersigned:

"At the third meeting a great deal of stress was laid on the question of the special interest cases of other Government agencies. I was able to dwell at some length on the special handling that we have given special interest cases, and to cite chapter and verse of our report to the OCB. Nonetheless, it was felt that we should very greatly intensify our efforts in this respect. It is clearly considered that the disposal of special interest cases on a very high priority basis warrants unusual effort, procedures, and expense on the part of the Program. Both Army and (KUBARK) attach very great importance to this, and some dissatisfaction was expressed with the manner in which the present procedures are being implemented by the Program. In Germany, specifically, it was felt that the Program has been reluctant to associate itself or its contractors with cases which might present insuperable difficulties in connection with the voluntary agencies, the Program should find other means through other contractors, or through its own offices, of arranging disposal on a top priority basis. I pointed out that the Program was better geared to such an effort than any other U.S. Government program, and that one of the most important yardsticks of its effectiveness must be its capacity to handle this type of case. In brief, the thought was expressed that we had perhaps been inelastic in our approach to this problem and predisposed to keep a snow-pure reputation at all costs.

......"I want to bring out one more point. At two of the three OCB meetings and from numerous other sources here in Washington recently, there has been severe criticism of the manner in which eligibility criteria are being applied by the German country unit. Criticism has been received on three occasions from (KUBARK), and is also included in the State Department report to the OCB group. The charge is made that the German country unit has been 'unnecessarily legalistic', has adopted overly restrictive measures, and has been hypertechnical. The statement was made in the OCB meeting that among the all-important Soviet escapees, cases had been turned down on the grounds of voluntary repatriation even though the escapees never got past Berlin. The statement was also made that among the Soviets, only diplomatic and military defectors had been granted eligibility."

3. We are assured by Brown and other USEP officials that the final charge made above relating to diplomatic and military defectors is entirely erroneous and this refutation is borne out by our own investigation. In the past, eligibility was withheld from certain "voluntary repatriates" who had in fact, got no further than Berlin on the trek back to the USSR and who later returned to West Germany. However, we are assured that this is no longer necessarily true and that each case is judged individually.

4. Finally, the German Mission feels that Brown's flat statement that any or all assistance can be rendered to any escapee without regard to past disqualification, provided KUBARK will designate those to receive such assistance, is evidence of his and his unit's desire to cooperate wholeheartedly. We wish to assure Headquarters that the field is now of the opinion that USEP is making a sincere and energetic effort to carry out a most difficult task. We have no complaints at the present time as to the handling of that part of the program which touches KUBARK interests. It will be appreciated if this can be made clear by the KUBARK official responsible for liaison with the Escapee Program in Washington.

However, EPD Germany has advised OFC that a form has been devised to determine this information and that this form was presented to the agencies, for their use, on December 7. They have been asked to report on all persons assisted.

(b) Question: What, if any, project exists to relieve TB incidence among this group?

Supplemental aid is primarily designed to help escapees maintain or recover their health. All agencies know that evidence of poor health, supported by advice of a doctor, authorizes special food supplements. USEP funds can and have been used to provide better living conditions also. The Tolstoy Foundation and AFRF have spent $7,550.45 on supplemental food, including additional food at the three special installations. No figures are available as to the exact number of TB Soviet escapees who have been assisted.

(c) Question: How many people have received jobs through the efforts of the agencies?

(1) Through the Kaiserslautern project, 40 Soviet escapees have been placed in jobs and private housing found for 17 of this number.

(2) During the recent review of agency cases, about 50 Soviet escapees proved to be employed. In some cases, agency participation was apparent; in others, not. The degree of agency aid in finding these jobs would be difficult to pinpoint.

(3) There is also evidence that 20 to 30 escapees have enlisted in Labor Service Companies as "other nationalities". Here again, agency participation is difficult to determine.

(d) Question: How many have been emigrated through efforts of the agencies?

According to the October reports, the Tolstoy Foundation has obtained 94 visas for escapees, in addition to 432 visas under Section 3(c) of the DP Act. For the rest of the fiscal year they estimate that they will obtain 118 more 3(c) visas and 53 others. AFRF, which has just started resettlement activities, expects to obtain 15 visas under Section 3(c) and 15 others.

(e) Question: Is there any vocational training or other educational program?

(1) There are three vocational training schools available for escapees, with unused space in all three, at Munich, Ingolstadt and Berlin. Training expenses plus complete care and maintenance are paid for by the German Government and USEP. The Karlsfeld project, will, hopefully, attack the problem causing poor attendance, namely lack of interest and poor social adjustment.

(2) The World's YMCA conducts language training in Valka and Karlsfeld. Other classes were discontinued due to lack of attendance, but a campaign is now in progress to rebuild the program.

(f) Question: What housing projects have been projected?

No further housing projects are contemplated until:

(1) The agency counsellors visit each family and definitely determine the problems facing them, and

(2) The present 126 to 146 spaces are effectively utilized.

13. Question: What are future plans for the items listed in paragraph 12?

The fundamental shortcoming in the USEP program to assist Soviet escapees is the fact that the counselling program has not been completed. Once this has been done, EPD Germany and the voluntary agencies together will develop a comprehensive program for meeting all of the needs of the Soviet group. This plan will undoubtedly include inter alia:

1. Development, improvement and completion of the projects now in operation.

2. Increased supplemental aid as families are visited and their needs determined. Close supervision will be exercised to ensure that the agencies relate this aid to the solution of the families' problems, including health difficulties and housing.

3. All escapees will be registered for emigration, the employables among them will be trade-tested, and arrangements will be made to ensure that the proper vocational training is available to those requiring it. In addition, assistance will be extended in clearing up legal problems faced by escapees which might bar them from resettlement. The agencies will be required to submit special reports on their activities.

4. Special efforts are being made to revitalize the vocational training and language training programs. Past experience indicates that success in this endeavor will be limited. However, it is hoped that effective individual counselling will eventually induce the escapees to take proper training.

ORT Union, the World YMCA, and the Lutheran World Federation. Without exception, these agencies have strong and reputable American affiliates which are accredited and recognized by the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid. In the case of WCC, the American affiliate is the National Council of the Churches of Christ, whose welfare organization is the Church World Service; it is accredited by the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid and is a member in good standing of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Incorporated. The specific requirements for qualification are not now available; however, it is believed that to be qualified for accreditation by the Advisory Committee, an agency must be supported by voluntary subscriptions, and humanitarian in character. It is believed that agencies wholly political are not eligible.

9. Question: What is the status of the proposal to form a Russian labor company which we understand has been approved in Washington?

General agreement on the formation by USAREUR of a Labor Service Unit comprised of Soviet escapees has been reached by US EUCOM and USAREUR. This project now only awaits final approval from the Department of Army as to certain details. (It is understood that the Army has already agreed to the proposal in principal.) It is anticipated that the project will be implemented in the near future.

The Unit, which will be assigned a guard mission, will comprise initially 100 officers and men. In addition, one man to act as staff adviser to USAREUR on matters affecting the Unit will probably be recruited. This position should have a field grade of perhaps a Lieutenant Colonel. The personnel ceiling of 100 may be raised to 200 should it appear desirable in the light of experience. In order to avoid the appearance of supporting Great Russian or minority national aspirations, the shoulder flash for members of the company would bear the name "ROSSISKIY" or Russian People, rather than "RUSSKIY" or Russians.

In the course of a recent discussion between representatives of CAS, U.S. EUCOM, and this office concerning this proposal, general agreement was reached on the following points:

a) Leadership in the company should be recruited from the more recent Soviet escapees or defectors, rather than from the older "emigre" group;

b) Efforts should be made to recruit the maximum possible number from the escapees registered with USEP; and

c) The TZOPE group should be strongly represented in the company.

10. Question: ...

10. Question: Have any steps been taken to get the Clemency Board of HICOG to pardon Soviet escapees sentenced for minor offenses committed in an attempt to survive, thus clearing their records? Do you want us to make any pitch on this?

In the past, petitions for clemency have only been presented to the Clemency Board of HICOG when a person was under active consideration for resettlement. The Clemency Board has usually acted swiftly with the best interest of the individual and of the U.S. Government in mind. Recently, however, steps were taken to initiate petitions for clemency on all cases of the types mentioned in Question 10. It is too early at the present time to foresee the result of this operation. However, it is believed that it is not yet necessary for CAS to approach the appropriate officials on this point.

11. Question: Is the USEP policy to reduce the numbers who can be helped under the Program? If true, what are the reasons for this policy which appears on the surface to be a step backward from solving the problem?

It is not the USEP policy to reduce the numbers who can be helped under the Escapee Program. As a matter of fact, the USEP caseload has continued to increase despite the fact that over 6,000 have been resettled, and many have been dropped for various reasons, including ineligibility, local integration, and death. It is true that the primary purpose of the Program is to resettle eligibles abroad, and to integrate locally those whose resettlement potential is low. This action, of and in itself, does tend to reduce the number of persons who can be subsequently helped under the Program. It is also the policy of the Program to create an atmosphere in which other programs which depend to a certain extent upon the psychological attitude existing in emigre circles can operate successfully. In furthering this particular objective, the Program has recently taken action to declare as eligible those persons who, although having records as minor criminals, are of interest to U.S. agencies, and have broadened the basis to accept any Soviet citizen as eligible if he has in any way been under discipline of the Soviet Government since January 1, 1945.

12. Question: What has the Escapee Program accomplished for Soviet escapees?

USEP's assistance to escapees is based primarily upon the needs of each individual registered with the Program. These needs are determined through a counselling program under which the voluntary agencies cooperating with USEP are supposed to send case workers to the field to interview each escapee family to determine their particular needs, background, problems, experience, ambitions, and general situation. Based upon this interview the agency is supposed to develop a specific

plan of assistance for the family with the basic objective being their eventual resettlement in a country of immigration or, if this is not possible, re-establishment within the economy of their present country of residence. Although the Escapee Program Division of the U.S. Operations Mission for Germany has contracts with both Tolstoy Foundation and AFRF to carry out a counselling program for Soviet escapees, and has spent approximately $14,000 on each agency in this connection, to date the agencies have not completely counselled all of their caseloads. Accordingly, it is most difficult to make any kind of analysis of the amount of assistance rendered as compared to the extent of need. On December 7, representatives of both agencies were advised by the Escapee Program Division, that the counselling program must be completed in the near future, and that USEP will be in a much better position to evaluate the program of assistance to Soviet escapees.

Despite the admittedly unsatisfactory situation outlined in the previous paragraph, certain positive action has been taken by the EPD and the voluntary agencies to provide assistance to Soviet escapees. Reportedly, AFRF has distributed in the neighborhood of $13,000 in supplemental assistance in the form of food, clothing, lodging, etc., to escapees registered in their caseload. The Tolstoy Foundation has distributed in the neighborhood of $19,000. In addition, three special housing aid projects have been established in Germany: the Friendship House in Munich with a capacity of 10 persons, and the center in Kaiserslautern, with a capacity of 36 -- both sponsored by AFRF, and the Tolstoy home in Karlsfeld which has a capacity of 80 to 100. A word about each of the following installations:

The Friendship House in Munich is small and is always full. The length of stay varies per individual as its primary purpose is to furnish temporary housing for Russian escapees who come to Munich looking for work. In some cases these periods of residence have dragged out. At this home full care and maintenance is given, as the residents are mostly ineligible for relief grants in Bavaria.

The Karlsfeld house was opened on September 4 and has accepted 26 escapees to date. In addition to the fact that each applicant is screened by the agency and then by a consulate and USEP representative, the admission process is complicated by the need to transfer unemployment and relief benefits from other areas. While this installation is not meant to be a housing project of semi-permanent quarters, the type of aid needed by most persons selected will probably result in a fairly stable population, once the home is filled. The Kaiserslautern home reported, as of November 15:

19	current residents
11	persons moved to private quarters
3	persons moved to Labor Service Units
10	persons returned to former residence
5	dependents placed in jobs

All ...

All these people, plus other dependents, passed through the center or were aided by the agency facilities there. (Dependents moved to Kaiserslautern only after private quarters were located.) Of the total, at least forty-three persons had, at one time or another, lived in the house. It must be emphasized that this installation is not regarded as permanent housing but was erected solely to house escapees temporarily for whom jobs had been found and who needed quarters until they could locate permanent billets. Therefore, escapees are referred here only when job opportunities exist and stay only until private housing is located. At one time, consideration was given to filling the house with employment potentials, but the agency demurred for fear the project would be ruined by insoluble morale problems and by the lack of available space to meet quickly employment requirements.

To summarize on the question of "housing projects", and apart from housing in the German economy, installations for special purposes were considered and these three subsidized: (1) the benefits derived from the Friendship House in Munich are being evaluated, and will be discussed at the forthcoming conference; (2) the Karlsfeld House has recently been opened and filling it is being delayed by a rather cumbersome screening process, but a process required to meet our security requirements and the requirements of the Munich Consulate General; and (3) the Kaiserslautern House has been rather effectively used, being limited by the numbers of job opportunities. Until we are convinced, however, that full or almost full benefits are being derived from these houses, USEP is reluctant to establish additional housing projects of a temporary nature and it is contrary to USEP policy to enter into long-term arrangements which would be entailed in provision of permanent housing.

Further, escapees generally are eligible for housing within the German economy. A search for this housing is made among that controlled by the Wohnungsamt or is earmarked in new refugee housing being built. Escapees are being included in a new FOA program of $15 million which is currently being discussed by FOA and the German Federal Republic (see DEPTEL to Bonn USFOTO 453, December 15, 1953.).

Additionally, 30 Soviet children were sent to Switzerland for rehabilitation and a vacation for eight weeks last summer at a cost of $3,907.

(a) Question: How many ex-Soviets have received what assistance and how much for Care & Maintenance?

As pointed out above, the incomplete and unsatisfactory status of the counselling projects of the agencies, plus inadequate or unavailable files, preclude the possibilities of determining how many Soviets have received what assistance and how much for Care & Maintenance.

However, ...

"Local Units are advised that effective immed Soviet defectors who escaped since Jan 1, 1945 may be considered eligible for complete program assistance. Units shld complete registration of this group in each area and advise OFC of numbers registered. Every effort shld be made to create maximum program impact on Sov escapees in each area. It is realised that extension of eligibility to this group may cause some repercussion among other nationality groups and the agcies supporting them. It is pointed out however that great majority Sov defectors are eligible under provisions para 6 & 7 of Provisional Guide 01. Moreover Units shld take all feasible measures to minimize repercussions by exercising utmost discretion in implementation of this instruction e.g. by discussing it primarily only with agcies interested in this group."

1. Question: Does USEP plan to exert tighter and constant management control over this project, as against the present system of hands-off until end-audit, or is this impossible because of regulations? If the latter is true, who has the power to change the regulations, and is it possible for them to be changed within the context of overall USEP policy?

Short of involving itself or its staff in the actual implementation of projects or in voluntary agency operations, USEP maintains a continuing scrutiny and review of every project and contract into which it has entered. Information developed by field officers in the course of this review is passed to the Chief of the Escapee Program Division concerned, who evaluates the material and discusses it, where appropriate, with the local agency director. Subsequent to this evaluation and discussion with the agency, the material is forwarded to OFCEP which makes a second analysis and, if indicated, discusses it with the agency's European Director. There is no policy of hands-off until the end-audit is made. End-use-audits are an integral part of the review of projects in order to determine whether or not the supplies and services are reaching the escapees.

In the light of the preceding paragraph, the latter part of the question becomes academic; however, USEP policy in this respect is flexible and can be adapted to any situation warranting a modification of procedures.

2. Question: What is the interpretation of "local settlement"? If a man is earning a distinctly submarginal existence, which means an unhealthy and unhappy existence, is he automatically ruled out? Who calls the shots on this, USEP or the agencies?

Local settlement is not predicated solely on economic factors. Rather, local settlement depends upon a variety of conditions obtaining in the case of a particular family. Consideration must, of necessity, be given to the jobs of the principal wage-earners to determine whether or not they are working in an occupational area most suitable to their desires, background and ability; to their wages to determine whether or not their earnings are sufficient to meet the needs of their family; to their housing to determine if it is adequate; and other factors which must be considered in connection with a family's firm integration into the local community, including its own attitude toward such integration. It is not the policy of USEP to place a man or a family on an ineligible or inactive list as a locally settled case if he is earning a distinctly submarginal existence. The decision of local settlement is made by the Chief of the Escapee Program Division concerned and only after a careful analysis of the situation obtaining in each particular case. Usually the Division Chief's decision is based upon the recommendation of the voluntary agency as analyzed and evaluated by USEP officers in the field.

3. Question: What is planned to eliminate the duplication in caseload of the two agencies?

Duplication in caseload between the various voluntary agencies participating in the Escapee Program has been eliminated to an appreciable extent. It has existed principally in the case of two agencies in Germany dealing with the Soviet problem -- Tolstoy Foundation and American Friends of Russian Freedom. This, however, was resolved on December 7, 1953 at a meeting of the two agencies with the Chief, Escapee Program Division/USCMA. At this meeting the Tolstoy Foundation was given principal responsibility for all cases which have a resettlement potential. AFRF was given all cases which had limited or no resettlement potential and must, of necessity, be settled locally in the German economy. The supplementary care and maintenance was divided after a thorough discussion with each agency by mutual agreement. This action resulted in establishing a caseload in Germany of 79 cases consisting of some 180 people for TF, and 102 cases with approximately 200 people for AFRF. New registrants by either agency will be referred to Escapee Program field representatives (in Germany, Munich) for a check against current card files. After a dossier has been fully developed on the case, a determination as to the appropriate agency will be made according to the case's resettlement potential.

4. Question: What are the criteria for accepting a Soviet escapee as a relief recipient and what office or regulations determine same?

There is enclosed the basic provisional guide concerning eligibility, together with subsequent clarifications issued to the field on the Soviets. This is the criteria under which a person is extended, and declared eligible for, Program assistance. These regulations were adapted from a general policy issued by the U.S. Department of State. Within the framework of these regulations, the Escapee Program conducts a security investigation which establishes a man's eligibility from a security point of view. Simultaneously the man is counselled in an effort to determine his needs from a sociological and economic angle. The results of these investigations determine the course of action upon which the Escapee Program proceeds. However, in the majority of cases, humanitarian assistance is extended to individuals pending the complete security investigation, or until material sufficiently derogatory to deny eligibility is discovered. (Attention should be directed to paragraph 7 of the eligibility guide, which enables USEP to confer eligibility on any individual or individuals of interest to other U.S. agencies, regardless of normal eligibility criteria.)

5. Question: What is the source of the policy which maintains that there must be a leaning-over-backward to avoid the risk of any political implication in applying the USEP program?

The Escapee ...

SECRET

The Escapee Program was originally outlined in DEPCIRTEL 676, January 29, 1952 (Top Secret) which indicated that the Program would be undertaken through contracts with voluntary agencies to provide certain supplies and services to escapees of recent date. Inasmuch as the largest and most important voluntary agencies operating in Europe are of religious nature and endeavor to stay clear of undertakings which have political implications, it was determined that the Escapee Program would suppress to the extent possible the political nature of its operations in order to secure and maintain the "good will" and cooperation of these agencies. In our relationships, however, with certain agencies of ethnic character (e.g. AFCR — American Fund for Czechoslovak Refugees), especially when these agencies are directed by individuals in whom USEP has complete confidence, little, if any, action has been taken to suppress or disguise USEP political implications. There is, however, a tendency on the part of USEP officials to suppress political implications of the Program in their arrangements with several agencies -- due to their lack of confidence in the leadership of these agencies. Mrs. Schaufuss, Tolstoy Foundation; Sheba Goodman, American Friends of Russian Freedom; Max Braude, Organisation for Rehabilitation through Training; Anna Matson, International Rescue Committee; and Michael Rodyk, United Ukrainian American Relief Committee; are examples of Directors in whom USEP has little confidence. This lack of confidence arises from the fact that these personalities apparently have their own axes to grind. USEP has revealed, however, and will continue to reveal to a limited extent, the political nature of the Escapee Program to certain selected persons in the voluntary agencies who are subject to the necessary degree of direction, and in whom confidence may be maintained. This course of action is motivated primarily by the fact that political overtones of the Program cannot be wholly hidden from an intelligent person, yet it is not in the Program's best interest to advise officially the religious bodies of the political aspects. Although the major religious agencies undoubtedly are aware of the political aspects of the Program, they choose to ignore them so long as they are not involved directly into any political operations, and so long as they are not advised officially of them.

6. Question: Are there any means through which assistance to deserving members of TZOPE (already on the caseloads) can be speeded up?

USEP officials throughout the area are continually endeavoring to speed up Program benefits to the ultimate recipients. This is applicable to the entire caseload of all agencies and has not in the past been predicated upon membership in any organisation which may or may not be of interest to U.S. Government agencies. In this way, USEP endeavors to extend Program benefits to all those eligible without focussing unnecessary attention upon individual members of a particular organisation of interest to agencies of the U.S. Government. Further, USEP

officials have no way of determining whether an escapee is or is not a member of TZOPS. However, if CAS desires to furnish USEP with a list of TZOPS membership, OPC will request the USEP Divisions in each country to confer eligibility on the individuals listed and to pay particular attention that such individuals may receive personal attention in the future.

7. Question: Is there any possibility of eliminating Tolstoy and AFRF altogether and doing this job through another agency or agencies?

In consideration of this question, USEP has reluctantly decided that it would not be possible to eliminate Tolstoy Foundation, since Tolstoy is an old, established agency with a name-known and respected within certain emigre circles. It may be possible, however, for CAS to undertake the elimination, although CAS relationships with TF and its Board of Directors are unknown to this office. Since AFRF is a relatively new organization, and the character of its European leadership is much more undesirable than that of Tolstoy, it is conceivable that AFRF could be eliminated from the Russian field considerably easier than Tolstoy. Moreover, as the Chairman of the Board of the AFRF is a retired U.S. Admiral, he would probably be inclined to go along with the wishes of Government officials if it could be shown that the elimination of AFRF was in the best interest of the U.S. Government. However, the elimination of ethnic type agencies in this respect would, perhaps, compel the Escapee Program to enter into relationships with a religious agency, e.g. the WCC, in their stead and the successful resolution of the Soviet problem would become automatically much more difficult.

8. Question: How does an agency qualify for a USEP contract? What are the requirements for qualification:

USEP currently has contractual arrangements with 22 voluntary societies representing the major religious bodies (i.e. Catholics, Jews, and Protestants) and the major ethnic groups represented in the population of the United States of America. To qualify for a USEP contract the agency, if it is wholly American in composition and incorporated under the laws of one of the 48 States, or the District of Columbia, must be accredited by what was known as the Department of State's Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, and which is now a part of FOA. The Executive Director of this Committee is Mr. William H. McCahon, who is also a staff member in the Office of the Assistant Director for Refugees and Migration, FOA. In addition to those agencies which have been incorporated in the U.S., USEP also enters into relationships with other organisations which are international in character and composition -- such as the World Council of Churches, the World

PROVISIONAL GUIDE NO. 1 July 17, 1952

CRITERIA FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE UNDER ESCAPEE PROGRAM

1. The Mutual Security Act of 1951 provides the basic legislative authority for the Escapee Program and thus establishes the elementary criteria for extending assistance.

Section 101 (a)(1) of that Act authorizes the expenditure of a sum not to exceed $100,000,000 "for any selected persons who are residing in or escapees from the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, or the Communist dominated or Communist occupied areas of Germany and Austria, and any other countries absorbed by the Soviet Union either to form such persons into elements of the military forces supporting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or for other purposes, when it is similarly determined by the President that such assistance will contribute to the defense of the North Atlantic area and to the security of the United States".

2. Officials carrying out this program should not become involved in complex, time-consuming procedures in determining priority for assistance. It is expected that a positive approach toward priority will be taken and that criteria will remain as simple and broad as is consistent with U.S. interests. It follows that aid should be given immediately to persons who apparently meet the priority criteria outlined below and should be withdrawn only if reasonable evidence is brought forward which indicates that the person does not meet these criteria.

3. The intent and purpose of the program is to aid new escapees from communist oppression. Whatever the merits of aiding persons who were displaced before, during, or soon after World War II, such aid is not normally a proper concern of this program. Moreover, quite apart from any other considerations, the program does not have sufficient funds to assist many persons other than those who have recently escaped from behind the Iron Curtain. In the foregoing perspective, the following criteria will be utilized by the Missions in according priority for assistance.

4. Priority for assistance in resettlement and for supplementary care will be granted any person who escaped after January 1, 1948 from the USSR, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria or Albania.

5. Within the broad confines of the above, there will be certain persons whom the United States obviously will not desire to assist and there will be others whose status in their country of residence after flight is such that they possess the rights and obligations of nationality of the country in which they have taken asylum.

CRITERIA FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE UNDER ESCAPEE PROGRAM

Assistance will thus be denied to or withdrawn from any person who:

A. Is a Communist agent.
B. Is a former Nazi or Nazi collaborator seeking to escape just punishment for crimes committed during World War II against Allied personnel or against civil populations.
C. Is a common criminal.
D. Has unreasonably refused resettlement opportunities.
E. Is recognized by the competent authorities of the country in which he resides as having the rights and obligations which are attached to the possession of citizenship of that country e.g. German refugees and expellees, persons of Turkish ethnic origin from Rumania and Bulgaria, are excluded from assistance under this paragraph.
F. Has been satisfactorily settled locally.

6. Assistance will be extended, however, to those persons otherwise eligible under the provisions of this circular who defect from diplomatic, other official or semi-official missions or delegations while abroad in the service of their country.

7. Missions are authorized to make individual exceptions, regardless of dateline, when such exceptions are in the interest of the U.S. or when such exceptions are requested by other U.S. Government agencies operating in related fields. When requested exceptions are not favorably considered by the Country Unit they must be referred to the Special Unit prior to final action.

8. A family group containing a person or persons who would not ordinarily be assisted due to nationality, e.g. Polish escapee and Austrian spouse and who are otherwise eligible should be considered eligible as a unit.

9. Basic responsibility for determination of eligibility will rest with the Local Units. However, it is expected that they will devise ways and means of utilizing local facilities and officials to a maximum extent in order to assist the Local Unit in discharging this responsibility. In the event the local unit requires further assistanse in reaching an eligibility decision, the Special Unit may be called upon by the Local Unit for information or advice.

CRITERIA FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE UNDER ESCAPEE PROGRAM

Text of tele-conference received from Department July 14, 1952 in amplification of criteria outlined under Provisional Guide #1:

"FEP Program is concerned with escapees from Soviet or Soviet dominated areas. In view fact FEP funds are limited and because of legislative history of program priority or preference must be given to more recent escapees such as those who escaped after January 1, 1948. Decisions as to application of fund must also be based on results which can be achieved in terms of basic objectives of program. In other words we are not distributing a limited relief fund equally among a designated number of people. We are more concerned with those who have escaped more recently than those who have been in the refugee state since World War I or those who were uprooted between September 1939 and January 1, 1948. The date January 1, 1948 is an administrative device which should not be rigidly applied unless later exhaustion of funds increasingly requires this action. Of equal concern to FEP are the results which can be achieved in terms of reestablishment, resettlement, better morale, etc., as between one project and another. We should seek self-liquidating, non-repetitive uses for FEP funds. Avoid to the extent possible acceptance of responsibilities which cannot readily be relinquished. As experience develops we shall make the foregoing more selective and specific."

Since AFRF is a relatively new organization, and the character of its European leadership is much more undesirable than that of Tolstoy, it is conceivable that AFRF could be eliminated from the Russian field considerably easier than Tolstoy. Moreover, as the Chairman of the Board of the AFRF is a retired U.S. Admiral, he would probably be inclined to go along with the wishes of Government officials if it could be shown that the elimination of AFRF was in the best interest of the U.S. Government. However, the elimination of ethnic type agencies in this respect would, perhaps, compel the Escapee Program to enter into relationships with a religious agency, e.g. the WCC, in their stead and the successful resolution of the Soviet problem would become automatically much more difficult.

8. Question: How does an agency qualify for a USEP contract? What are the requirements for qualification:

USEP currently has contractual arrangements with 22 voluntary societies representing the major religious bodies (i.e. Catholics, Jews, and Protestants) and the major ethnic groups represented in the population of the United States of America. To qualify for a USEP contract the agency, if it is wholly American in composition and incorporated under the laws of one of the 48 States, or the District of Columbia, must be accredited by what was known as the Department of State's Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, and which is now a part of FOA. The Executive Director of this Committee is Mr. William H. McCahon, who is also a staff member in the Office of the Assistant Director for Refugees and Migration, FOA. In addition to those agencies which have been incorporated in the U.S., USEP also enters into relationships with other organizations which are international in character and composition -- such as the World Council of Churches, the World

ORT ...

CXP Union, the World YWCA, and the Lutheran World Federation. Without exception, these agencies have strong and reputable American affiliates which are accredited and recognized by the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid. In the case of WCC, the American affiliate is the National Council of the Churches of Christ, whose welfare organisation is the Church World Service; it is accredited by the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid and is a member in good standing of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Incorporated. The specific requirements for qualification are not now available; however, it is believed that to be qualified for accreditation by the Advisory Committee, an agency must be supported by voluntary subscriptions, and humanitarian in character. It is believed that agencies wholly political are not eligible.

9. Question: What is the status of the proposal to form a Russian labor company which we understand has been approved in Washington?

General agreement on the formation by USAREUR of a Labor Service Unit comprised of Soviet escapees has been reached by US EUCOM and USAREUR. This project now only awaits final approval from the Department of Army as to certain details. (It is understood that the Army has already agreed to the proposal in principal.) It is anticipated that the project will be implemented in the near future.

The Unit, which will be assigned a guard mission, will comprise initially 100 officers and men. In addition, one man to act as staff adviser to USAREUR on matters affecting the Unit will probably be recruited. This position should have a field grade of perhaps a Lieutenant Colonel. The personnel ceiling of 100 may be raised to 200 should it appear desirable in the light of experience. In order to avoid the appearance of supporting Great Russian or minority national asperations, the shoulder flash for members of the company would bear the name "ROSSISKIY" or Russian People, rather than "RUSSKIY" or Russians.

In the course of a recent discussion between representatives of CAS, U.S. EUCOM, and this office concerning this proposal, general agreement was reached on the following points:

a) Leadership in the company should be recruited from the more recent Soviet escapees or defectors, rather than from the older "emigre" group;

b) Efforts should be made to recruit the maximum possible number from the escapees registered with USEP; and

c) The TZOPE group should be strongly represented in the company.

10. Question: ...

10. Question: Have any steps been taken to get the Clemency Board of HICOG to pardon Soviet escapees sentenced for minor offenses committed in an attempt to survive, thus clearing their records? Do you want us to make any pitch on this?

In the past, petitions for clemency have only been presented to the Clemency Board of HICOG when a person was under active consideration for resettlement. The Clemency Board has usually acted swiftly with the best interest of the individual and of the U.S. Government in mind. Recently, however, steps were taken to initiate petitions for clemency on all cases of the types mentioned in Question 10. It is too early at the present time to foresee the result of this operation. However, it is believed that it is not yet necessary for CAS to approach the appropriate officials on this point.

11. Question: Is the USEP policy to reduce the numbers who can be helped under the Program? If true, what are the reasons for this policy which appears on the surface to be a step backward from solving the problem?

It is not the USEP policy to reduce the numbers who can be helped under the Escapee Program. As a matter of fact, the USEP caseload has continued to increase despite the fact that over 6,000 have been resettled, and many have been dropped for various reasons, including ineligibility, local integration, and death. It is true that the primary purpose of the Program is to resettle eligibles abroad and to integrate locally those whose resettlement potential is low. This action, of and in itself, does tend to reduce the number of persons who can be subsequently helped under the Program. It is also the policy of the Program to create an atmosphere in which other programs which depend to a certain extent upon the psychological attitude existing in emigre circles can operate successfully. In furthering this particular objective, the Program has recently taken action to declare as eligible those persons who, although having records as minor criminals, are of interest to U.S. agencies, and have broadened the basis to accept any Soviet citizen as eligible if he has in any way been under discipline of the Soviet Government since January 1, 1945.

12. Question: What has the Escapee Program accomplished for Soviet escapees?

USEP's assistance to escapees is based primarily upon the needs of each individual registered with the Program. These needs are determined through a counselling program under which the voluntary agencies cooperating with USEP are supposed to send case workers to the field to interview each escapee family to determine their particular needs, background, problems, experience, ambitions, and general situation. Based upon this interview the agency is supposed to develop a specific

plan of assistance for the family with the basic objective being their eventual resettlement in a country of immigration or, if this is not possible, re-establishment within the economy of their present country of residence. Although the Escapee Program Division of the U.S. Operations Mission for Germany has contracts with both Tolstoy Foundation and AFRP to carry out a counselling program for Soviet escapees, and has spent approximately $14,000 on each agency in this connection, to date the agencies have not completely counselled all of their caseloads. Accordingly, it is most difficult to make any kind of analysis of the amount of assistance rendered as compared to the extent of need. On December 7, representatives of both agencies were advised by the Escapee Program Division, that the counselling program must be completed in the near future, and that USEP will be in a much better position to evaluate the program of assistance to Soviet escapees.

Despite the admittedly unsatisfactory situation outlined in the previous paragraph, certain positive action has been taken by the EPD and the voluntary agencies to provide assistance to Soviet escapees. Reportedly, AFRP has distributed in the neighborhood of $13,000 in supplemental assistance in the form of food, clothing, lodging, etc., to escapees registered in their caseload. The Tolstoy Foundation has distributed in the neighborhood of $19,000. In addition, three special housing aid projects have been established in Germany: the Friendship House in Munich with a capacity of 10 persons, and the center in Kaiserslautern, with a capacity of 36 -- both sponsored by AFRP, and the Tolstoy home in Karlsfeld which has a capacity of 80 to 100. A word about each of the following installations:

The Friendship House in Munich is small and is always full. The length of stay varies per individual as its primary purpose is to furnish temporary housing for Russian escapees who come to Munich looking for work. In some cases these periods of residence have dragged out. At this home full care and maintenance is given, as the residents are mostly ineligible for relief grants in Bavaria.

The Karlsfeld house was opened on September 4 and has accepted 26 escapees to date. In addition to the fact that each applicant is screened by the agency and then by a consulate and USEP representative, the admission process is complicated by the need to transfer unemployment and relief benefits from other areas. While this installation is not meant to be a housing project of semi-permanent quarters, the type of aid needed by most persons selected will probably result in a fairly stable population, once the home is filled. The Kaiserslautern home reported, as of November 15:

19 current residents
11 persons moved to private quarters
3 persons moved to Labor Service Units
10 persons returned to former residence
5 dependents placed in jobs

All ...

All these people, plus other dependents, passed through the center or were aided by the agency facilities there. (Dependents moved to Kaiserslautern only after private quarters were located.) Of the total, at least forty-three persons had, at one time or another, lived in the house. It must be emphasized that this installation is not regarded as permanent housing but was erected solely to house escapees temporarily for whom jobs had been found and who needed quarters until they could locate permanent billets. Therefore, escapees are referred here only when job opportunities exist and stay only until private housing is located. At one time, consideration was given to filling the house with employment potentials, but the agency demurred for fear the project would be ruined by insoluable morale problems and by the lack of available space to meet quickly employment requirements.

To summarize on the question of "housing projects", and apart from housing in the German economy, installations for special purposes were considered and these three subsidized: (1) the benefits derived from the Friendship House in Munich are being evaluated, and will be discussed at the forthcoming conference; (2) the Karlsfeld House has recently been opened and filling it is being delayed by a rather cumbersome screening process, but a process required to meet our security requirements and the requirements of the Munich Consulate General; and (3) the Kaiserslautern House has been rather effectively used, being limited by the numbers of job opportunities. Until we are convinced, however, that full or almost full benefits are being derived from these homes, USEP is reluctant to establish additional housing projects of a temporary nature and it is contrary to USEP policy to enter into long-term arrangements which would be entailed in provision of permanent housing.

Further, escapees generally are eligible for housing within the German economy. A search for this housing is made among that controlled by the Wohnungsamt or is earmarked in new refugee housing being built. Escapees are being included in a new FOA program of $15 million which is currently being discussed by FOA and the German Federal Republic (see DEPTEL to Bonn USFOTO 453, December 15, 1953.).

Additionally, 30 Soviet children were sent to Switzerland for rehabilitation and a vacation for eight weeks last summer at a cost of $3,987.

(a) Question: How many ex-Soviets have received what assistance and how much for Care & Maintenance?

As pointed out above, the incomplete and unsatisfactory status of the counselling projects of the agencies, plus inadequate or unavailable files, preclude the possibilities of determining how many Soviets have received what assistance and how much for Care & Maintenance.

However, ...

"Local Units are advised that effective immed Soviet defectors who escaped since Jan 1, 1945 may be considered eligible for complete program assistance. Units shld complete registration of this group in each area and advise CFC of numbers registered. Every effort shld be made to create maximum program impact on Sov escapees in each area. It is realized that extension of eligibility to this group may cause some repercussion among other nationality groups and the agcies supporting them. It is pointed out however that great majority Sov defectors are eligible under provisions para 6 & 7 of Provisional Guide 01. Moreover Units shld take all feasible measures to minimize repercussions by exercising utmost discretion in implementation of this instruction e.g. by discussing it primarily only with agcies interested in this group."

"Soviet defectors referred to in Frankfurt tel sent Vienna 83, Rome 87, Athens 102, Trieste 59, Istanbul 43, Geneva 21 for Carson shld be generally interpreted as those Sov citizens or Sov Ukranians who left Military or Govt service since Jan 1945, or their dependents (para 6 of Prev Guide #1). Local Units may also extend assistance to such other post Jan 1945 Sov escapees who qualify under Para 7 of Guide #1, excepting hard core DP's or persons who have been in refugee status prior to World War II."

Text of instructions issued to all field units December 1953:

"Regardless of his country of origin, any Iron Curtain escapee who, during the period 1945 to the present time, was voluntarily or forcibly repatriated, but who proceeded no further than the Eastern Zones of Germany or Austria, and was detained in the Eastern Zones of Germany or Austria under the discipline of the Soviet occupation forces or was employed in an official, semi-official, or any other capacity, regardless of the nature of his employment, by or for the Soviet occupation forces, and who subsequently defected, fled, escaped, or otherwise returned to the West, for any reason, should be considered eligible for USEP assistance, provided he is otherwise eligible."

Your attention is again directed to Section 7 of Guide #1 which authorises you to make exceptions in any individual case, regardless of eligibility criteria.

1. In a recent conversation with Mr. Richard R. Brown, OFCEP, Frankfurt, he read several portions of a letter which he had just received from his Washington headquarters directing some fairly strong criticism to the German country unit in its handling of the program. Needless to say, Brown was considerably upset since it appears that much of the criticism stemmed from KUBARK. It was his impression that our conversations of last November and December and the remedial action taken by OFC at that time relative to the USEP German unit's handling of the Soviet program had indicated his willingness to do anything possible to correct deficiencies and to forestall just such criticism. In paragraph 1 of the reference we indicated that satisfactory answers to our questions had been received. In this connection we enclose as Attachment A a copy of Brown's written answers to our specific questions. (Attachment B is a criteria for USEP assistance.)

2. In regard to the criticism levelled at Brown and the German unit by the former's home office, the following pertinent excerpts were passed to the undersigned:

> "At the third meeting a great deal of stress was laid on the question of the special interest cases of other Government agencies. I was able to dwell at some length on the special handling that we have given special interest cases, and to cite chapter and verse of our report to the OCB. Nonetheless, it was felt that we should very greatly intensify our efforts in this respect. It is clearly considered that the disposal of special interest cases on a very high priority basis warrants unusual effort, procedures, and expense on the part of the Program. Both Army and (KUBARK) attach very great importance to this, and deep dissatisfaction was expressed with the manner in which the present procedures are being implemented by the Program. In Germany, specifically, it was felt that the Program has been reluctant to associate itself or its contractors with cases which might present insuperable difficulties in connection with the voluntary agencies, the Program should find other means through other contractors, or through its own offices, of arranging disposal on a top priority basis. It was brought out that the Program was better geared to such an effort than any other U.S. Government program, and that one of the most important yardsticks of its effectiveness must be its capacity to handle this type of case. In brief, the thought was expressed that we had perhaps been inelastic in our approach to this problem and predisposed to keep a simon-pure reputation at all costs.

......"I want to bring out one more point. At two of the three OCB meetings and from numerous other sources here in Washington recently, there has been severe criticism of the manner in which eligibility criteria are being applied by the German country unit. Criticism has been received on three occasions from (KUBARK), and is also included in the State Department report to the OCB group. The charge is made that the German country unit has been 'unnecessarily legalistic', has adopted overly restrictive measures, and has been hyper-technical. The statement was made in the OCB meeting that among the all-important Soviet escapees, cases had been turned down on the grounds of voluntary repatriation even though the escapees never got past Berlin. The statement was also made that among the Soviets, only diplomatic and military defectors had been granted eligibility."

3. We are assured by Brown and other USEP officials that the final charge made above relating to diplomatic and military defectors is entirely erroneous and this refutation is borne out by our own investigation. In the past, eligibility was withheld from certain "voluntary repatriates" who had in fact, got no further than Berlin on the trek back to the USSR and who later returned to West Germany. However, we are assured that this is no longer necessarily true and that each case is judged individually.

4. Finally, the German Mission feels that Brown's flat statement that any or all assistance can be rendered to any escapee without regard to past disqualification, provided KUBARK will designate them to receive such assistance, is evidence of his and his unit's desire to cooperate wholeheartedly. We wish to assure Headquarters that the field is now of the opinion that USEP is making a sincere and energetic effort to carry out a most difficult task. We have no complaints at the present time as to the handling of that part of the program which touches KUBARK interests. It will be appreciated if this can be made clear by the KUBARK official responsible for liaison with the Escapee Program in Washington.

PROVISIONAL GUIDE NO. 1 July 17, 1952

CRITERIA FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE UNDER ESCAPEE PROGRAM

1. The Mutual Security Act of 1951 provides the basic legislative authority for the Escapee Program and thus establishes the elementary criteria for extending assistance.

Section 101 (a)(1) of that Act authorizes the expenditure of a sum not to exceed $100,000,000 "for any selected persons who are residing in or escapees from the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, or the Communist dominated or Communist occupied areas of Germany and Austria, and any other countries absorbed by the Soviet Union either to form such persons into elements of the military forces supporting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or for other purposes, when it is similarly determined by the President that such assistance will contribute to the defense of the North Atlantic area and to the security of the United States".

2. Officials carrying out this program should not become involved in complex, time-consuming procedures in determining priority for assistance. It is expected that a positive approach toward priority will be taken and that criteria will remain as simple and broad as is consistent with U.S. interests. It follows that aid should be given immediately to persons who apparently meet the priority criteria outlined below and should be withdrawn only if reasonable evidence is brought forward which indicates that the person does not meet these criteria.

3. The intent and purpose of the program is to aid new escapees from communist oppression. Whatever the merits of aiding persons who were displaced before, during, or soon after World War II, such aid is not normally a proper concern of this program. Moreover, quite apart from any other considerations, the program does not have sufficient funds to assist many persons other than those who have recently escaped from behind the Iron Curtain. In the foregoing perspective, the following criteria will be utilized by the Missions in according priority for assistance.

4. Priority for assistance in resettlement and for supplementary care will be granted any person who escaped after January 1, 1948 from the USSR, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria or Albania.

5. Within the broad confines of the above, there will be certain persons whom the United States obviously will not desire to assist and there will be others whose status in their country of residence after flight is such that they possess the rights and obligations of nationality of the country in which they have taken asylum.

Assistance will thus be denied to or withdrawn from any person who:

A. Is a Communist agent.
B. Is a former Nazi or Nazi collaborator seeking to escape just punishment for crimes committed during World War II against Allied personnel or against civil populations.
C. Is a common criminal.
D. Has unreasonably refused resettlement opportunities.
E. Is recognized by the competent authorities of the country in which he resides as having the rights and obligations which are attached to the possession of citizenship of that country e.g. German refugees and expellees, persons of Turkish ethnic origin from Rumania and Bulgaria, are excluded from assistance under this paragraph.
F. Has been satisfactorily settled locally.

6. Assistance will be extended, however, to those persons otherwise eligible under the provisions of this circular who defect from diplomatic, other official or semi-official missions or delegations while abroad in the service of their country.

7. Missions are authorized to make individual exceptions, regardless of dateline, when such exceptions are in the interest of the U.S. or when such exceptions are requested by other U.S. Government agencies operating in related fields. When requested exceptions are not favorably considered by the Country Unit they must be referred to the Special Unit prior to final action.

8. A family group containing a person or persons who would not ordinarily be assisted due to nationality, e.g. Polish escapee and Austrian spouse and who are otherwise eligible should be considered eligible as a unit.

9. Basic responsibility for determination of eligibility will rest with the Local Units. However, it is expected that they will devise ways and means of utilizing local facilities and officials to a maximum extent in order to assist the Local Unit in discharging this responsibility. In the event the local unit requires further assistance in reaching an eligibility decision, the Special Unit may be called upon by the Local Unit for information or advice.

CRITERIA FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE UNDER ESCAPEE PROGRAM

Text of tele-conference received from Department July 14, 1952 in amplification of criteria outlined under Provisional Guide #1:

"FEP Program is concerned with escapees from Soviet or Soviet dominated areas. In view fact FEP funds are limited and because of legislative history of program priority or preference must be given to more recent escapees such as those who escaped after January 1, 1948. Decisions as to application of fund must also be based on results which can be achieved in terms of basic objectives of program. In other words we are not distributing a limited relief fund equally among a designated number of people. We are more concerned with those who have escaped more recently than those who have been in the refugee state since World War I or those who were uprooted between September 1939 and January 1, 1948. The date January 1, 1948 is an administrative device which should not be rigidly applied unless later exhaustion of funds increasingly requires this action. Of equal concern to FEP are the results which can be achieved in terms of reestablishment, resettlement, better morale, etc., as between one project and another. We should seek self-liquidating, non-repetitive uses for FEP funds. Avoid to the extent possible acceptance of responsibilities which cannot readily be relinquished. As experience develops we shall make the foregoing more selective [illegible]

Case 4 151 - Hong Kong Parolee Chu (Lee) Wong York Ling (A-13-195-221)

REF : Headquarters Memorandum 7 June 63

1. The local office of the I&NS requested the file of Mrs. Chu from the Boston Office. This revealed the previously unreported information that Mrs. Chu's husband died in Hong Kong in 1958 where he had worked as Manager of the Pin Chong Food Company. The file further revealed that Mrs. Chu had come to the US under the auspices of the International Rescue Committee and was being sponsored by Manning [illegible] of 5131 Edmondson, Dallas, Texas.

S-5[illegible]

Use S-109939

2. Mrs. Chu was contacted at 4321 Travis Street where she is living with her six children. She corroborated much of the information contained in her I&NS file and advised that she was not in contact with anyone on the mainland of China but occasionally heard from friends in Hong Kong. She is looking for work and hopes to find a job as a waitress or possibly a filing clerk. She stated that she had left the mainland in 1949 and had no recent information on conditions in Communist China. Since her potential appeared extremely limited, she was not questioned on the checklist guides and it is suggested that this case be closed.

CASE 35654 WILLIAM DONALD HARRIS 210/17

1. WE SPOKE BRIEFLY WITH HARRIS ON MONDAY, 8 APRIL. HE HAS MADE SEVERAL TRIPS TO CUBA, THE LATEST IN JANUARY 1963 FOR TWO WEEKS. HE VISITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE AREA WEST OF HAVANA. HIS OFFICIAL TITLE IS DIRECTOR, HISPANO-AMERICAN DEPARTMENT, BOARD OF NATIONAL MISSIONS (THE PRESBETRIAN WORK IN CUBA IS ADMINISTRATIVELY A PART OF THE NEW JERSEY PRESBYTERY). HE TOLD US THAT HE HAD COMPLETE FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT, ENCOUNTERED NO DIFFICULTY ANYWHERE AND WAS NEVER STOPPED OR QUESTIONED BY THE AUTHORITIES. HE SAID HE WAS OFTEN TAKEN FOR A SOVIET OR EASTERN EUROPEAN, PROBABLY BECAUSE NO ONE EXPECTED TO SEE AN AMERICAN.

2. HIS PLANS FOR FUTURE VISITS TO CUBA ARE A BIT INDEFINITE. HE WOULD LIKE TO MAKE THE NEXT VISIT WITH SEVERAL OTHER CHURCHMEN FROM OTHER DENOMINATIONS. THERE IS AN INTERDENOMINATIONAL SEMINARY AT MATANZAS, WHICH HAS MANY PROBLEMS THAT NEED TO BE DISCUSSED. THE SEMINARY WOULD PLAN A BOARD MEETING TO COINCIDE WITH THE VISIT OF THESE PEOPLE WHO ARE ON THE BOARD. THE GROUP THAT WOULD GO INCLUDES DR. S-1329 STOCKWELL (METHODIST) BISHOP JOHN BENTLEY (EPISCOPAL), DR. LARSEN (BAPTIST) AND DR. F-5564 JOHN SINCLAIR (PRESBYTERIAN). THE ONLY MEMBER OF THIS GROUP KNOWN TO US IS BISHOP BENTLEY WHO HAS BEEN AN EXTREMELY COOPERATIVE CONTACT OF THIS OFFICE. THIS TRIP HOPEFULLY WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE NEAR FUTURE BUT THERE ARE NO DEFINITE PLANS AT THIS TIME.

3. HARRIS HAD A PROBLEM HE THOUGHT WE MIGHT BE ABLE TO HELP WITH. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IS TO TAKE PLACE IN DES MOINES, IOWA FROM 15-[illegible] MAY. THEY WOULD LIKE TO HAVE THE DELEGATES FROM CUBA ATTEND, BUT THEY HAVE HAD LITTLE SUCCESS IN GETTING THE NECESSARY PAPERS. THE ONLY POSSIBILITY SEEMS TO BE FOR THE DELEGATES TO GET THEMSELVES TO MEXICO CITY AND TAKE A CHANCE THAT THE US EMBASSY THERE WILL GRANT THEM PERMISSION TO COME INTO THE COUNTRY. THE NAMES OF THE PROPOSED DELEGATES ARE SERGIO MANEJIAS, PASTOR OF THE CHURCH IN CARDENAS, AND HIS WIFE, PRESIDENT OF THE PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION IN CARDENAS; ALSO DR. RENE CASTELLANOS, A LAYMAN FROM CARDENAS AND A FORMER UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR.

4. ON THE BASIS OF OUR RATHER SHORT VISIT WE CANNOT MAKE MUCH OF AN ASSESSMENT OF HARRIS. HE WAS EXTREMELY CORDIAL, ENTIRELY SYMPATHETIC WITH OUR INTERESTS WHILE AT THE SAME TIME WANTING TO BE ASSURED THAT HIS CONTACT WITH US WOULD NOT BECOME KNOWN. HE SAID THAT NATURALLY MANY PEOPLE ASSUMED HE WAS CONNECTED WITH THE CIA BUT THAT IF THERE WERE ANY BASIS IN FACT FOR THIS ASSUMPTION HIS USEFULNESS WOULD BE AT AN END. THIS WOULD LEAD US TO THINK THAT HE WOULD NOT BE WILLING TO DO ANYTHING ON OUR BEHALF DURING FUTURE TRIPS TO CUBA. WE ALSO THINK, HOWEVER, THAT HE IS ENOUGH OF A REALIST THAT HE WOULD NOT BE UNDULY UPSET BY THE REQUEST AND THAT HE WOULD GIVE IT SERIOUS CONSIDERATION. WHETHER HE WOULD BE MORE AMENABLE IF SOMETHING COULD BE DONE TO ENABLE THE CUBANS MENTIONED ABOVE TO COME TO DES MOINES, WE DON'T KNOW. WE THINK HE WOULD TURN DOWN ANY REQUEST TO HELP DURING HIS NEXT TRIP SINCE IT WOULD BE MADE IN THE COMPANY OF OTHER CHURCH PEOPLE.

5. WE WOULD LIKE TO MAKE AN APPOINTMENT TO TALK WITH HARRIS AT GREAT LENGTH. COULD YOU GIVE US ANY IDEA OF WHAT THE POSSIBILITIES ARE OF HELPING HIS CUBAN FRIENDS AND WE COULD THEN TRANSMIT THAT INFORMATION TO HIM AT THAT TIME. THANK YOU.

1. Enclosed is a copy of letter written by the subject which was transmitted by Mr. Abram J. Becker, (EE-8[illegible]-A) executive director of the International Rescue Committee, to a representative of this Division.

2. Subject has been the director of the Berlin office of the IRC for approximately three years. As you know, the IRC has been prominent for aid given to West Berlin and is currently in the midst of a campaign for aid to refugees arriving there in increasing numbers from the East. In her letter subject reports alleged attempts on the part of "the East" to kidnap her. In view of her activities and her connection with Rainer Hildebrandt's Kampfgruppe gegen Unmenschlichkeit, Mr. Becker believes there may be some basis for her fears. He said he knows subject as a calm person not given to hysterics; he is therefore, concerned about subject's safety.

3. This information has been transmitted to Staff C, FI, for action.

4. Any inquiry concerning this memorandum should be directed to Mrs. Virginia L. Thorne, Extension 2202.

SUBJECT: Possible Covert [illegible]
REF : NY[illegible] 647 dated [illegible] ([illegible])

1. On 6 December 1957, [illegible], as a representative of the International Rescue Committee, talked with [illegible] Gailis, a Latvian now residing in London, who expressed the desire to [illegible] the Soviet Union to [illegible] this anti-Communist activity. Gailis came to the United States with two purposes in mind. He wanted to [illegible] and receive financial backing for a [illegible], which he and a friend developed. He also wanted to explore the possibility of making contact with US intelligence agents with [illegible] of getting some type of assistance or encouragement to fulfill his [illegible] to penetrate the Soviet Union to destroy the Soviet system. [illegible] contact was through [illegible] of the International Rescue Committee [illegible] invited [illegible] representatives of [illegible] to talk with the man. Gailis stated that he had made previous approaches to the US Embassy in London where he was rebuffed. The Embassy told him to either associate with British intelligence or [illegible], which he could, of course, find no organization receptive to his ideas. The initial approach to the Embassy was made in 1950. The last approach was made in November, 1956, at the time of the Hungarian revolution. The London Embassy [illegible] had a pretty good biographical account of him. His contact in London was a Mr. [illegible]. Gailis did not know the spelling of the man's name.

2. Gailis' strong anti-Communistic feelings result from the destruction of his family by the Soviets, as well as his intense nationalistic or Latvian feelings. The secondary purpose of his visit to the United States was contact with [illegible], who has also publicly [illegible] played a [illegible] from control in the Soviet [illegible]. Gailis wanted to talk to Khrushchev in order to solicit [illegible] assistance. Gailis stated that he had met Khrushchev in Minsk during November, 1941. Gailis was associated with a German army unit, which had the responsibility of rounding up Soviet partisans and [illegible] who were working against the German occupation forces. Khrushchev was [illegible] at a [illegible] restaurant. The meeting was a very casual [illegible], and Gailis recalls having had a glass of beer with Khrushchev. These individuals are [illegible] and [illegible] Kinal. They were [illegible] of Gailis during the [illegible] Command. Gailis currently resides at 11 [illegible] Road, London, S 7. He has resided at this address for about five years. He is employed as a [illegible] at an old age home known as "[illegible]", which is located at 197 Jones Way, [illegible], N 19. This employment was obtained in July, 1977.

4. Valdemars Gailis was born in Petrograd, Russia, 27 July 190[illegible]. His family moved to Riga, Latvia in [illegible]. In Latvia, his principal occupation was that of a waiter at an officers' mess located in Riga. He held this employment from [illegible] to 1941. Initially, his employer was the Latvian Army. During this period he cooperated with Colonel Calnins, who was chief of the Information Office for the Latvian Army. In 1940, when the Russians took over Latvia, the Russian Army requested from Calnins the names of the individuals who cooperated with him. Rather than supply the information, Calnins went home and killed himself. Gailis continued as a waiter at the officers' mess, but for the Russians, until May, 1941. In May, 1941, a Russian, the mess cook, informed Gailis that Gailis, the head chef, and one other individual should escape, as the Russians were about to arrest them. Gailis went home to tell his wife and child to leave Riga and head for a sister's home in the hinterlands. Upon arrival at home, Gailis was told that the Russians had already been there looking for him. Gailis then left Riga and joined the partisans in [illegible]. When the German military forces entered Latvia, Gailis returned to Riga and learned that his wife and son had been deported by the Soviets on 13 June 1941. His wife had failed to head for the country but stayed in Riga, where she was arrested. He has not heard anything of either wife or son since then.

5. Gailis then returned to the Riga officers' mess as a waiter for the Germans. He was picked up by the German Army as a Russian interpreter on 4 November 1941 when he was sent to Leningrad for a few days. He then went to Minsk, where the supposed contact with [illegible] took place. Gailis was associated as an interpreter with the German anti-partisan group for about 2½ years. With the German Army he came to Germany on 1[illegible] October 1944. On 3 February 1945 he joined the Vlasov Army as an interpreter. On 22 May 1947 his associations with the Vlasov Army were terminated

FROM : Charles A. Briggs
Chief, Services Staff

VIA : Acting Deputy Director for Operations

SUBJECT : International Rescue Committee, Inc.

1. The following information on the IRC is for background only.

2. In August 1950, Outline for Project QKGAUNT was approved for the purpose of acquiring biographic information on top-level defectors/emigres from an official of the IRC. The sum of $2,500 was to be provided by covert means. A partial payment of $1,250 was advanced on 30 August 1950 but was refused by the IRC representative, who stated he would supply as much of the information desired as possible without cost. The project was closed as of 31 August 1950.

3. In November 1950, David Martin, Executive Secretary of the IRC met with George Carey, Assistant Director for Operations, with as many as five proposals for collaboration between CIA and IRC. One proposal was for the support of a European Institute which would provide employment for displaced scientists, journalists, etc. He was informed that CIA had no funds for financing such a project.

Dear Mr. Sternberg:

As you might surmise, your organization is well known to the Agency. Following the receipt of your letter of 31 March 1976, a more definitive search for information pertaining to your request was conducted. No information was located which would indicate that CIA has ever provided funds to the IRC either directly or indirectly. I trust this letter will allay any apprehensions your organization has had in this matter.

If I can be of further assistance, do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

1. We met Charles Sternberg, Executive Director of the International Rescue Committee (IRC) on 10 May 1973. In the course of our conversation, Sternberg noted that we had shown quite a bit of interest in Soviet arrivals (defectors) recently and suggested that it would be of a great advantage to us if we were able to introduce ourselves as, for instance, representatives of a scientific institute rather than Agency employees.

2. We are quite certain that Sternberg meant well and had our benefit in mind when he made this suggestion. Sternberg has been cooperative and helpful to us over a number of years. His suggestion particularly aims to simplify our problem of making initial contact with USSR nationals. They are particularly sensitive and suspicious, and CIA has a very ominous meaning to them according to Sternberg.

3. We explained to Sternberg that we cannot do what he suggested, but in turn we suggested that in instances where a new arrival is ill at ease, we should wait a few weeks or months until the new arrival has settled down, found a place to live, and hopefully, a satisfactory place of employment.

4. We did, however, tell Sternberg that we will discuss his suggestion with our associates interested in this particular problem.

5. Do you have any advice or comment?

REFERENCES: A. BOS-927-72, Same Subject, dated 29 November 1972

1. This memo covers subjects discussed in references.

2. Since Tereshko came into this country as a refugee under the auspices of the International Rescue Committee in New York City we do not have any commitments to assist him in his resettlement problems whether they include job assistance or assistance in firming up his immigration status to this country. We, however, also realize that he has been a very cooperative and prolific reports producer for the intelligence components. We want to make clear that we have no commitments to help Tereshko.

3. Tereshko should find his own way to mail letters to Minsk through parties located in other cities. Subject mentioned that he has friends in New York City whom he could use for this purpose.

4. We contacted the office handling Tereshko's refund for his rubles and rupees and were informed that he will shortly receive a check for US$25.00 plus some gold rubles which could not be changed for him. When we receive the money in a week or two, we will forward it to you.

5. Apparently Tereshko feels an attraction to work for Radio Liberty in Munich, which was offered to him. This again is his own decision although he has a good position and a fine future with his present company.

6. We have found from experience that defectors generally blame us for decisions and actions which fail and credit their own astuteness for those developments which succeed. We would like, however, to point

SUBJECT: Contact with Mrs. Mary Lord

1. Mrs. Mary Lord will make two trips abroad in the near future. From 19 August to 7 September she will be in the Far East. She will travel to Calcutta in her capacity as interim president of the International Rescue Committee, and will also go to Saigon and Hong Kong. She hopes to visit Laos, but this had not been settled when we spoke with her early in August. Her visit would be in response to an invitation extended by Souvanna Phouma last winter (see oo-B-33171-70). If successful, she would attempt to get more information related to the requirements of Case 54,162.

2. On 9 September Mrs. Lord leaves for Europe on a trip connected with her duties with the Atlantic Treaty Association. We do not know how long she will be gone, but if prior trips are any indication it probably will be no longer than two weeks. She may learn more about Georges Pompidou, although she has not been briefed for this particular trip. We received requirements against a similar trip in June (See oo-B-17055-71 in response to cases 54,162 and 56,660 and she may remember some of those and attempt to obtain further data. We would recommend that she be debriefed on both trips shortly after her return from Europe. We have given her Mr. Lohmann's name, should she wish to contact the NYFO before a representative calls on her.

3. In June Mrs. Lord loaned us two books on Pompidou. Upon instructions from Chief, NYFO, we returned these to Mrs. Lord on 18 August since we had received no reply to our queries to headquarters (NY-636-71 of 24 June 197, Form 610 of 19 July 1971 and NY 16766 of 3 August 1971.)

Cogswell telephoned to inform that the International Rescue Committee planned to hold a Press Conference on 24 March 1971 in New York to discuss prisoners in Cuban jails. Cogswell voiced the hope that the conference would not have any adverse effects on attempts underway to obtain the release of Lawrence Kirby Lunt from a Cuban prison. He explained that "Pancho" ("who is known to your people, I am sure") is on his way to Mexico City with $3,500. He will contact a woman there who apparently knows who to pay off to arrange Lunt's release. Cogswell indicated that "they" hoped to pay no more than $10,000.

SUBJECT: Meeting with Edmund Cummings, Dept. of Immigration, US Catholic Conference.
Ref: Dept. of State memo of 12 May 69 from Wm. C. Trueheart, forwarded to NYFO on 16 May 69.

1. On 6 Jun 69 Deputy Chief, NYFO, accompanied by C/S Elliff, met with Edmund Cummings to discuss any aspects of the relationship between his office and the Agency that might be unsatisfactory to him. This appointment was requested by NYFO as a result of the comments made by Cummings in reference memo.

2. When we opened the discussion with the statement that we had heard indirectly that the question of cooperation with the CIA had arisen at the ACVA meeting, Cummings immediately stated that this was indeed the case, and for his part, he wished to have no contact at all with our Agency. Invited to elaborate on his reasons, Cummings said it could be very "embarrassing" were it to become known that he had furnished information on Czechoslovak refugees to the CIA. He later stated that it could be extremely dangerous for refugees to have contact with the Agency, since if this fact were known, it could bring harm to themselves or to their families still in Eastern Europe. If he had furnished the information about the location of a refugee to whom harm later came, it would cause him great anguish. He knew, he said, of an instance in Connecticut in which a refugee who had cooperated with the Agency was beaten up by Communist agents. Cummings did not respond to our invitation to elaborate on this incident, which we said was unknown to us. Cummings said that not only was he concerned about CIA activities involving refugees, but that if cognizant, the US bishops would be unhappy about CIA involvement with organizations such as the US Catholic Conference. Again, Cummings declined to elaborate. Cummings suggested that we get our information from the I&NS to whom the US Catholic Conference furnishes data and he was unsympathetic to our desire to have this information on a more timely basis than was possible with reliance on I&NS records. He also suggested that arrangements to see refugees in the US be made with the refugee in Europe and that the refugee be given a telephone number to call after his arrival. Responding to our direct question, Cummings said he viewed cooperation with the FBI in a different light and would not deny its agents information they requested.

3. We wish to emphasize that Cummings made none of the statements to us that he did in paragraph two of reference memo. On the contrary, in response to our direct question, Cummings said that his objections were those of principle rather than of manner of approach by the NYFO. At no time during our conversation with him did he make any objection to the procedure set up between him and C/S Elliff to facilitate the acquiring of the information we requested. We do not have any doubts that Cummings did indeed make the statements attributed to him in reference memo, but it is at least interesting that he specifically refuted them in our presence. After displaying nothing but hostility toward the Agency during our entire meeting, he invited us to call upon him in the future if he "could ever do anything for us personally." Obviously we do not expect to contact him on any basis in the future and we are certain that he does not anticipate further inquiries from this office.

4. C/S Elliff reports as follows on her contacts with Cummings and other officials of the Dept. of Immigration, US Catholic Conference:

> "The first contact with Cummings was on 11 Sept 68 and the results of that meeting are contained in NY#677-68 of 11 Sep 68. This was a straight-forward request for information on how the US Catholic Conference would handle the influx of refugees. As can be seen from the memo, Cummings was cooperative and, in fact, offered more assistance to us than we later requested. We spoke on the telephone with Cummings a few weeks later to say that, in all likelihood, we would only be needing to ask for address information on selected refugees occasionally. For this information, he referred us to Mrs. Irene Bilinski. On 12 Dec we saw Mrs. Bilinski who ~~was cooperative in~~ furnishing information on a specific Czechoslovak refugee. Upon our return from Washington in late January 1969, a number of requests had piled up and we tried to obtain the needed information through Mrs. Bilinski. She pleaded that they were very busy, extremely behind in their filing and asked that we call on her later.

"Since it appeared in late March that Mrs. Bilinski would not be available in the foreseeable future, we called again on Cummings and explained the problem. We said we understood the problems involved for them in providing this information, in view of the fact that they were extremely busy, and said we would appreciate anything he could do to facilitate matters. There was one address we needed urgently and this Cummings obtained for us while we waited. We left with him about six three-by-five cards on other refugees, plus a stamped self-addressed envelope, and asked that he return the cards, with the address and employment data added, at his convenience. After that, we sent Cummings two letters requesting data on additional individuals and received replies in due course. After his receipt of the second letter, Cummings called Deputy Chief, NYFO (whose name he had obtained from Charles Sternberg of the International Rescue Committee) to check on Miss Elliff's bona fides. According to Deputy Chief, NYFO, Cummings was satisfied that our inquiries were legitimate and only expressed the hope that they could be kept to a minimum. We suggested the mail procedure agreed to by Cummings only in the interest of saving the time of an obviously overworked organization.

"When the account of Cummings' complaints to the Department of State official reached us, we endeavored to set up an appointment for ourselves and Deputy Chief, NYFO, to see him. Our first call in this regard was on 19 May. He said it was a very busy week and asked us to call later. We called the following week and he again stated he was extremely busy. We said we did have one address to ask him about and asked if we might see him briefly. He invited us to write him for the information, and assured us that this would be entirely satisfactory. We wrote on 26 May and he replied the following day, much faster than he had previously. When we called him on 6 June, he invited us to meet with him that afternoon. We estimate that we have requested address and employment information on about 13 individuals. Since this is the only data requested from Cummings, we do not understand his statement in reference memo that he had "become concerned over the numbers and types of request." In addition to Cummings and Mrs. Bilinski, we have contacted Mrs. Olympia Boroni, whom we saw in 1967 in connection with Case 49,354. Although she could not furnish the current location of the individual in whom we were interested, she was extremely cooperative." B-67-167

Jack,

Jim Murphy showed us the attached correspondence, which follow-up on his earlier discussion of the subject problem with you. He asked that we send you a copy, and would like your comments on it. Jim would be interested in the rational for going the mail route instead of personal visits by the CS's. As I mentioned during your brief visit on Wednesday, we are reviewing the entire DCS Czech refugee procedure, with an eye to cutting back our general effort.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Thomas H. Karamessines
Deputy Director for Plans
Central Intelligence Agency

SUBJECT: CIA Requests to Voluntary Agencies in New York

With reference to our recent discussion of this subject, I am attaching a memorandum from Mr. Laugel of Ambassador Martin's staff on his meetings in New York with various representatives of the voluntary agencies. It would appear from his report that concern among the voluntary agencies over CIA approaches is more widespread than we had at first supposed.

Mrc 6 69-169

Ambassador/Graham Martin has asked me to inform you of conversations which were held in my presence by certain voluntary agency representatives with regard to CIA requests for information on Eastern European refugees (primarily Czechs) who have been arriving in the U.S. as a result of the Czechoslovak-USSR crisis. The following information was obtained on a confidential basis while I was in New York this week to work on an unrelated project:

A-22572 A-41194

(1) On May 5, after concluding my own business discussions, Dr. Jan Papanek, President of the American Fund for Czechoslovak Refugees, Inc., expressed his deep concern over being asked to supply information on the whereabouts of his former countrymen. Dr. Papanek told me that the CIA is checking on a large number of Czech refugees, most of whom have no special experience or qualifications which would seem to be of particular interest to the United States. He knows that many of these people are being subjected to intensive interrogations which bewilder and frighten them. The procedure was initiated last October by a CIA man who identified himself as Norman N. Graber. Dr. Papanek receives his requests by letter (he showed me one sample) which simply lists the names and other basic data, either immigration number or date of birth. The return address used by the CIA is P.O. Box 1294 in Grand Central Station, to which Dr. Papanek is to send his reply that is, the latest U.S. address recorded in his files. Dr. Papanek did not mention a specific number of names or requests but he said they are growing and he is very uncomfortable about it; he does not want his good name or agency to become identified with the CIA. He indicated, in addition, that the method of operation seems heavy-handed in comparison to that of the FBI, whose agents present themselves in person, make their requests known and are serviced to the extent permitted by Dr. Papanek. If this information is essential to U.S. interests, Dr. Papanek cannot understand why it is not handled on an intra-governmental basis -- namely have the CIA obtain its information from the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which is responsible for alien registration in the United States.

(2) On May 6, after concluding my work with Mr. Edmund Cummings, Associate Director of the U.S. Catholic Conference, the question again came up. Mr. Cummings expressed his agitation over the seemingly amateurish and scattershot method by which the CIA is operating in this field. He also questioned the value of interrogating simple refugees who are not defectors with special qualifications or background. Mr. Cummings said the groundwork was laid sometime ago (no date mentioned) by a female officer of the CIA, and that he agreed to the exchange of mail procedure utilizing the P.O. Box at Grand Central. However, he has become concerned over the numbers and types of requests. He suggested, as did Dr. Papanek, that INS might be the proper contact point for CIA. Mr. Cummings also mentioned that the FBI agents appear in person and he indicated that their approach seems more professional.

S-5564 OK

(3) I was also informed by Mr. Cummings that the International Rescue Committee, Inc., whose Executive Director is Mr. Charles Sternberg, was somewhat alarmed by the same situation. I had previously consulted Mr. Sternberg on my own project but he did not raise the CIA matter with me.

A-87027

(4) On May 7 I attended (as an observer) a meeting of the Committee on Migration and Refugee Problems, American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc., which was called to discuss refugee and related matters. The meeting was chaired by the Rev. John W. Schauer of the Church World Service; in addition to

At one point the meeting went off-the-record to hear from Mr. Cummings of USCC, who had been assigned to study the "CIA problem." But Chairman Schauer opened the discussion by announcing rather mysteriously that he had been in touch "with Washington" at the appropriate level -- implying that the Council should at least table the matter for the time being. Mr. Cummings then moved that (a) there would be no further discussion of it, and (b) each voluntary agency should deal with the CIA as it sees fit on an individual agency basis. His motion carried and the Council proceeded to other business.

The above information was volunteered to me. During the individual discussions I expressed no opinion but did mention my general interest in overall problems the voluntary agencies are facing. At the Council meeting I said nothing on this subject.

SUBJECT: Case: [illegible] Dr. Jaroslav [illegible]'s Defection and Redefection.

1. Herewith a summary of this case, as requested in WA-61595.

2. The case was opened to this office by a telephone call from George Mucalin in mid-morning on 20 Sep 63. The only information available to us at that point was an account in the New York Times of 19 September. Freund of NYFO was instructed to contact Mr. Joe Schmit (Assistant Special Agent in Charge), New York FBI: the FBI had notified CIA through Washington Liaison that it would be ready to turn over subject to us for interrogation some time on this date, and the details were to be discussed with Schmit.

3. Schmit passed Freund along to the supervisor and special agent handling the case (both known to us), and we learned that the FBI had not seen the subject as yet because of unexpected delays at Immigration and Naturalization Services. The expected schedule was for subject to be fingerprinted and released by I&NS in the early p.m. The FBI estimated that its own interrogation could be accomplished within about 45 minutes. As envisaged, FBI interrogation would be carried out at International Rescue Committee office, where subject would be turned over to us at about 3 p.m.

4. Above information was phoned through to Alien Branch, which advised that two OSI representatives, Drs. Hopman and Huber, were to be dispatched to New York to conduct an interrogation that afternoon. Numerous telephone calls between this office and Alien Branch, the FBI, and IRC continued throughout the afternoon. The FBI very graciously agreed to make a staff translator of Czech descent available for our interrogation. Charles Sternberg of IRC agreed to stay in his office until we could take the subject off his hands when it became clear that the OSI representatives were late in arriving.

5. Dr. Hopman, OSI, and Dr. Huber, Medical Staff, in fact reached NYFO at 1:50. There was considerable misunderstanding between them and this office concerning the situation. They were unaware that subject had been interrogated until late the previous day by INS and was somewhat exhausted by interrogations and procedures on 20 Sep at INS and involving the FBI. They expected to operate under cover (to be furnished by FBI or this office), they expected to be provided with a secure interrogation facility wired for sound, they understood that Czechoslovak authorities had attempted to reach the subject. In the circumstances, they remained at NYFO in the care of the Field Office chief, while Freund proceeded to IRC.

6. Conversations at I&N with Sternberg, the FBI translator and subject revealed the following: subject had been led to expect two CIA men from Washington. He had been given Freund's true name, and he was not in the happiest mood after waiting for several hours. (Sternberg of INS had not made the above disclosures to subject.) Further discussion with Chief, NYFO, and with Sternberg led to the decision that subject was to remain in Sternberg's care over the weekend, that any interrogation in the circumstances would be unwise (particularly as the transcript of the exhaustive I&NS interrogation would be available early the following week), and that the suggestion of Alien Branch to bring him to its safe installation for detailed exploitation should be followed.

7. Freund took the FBI translator and subject out for supper and developed a few facts. Subject was overly optimistic about the results of de-Stalinization in Czechoslovakia and the current "non-[illegible]," which he hoped would insure his family's joining him within one to two years. He was staying with his friend, Danes, and felt confident that neither the other 24 physicians in his exchange group nor Czechoslovak security could trace him to Danes. Subject was very willing to leave New York for interrogation elsewhere. He spoke about his political convictions- anti-communist, pro- Czech- and his admiration for the US, although he did not particularly like New York. Freund thanked the FBI translator for his help, delivered subject to Danes' apartment (but did not enter it), notified Chief, NYFO, of developments, and reported to [illegible] at the earliest opportunity (about 2250 hours).

8. On Monday morning, 23 September, we received word that Alien Branch was ready to accept subject to its safe facility later that day. George Hagle, using a registered pseudonym, drove subject to Washington in the afternoon. An agreement reached earlier with Sternberg was reconfirmed in front of subject at the time that Freund picked up subject: the INS assumed full responsibility for subject's welfare, under procedures and considerations affecting aliens as promulgated by the I&NS. During the period (expected to be somewhere in the neighborhood of one week) that we borrowed subject, we obviously had to share this responsibility. We wanted to make clear, however, that CIA was not in any way involved in this matter other than to avail itself of the opportunity to interview a source with recent experience in Czechoslovakia. Sternberg clearly understood this, and his subsequent behavior vis-a-vis us appeared to be beyond reproach. On our part, we did not become involved with living arrangements in New York, job opportunities, and the like.

9. The record shows that subject was returned by car (Rosenbrook driving) to New York on 3 October and turned back to Sternberg by Freund at 1400 hours that day. We advised Sternberg of subject's interest in relocating in West Germany or Austria because of his expectation that he would be more readily admitted to medical practice in either country than in the US. Ultimately, he hoped to return to the US, with his family, if wife and child could join him in the West.

Sternberg was [illegible] a realistic plan. We understood from Sternberg that he planned to place subject in a hotel and that subject was to use his proper name [illegible] without the title of "doctor". We were fearful of Czechoslovak efforts to reach him and expressed our fears to Sternberg, [illegible] to influence him. In retrospect, Sternberg might wish to have [illegible] more [illegible] based on his dealings with other refugees, he doubted whether the Czechoslovak authorities would try very hard to run subject down.

10. Our next [illegible] came when we called Sternberg during the early afternoon of [illegible] October. We were in receipt of [illegible], which [illegible] us to ask subject some questions. When we learned from Sternberg that subject was due at IRC that afternoon, Sternberg promised to phone as soon as subject arrived there so that an appointment could be made. Since Major Pribram [illegible] had preliminary indications of job possibilities for subject, we mentioned this to Sternberg and found him appreciative. Later that afternoon, Sternberg phoned back, indicated subject had not shown up at IRC and that he (Sternberg) would go to subject's hotel (near IRC headquarters).

11. The following morning, Sternberg phoned and reluctantly indicated that something was amiss. He had not found subject in his room at the Hotel Le Marquis, 12 East 31st Street, (near IRC hq), on Monday afternoon; an IRC employee who had visited the hotel room on the morning of Tuesday, [illegible] October, established that subject had not been near his room at least since the day before. Subject's belongings, including the briefcase he took wherever he went, were in the room. Sternberg concluded that subject had left his hotel room Monday morning and had not returned since then. Sternberg invited us to inform the FBI. He had not expressed his suspicions to anybody but ourselves. We notified Sivess, who suggested Sternberg alert the FBI himself. We called Sternberg back and so advised him. Somewhat later, the FBI supervisor called us to pass the news to us. Around noon, Sternberg had a call from subject, who said he had chosen to return to Czechoslovakia. Subject answered in the affirmative when Sternberg inquired whether subject phoned from the Czechoslovak Mission to the U.N. The conversation was very short. Sternberg knew enough to inform INS and the FBI. He expressed the hope that the US Government would take steps to make sure that subject was exercising free choice. A number of telephone calls from INS and the FBI ensued, in which the latest developments were played back to us. This office notified Deputy Chief, Contact Division, by phone.

12. During the afternoon, INS advised that it had received an inquiry from the Hotel Le Marquis. Two Czechoslovak diplomats from the UN Mission were at the hotel and trying to claim subject's belongings. The hotel management wondered whether it should comply. INS already had checked with the FBI, which had expressed no interest. We thought that we might wish to go through his briefcase, but told the caller that we had to check with headquarters before giving him a reply. Our call reached Rosenbrook, but the reply (negative) came from McConnell. After some 20 minutes, we therefore advised INS that CIA had no special wishes with regard to subject's belongings. Our advice was that the hotel management treat him exactly as any other John Doe.

13. Charles Sternberg phoned Fremont at the latter's home during the early evening hours. Sternberg expressed considerable concern about the possibility that a member of the Czechoslovak U.N. Mission had successfully approached subject and brought a little pressure to bear on him by giving him a letter from home or painting a black picture about his family's future if he remained in the West as a defector. Sternberg wanted assurances that the US Government mobilize all resources to protect subject from such coercion. Fremont pointed out that CIA was not involved in this aspect of the case and that Sternberg should deal with the appropriate Department of Justice agency, INS or FBI. He indicated that he had already called Mr. Esperdy, District Director of INS, but had not received very reassuring information. He indicated that the IRC had a responsibility first of all to subject and next to all refugees under its care to make sure that they receive proper US Government protection. He might therefore turn to some one "topside" in Washington. He also requested, however, that Fremont communicate this concern to higherups in CIA, which was promptly promised. A phone call to McDonnell at the latter's home (about 2000 hours on 8 October) took care of the matter.

14. There were no further developments on this case during that week. An inquiry from Sivess on 14 October (based on a vague report that subject had been offered $2,000 for a TV appearance in the US) led to a call to Sternberg on that day. Sternberg had not heard of any such offer and felt confident that it had not been extended to subject. He then commented on the second article concerning subject written by Peter Kihss of the New York Times. Since the Late City Edition carried a longer version than the City Edition (which is ordinarily sold in Washington), we are forwarding a clipping of this article (which appeared in the 11 October issue of the New York Times). Sternberg told us that subject's Czech emigre friends, Danes and Vesely, were responsible for the article. They had phoned the Czechoslovak U.N. Mission and asked to speak to subject. They had phoned the various airlines at Idlewild and established the departure via Air France. Finally, they had talked to Kihss about CIA involvement. All that IRC then could do was to issue the statement which was reprinted.

15. Sternberg used this occasion to retrace his own steps for us. On 8 and 9 October, he had been in touch with Van der Heuvel, who was then in Washington. He had talked to Mr. Noto at the Central Office, INS, twice on the morning of [illegible] October.

During the first conversation, Mr. Hoto was not yet aware of subject's departure from the US. Sternberg said he would merely express the hope that subject was interviewed by a US Government official before his departure. It was academic now to worry about whether there had been any dirty tricks involved on the part of the Czechoslovak authorities in persuading subject to return. It was not completely impossible that subject himself took the initiative and called the Czechoslovak Mission to learn about his family.

1. Dr. Edgar Lowell, a contact of ours at the John Tracy Clinic, 806 W. Adams Blvd., Los Angeles 7, California, where a great deal of electronic research is carried on concerning deafness, has advised us that he has been nominated as the Program Chairman for the International Congress on Education of the Deaf, which will be held in June 1963. The host for this Conference will be the Council on Education of the Deaf and the Congress will be held at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C. The Coordinator for this International Congress will be Dr. Powrie V. Doctor of Gallaudet College, who will be working with the State Department on this particular Congress.

2. As Chairman of the Program Committee, Dr. Lowell will be required to go to Europe to attend a meeting of a similar European group planning their annual congress for about the same time, and will visit Italy, France, Belgium, Germany, England and Scandinavia to check on attendees. There is a possibility that he will also go to Yugoslavia at the same time.

3. As a side-line it is also possible that Dr. Lowell will go to Moscow where he will visit Prof. E.N. Sokolov, Institute of Defectology, Pogodina Str 8, Moscow G-117, USSR. Prof. Sokolov is well-known and has been active in previous Macey Conferences in which Dr. Aldrich and Jack Ford have been interested. We have reported through Dr. Lowell on both Sokolov and Prof. A. R. Luriya, and continuing correspondence between Sokolov and Dr. Lowell has also been reported.

4. The Soviets will be invited to this Congress and if the present cordial relationship still exists unaltered by world events, no doubt Sokolov and/or others will certainly be interested if not attend this meeting.

5. Enclosed is a rough outline of the program Dr. Lowell is responsible for which, of course, is still in the formative stage. Also a copy of the original letter sent out announcing the Congress is attached.

5. We would be interested in knowing your degree of interest in this particular matter, and entertain any suggestions you might have towards working with Dr. Lowell.

2. "Ex-Hungarian Prime Minister Ferenc Nagy was asked by the Free Europe Committee to form a new Hungarian Committee which will replace the two committees now in existence. The new committee is being formed because the Free Europe Committee wishes to economize and representation from several Hungarian political parties is wanted.

3. "Since I do not dare correspond with friends and relatives in Hungary and the US government is interested in current information on Hungary, I think I can give the name of an individual who is living in Vienna and is truly an 'operator.' His name is Dr. Thomas Pasztor. I believe he can be useful to the US because I recommended him for the purpose of gathering information on Hungary to Mr. David Martin of the International Rescue Committee. Most of the information gathered by Pasztor was used by IRC in reports on Hungary to the United Nations. S-5564

4. "Pasztor's address is I. Jakobergasse 4.III.18, Vienna, Austria, telephone 522-0-455. I am able to give the following biographic data on Pasztor: aged 46, divorced, official of the Pfeiffer Party after he was kicked out of the Smallholders Party, arrested for anti-Communist activities in 1948 or 1949, He was convicted and sentensed to death which was later commuted to life imprisonment. He was in the same political prisons with me at Vac and the Gyuto prison in Budapest.

5. "While in prison he was a 'double-dealer' and most prisoners liked him but distrusted him. He seemed to be able to find out about all news both inside and outside the prison. He was released from prison during the destalinization period and escaped to the West during the revolution.

6. "He has been sending typewritten news reports on Hungary to several individuals in the US and Europe. I have received copies in both Hungarian and English. I sent the English copy to Mr. David Martin, IRC in New York. He does not charge for the service, but I remember seeing some of his news items in Hungarian newspapers after receiving his report. Pasztor tells me that he is in financial straits and asked that I try to help him find someone who could use his service.

7. "The 15 June 1957 issue is titled 'Picture of the Hungarian Situation' and it covers information on (a) General Situation; (b) Internal Politics; (c) The Terror, Public Opinion, Resistance; (d) Military Situation; (e) Peoples Economy, Industry and Agriculture; and (f) Miscellaneous news.

8. "I cannot vouch for his sincerity or loyalty but I would say that about 95% of him is good and the remaining 5% of him is questionable."

October 4, 1957

Mr. James MacCracken
Tolstoy Foundation, Inc.
989 Eighth Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. MacCracken:

I thought you would like to know that the International Rescue Committee has organized a Commission of distinguished Americans who will visit Europe to investigate the refugee situation and issue a report on their return. We envision that the Commission's report would highlight the following factors.

1. The conditions and needs of those Forgotten Men who have been sitting in refugee camps for years or who are inadequately resettled outside of camps. A portion of the report will be devoted to the Hungarian refugees who are still in camps.

2. Make specific and general recommendations as to what can be done in the future to meet the needs of the "Forgotten Men".

Aside from highlighting the factors just mentioned, we feel that the Commission's report can serve, among others, the following constructive purposes.

1. By dramatizing and humanizing the problems of European Escapees, we believe that the Commission can help to create a climate of public opinion conducive to:

    a. More generous support for U.S. programs concerned with the refugees, both private and governmental.

    b. More flexible immigration legislation.

2. The report of the commission will, of course, incorporate information from the survey now being prepared by the UNHCR. Indeed, we feel that the Commission can be of great assistance to the UNHCR by bringing his report and the refugee situation in general to the attention of the American public. We believe that the commission is especially qualified to fulfill this function since they are a group of private Americans talking to fellow Americans.

The Commission will leave for Europe on October 15th and return on October 31st. Enclosed you will find their tentative schedule and a list of Commission members as of this date. In addition to the observations of the Commission, their final report will, of course, also represent intensive research on the part of our staff.

We have asked our overseas representatives, in the countries which the Commission will be visiting, to provide at least one opportunity for representatives of your organization to meet with the Commission if they wish to do so. If your representatives desire to meet with the Commission to discuss some specific aspect of the refugee problem, I suggest that they contact our representative in the country where they are stationed.

I have not been in a position to write to you about the Commission before this since the Commission plans have just been finalised. If you desire further information, I am at your service.

Sincerely yours,

She added that when he first got to Austria he was so frightened lest he be refused entry to the US that when he was asked whether he had any Communist connections he said he did not. 5-5564

2. A check with I & NS in Hartford indicated that this man was born 24 March 1923, had been under investigation back in February, that the case was closed, that the file indicated he was again under investigation as of April and that the case was evidently still open. SUBJECT: ALEXANDER-SINCLAIR, John

1. Reference is made to the name check request from your office dated 28 January 1957, for information concerning John ALEXANDER-SINCLAIR. The files of this office and those of a predecessor organization contain considerable information concerning Subject, the major part of which is not derogatory. This information includes reports of Subject's personal views as of January 1943 on political and economic conditions in Shanghai, China, which could be made available to your office upon request. Following is information which may be deemed derogatory in one case and of intelligence interest in the other.

2. A usually reliable source reported in September 1951 that Subject, then the director of the Office of the High Commissioner for Refugees and an official at the British Foreign Office, accompanied the High Commissioner to Italy on his first unofficial trip in July 1951. Source stated that Subject was not at all tactful in his dealings with Italian officials and thus he met passive resistance. Furthermore, acting on behalf of the Commissioner and very eager to put at once as many British agents as possible into positions under the Commissioner's cover, Subject appointed Manuel DE BEAR, Chairman of the International Refugee Organization (IRO) Review Board, to the position of representative in Italy. According to Source, this annoyed Prince DEL DRAGO, Italian envoy to IRO in Geneva, Switzerland, who stated that as long as IRO was functioning, there would be no other refugee representative working in Italy and that, after all, the Commissioner had to be first recognised by the Government. DE BEAR was said to be "persona non grata" to the Italians.

3. According to a report dated 7 January 1954 from a fairly reliable source, it had been reported by various sub-sources that John ALEXANDER, British, Delegate to Italy of the High Commissioner of the United Nations for Refugees, was a person to be considered rather politically dubious. According to Source, on several occasions he had been excessively interested in favoring foreigners in Italy who had received expulsion notices as a result of their commercial activity and political contacts with Iron Curtain countries. Source stated that Subject was further reported to be on very friendly terms with Italians and non-Italians who were clearly oriented toward the parties of the extreme left.

REASON FOR THIS WAS THE AN AD HAD APPEARED IN THE PARIS TRIBUNE SOLICITING FUNDS FOR THE IRC X IRC AND STATING THAT THE MONEY WAS TO BE USED FOR THE SUPPORT OF HUNGARIAN PARTISANS FIGHTING AGAINST THE COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT (NO X NO MENTION MADE THAT IT WAS FOR ASSISTANCE TO HUNGARIAN REFUGEES IN AUSTRIA). THE AUSTRIAN REACTION TO THIS AD WAS THAT WHILE SUCH A CONTRIBUTION MIGHT BE A GOOD IDEA THEY DID NOT X NOT WANT TO BE ACCUSED BY THE SOVIETS OF ACTIVELY SUPPORTING THE FIGHTING. SOCONY WITHDREW THE PLEDGE AND GAVE THE MONEY TO THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT FUND TO ASSIST THE REFUGEES.

SOCONY'S REACTION WAS THAT IRC X IRC SHOULD BE A LITTLE MORE ACCURATE IN THEIR SOLICITING CAMPAIGN.

SUBJECT: ALEXANDER-SINCLAIR, John S-5564

1. Reference is made to the name check request from your office dated 28 January 1957, for information concerning John ALEXANDER-SINCLAIR. The files of this office and those of a predecessor organization contain considerable information concerning Subject, the major part of which is not derogatory. This information includes reports of Subject's personal views as of January 1943 on political and economic conditions in Shanghai, China, which could be made available to your office upon request. Following is information which may be deemed derogatory in one case and of intelligence interest in the other.

2. A usually reliable source reported in September 1951 that Subject, then the director of the Office of the High Commissioner for Refugees and an official at the British Foreign Office, accompanied the High Commissioner to Italy on his first unofficial trip in July 1951. Source stated that Subject was not at all tactful in his dealings with Italian officials and thus he met passive resistance. Furthermore, acting on behalf of the Commissioner and very eager to put at once as many British agents as possible into positions under the Commissioner's cover, Subject appointed Marcel DE BEAR, Chairman of the International Refugee Organization (IRO) Review Board, to the position of representative in Italy. According to Source, this annoyed Prince DEL DRAGO, Italian envoy to IRO in Geneva, Switzerland, who stated that as long as IRO was functioning, there would be no other refugee representative working in Italy and that, after all, the Commissioner had to be first recognized by the Government. DE BEAR was said to be "persona non grata" to the Italians.

3. According to a report dated 7 January 1954 from a fairly reliable source, it had been reported by various sub-sources that John ALEXANDER, British, Delegate to Italy of the High Commissioner of the United Nations for Refugees, was a person to be considered rather politically dubious. According to Source, on several occasions he had been excessively interested in favoring foreigners in Italy who had received expulsion notices as a result of their commercial activity and political contacts with Iron Curtain countries. Source stated that Subject was further reported to be on very friendly terms with Italians and non-Italians who were clearly oriented toward the parties of the extreme left.

1. Peter White reports that subject has injected himself into the affairs of American Friends of Vietnam in a manner which he considers to be suspiciously like that of an intelligence agent. Since the subject is a former British subject but now a naturalized citizen, he poses the questions to whether he might not be a long-term British agent. Peter reports that subject is seeing Duc-Thonh regularly and is a close friend of Prince Buu-hoi. Subject was a friend of President Diem when he was in this country.

2. Subject has stated that he has money which he wants to invest in Vietnam. His present occupation is that of button manufacturer with which he has had considerable success.

3. We admit that this is a little bit like seeing a bogey-man behind every bush but are a little curious as to the prospects for button manufacturing in Vietnam. We are only passing this on for what it is worth, which is probably not much.

d. A publication entitled "Livre Noir". This is a Dai Viet black book against Diem, a copy of which, according to du Berrier, was given to Vice President Nixon during his last visit to Saigon. du Berrier says that there is a third portion of the book which he does not have.

e. Press release, 25 September 1956, distributed by Dai Viet Party from Paris.

3. It is our impression that du Berrier has little to say by way of analysis that differs from the standard Dai Viet statements. du Berrier makes no effort to hide his admiration for Hoan and his people. He says that in time, either Hoan or the Communists will win out in Vietnam and that if Hoan wins, he will need a couple of friends in the US. The implication seems plain that du Berrier plans on being one of those "friends".

4. It seems to us that the best course on handling this material is to send the whole batch to you in order to determine whether or not any of it is worth reporting or placing on file. We will furnish report elements for any of this material which is found reportable. If you find that copies of Hoan's letters might be desired, they could possibly be obtained from du Berrier at such times as he is in New York.

1. Our contact in the Harold Oram Agency public relations office advises that a Mr. Rufus Phillips who is connected with psychological warfare activities of the Agency, has been in contact with Oram and his agency for the purpose of arranging distribution of a film which was made in Vietnam and is concerned with the communist methods of operating in an agrarian community. Phillips was formerly in Vietnam under cover.

2. Our contact further advises that one John Gates, a former member of CIA in the Saigon station, was used by Oram as the narrator for the movie at a recent private showing. This same John Gates is reported by our contact to be extremely indiscreet insofar as security matters are concerned. Our contact is somewhat concerned that Gates will inadvertently reveal that he (Peter White) was connected with CIA while he was in Vietnam. Peter's experience with Gates' indescretion dates back to his visit in Vietnam at which time Gates told his girl friend about what Peter was doing. (This has been previously reported.)

3. John Gates is now working part-time for the International Rescue Committee?

[illegible]-5564

4. The film in question which now bears the title "The Fire and the Shadow" was in part or wholly financed by CIA. The Oram Agency has arranged distribution for showings in Formosa and Korea. The Oram Agency has had professional movie makers take a look at it for possible showing in the US. The professionals were highly critical and completely discouraged any attempt to have it distributed in the US.

5. We assume that Headquarters OO/C was not advised of this out of channels approach since the NYFO had not received any word of same. As you know Harold Oram and his Agency has been a contact of the NYFO for many years.

Subject: Information on Defection of North Koreans in Hungary to the Side of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters

S-5564

The Department has received information from a source in the International Rescue Committee that some North Koreans resident in Hungary defected to and sided with the Hungarian Freedom Fighters. Three recent Hungarian refugees, reported eyewitnesses to these defections, are now resident in the United States, as follows:

~~S-5564~~ 1. Thomas Orley, who can be contacted through the International Rescue Committee, New York
S-48505 2. James Ambory presently studying at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York A-48505
3. Ssaba Gall, presently studying at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York ✓
S-48505

The Department is very much interested in additional information on this subject, for example: Who were those who defected? (Students, industrial trainees, members of government missions, etc.) How many defected? How many are known not to have defected when given the opportunity? (In other words, how widespread were defections?) If defectors had any important positions, information on persons and positions is desired. What were the circumstances of the defection? What appeared to be the motivations for defection?

The Department would also be interested in information, if procurable, on the number and type of North Koreans in Hungary or other Satellites.

We would appreciate your handling this on a priority basis.

AS YOU KNOW WE CAN'T PASS ALONG ANY INFORMATION THAT WE WOULD GET FROM SECURITY FILES BECAUSE OF THE FACT THAT MUCH OF IT COMES FROM THE SECURITY OFFICES OF OTHER AGENCIES. ALSO A LOT OF THE DOPE IN SECURITY OFFICE FILES IS COMPLETELY UNSUBSTANTIATED AND ITS USE IN A CASE LIKE THIS COULD CONCEIVABLY DO A DISSERVICE TO AN ORGANIZATION. I SUGGEST AS WE DO IN ALL OF THESE CASES THAT YOU REFER YOUR LOCAL GROUP TO THE LOCAL FBI X FBI. IN THIS WAY THEY CAN GET BETTER INFORMATION THAN WE COULD SUPPLY, EVEN IF WE WERE ALLOWED TO PASS IT ALONG.

ORLEY INTVW

NEW YORK JANUARY 15--ONE OF HUNGARY'S LEADING ATHLETES WHO FOUGHT IN THE FREEDOM REVOLT SAYS NORTH KOREAN, COMMUNIST CHINESE AND VIET MINH STUDENTS WERE AMONG THE SYMPATHIZERS IN THE STRUGGLE AGAINST SOVIET INTERVENTION LAST FALL.

IN AN INTERVIEW HERE TODAY, FORMER FENCING CHAMPION THOMAS ORLEY RECALLED THAT "PRACTICALLY EVERYONE NOT INVOLVED IN THE ACTUAL FIGHTING" LENT SUPPORT BEHIND THE SCENES TO THE FREEDOM FIGHTERS. HE COULD NOT RECALL SPECIFIC DETAILS OF THIS "PASSIVE RESISTANCE" BECAUSE AT THE TIME HE WAS "TOO BUSY FENDING OFF SOVIET TROOPS AND TANKS WITH SMALL ARMS." BUT ACCORDING TO THE 23-YEAR OLD REFUGEE ATHLETE AND STUDENT, THE TIDE WAS DEFINITELY FOR FREEDOM --ONLY THE OVERPOWERING FORCE OF SOVIET ARMOR AND ARTILLERY REINFORCEMENTS MANAGED TO HOLD UP THE COMMUNIST PUPPET REGIME.

WHEN THE FIRST WAVE OF THE REVOLT BROKE OUT IN BUDAPEST, ORLEY WAS ON LEAVE FROM THE UNIVERSITY AT AN OLYMPIC TRAINING CAMP IN TATA. HE SAID HE AND OTHER ATHLETES AT THE CAMP HEARD THE NEWS OF THE FIGHTING OVER WESTERN RADIO BROADCASTS. IT CAME JUST BEFORE THEIR SCHEDULED RETURN TO BUDAPEST. ORLEY AND SOME OF THE OTHER ATHLETES JOINED THE FREEDOM FIGHTERS AS SOON AS THEIR OLYMPIC TEAM BUSES RETURNED TO BUDAPEST. THE ATHLETES WERE RETURNED TO THE CAPITAL TO PREPARE FOR DEPARTURE TO THE AUSTRALIAN OLYMPIC GAMES.

THE YOUNG HUNGARIAN SAID BOTH THE STUDENTS AND WORKERS ANTICIPATED THE SECOND ONSLAUGHT OF THE SOVIET TROOPS IN EARLY NOVEMBER, DESPITE OFFICIAL CLAIMS THAT THE PUPPET GOVERNMENT WAS NEGOTIATING FOR THEIR WITHDRAWAL.

THE STUDENTS PREPARED FOR THE SECOND ROUND OF FIGHTING WITH SMALL ARMS COLLECTED FROM THE MILITARY ARMORY AND THE FACTORIES IN BUDAPEST. ONE MAJOR SOURCE OF SUPPLY, ORLEY NOTED, WAS A "SO-CALLED LAMP FACTORY" FROM WHICH THE WORKERS THEMSELVES TOOK THE ARMS THE FREEDOM FIGHTERS NEEDED.

IN THOSE FEW DAYS BETWEEN NOVEMBER 4 AND 6, ORLEY RECALLED, THE SHEER MIGHT OF WELL OVER A THOUSAND SOVIET TANKS TURNED THE TIDE. HE SAID "NO FIGHTERS, NO MATTER HOW BRAVE CAN WIN OUT WITH SMALL ARMS AGAINST HEAVY ARMOR."

BY NOVEMBER 10, THE YOUNG FREEDOM FIGHTER AND HIS CLASSMATES DISCOVERED THAT THE SOVIETS HAD TAKEN OVER MANY OF THE RAILROAD STATIONS. HE SAID LONG EXPERIENCE WITH THE COMMUNISTS CONVINCED THEM THAT DEPORTATIONS HAD BEGUN, AND HE AND A FRIEND DECIDED TO TRY TO ESCAPE.

ORLEY SAID THIS WAS A DIFFICULT DECISION FOR HIM BECAUSE OF HIS FAMILY. IT WAS ESPECIALLY HARD TO SAY GOODBYE TO HIS FATHER SINCE ORLEY'S TWO BROTHERS HAD ALSO FLED HUNGARY IN 1947--ONE TO BOLIVIA AND THE OTHER TO AUSTRALIA. THOMAS' FATHER WAS FORMERLY A WORLD CHAMPION SKEET SHOOTER, A PRE-WAR FIELD MARSHALL IN THE HUNGARIAN ARMY AND A LEADER IN THE NON-COMMUNIST FREEHOLDERS PARTY. BECAUSE OF HIS BACKGROUND, THE COMMUNISTS HAD FORCED HIM INTO A HARD FACTORY JOB DESPITE HIS ADVANCING YEARS.

NO MATTER WHAT HE DID AFTER THE REVOLT, THOMAS SAID, HE KNEW THE COMMUNISTS WOULD RETALIATE. DURING THE EARLY STAGES OF REVOLT HE [illegible] A QUICK LOOK AT THE [illegible] AL RECORD COMMUNISTS HAD [illegible] ON HIM AT THE UNIVERSITY. THE YOUNG REFUGEE THE COMMUNISTS HAD FOUND "MANY BLACK MARKS" AGAINST HIM IN VEN-YEAR RECORD COVERING ALL PHASES OF HIS DAILY ACTIVITIES OM TRIPS ABROAD WITH THE FENCING TEAM TO CONVERSATIONS IN TAURANTS.

IN YOUNG ORLEY'S VIEW, IT WAS ONLY BECAUSE HE HAD WON THE WORLD ING CHAMPIONSHIP AT CREMONA, ITALY IN 1954 AND BECAUSE HAD KEPT UP HIS STUDIES AS A BADLY NEEDED STUDENT OF PHARMACY T ACTION HAD NOT BEEN TAKEN AGAINST HIM.

AT THE TIME ORLEY AND HIS FRIEND DECIDED TO HEAD FOR THE BORDER, SAID SOME 60,000HUNGARIANS ALREADY HAD FLED TO AUSTRIA. THOSE O HAD LIVED NEAR ENOUGH TO THE BORDER KNEW THE LAND AND MADE EIR WAY TO FREEDOM WITH LITTLE OPPOSITION. BUT OTHERS HAD TO KE THEIR WAY FROM BUDAPEST.

ON NOVEMBER 10, THOMAS AND HIS FRIEND DRESSED IN WORKERS OTHING AND MANAGED TO BOARD A TRAIN--ONE OF THE FEW STILL ADING TO THE WEST. THEY TRAVELLED TO THE FIRST TOWN OUTSIDE DAPEST WITHOUT BEING STOPPED. THERE, THEY HITCHED A RIDE WITH TRUCK DRIVER WHO WAS HEADED FOR THE BORDER AND ASKED NO ESTIONS. ALTHOUGH THEY WERE STOPPED "SIX OR SEVEN TIMES" BY E SOVIET SOLDIERS THEY TRAVELLED WITH THE TRUCK TO WITHIN 30 ILES OF THE BORDER.

FOR THE FINAL STRETCH THE TWO ESCAPING STUDENTS WERE JOINED Y A YOUNG COUPLE. ALL FOUR OF THEM TRAVELLED BY FOOT FOR TWO AYS TO COVER THEIR LAST 30 MILES.

YOUNG ORLEY SAID THE MINES HAD BEEN REMOVED FROM THE BORDER, BUT BETWEEN THE WATCH TOWERS OF THE [illegible] AND THE [illegible]

THERE WAS A DANGEROUS OPEN STRETCH OF LAND WITHIN [illegible] BY RIFLE SHOT. AS THE FOUR DASHED ACROSS THE LAST OPEN STRETCH, SHOTS RANG OUT. THE YOUNG WOMAN IN THEIR PARTY NEVER REACHED THE AUSTRIAN SIDE. ORLEY SAID THEY TRIED TO FIND OUT WHETHER SHE HAD BEEN KILLED. BUT WHEN THE AUSTRIANS RELAYED THEIR QUERIES, THE COMMUNIST GUARDS DENIED THEY HAD FIRED A SINGLE SHOT.

ALL ALONG THEIR ESCAPE ROUTE, ORLEY RECALLED, FARMERS AND WORKERS, VIRTUALLY WITHOUT EXCEPTION, TOLD THEM WHICH ROADS WERE SAFEST AND WHERE THE SOVIET SOLDIERS WERE STANDING GUARD.

THE YOUNG ATHLETE "WILL NEVER FORGET HIS FEELING" ON REACHING AUSTRIA ALIVE. "IT WAS AS IF A GREAT ROCK HAD FALLEN FROM MY HEART AND EVERYONE COULD HEAR THE THUNDER," HE SAID.

ORLEY CONSIDERS HIMSELF "LUCKY" TO HAVE A CHANCE TO BUILD A NEW LIFE IN THE U.S. ON HIS TRIPS ABROAD WITH THE OLYMPIC TEAM, HE SAID, HE HAD HEARD MUCH ABOUT THE MODERN, PROGRESSIVE UNITED STATES. BUT WHAT HE DID NOT KNOW BEFOREHAND, HE EXPLAINED, WAS "THE WONDERFUL FREEDOM OF LIFE HERE." "I CAN SAY WHAT I CHOOSE AND WORK AT WHAT I CHOOSE," ORLEY POINTED OUT. "IF I WANT TO TRY TO BECOME A RICH MAN, I CAN DO IT, IF I PREFER TO LIVE A QUIET MODEST LIFE, I CAN DO THAT TOO."

THOMAS IS TEMPORARILY WORKING WITH THE INTERNATIONAL RESCUE COMMITTEE ON ITS HUNGARIAN REFUGEE RELIEF PROGRAM. IN FEBRUARY, HE HOPES TO BEGIN STUDYING CHEMISTRY AT THE CALIFORNIA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY. MEANWHILE, HE HAS CONTACTED THREE OTHER HUNGARIAN OLYMPIC ATHLETES WHO ARE IN THE U.S. TOGETHER, THEY PLAN TO FORM A NEW FENCING TEAM FOR WHICH SPORT RATHER THAN IDEOLOGY WILL BE THEIR INSPIRATION. considers, not to mention your fondness for new gadgets and nick-nacks. Have you grown out of it? I always remember your weakness for them in the past. The I.R.O. will pay my passage to any part of the world if I can produce definite proof & documents enabling me to enter a country for resettlement, they don't care which or where, provided it is friendly and will accept me. I must tell you something about this quaint and powerful organization – The International Refugee Organization for Displaced People. I.R.O. for short is equipped & maintained for the support and resettlement of foreigners who have fled their own country on account of aggression resulting from political differences. These people (all gentiles the Jews have a better and richer organization of their own) termed and classified as D.P. under I.R.O. are accorded every facilities, they have a hostel of their own, received a living allowance every month for every member of the family, plus an extras allowance for milk etc. for children. Free hospitalization, doctors & medicines. The organization supply all that and also do their best for them by securing entry visa in different countries for their resettlement. All these privileged people do is to sit back and occasionally get drunk to celebrate their good fortune. Most of them are resettled one way or the other now. there are only very few remaining. The I.R.O started in 1946. When I first came across the name in 1950, I thought it was a Godsend as I also consider myself as a square peg in a round hole. Their registration were still open then. I went and interviewed their director, applying for resettlement not relief. imagine my surprise when he told me that I cannot qualify for a D.P. He pointed out that

I am an unrecognized citizen of the U.S.A. and as either myself nor my forebears can claimed to have fled from any kind of aggression, I am clearly not eligible for their legal assistance, and must therefore apply to the American authorities myself for reinstatement. This fine point delivered with much dignity and profundity left me more dazed than enlightened when I left their office. Last year however by careful observation and quoting precedent I managed to elicit a promise from them to pay for my passage aboard, when I receive my visa, but not being D.P. and registered with them I must arrange to get my own entry or destination visa for resettlement. I must also consider the passage money as a loan to be refunded when I am fully settled in a new country. I have agreed to all that George it will lessened the burden I am already puttin on you. but as I have said this organization will only start functioning for me when they received my destination visa for resettlement (damn that word and phrase) Once they have that in hand they will stand surety for me and my passage from Hong Kong, and the British Consulate here will issue me a transit visa for boarding a steamer in Hongkong. When I land in the colony, I will report to I.R.O. and apply for a change of destinatio if they feel that I have a good case they will appro ve it and still pay my passage to my new destinati This has been done before and are still being done now. There are at present quite a number of people waiting in Hong Kong, being processed for entry into the U.S.A. Do you think it neccessary to mention in your application that I was internee

Alien Lead - Eva Kralovensky [illegible] 5-5564

1. The Washington Office has received a routine alien lead on Eva Kralovensky, age 23, born in Czechoslovakia, 5-5564 "housewife", endorsed for US immigration by the International Rescue Committee. The Washington Office contacted one of its sources and learned that Miss Kralovensky was a stewardess on one of the three Czech airplanes which flew into West Germany (possibly West Berlin) about four or five years ago. We were also informed that she had been an employee of Radio Free Europe.

2. The Washington Office contacted Alien Branch (Sivess) and asked if there was any reason to proceed further in locating Miss Kralovensky on the assumption that she was probably well-known in the intelligence community. Mr. Sivess checked and informed the Washington Office that there would be covert interest in Miss Kralovensky, and requested that her address be obtained and the appropriate field office be alerted for an alien contact.

3. The Washington source finally determined that Miss Kralovensky moved to California but at the end of two weeks finally settled in Reno, Nevado. She can be contacted at 521 W 6th Street, Reno, Nevada.

1. The name of the young woman of USSR nationality referred to in SF-11362, paragraph 10, and employed by the National Resources Bureau is Miss Lydia DIMOVA, age 30 years. Her mother, presently residing in Harbin, is Mrs. Clavdia Dimova. The Dimova family is well known to the source for more than 30 years and therefore the source feels that any information passed on to her by the young woman employee of the bureau might well be considered as reliable.

2. Prior to the departure of the source from Peiping, Miss Dimova visited her and pleaded with the source to assist in an effort that they might eventually get out of China. She begged her to register her name and the name of her mother with the United Nations, International Relief Organization, through the Reverend Stumf of the Lutheran Church, World Federation of Churches at Granville Road in Hong Kong. Miss Dimova is desirous of setting up arrangements through IRO so that she and her mother may gain entry into Brazil. American Committee for Emigre Scholars - Source Lead.

1. In the event that you are not already in touch with Otto Zoff of the American Committee for Emigre Scholars, Writers, and Artists, 62 West 48th Street, New York City, we believe that you may find him and/or his organization a useful contact. It has come to our attention that Zoff from time to time recommends Russian language instructors to the Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey, California. It occurred to us that Zoff would be in a position to provide you with numerous source leads on well educated aliens in the US. These men would include engineers, scientists, and teachers. Not only should he be able to give you the names of DPs in your area, but also those who have moved to areas covered by our other field offices. We know nothing further in regard to the Committee for Emigre Scholars (its backing, orientation, reliability).

2. Incidentally, we have a verbal agreement with the Commandant of the Army Language School that we will not use our access to the files of his current language instructors as a means of "raiding" his faculty, i.e. offering CIA employment to them. Therefore, this memorandum is not meant as a source lead for potential employees! Also, we feel that it would be preferable that you do not indicate to Zoff that you know that he recommends personnel to the Presidio of Monterey.

THE INTERNATIONAL RESCUE COMMITTEE

Since the start of the Cold War the International Rescue Committee has organized voluntary American assistance to aid refugees fleeing from Communist oppression.

When the tide of persons fleeing Soviet dominated countries into the free city of West Berlin reached more then 3,000 per day during the Spring of 1953, the Committee successfully marshalled more than $700,000 in gifts and donations of clothing, drugs and other necessities. This earned the commendation of President Eisenhower and leaders throughout America.

As the historic emergency increases, the Committee's work continues to uphold America's belief in the indivisibility of freedom.

The Turning Point

On June 17th, 1953 one of the most significant events of the 20th century took place. The inhabitants of the Soviet Zone of Germany rose in rebellion against their Communist overlords. For eight years they had been living under conditions of slavery and starvation.

The insurrection began in East Berlin on June 16th. It was begun initially by a few workers but within hours it had spread to every level of the population. By the 17th of June the uprising had spread throughout the East Zone — a completely unorganized, spontaneous revolt.

At 11:00 o'clock the morning of June 16th the workers in block 40, Stalin Allee, decided to organize a demonstration to protest the raising of the work norm by the regime. By 2:00 o'clock that same afternoon, the mob of people which had grown from 200 to over 20,000 became revolutionaries. Surging in front of the East Zone Government building in East Berlin, they demanded not only the lifting of the norms but free secret elections, the unification of Germany and the abdication of the East German government.

The stories contained here are the stories of a few of those brave men and women from East Germany who played leading roles in the revolt and had to flee to the West. They are representative of 4,000 leaders, many of whom have subsequently been sentenced to death by Communist courts. Some were intellectuals and professionals. Most of them were workmen: All are men who deserve the undying gratitude and support of free men everywhere.

Bare Fists Against Armed Might. Historical Proof of the Perennial, Inextinguishable Urge of the Human Heart for Freedom.

Stalin Allee Block 40 . . .

A CONSTRUCTION WORKER

*(*WOLFGANG THEURICH was a building construction laborer working on Block 40, Stalin Allee.)

"When the work norms were increased the men were furious. We began daily to gather in small groups before and after work. The fear that had made us so cautious gradually began to dissolve. There was, after all, little more to lose.

"By the morning of June 16 we were resolute. As always, we entered the building on which we were working and took our stations. But this day we sat down and refused to work. There was no organization, no leader, but each man knew what had to be done. The foreman dashed in gaping with disbelief. His eyes turned to the spot where the norm increase order had been posted. Two men walked in with a freshly painted sign — 'The Work Norms Must Be Decreased.' The courage of these men inspired the rest of us to action.

"A concrete worker leaped onto a heap of stones. 'I leave it to you as individuals!' Those who wish to demonstrate against the injustice of the norms, step to the right. Others go to the left!' All chose the right. One man was weeping with joy.

"Immediately we began to march in the street unafraid. We started out with 80 resolute men. By the time we arrived at the government building we were 6,000 strong. Over the tumult of the crowd, a man shouted into my ear, 'This is the most beautiful day of my life!'"

The "Free Youth" Revolt . . .

A 20-YEAR-OLD GIRL

*(*ELLA SARBE, an instructress within the Communist Youth Movement [FDJ] is a dark haired girl of twenty with pert, intelligent eyes.)

"As I stood in the crowd before the government building, a fellow instructor came up to me and told me to take careful note of the people sympathetic to the demonstration and give him a complete report that evening. I was embarrassed by his apparent hurry to leave the square and told him if he was so afraid for his life he had better jump on a tram in a hurry and get out.

"A few minutes later I forced my way through the crowd and jumped to the rostrum. Many people recognized me as a devoted member of the FDJ. They hooted and taunted me. Never before had I realized how hated the FDJ was. Infuriated by the refusal of the Communist leaders to appear and by the open cowardice of my male FDJ companion, I tore off my FDJ jacket and threw it to the ground. The jeers became cheers.

"I gathered my strength and shouted a warning to the crowd that members of the FDJ and SED were in the crowd and would not only try to dissuade them from the demonstration but also would report them. I shouted, 'Do not allow them to break you up! Stick together!' People began to examine their neighbors. Fist fights started as the hated Communists were spotted. I wanted to say more, but my strength was gone. A new life had begun for me."

The Revolt Spreads . . .

AN ENGINEER

(N.N., A Mechanical Engineer, Brandenburg.)

"There were only twenty in my group as we marched into the Brandenburg area. At that time we knew only that, according to a broadcast from West Berlin, the workers in East Berlin were on strike. Although we knew that strikes in the Communist Zone were considered political crimes and punishable by two years in prison, we marched on with a feeling of exhilaration. As we strode along we beckoned to the people on the pavement and in a few minutes our number had increased to about five hundred.

"As we approached a factory protected by high iron gates, we noticed employees shouting from the windows, 'We have been locked in. Come, help us. We will go with you.' A pile driver was found and we stormed the gates. The employees rushed out and embraced us.

"At this time, we still thought we were the only demonstrators in the city. As we neared the center of the city, we were amazed and overjoyed to find thousands of people converging from all directions. We had not fully realized that our people, constantly intimidated by spies and police controls, could rise up as one man without a strong central leadership, no weapons—nothing but determination and hope. We were overwhelmed at what we saw."

The Red Flag At Brandenburg Gate Comes Down . . .

A TRUCK DRIVER

"I looked down into the crowd and saw three Soviet officers looking helplessly upward as I climbed to the top of the tower and shinnied up the pole. I flung the flag to the ground with great contempt and watched the people tear it to pieces. They applauded and shouted in a way I had never heard before.

"Two hours later when I had the honor of installing the Bear Flag of West Berlin, the Russians had brought three tanks into the square. As I began pulling up the flag they began to fire. Somehow I was able to finish my task and jump to the ground. The flag of West Berlin was in its right place and, miraculously, I was safe."

At Magdeburg . . .

A BAND LEADER

*(*HANS HERZBERG, band leader at the city theatre, was the strike leader under whose guidance the FDJ [Communist Youth Movement] other Communist Party Headquarters and the home of the Chief Commissioner of Police were stormed. No event of the day impressed Hans as much as the occurrence at Magdeburg station.)

"After we disarmed the Vopos (People's Police) on duty at the station, we tore down the hated 'Passage of Interzone-Dispatching Sign.' As though this in itself could accomplish the task, the crowd began shouting, 'There are no borders anymore.'

"As the interzonal train arrived in the station, the frightened passengers locked the doors and windows, fearing an attack by Communist soldiers and police. As soon as they saw our sign 'The SED is beaten,' the windows and doors were opened and the people burst out, embracing each other, shouting, crying and some even giving away their possessions in celebration, assuming that the union of the East and West was an accomplished fact.

"We asked them to spread the word along on their way to Berlin. At this time we still thought that rebellions were taking place only in Magdeburg and Berlin. We were jubilant a few hours later when we learned from RIAS (Voice of America) and NWDR (West Berlin station) that uprisings were occurring all over East Germany.

"The next train to arrive contained a prisoner car. After a few tense moments we managed to gain control of the train and get the cells open. One of the prisoners was a 74-year-old farmer who was imprisoned a year before because he had not been able to meet his quota. He was speechless with fright and disbelief. When he was finally convinced that he was a free man, he broke down and wept, overcome with joy. I had to carry him away."

Prisoners Are Freed . . .

A LOCKSMITH

*(*WERNER MENGELSDORF is a locksmith. He led the heroic liberation of 80 political prisoners in Magdeburg.)

"A mob 3,000 strong stormed into the courtyard of the prison in Magdeburg. The prisoners pressed their worn, pale faces against the bars. A woman in the crowd started to scream as she recognized her husband who had been arrested only two days before.

"The wooden doors of the prison splintered under the weight of the surging crowd. The guards fled. The metal door to the cell block was pried open. Mengelsdorf called for the locksmiths and together they opened the cell doors. Indescribable scenes followed. One prisoner cried, 'Freedom! Freedom!', then fell to the floor crying. A young man sentenced to 25 years for crimes against the state stepped out of his cell into the arms of the girl to whom he had been engaged. Neither knew the other was there until the doors opened. They embraced, wordless.

"Soviet tanks rumbled into the prison yard before all the prisoners could be released. Mangelsdorf himself barely escaped with his life. His only route of escape lay in swimming the Landwehrcanal which separates East and West Berlin at certain spots. He waited until dark and then made it, narrowly escaping death from Soviet bullets which peppered the water around him. He is today in one of the camps in West Berlin, destitute but resolved that one day will come when all of East Germany as well as the satellite countries will again be free."

Dear Mr. Fondiller:

I have just returned from Berlin. I am reporting to you as one of many observers who are agreed that the weaponless men and women of Eastern Germany stand as the first line of defense between us and the tyranny of Soviet Power. The entire world is now aware of what has been happening in East Berlin and East Germany since June 17, 1953.

But do you know why this most remarkable revolution occurred - how these people just like the young couple next door, the truck driver down the street, the band leader - have been able to rebel against overwhelming odds? It is not only out of sheer desperation because of the insufferable conditions under which they have been living. People in the other satellites are suffering. These are people who are desperately weary of tyrants of all political shades and colors. Through the window of West Berlin we gave them hope for a better world and they have become our allies. We cannot let them down. When we do we have lowered the first defense in the battle against tyranny over the minds, hearts and bodies of men.

The enclosed personal accounts of the June 17th rebellions are dramatic proof of man's invincible desire for freedom. The International Rescue Committee is doing everything possible to aid these brave men and women including some of the resistance leaders and proscribed members of their families. We need your help to continue this vital work.

We are asking you to send us your contribution so that we may continue to sustain the bodies of these brave men and women in whom the flame of freedom is burning. The aid we are extending to them is a message the whole world understands. A message which says that we believe in the dignity and goodness of people enough to help them survive their worst times so that they can fight for better times.

Sincerely,

A 3707

[illegible] : Mr. Cain's 19 March 1953 conversation with Mr. Delaney

1. We made an informal query of the New York League for the Hard of Hearing to determine (a) whether it would be possible to teach a [illegible] person to lip-read efficiently, (b) whether it would be possible to teach lip-reading to a person who is losing his hearing, and (c), if so, approximately how long it would take and how much such training would cost.

2. We have found that it is possible to teach both hearing persons and persons who are in the process of losing their hearing to lip-read proficiently. Without going into the problem more thoroughly the New York League could not tell us how long such training would take. We observed that simple phrases can be learned in a short time. Also, we found that the League has taught lip-reading to hearing persons in special cases which were described as "of a confidential nature". (We assume that the FBI has used agents as lip-readers in the past and it is possible that they were the "special cases").

3. As the New York League for the Hard of Hearing operates under the New York State Board of Education we were unable to determine the cost of lip-reading training in our informal inquiry. If we could have more details, we could try to obtain more definite information.

4. If you have any questions or comments, please contact Miss Webster on extension 2761.

SUBJECT: Concern about Physical Security of Gisela Wassiliev, IRC Representative in Berlin
REF : Our TK NY-9780, dated 30 Nov 51 (to Alien Branch)

1. In reference wire, David Martin recommended subject individual (whose name he spelled 'Wasiljev") for contact by this office. Martin described this German national, wife of a Russian DP then and now in the US, as"exceptionally capable, intelligent, with rare political understanding". She has been director of the Berlin office of the International Rescue Committee for some three years (perhaps longer). As you know, the IRC has been prominent for aid given to West Berlin and is currently in the midst of a campaign for aid to refugees arriving there in increasing numbers from the East.

2. Mr. Becker, present executive director of the IRC, has passed on to us a letter from Mrs. Wassiliew, dated 23 February 1953, in which she reports alleged attempts on the part of "the East" to kidnap her. In view of her activities and her connection with Rainer Hildebrandt's Kempfgruppe gegen Unmenschlichkeit, there may be some basis for her fears. Mr. Becker, who knows her as a calm person not given to hysterics, is deeply concerned about her safety and has stated that he would have replaced her with a U.S. citizen if it were not so difficult to find a qualified successor. He has requested that we communicate with any U.S. agency or department in a position to provide physical security for persons representing U.S. interests in Berlin.

3. We have promised Mr. Becker to pass on his request to our superiors, but we told him that we were not aware of CIA facilities abroad or of CIA responsibility for coordinating action abroad with other appropriate US Government agencies. We therefore suggested that Mr. Becker himself communicate with such agencies to the best of his ability and did not commit CIA to any action upon his request.

4. If, in your judgment, the covert staffs might be interested in this problem or a justifiable representation to other agencies (e.g. Defense or State) can be made, we feel that such action would serve U.S. security interests and, incidentally, benefit IRC in a measurable way. We are attaching Mrs. Wasiliew's letter for whatever use you care to make of it.

5. This office has had no contact with Mr. or Mrs. Wassiliew, and these individuals are not aware of any possible CIA interest, to the best of our knowledge.

6. Please advise whether there is anything you can do, whether Mr. Becker should approach another Government agency (if he has not done so in the meantime), and what reaction, if any, we may pass on to Becker.

Memo to: ABE (cc: Munich, Frankfurt)

From: Gisela (Wassiliew)
(3. Emserstr., Berlin Wilmersdorf Germany)

Dear Abe:

I am sorry that I must bother you with my personal problems, but since I don't know what to do under the present circumstances I am begging you for understanding.

As you know I always had trouble with "the other side". If somebody works in this field he must be endangered after a certain time. I believe I told you about the calls in Russian and about the spies who are constantly around me since about 1951. I am used always to be on the alert and to look around me carefully, this is the only thing I can do. In addition to that I bought a dog in the summer of last year.

Since about four months the attempts of the East to get have increased. I had several rencontres with them and have informed the police. But since we have so many people here in Berlin who have good reasons to feel endangered they cannot watch everybody constantly and the person in question is more or less left to his own measures.

Last Wednesday night I ran into a situation which would have meant the end for me if a friend of mine had not happened to be with me. This way they did not dare to because they are accustomed to see me always walking alone; and cars and helpers disappeared (not around). I have reported my situation again to the police, they promised to do what they can, but it is so that I have to work out something that makes it a little more difficult for them to complete their plan.

With friends who work in the same field and who know about these things I have worked out the following: I must sell my dog and buy a sharper one. When I bought him in July last year the situation was completely different. I did it merely as a measure of precaution not because I had proofs of the danger I was living under. For this purpose he is good but not for the purpose for which I need him now; he is not sharp enough. They have already calculated my dog into the plan. I absolutely need another much sharper one. But I must tell you frankly that even if I sell my dog I would not be able to buy the new one, because they are terribly expensive. Then I have decided that I cannot go to the office and come home alone anymore. I can move from one of my friends to the other for a certain time but not constantly. A friend of the Committee will pick me up every morning and bring me home at night in his car. In the meantime I'll talk to Mrs. Wolff of Arbeiterwohlfahrt, who has an office car and arrange with her that her driver pick me up. But this will take some time until I have reached her and discussed the matter with her.

Please don't believe that I am hysterical, on the contrary. But now it is so that I not only feel endangered but I have knowledge of their intentions and I am sure I would not get out again, once they have had hold of me.

Cordially yours,

/s/ Gisela

MEMORANDUM FOR: Acting Director of Central Intelligence

VIA : Deputy Director (Plans)

SUBJECT : Conversation between President Lopez Mateos of Mexico and Mr. Winston Scott, Chief of Station, Mexico

REFERENCE : MEXI 5698 (IN-49514), dated 8 June 60

1. This memorandum contains a suggestion, in Paragraph 3, for the consideration of the DCI.

2. On the night of 7 June, President Lopez Mateos requested Mr. Scott to inform "his good friend, President Eisenhower," of the following:

A. That the President is a friend of the United States, "not only because of necessity but of genuine desire and ideology".

B. That the invitation to President Dorticos of Cuba was extended two weeks after it was indicated that Dorticos was going to Mexico "on his own", through the Mexican Ambassador in Cuba.

C. That he will not invite Fidel Castro to Mexico even though Cuban Ambassador Jose Antonio Portuondo told President Lopez Mateos that Dorticos will request an invitation for Castro.

3. President Lopez Mateos also asked that President Eisenhower be informed that he is delighted that a decision has now been made to get rid of Castro. The DCI may wish to inform the President of the above.

4. President Lopez Mateos was indirectly informed of CIA intentions in regard to Castro through a conversation between Mr. Scott and Jose Lorenzo Cossio, Advisor to the Mexican President, who informed Mr. Scott that President Lopez Mateos would not invite Castro to visit Mexico, even though Dorticos is going to ask him to do so. Mr. Scott suggested that if the Mexican President helped CIA to achieve the overthrow of Castro, he would not have to deal with the problem of inviting Castro to Mexico.

1. G-2 reported that on 7 May 1950 a B-26 type bomber arrived in David, Panama, from Brownsville, Texas, due to a low gasoline supply. The plane was headed for Tocumen Airport in Panama City and carried as a crew the following according to G-2:

Frank ORGEL, U.S. Citizen, Pilot
O. MARTINEZ, U.S. Citizen, Co-Pilot
Steve MURRAY, U.S. Citizen, Mechanic
Mauricio CASTRO, Panamanian, Passenger

05

05

2. Mr. LERCH ~~advised this office~~ that he had met Steve MURRAY in Havana in April 1950 in company with a fellow named ZORILLO, who claimed to have some connection with the Secret Police in Mexico. LERCH described MURRAY as an adventurer who had been in the Philippines and the Far East and whom he suspected of gold smuggling activities. LERCH said that MURRAY was pilot of the plane and he thought it was unusual that ~~so~~ as fast a plane as this and as expensive to operate was being used when it had comparatively little cargo space. In May 1950, when MURRAY was in Panama, he told LERCH that he was buying orchid bulbs.

3. On 16 June 1950 the following information was received (from Civil Intelligence Section, Panama Canal,) regarding this matter:

"~~It has been reported that~~ Very frequently a B-26 airplane (N5546N - a Martin Marauder) makes trips between Tocumen and David, R.P. It is piloted by Steve MURRAY, and at least two other Americans ~~ride on the plane, which is~~ whom are sometimes met at Tocumen Airport by either Tito, Harmodito or Toni ARIAS. On landing at the airport it goes directly to a hangar, and allegedly the only ones who visit it are the ARIAS brothers, PASTOR Ponce, Chief of the Airport, and one (fnu) LINARES, Chief of Customs at Tocumen.

"Informant stated that it was believed at first that the plane was engaged in arms contraband, but later it appeared more logical to assume that it was involved in another type of smuggling, possibly drugs.

"Virgilio RAMIREZ, ~~then~~ Chief of the Control Tower, is said to have stated that the plane comes and goes without being registered at the airport under orders of PONCE, Airport Manager; that the plane lands without signaling by radio or talking to anyone for fear of detection at Albrook Field, but that it is signaled by means of a light which indicates that the field is free for landing. According to informant, [illegible] and one Jimmy SMITH told above that Panama's air agreement with the United States regarding landing rules was thereby being violated, and that these two men were afterwards removed from their jobs.

FORM NO. 51-60

"Informant adds that the above plane landed at Tocumen from David on 11 May at 5:45 p.m., on 12 May at 6:51 p.m., on 14 May at 6:29 p.m. and on 16 May at 9:26 a.m.

"The above information was allegedly given to President ARIAS by the Minister of Government and Justice, and he apparently showed little interest in the subject, merely stating that the matter should be investigated to see what there is to it."

Upon receipt of this information it appeared that Virgilio RAMIREZ might have been the source, since he was fired from his post at Tocumen Airport and was disgruntled about it. It was ascertained that the information contained in the above paragraph, in which RAMIREZ is mentioned, was reported by RAMIREZ but the other information came from other Civil Intelligence sources.

OS in the plane mentioned above,

4. On 6 July Mr. LERCH advised that the ~~above plane and~~ Steve MURRAY had returned to Panama and that the Minister of Government had ordered that the plane be dismantled and searched, but he could not ascertain the basis for the search. LERCH had talked to the Manager of the airport, Rafael PASTOR Ponce, and with Toni ARIAS, Director General of Civil Aeronautics, and a nephew of President Arias, who indicated that they were aware of the Minister of Government's order but did not know what was behind it. Both felt that it was an extreme measure, which should not be carried out.

DS

5. On 8 July 1950 Mr. MURRAY called at the Embassy to obtain assistance in securing the release of his plane. Briefly he stated that he had departed from Mexico City via Managua and arrived at Tocumen at 7:30 p.m. 5 July. His passport reflected the following:

Name: Steven T. Murray
Passport No.: 1824
Issued: Manila, December 2, 1946
Renewed: Manila, December 27, 1948
Expires: December 1, 1950

(5)

He furnished the following additional information:

Type of Plane: Converted B-26
U.S. Registry: N 5546 N
Pilot and Owner: Steven T. Murray
Co-pilot: Frank Oergel, U.S. citizen
Flight Engineer: Cristobal Martinez, Mexican citizen
Passenger: Mauricio DE CASTRO, Panamanian citizen (bearer of official passport), passenger from Mexico City to Tocumen Destination: Brownsville, Texas
Purpose of Trip: Business

14-00000

Consequently.

He stated that he was in the export-import business and that he dealt in gold. He said that he had come to Panama to see a man by the name of SAS, a gold dealer from Buenos Aires, about gold shipments.

(6) 6. On 8 July, Minister of Government Alfredo ALEMAN reported the matter to the U.S. Ambassador stating that prior to arriving in Panama the plane had been signaled, that all was not well at the airport and that the crew had jettisoned cargo prior to arrival. (A check with the Air Force authorities does not confirm that any such message was sent and MURRAY denies that anything was jettisoned. He insisted that he was coming to Panama to discuss the gold business but that he had no cargo.) The Minister also advised the Ambassador that PASTOR Ponce had been ~~fired~~ removed as Head of the airport.

OS

(7) 7. In a conversation with PASTOR Ponce and MURRAY on the night of 8 July [LIROM] was advised that PASTOR Ponce had, in fact, been fired and that he was determined to bump off Toni ARIAS. Both MURRAY and PASTOR Ponce claimed that Toni ARIAS was behind it all but that PASTOR Ponce was the fall-guy.

8. The Mexican referred to, Cristobal MARTINEZ, and the Mexican, ZORILLO, are believed to be identical. SAS has been identified as ~~Fernando SAS~~, a gold dealer, who operates in Buenos Aires and Montevideo. Civil Intelligence ~~Section has advised that SAS~~ was staying with Toni ARIAS and ~~that SAS~~ had departed from Panama hastily. ~~CIS also advised that~~ President ARIAS ~~at first~~ had given orders for the dismissal of both his nephew, Toni ARIAS, and PASTOR Ponce, but it was later agreed that Toni ARIAS would not be fired to avoid a public scandle involving the President's family.

P leave out

9. (The present status of the matter is that the plane has been searched with negative results, that the plane is still being held by the Panamanian authorities and that MURRAY and others are endeavoring by every means possible to secure the release of the plane. The head of the Tocumen Airport, PASTOR Ponce, has been dismissed and Toni ARIAS, the President's nephew, will probably be allowed to withdraw from his position gracefully.)

OPERATIONAL COMMENTS: 05 08

[Source Alberto FERNANDEZ Hechavarria] [the chief of the Cuban Sugar Stabilization Board who has the job of selling Cuba's sugar] A former active member of the 26 of July Movement during the revolution, he is now disillusioned, and reportedly is not going to last much longer in his job. He is wealthy and his family have lost through CASTRO's economic reforms. He appears to know a lot about the government and also seems to have an insight into CASTRO. He regards CASTRO as some type of a UNIVAC machine, his mind automatically photostating details which he can and will use in the future. He says that CASTRO is ruthless, and that nothing can stop him in his determination to do something, i.e., agrarian reform, and that he will sacrifice his friends, his family, his money, and his fortune to accomplish his purpose.

Again illustrating the present situation in Cuba, the source said that he cannot publicly have contacts with American officials—refusing to let the writer use his telephone—and he said that a record is kept of all his calls and that his movements are periodically checked.

The advisor who warned CASTRO in paragraph one of the attached report was the source.

As a possible reference to this report and particularly to field comment number two, see HAVA-2526. TDCS - 3/401,563

The second source referred to in Field Comment No. 2 was AMPACK-1 who obtained his information from the [president of the Banco Industrial de Cuba.]

SOURCE: Cuban Government Official (F).
Appraisal of Content: 3

1. Contrary to the reports which are issued by the Cuban Government, the financial status of the Cuban economy is rapidly deteriorating and becoming a serious problem. During July 1959 an advisor to Prime Minister Fidel CASTRO Ruz, warned him to proceed more slowly with the agrarian reform, because the Cuban treasury was running short of funds. It was pointed out that 57 sugar mills were bankrupt and had not paid the plantation owners for the 1959 sugar crop. CASTRO was told that if the reckless confiscation of agricultural properties continued, the Cuban Government would become obligated to assume even more debts in order to alleviate the hunger of farm workers.[1]

2. Another drain on the economy is government subsidies. For example, the Banco de Desarrollo Economico y Social (BANDES, Social and Economic Development Bank) controls about U. S. $400 million in properties and investments such as the Compañia Cubana de Aviacion (Cuban Airline Company). The companies have been caught in the present contraction of capital and cannot survive without government subsidies. The subsidies paid by BANDES amount to U. S. $8 million a month, and this is only one exemple of the many payments which are draining the Cuban treasury.[2]

Field Comments.

1. ~~From the reports which have been received~~ It appears that there is growing unemployment of farm workers. This is the "dead season"—the period between sugar cane harvests—but it is reported that most plantation owners and ranchers are fearful of confiscation of their properties for the agrarian-reform program, and consequently are doing very little in the way of maintenance work. The latter provided at least a marginal field of employment, and this is now denied to the agricultural workers. ~~However,~~ In spite of this warning, the agrarian-reform program has not been slowed. In fact, it seems to have been intensified.

DISTRIBUTION

201-251823

2. ~~The~~ S source thought that nothing could stop CASTRO in his determination to proceed with the agrarian reform program as fast as possible. Since the biggest obstacle to carrying out this program is the lack of money, the source was of the opinion that CASTRO would do anything to obtain this money and might even confiscate bank accounts and moneys and negotiable instruments held in safety deposit boxes. Carrying this one step further, ~~the~~ source thought such confiscatory tactics could only be a temporary saving device and that eventually it would be necessary for CASTRO to obtain a large loan from another country. He speculated that this would mean either the United States or the Soviet Union, and feared that if it were the latter, it would mean the end of friendly relations with the United States. In respect to CASTRO's possible need for a loan, another, fairly reliable, source reported on 18 August 1959 that CASTRO was trying to obtain a 30,000,000-peso loan from ~~local~~ Cuban banks.

James A. PERRY, Jr., mailed two letters from Washington, D. C., on 29 June 1955, one to his father, and another to Severino D. GOMEZ; however, in so doing, PERRY placed the letter to his father in the envelope addressed to GOMEZ, and the letter to GOMEZ in the envelope addressed to his father. When the letters were received by PERRY, Sr. and GOMEZ, both noting the error, they exchanged letters. However, GOMEZ considered the contents of the letter he had at first received important enough to turn over to his brother M. Leal GOMEZ, who in turn referred it to the Boston Office of the FBI.

The letter, in substance, indicated that while PERRY was serving in South America, under cover for this Agency, he had revealed his true status to his wife's father, Mr. GONSALVES, on a visit to South America, and who later had revealed this information to PERRY's father. In correspondence following PERRY's father having become knowledgeable of PERRY's true status, he indicates that therein he might have intimated that his work was not so hush-hush, and that on that basis PERRY's father "had dropped his guard" in effect, and had told others of PERRY's true status. This letter was a warning to PERRY's father that he should attempt to correct the indiscretion of revealing PERRY's status while he was in South America. The letter refers to other letters which PERRY indicates contained information revealed through indiscretion on his part, and which he asks his father to destroy.

According to our records, PERRY was granted an Operational Clearance on 22 May 1953, for use as a witting informant or as a contract agent on anti-Communist student activities. He was used as a contract agent from September 1953 to February 1955 in Brazil under IIS cover.

He is of Portuguese extraction, and he or his father had changed the family name from [illegible]A to PERRY; his wife's maiden name was GONSALVES. She was [illegible] married prior to attendance at Northwestern University.

He attended Northeastern University from 1947 to 1951 and received an AB Degree; Boston University from 1951 to 1952 where he received an MA Degree in Latin American Regional Studies; and at Vanderbilt University from 1952 to 1953 working toward a Ph.D. Degree.

[illegible] Boston University [illegible] under Professor Maurice [illegible]. The [illegible] described by most informants as no more than professor-student relationship, however Severino GOMEZ who received the letter intended for PERRY's father, advised the FBI that he, GOMEZ, had attended Boston University during the period PERRY was studying under HALPERIN. GOMEZ was of the opinion that the HALPERIN-PERRY relationship was more than just the professor-student type because PERRY saw HALPERIN during the evenings, but never told GOMEZ what he discussed with HALPERIN.

GOMEZ also advised that about June 1953, just before PERRY's departure for Rio de Janeiro, PERRY called HALPERIN on the telephone and at that time HALPERIN was under investigation. PERRY told GOMEZ that HALPERIN was in a predicament, and that he, PERRY, felt sorry for him. Earlier PERRY had told GOMEZ that HALPERIN had a lot of influence in Washington, and was going to get a job for PERRY.

According to the FBI, the HALPERIN mentioned above, appears to be identical with Maurice Hyman HALPERIN, former employee of OSS, who was identified in November 1945 by Elizabeth BENTLEY as having furnished information for transmittal to the Soviets.

PERRY recently contacted this Agency requesting permission to state that he had worked for the Agency in his application for employment with USIA. WH Division, to whom this request was forwarded, was advised that PERRY was not to disclose his past employment with this Agency. WH Division, in turn, informed Security of their desires that USIA be informed of PERRY's past connections with this Agency.

Security, on the basis of the above request by WH Division, contacted the appropriate person in USIA and advised them on a controlled basis of PERRY's former affiliation with this Agency.

Presentación

El autor de este estudio, el Profesor Maurice Halperin, es uno de los investigadores y catedráticos más prominentes de los Estados Unidos de Norteamérica. Nació en Boston en 1906. Obtuvo su bachillerato en la Universidad de Harvard en 1926 y la Licenciatura en Letras en la Universidad de Oklahoma en 1929. Dos años más tarde se doctoró en Letras y Ciencias Sociales en la Universidad de Paris y fue conferenciante en la Sorbona sobre la civilización de la América del Norte.

En los Estados Unidos fue catedrático de la Universidad de Oklahoma y Jefe del Departamento de Estudios Económicos y Geopolíticos Latinoamericanos en la Secretaría de Guerra y en la Secretaría de Estado en Washington, durante los años de la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Como consejero técnico del Consejo Económico y Social de las Naciones Unidas trabajó durante tres años, de 1946 a 1949. Volvió a su Universidad de origen, la de Boston, como catedrático y Jefe del Departamento de Estudios Latinoamericanos en donde prestó sus servicios hasta 1953.

Interesado siempre en el estudio de los problemas de las naciones de la América Latina, fue a Brasil en 1952 y trabajó como conferenciante en la Universidad de San Pablo. Por su labor docente el gobierno del Brasil le otorgó la condecoración de "Oficial de la Orden do Cruzeiro do Sul". Posteriormente estuvo en México, siendo Profesor Extraordinario de la Escuela Nacional de Ciencias Políticas y Sociales de la Universidad Nacional de México, de 1954 a 1957. Cooperó también como Asesor Económico del Departamento de Promoción de la Nacional Financiera y en otras instituciones gubernamentales y privadas de nuestro país.

Ha publicado numerosos estudios, entre otros el titulado "La América Latina en Transición", que editó la Universidad Nacional de México en 1956, así como ensayos acerca de la economía y el desarrollo social en los Estados Unidos Francia, Alemania, Chile, Brasil y México durante el último cuarto de siglo.

El Profesor Maurice Halperin actualmente es un Profesor Visitante en la Academia de Ciencias de la URSS en donde está dedicado a investigaciones de carácter económico.

El estudio que tiene este pequeño libro, no obstante su brevedad es uno de los más completos sobre el actual panorama económico de la América Latina. Tanto las cifras como las observaciones y las inferencias lógicas que contiene, son de un inapreciable valor para los estudios de los problemas de nuestro Continente. Por eso pienso que prestará un gran servicio a quienes se dedican al examen de los grandes problemas de nuestro tiempo en el vasto territorio de los países semicoloniales del Hemisferio Americano.

México, D. F., agosto de 1961

VICENTE LOMBARDO TOLEDANO

Introducción

La América Latina está atravezando actualmente su tercera gran crisis económica del siglo XX. En general, las dificultades actuales pueden ser atribuidas a la excesiva vulnerabilidad hacia factores externos de una economía que depende de la exportación de materias primas y de la importación de productos manufacturados. En este sentido es la clásica crisis del subdesarrollo neocolonial, como sucedió con el colapso del comercio internacional durante la guerra mundial de 1914 a 1918 —primera crisis— y con la depresión mundial al comienzo de la dácada del 30 —segunda crisis.

La disminución actual de la actividad económica asumió, sin lugar a dudas, proporciones de crisis a principios de 1958. Aunque en algunos aspectos aún no ha alcanzado la intensidad de la segunda crisis, persiste con tendencia a profundizarse al entrar en su cuarto año. Al mismo tiempo, algunos aspectos de la crisis actual la distinguen de las anteriores, imprimiéndole un sello especial.

En primer lugar, si bien como las crisis anteriores fue motivada por factores externos, esta crisis ha sido más sensible a los descensos y menos a las alzas de los movimientos cíclicos de las economías de los países capitalistas industrializados. El descenso de los precios de las exportaciones de Latinoamérica precedió a la recesión de 1957-58 en los Estados Unidos, y ésta condujo, a su vez, a nuevas mermas en las ganancias por concepto de exportaciones de América Latina. Sin embargo, la tendencia al descenso continuó después de la recuperación de los Estados Unidos (antes de la nueva recesión comenzada a finales de 1960) y a pesar del alto nivel constante de la actividad económica en los principales países industriados de Europa Occidental.

En segundo lugar, hay muy pocas perspectivas de que los mercados normales de Latinoamérica puedan proporcionar en un futuro próximo suficientes ganancias por concepto de exportaciones como para restablecer la economía al nivel anterior. Como después de un exhaustivo análisis a largo alcance, declara la CEPAL (excluyendo el factor de una depresión mayor en los Estados Unidos o en Europa Occidental): "La perspectiva de aumento de las exportaciones... es tan pequeña que apenas excede el crecimiento demográfico probable".[1] Este estudio prevó un ritmo de desarrollo que en el mejor de los casos sería un poco más de la mitad del registrado antes de la presente crisis y produciría extraordinarias presiones sobre la posibilidad de estructurar la economía y sus mecanismos de desarrollo.

En tercer lugar, el debilitamiento general de los sistemas mundiales coloniales y neocoloniales, combinado con la expansión económica del sistema mundial socialista, presenta nuevas oportunidades para contrarrestar las presiones externas, políticas y económicas, que se ejercen sobre Latinoamérica para impedirle tomar medidas en defensa de sus economías nacionales. De particular importancia es la disponibilidad de mercados y recursos económicos en los países socialistas, los cuales pueden ser utilizados para lograr una efectiva solución de la crisis económica presente.

De aquí que mientras la primera y la segunda crisis económicas latinoamericanas crearon la necesidad y las condiciones para cambios económicos y político-sociales limitados dentro del sistema existente de dependencia neocolonial, la crisis presente parece estar desarrollándose bajo condiciones que requerirán y, al mismo tiempo, permitirán la eliminación de la propia dependencia en un período de tiempo relativamente corto. Los acontecimientos recientes en Cuba apoyan estas perspectivas y nosotros estimamos que los factores que causaron el rompimiento de Cuba con el sistema de dependencia neocolonial no constituyen una excepción. Esto puede demostrarse examinando los antecedentes de la presente crisis, por ejemplo, la actuación global de la economía latinoamericana en el pasado reciente.

1.— El "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía latinoamericana

Por más de una década después del fin de la segunda guerra mundial (en términos generales, de 1945 a 1957), la actividad económica de Latinoamérica en su conjunto mantuvo el mayor ritmo de expansión registrado en la región.

Para situar este período en su marco propio, deben formularse dos observaciones preliminares. La primera es que el nivel de partida del movimiento ascendente de la economía era relativamente elevado en la región y sustancialmente más alto que el nivel de desarrollo existente en las áreas dependientes de Asia y Africa. No solamente había tenido lugar una recuperación sustancial, después de la catástrofe de comienzos de la década del 30, sino que también en las repúblicas de Latinoamérica más desarrolladas y pobladas y con mayor capacidad productiva, se produjo un proceso considerable de sustitución de importaciones. Así, la industria de elaboración que antes de 1930 representaba una pequeña proporción en la producción global de Latinoamérica, alcanzó a fines de 1945 una equivalente al 65% de la contribución de la agricultura al producto bruto y fue, a su vez, considerablemente mayor que la contribución de la industria minera.

El segundo punto, que debe ser señalado, es que durante el período que consideramos prevalecieron condiciones externas excepcionalmente favorables. El impulso inicial para la expansión económica fue la acumulación de divisas registrada en Latinoamérica durante la segunda guerra mundial.[2] Sin embargo, el auge económico fue estimulado principalmente por los gastos de reconstrucción, rearme y satisfacción de demandas pospuestas en los principales países capitalistas al final de la guerra. Los medios externos mediante los cuales Latinoamérica hubiera podido mantener su ritmo de expansión, se restringieron fuertemente al terminar los reajustes de postguerra y, a partir de ese momento, comenzó a manifestarse la crisis actual.

Desde este punto de vista, es particularmente interesante la evaluación de la experiencia económica de este período. Dado el nivel relativamente elevado existente al inicio del mismo y las oportunidades excepcionales de que se dispusieron, el desarrollo alcanzado puede representar algo así como el "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía latinoamericana, funcionando de manera tradicional. Por tanto, la cuantía en que ese "florecimiento" de la economía dejó de satisfacer las necesidades de desarrollo de la región, nos permitirá estimar las dimensiones reales de la crisis actual.

De acuerdo con los datos recopilados por la CEPAL (ver el cuadro que sigue), el promedio acumulativo anual real de aumento del producto bruto de la región, fué de un 5% para el período de 12 años. Si excluimos los años de 1956 y 1957, durante los cuales la expansión de postguerra comenzó a ser menor, el índice fue de 5.2%. Para nuestros propósitos la diferencia no es importante: incluso el índice menor alcanza o excede los de un cierto número de países industrializados en Europa Occidental y ciertamente excede el de los Estados Unidos para el mismo período.

1957	53.8	43.8	10.3	9.3	9.6	183.8

Es cierto que por haber aumentado la población de Latinoamérica a un promedio anual de 2.5%, el índice del aumento anual del producto bruto per capita fue de solamente 2.7% para la "década dorada" y de 2.5% para el período de doce años. Sin embargo, aún esta últims cifra es mayor que el histórico 2% de aumento anual del producto bruto per cápita en los Estados Unidos, aunque es a su vez varias veces menor que el de los países socialistas. [4]

Es más importante el hecho de que el 2.5% represente probablemente más del doble del promedio anual "histórico" de desarrolo en Latinoamérica. Aunque no existen datos suficientes para establecer esta última afirmación en cuanto al conjunto de la región, puede suponerse que de 1900 a 1929 ningún país de América Latina superó el ritmo de desarrollo de Argentina, pues se estimó, como promedio, en un 1.2% per cápita anual. [5] En el caso de México, por ejemplo, se cree que entre 1803 y 1934 no se registró prácticamente ningún incremento en los ingresos per cápita. [6]

De lo antes expuesto puede inferirse la conclusión de que para el conjunto de la región el período que estamos examinado fue un período de incremento poco corriente de la actividad económica, o, más precisamente, de un aumento poco habitual del PBN, concepto que, de acuerdo con los usos oficiales en Latinoamérica y en las Naciones Unidas, incluye la producción de bienes y la de servicios, cuyo ritmo de aumento es comúnmente definido como desarrollo. [7] Más adelante examinaremos hasta qué punto se puede confiar en este concepto para medir el desarrollo económico en Latinoamérica. Por el momento consideraremos los factores externos que estimularon durante este período la elevada producción de bienes y de servicios en esta región.

2.– Los estímulos externos en la expansión económica de Latinoamérica

El comercio exterior ha ejercido siempre una influencia predominante sobre las fluctuaciones cíclicas de la economía latinoamericana. Así en 1932, en el climax de la gran depresión, las exportaciones de la región disminuyeron en un 65% en relación con 1929, mientras las importacinoes disminuyeron en un 75%.[8] No obstante, una comparación entre el nivel del comercio exterior en este año de crisis y el período que estamos analizando, mostraría una cuadro deformado de su importancia en la expansión económica de 1945-57. De ahí que los datos de 1934-38, cuando se había producido un grado de recuperación aceptable, nos darán una base mejor para establecer comparaciones. Durante este último período el promedio anual de exportaciones e importaciones en conjunto llegaron a 3,500 millones de dólares, cifras redondas, o 5,250 millones en dólares de 1950.[9]

Si consideramos nuestra tabla estadística, podemos ver que hacia 1947, cuando la tendencia a la expansión del comercio exterior en el período de la postguerra ya se habia desarrollado completamente, el total de las exportaciones y de las importaciones llegó a poco más de 14,000 millones de dólares de 1950, o sea, un aumento de más del 170% sobre el promedio anual de 1934-38. Además, de 1945 a 1955, el poder adquisitivo de las exportaciones latinoamericanas aumentó en un promedio anual de 5.4%, o sea ligeramente más que el ritmo de crecimiento del producto bruto de la región.[10] Es evidente que habían llegado mejores tiempos para Latinoamérica.

Es necesario un análisis posterior sin embargo, para determinar el papel desempeñado por el comercio exterior en la experiencia económica de la región después de la segunda guerra mundial. Si retornamos al período relativamente preindustrial anterior a la gran depresión de 1925-29, nos encontramos con que el coeficiente de importaciones, es decir, el valor de las importaciones en tantos por ciento del producto bruto nacional, se mantuvo en un 30.2%. En el período correspondiente de 4 años en la década siguiente, cuando el comercio exterior de Latinoamérica había vencido los efectos de la depresión, el coeficiente de importaciones no alcanzó su nivel anterior y se mantuvo en un 16.6%. Esta nueva relación, mejor incluso desde el punto de vista del desarrollo económico, entre el PBN y el comercio exterior, reflejaba el progreso alcanzado en la producción local de bienes de consumo, especialmente en los países más avanzados como Argentina, Brasil, México y Chile.

Cuando durante la segunda guerra mundial las importaciones fueron de nuevo drásticamente reducidas, se registró un impetu adicional para la expansión de la industria ligera. Como consecuencia, al comenzar el período de la postguerra la estructura de la economía era tal, que a pesar de la extraordinaria mejoría del comercio exterior, en comparación con el período de recuperación posterior a la depresión de 1930, la relación entre el PBN y las importaciones no volvió al nivel de 1925-29. En su lugar, como indican las cifras de nuestra tabla estadística, las importaciones fluctuaron alrededor del 16% del PBN, manteniéndose, por tanto, al mismo nivel relativo de 1934-39.

A primera vista ésto pudiera indicar una disminución de la importancia del comercio exterior en la provisión de los medios para la reciente expansión de la actividad económica en la América Latina. No obstante, un examen más detenido nos demuestra que lo cierto es justamente lo opuesto. La evidencia más palpable se advierte en la adquisición de maquinaria y equipos capaces de producir una expansión en las exportaciones de materias primas, así como de aumentar la producción de la industria de elaboración. En este sector de inversiones, obviamente estratégico, que representa aproximadamente el 25% de las inversiones totales, la producción local suministró menos del 10% de los productos obtenidos. El resto fue comprado en el extranjero y representó cerca del 33% del valor total de las importaciones.

Asi es claro que el cambio en la estructura de las importaciones de Latinoamérica devino un factor nuevo y crucial tendiente a perpetuar su dependencia del comercio exterior. Antes de 1914, por ejemplo, los textiles solamente constituían más de la mitad de las importaciones.[11] Durante los años 30, aunque se produjo un aumento notable en la proporción de bienes duraderos y de capital, la mayoría de los bienes importados eran todavía bienes de consumo y materiales de construcción. Sin embargo, después de 1945 el balance cambió definitivamente. Si a la maquinaria y a los equipos añadimos productos semielaborados y materias primas industriales, como varios tipos de acero, productos químicos, caucho, etc., y combustibles, nos encontramos con que para 1955, cerca de las dos terceras partes de las importaciones totales de la región, consistieron en medios de producción y suministros para los mismos.[12] En resumen, las exportaciones de Latinoamérica, que básicamente determinan su capacidad para importar, fueran indudablemente el elemento decisivo para momover la expansión económica de 1945 a 1957.[13]

El carácter único de la situación externa favorable que influyó en la actividad económica de este período, requiere algunos comentarios adicionales para ser bien comprendido. El gran aumento de la capacidad de importación de Latinoamérica no se debió solamente a la demanda excepcional de postguerra de que disfrutaron sus exportaciones, sino también a otro factor relacionado con ello, aunque menos corriente.

En común con todas las otras regiones dependientes, el comercio internacional de Latinoamérica ha sido adversamente afectado por la tendencia histórica hacia una creciente diferencia entre el pequeño aumento de precio de sus exportaciones de materias primas y el aumento mayor de los precios de los productos elaborados que importa. Como resultado, con fluctuaciones considerables de año en año y de un país a otro, dependiendo de los productos de exportación y de la fluctuación de la estructura de las importaciones, para la región en conjunto, a largo plazo, las condiciones del comercio exterior se han ido deteriorando.[14]

Sin embargo, un extraordinario cambio de esta tendencia tuvo lugar para el conjunto de la región y en todas las repúblicas consideradas por separado, menos Cuba y Argentina, en la década siguiente a la segunda guerra mundial. En ocho de las repúblicas, incluyendo Brasil, Colombia y Chile, los términos del comercio exterior durante los perídos de 1947-1949 y 1954-56, mejoraron de un 45% a un 100%.[15] Como resultado, más de la mitad del aumento del poder adquisitivo de las exportaciones de Latinoamérica se debió a los efectos de las mejores condiciones del comercio exterior y el resto correspondió a un aumento en el volumen de las exportaciones.[16]

Saldría de los límites de esta discusión examinar en detalle las fluctuaciones y la complejidad de los factores que afectaron la evolución de los precios de las exportaciones y de las importaciones principales de la región. En el caso del café, por ejemplo, que para más de la tercera parte de las repúblicas es uno de los principales productos de exportación, una aguda, aunque pasajera disminución en la producción brasileña causada por condiciones atmosféricas adversas, elevó los precios y estimuló una serie de compras especulativas. Con respecto a las importaciones, la tendencia hacia la sustitución de bienes de consumo por bienes de capital jugó un papel importante, ya que los precios de estos últimos tendieron a aumentar más lentamente que los precios de los bienes de consumo.[17] Además, los precios de los productos elaborados de Europa Occidental tendieron a declinar durante cierto período debido a la devaluación de la libra esterlina y otras divisas y en algunos países tuvo lugar cierto cambio hacia fuentes de abastecimiento europeas.

No obstante, el factor principal en la mejoría de los términos del intercambio fue el aumento de precio de las exportaciones de Latinoamérica, motivado por la demanda extraordinaria causada por la situación de la postguerra a la cual nos hemos referido. De manera que fueron circunstancias especiales, en lugar de fuerzas económicas básicas, las que produjeron la variación en los términos del comercio y el mantenimiento de la tendencia durante un período tan largo. Cuando estas circunstancias desaparecieron, la tendencia histórica a la decadencia volvió a manifestarse[18] y llegó a su fin este período de "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía. En 1958 el aumento per cápita del PBN fue solamente de 0.5%, descendiendo a 0.3% y en 1959 y a un nivel probablemente aún más bajo en 1960.[19]

3.— Otras consideraciones acerca del tema principal

Examinando ahora la actividad económica propiamente dicha, recordemos que para Latinoamérica, en conjunto, el promedio anual de aumento del PBN per cápita, fue de 2.7% para la década posterior a la guerra y de 2.5% para los 12 años. Considerando las repúblicas por separado, la gran mayoría compartió esta expansión en un grado mayor o menor y relativamente se registraron pocas variaciones en los niveles comparativos de sus respectivos PBN per cápita, sin embargo debe examinarse la tendencia en algunos de los países más importantes.

El ritmo de desarrollo de México, aunque aminoró después de 1950, fue aproximadamente el mismo que el del conjunto de la región durante el período de 12 años. En 1957 el PBN per cápita de México alcanzó 280 dólares, siendo todavía menor que el nivel de 335 dólares registrado en ese año para el conjunto de la región.[10]

La marcha de la economía brasileña fue notablemente mejor que el promedio, con un incremento anual per cápita de cerca de 3.5%. Como resultado, durante los 12 años, el PBN per cápita relativamente bajo del Brasil mejoró suficientemente llegando a ser en 1957 aproximadamente igual al de México. El fenómeno brasileño refleja en parte la situación especiamente favorable de los países exportadores de café. Así, el aumento del per cápita de los países productores de café de Centroamérica y de Colombia fue mayor que el promedio de Latinoamérica. Esta última República, por ejemplo, registró un incremento anual per cápita de cerca del 3% entre 1945 y 1957.

En el caso de Argentina, se notó una desviación considerable del ritmo medio de desarrollo regional. Aunque de 1945 a 1948 se registró un extraordinario incremento anual per cápita de 6.4%, para el periodo de 12 años, el aumento promedio per cápita fue solamente de 1% anual. Un factor significativo de la decadencia posterior a 1948 fue la situación desfavorable de las exportaciones argentinas de carnes y granos. Como resultado se produjo un continuo empeoramiento en los términos del comercio exterior, tendencia excepcional en la América Latina, compartida solamente por Cuba como indicamos anteriormente. Sin embargo, con un PBN per cápita de 525 dólares en 1957, el nivel argentino se mantuvo muy superior al promedio latinoamericano y solamente detrás de Venezuela, país del que trataremos posteriormente[11].

La desviación chilena de la norma regional fue aún mayor que la argentina. De 1945 a 1955 el PBN prácticamente se mantuvo, mientras que en los años siguientes disminuyó alrededor de un 8%. En realidad, a partir de 1953 el ritmo de desarrollo no logró mantenerse al nivel del aumento de población. Así el PBN per cápita chileno que en 1945 era bastante más elevado que el promedio latinoamericano, disminuyó a menos de 300 dólares en 1957.

La experiencia chilena también es excepcional desde otro punto de vista. La economía del país se mantuvo estancada, aunque disfrutó de una mejoría sustancial en las condiciones del comercio exterior. Este fenómeno refleja en parte el fracaso de las ganancias posteriores a la segunda guerra al no lograr recuperar lo perdido después de la debacle del cobre en la depresión del 30, pero más aún refleja la disipación improductiva de los recursos adquiridos durante el período de bonanza posterior a la guerra[11].

Finalmente, Cuba, duramente afectada por la caída del precio del azúcar después de la guerra de Corea y a pesar del alza de 1956-57, tampoco logró elevar su PBN per cápita durante el periodo de doce años. El PBN per cápita de Cuba, que era de 485 dólares en 1957, se mantuvo considerablemente más elevado que el promedio de Latinoamérica.

De aquí que el desarrollo extremadamente lento de la Argentina y el estancamiento de Chile y Cuba(que juntas constituyen aproximadamente el 17% de la población de América Latina) representan tendencias no comunes y, por consiguiente, su situación excepcional debe ser tenida en cuenta[11]. Sin embargo, desde el punto de vista global, el caso de estos países no invalida el significado, cualquiera que este sea, que pueda ser atribuido a los cálculos oficiales del desarrollo de Latinoamérica en conjunto.

4.— Perspectivas de aumento aparente del PBN

Ha llegado el momento de preguntarnos, ¿cuál es el significado de los cálculos oficiales mencionados anteriormente? ¿Qué desarrollo y que tipo de desarrollo fue el alcanzado durante este histórico "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía de Latinoamérica? Comenzaremos aceptando en su valor nominal la cifra de 2.5% como promedio anual de incremento per cápita del PBN de la región. Como ya vimos, el PBN alcanzó en 1957 su cifra más alta de todos los tiempos: 335 dólares. Si Latinoamérica pudiera recuperarse y mantener ininterrumpidamente su ritmo de desarrollo de 1945 a 1957, a partir del momento en que se produjera esta recuperación, tardaría alrededor de 55 años para alcanzar el PBN per cápita de Francia o Inglaterra en 1957 que fue de 1300 dólares. Alcanzar el PBN per cápita de los Estados Unidos en 1957, que era de 2600 dólares, demandaría cerca de 85 años.

Si consideramos las posibilidades hipotéticas de algunas de las repúblicas latinoamericanas por separado, el pronóstico no sería más alentador. Aunque Brasil, con su ritmo de desarrollo de 3.5% per cápita, estaría en condiciones más ventajosas que la mayoría de las otras repúblicas, desde el momento en que su economía se recuperara, le exigiría 45 y 65 años para alcanzar los niveles de 1957 antes mencionados. Argentina, con su ritmo de desarrollo menor que el promedio y a pesar de su base más alta, tardaría 90 años en alcanzar los niveles de 1957 de Francia o Inglaterra y 160 el de los Estados Unidos. Para alrededor de la mitad de las repúblicas, con un PBN per cápita inferior a 200 dólares y con un ritmo de desarrollo de 2.5% anual, el promedio sería de 80 y 110 años respectivamente.

Pero en este "alcanzar" a los países desarrollados debe considerarse otro aspecto. Mientras en 1940 el PBN per cápita de Latinoamérica era un sexto del norteamericano, en 1957 la proporción había descendido a un octavo. En el caso de Argentina, de la mitad descendió aproximadamente a un quinto del nivel de los Estados Unidos.

Así, desde el punto de vista de la satisfacción de las necesidades de desarrollo de Latinoamérica, al parecer la aceleración de la actividad económica del conjunto de la región alcanzada durante el período de 1945-57, deja algo que desear. Aun si el ritmo de desarrollo de este período pudiera ser revivido —lo que es el objetivo máximo propuesto por los economistas de la CEPAL[14], para unos pueblos donde las vastas mayorías no pueden satisfacer las necesidades mínimas de alimentación, vestido y alojamiento, sin hablar ya de las necesidades fundamentales de la vida civilizada, las pespectivas hipotéticas, sumamente difíciles de aceptar con ecuanimidad, aún en el más favorable de los casos, son de aplazar por medio siglo el logro del nivel de vida correspondiente a un PBN que represente solamente la mitad del actual de los Estados Unidos.

Todo esto se refiere al valor nominal del desarrollo alcanzado durante ese período de doce años. No obstante, las conclusiones reales que deben hacerse de este "florecimiento óptimo" son aún más desalentadoras. La razón es que el dispositivo convencional utilizado para medir el funcionamiento de la economía de Latinoamérica, es extraordinariamente engañoso. Exagera grandemente el nivel comparativo de desarrollo frente a los países altamente industrializados y el desarrollo real alcanzado en términos puramente regionales. Consideraremos ahora los dos aspectos engañosos en ese mismo orden.

5.— Comparación del Producto Bruto Nacional

Muchos economistas dedicados al problema del subdesarrollo, admiten que una comparación de la magnitud de los PBN de un país atrasado y de un país industrializado, es un cómputo sumamente inexacto de los niveles relativos de sus respectivas economías. No obstante, raramente se toman el trabajo de examinar cuán inexacto es este sistema. Consecuentemente, dejan de apreciar la diferencia real que los separa, que es significativamente mayor de lo que las estadísticas sobre el PBN indican.

En 1955, por ejemplo, el PBN per cápita de los Estados Unidos era ocho veces mayor que el de Latinoamérica, pero el consumo de acero per cápita, un indice básico del nivel de desarrollo económico, era dieciséis veces mayor en los Estados Unidos[25]. Una diferencia similar se observa comparando a Latinoamérica con otros paises desarrollados: El PBN per cápita de Inglaterra era cuatro veces mayor, mientras el consumo per cápita de acero era nueve veces mayor. En Francia las proporciones eran de cuatro y siete, en Austria de dos y cinco[26]. Otros indices significativos del desarrollo económico —el consumo per cápita de energía y de cobre— coinciden más o menos con el consumo de acero[27].

Ciertos economistas que pasan por alto este aspecto prefieren otro modo de tratar la cuestión. Afirman que la conversión de las unidades monetarias de los países subdesarrollados en dólares, exagera la diferencia real entre los niveles de las economías atrasadas y las economías desarrolladas. "Las cifras de los ingresos per cápita [el producto] de los países pobres, cuando son expresadas en dólares resultan demasiado bajas; ésto ayuda a explicar cómo algunas personas subsisten con un ingreso per cápita de 50 dólares al año..."[28]. Es indudablemente cierto que los individuos con ingresos de 50 dólares al año pagan menos alquiler y la ropa y la comida les cuestan menos, pero la razón es que probablemente estas personas viven en una choza hecha por ellos mismos, en terreno ajeno, sin agua y servicios sanitarios, estén subalimentadas, anden descalzas y sus únicas ropas sean los harapos que cubren sus espaldas. Por lo tanto, es un hecho que "subsiste" durante un período relativamente corto, ya que su cálculo de vida sería menos de la mitad del promedio para el habitante de los Estados Unidos.

La comparación del PBN de Latinoamérica y de los países desarrollados, también es afectada materialmente por el factor de las inversiones extranjeras. Las estadísticas de Venezuela ilustran muy bien este punto. Como lo expresa W. W. Rostow, sin darle gran importancia: "Venezuela ha sido por algún tiempo una "economía enquistada", con un índice alto de inversiones concentrado en un sector de exportación moderno, cuyó crecimiento no ha generado ningún impulso en la economía venezolana"[29]. Examinemos esta situación más detenidamente.

De acuerdo con las estadísticas publicadas, en 1957 el sector de la minería, que en la práctica quiere decir extracción extranjera del petróleo, representaba el 34% del PBN venezolano. La proporción real probablemente es aún mayor, pero es difícil determinar cuánto de lo que figura en los capítulos de construcción, transporte, comunicaciones y "otros", es una parte de las operaciones petroleras. Una prueba adicional de la importancia del petróleo la ofrece el hecho de que la agricultura y la industria de elaboración representen el 7% y el 11% respectivamente, en el PBN venezolano[30]. Simultáneamente, las compañías petroleras emplean menos del 2% de la mano de obra activa del país".

Las estadísticas sobre el desarrollo económico de Venezuela son de lo más impresionantes. En 1945-57 el aumento promedio del PBN per cápita fue de 4.5%, que con mucho fue el más alto de Latinoamérica. En 1957, el PBN per cápita en Venezuela era de aproximadamente 1,000 dólares, tres veces el de Latinoamérica en conjunto, incluyendo a Venezuela; dos veces el de la Argentina, que es el país más desarrollado de la región y considerablemente mayor que el de Italia. El consumo per cápita de acero de Venezuela era seis veces mayor que el promedio de Latinoamérica y aproximadamente igual al de Suiza. En 1958 el consumo per cápita de energía en Venezuela fue algo mayor que el de Francia[31].

Estas cifras reflejan, desde luego, las actividades de las compañías de petróleo estadounidenses y anglo-holandesas que operan en Venezuela, pero no nos dicen casi nada acerca de la economía nacional propiamente dicha. Harvey O'Connor describe algunas de las realidades de esa economía:

"Antes del petróleo, Venezuela se alimentaba a si misma de algún modo. Hoy produce solamente la mitad del maíz, la mitad de la carne, una tercera parte de los vegetales y los granos y la mitad de la leche que consume. Hay menos ganado que en tiempos de la Revolución de 1812... La fantástica prosperidad que ha descendido sobre Caracas es tan irreal como algo salido de Hollywood... Todo eso es solamente motivo de curiosidad para las 9/10 partes del pueblo, que vive fuera del mundo encantado del petróleo. Ahuyentados por la enfermedad y disgregados por el hambre... por lo menos 200,000 venezolanos han abandonado los campos para dirigirse a la dorada Caracas, en donde viven bajo los puentes, a lo largo de las cañadas, o en las laderas de los cerros en los irónicamente llamados 'ranchos', construidos con los desperdicios de la ciudad"[32].

De hecho, "la economía enquistada" en Venezuela falsca seriamente las estadisticas del desarrollo de toda Latinoamérica. Por ejemplo, durante el período de cinco años de 1953-57, a las compañías extranjeras que operan en Venezuela correspondió el 23%. aproximadamente de todas las exportaciones de Latinoamérica. En el año 1957 la cifra llegó casi al 28%[33]. Con respecto a los cálculos del PBN, si quitamos a Venezuela, que representa un poco más del 3% de la población de Latinoamérica, el promedio de aumento del PBN per cápita de la región durante el periodo de 1950-57, se reduce aproximadamente en una cuarta parte[34].

Si bien es la más sobresaliente, Venezuela no es la única "economía enquistada" en Latinoamérica. Honduras, dominada por dos compañías bananeras extranjeras que, como Robert Alexander describe, "equivalen a estados dentro de otro estado"[35], es otro ejemplo típico Cuba, antes de la Revolución, también lo era en un grado apreciable, como declaró públicamente un reciente Embajador de los Estados Unidos en Cuba, "...hasta la llegada de Castro al poder... el embajador americano era la segunda figura de importancia en el país; algunas veces más importante aún que el Presidente"[36]. En realidad no hay prácticamente ninguna república latinoamericana en donde falte un "sector moderno de exportación" de propiedad extranjera; algunas constituyen "enquistamientos económicos" más o menos grandes pero en todos los casos sus contribuciones a los ingresos y al desarrollo económico "pertenecen más propiamente a los países en donde las campañías están domiciliadas", que a los países en dondé operan,,.

Unas cuantas cifras y hechos indicarán, de manera parcial, con qué estos "enquistamientos económicos" inflan el funcionamiento real de las economías nacionales de Latinoamérica. En 1957, por ejemplo, las empresas de inversión directa de Estados Unidos, que representan aproximadamente al 85% del total de las inversiones directas extranjeras, tuvieron una producción que ascendió a 8.000 millones de dólares dentro de la producción bruta de Latinoamérica, o sea más del 13% del PBN de 1957[38] y, sin duda, una proporción aún mayor en la producción de bienes materiales. Estas empresas exportaron fuera de Latinoamérica mercancías valoradas en casi 3.000 millones de dólares[39], o sea casi la mitad de todas las exportaciones de mercancías de Latinoamérica, sin incluir el comercio dentro de la región, y el 80% de las exportaciones de la región de los Estados Unidos[40].

Estas cifras, a su vez, indican un serio falseamiento de las ganacias reales de las economías nacionales, como resultado de los diversos tipos de utilidades extraídas por medio de las operaciones de las inversiones extranjeras. Muchas de estas remisiones de utilidades son difíciles de descubrir, pero podemos tener alguna idea de su importancia incluso si consideramos las remisiones de utilidades e intereses que se publican, por ejemplo, la salida de divisas, excluyendo amortizaciones, ascendió a 3,625 millones de dólares durante el periodo de 1955 a 1957, aparentemente una porción insignificante del PBN. Sin embargo, como constituyó un drenaje de divisas extranjeras, absorbió el 14% de las ganancias por concepto de exportaciones durante este período de tres años. Más aún, el promedio de absorción de divisas aumentó de manera continuada después de los años inmediatos a la guerra, cuando dicho promedio era del 10%. En términos absolutos, el drenaje se duplicó durante el período comprendido entre los años 1947 y 1957[41].

En vista de la decisiva importancia que la capacidad de importar tiene en la economía de América Latina, especialmente para adquirir los medios de producción, esta pérdida de medios económices no es tan pequeña como parece. En 1957 equivalió aproximadamente al 70% del costo de toda la maquinaria industrial importada durante el año, solamente un poco menos del 70% de las inversiones de ese año en ese sector clave[42].

6.— Las realidades del desarrollo económico en Latinoamerica

Retornando al segundo aspecto de la disparidad entre las realizaciones aparentes y reales del desarrollo alcanzado por lo que hemos definido como el "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía latinoamericana, recordemos que el concepto oficialmente empleado para el PBN en la apreciación del desarrollo, incluye bienes y servicios. Sin discutir si es un concepto válido en el caso de un pais altamente industrializado como los Estados Unidos, es sin lugar a dudas sumamente equívoco cuando se aplica a una economía subdesarrollada.

Por su misma definición, una economía tal es primaria y básicamente deficiente en producción, es decir, tanto en capacidad productiva como en la producción real de productos agrícolas e industriales, que combinados determinan la capacidad física de un país para mantener un determinado nivel de vida. Para una economía sudbesarrollada, sólo la producción de bienes materiales puede tener alguna significación en cuanto al desarrollo. Ciertamente, para una región como Latinoamérica, un aumento en el número de salones de belleza o cabarets o en la cuantía de la policía u otras actividades que se enmarcan como servicios —sin importar su contribución a las alegrías o las penas que proporcionen a uno u otro sector de la población— no puede representar desarrollo económico. En realidad, como Paul Baran sugiere con respecto a la mayoría de los países —y nosotros incluimos a Latinoamérica dentro de esos países— lo opuesto es lo indudablemente cierto. Los servicios absorben capital y otros recursos desesperadamente necesarios para la producción y de esa forma retardan el desarrollo económico".

El grado en que los servicios inflan el PBN de Latinoamérica se revela en un examen de sus componentes. En 1956-57, sus proporciones respectivas (en porcentajes redondeados) dentro del total fueron las siguientes:"

Agricultura	23.5
Industria	20.0
Construcción	3.5
Minería	5.0
(Sub-total de la producción)		52.0
Comercio y Finanzas	17.0
Otros servicios	15.0
Gobierno	7.5
(Sub-total de servicios)		39.5
Transportes y Comunicaciones	8.5	8.5

De manera que en números redondos, ligeramente más del 50% del PBN latinoamericano está claramente constituido por la producción de bienes materiales y alrededor del 40% por servicios. El resto —comunicaciones y transportes— está constituido por ambos y no puede ser clasificado sin un análisis más detallado. No obstante, para nuestro propósito no se requiere una apreciación más detallada. Es suficiente con hacer notar que los servicios problablemente constituyen casi la mitad del PBN de la región. Aún más, para toda la región y para la mayoría de las repúblicas por separado, durante 1945-57 hubo poca variación en la relación entre los servicios y la producción en el PBN". Los servicios per cápita aumentaron en un promedio anual prácticamente idéntico al del PBN. Consecuentemente, cerca de la mitad de la expansión económica de 1945-57 no contribuyó ni al desarrollo de Latinoamérica ni a su capacidad de desarrollo.

Volviendo a la producción de bienes materiales, se deduce que, en conjunto, también aumentó aproximadamente en el mismo nivel que el PBN. De aqui que pueda argumentarse que aunque el PBN exagera grandemente las dimensiones del desarrollo real en términos absolutos, en este sentido, indica de manera precisa los adelantos relativos en la producción material y, por tanto, es una apreciación razonable del índice real de desarrollo. Sin embargo, no solo el índice sigue siendo insatisfactorio, como ya hemos visto, sino que resulta mucho más inadecuado de lo que parece a primera vista.

Ello estriba en que la valoración del PBN en Latinoamérica, y en las regiones subdesarrolladas en general, es aún más complicada por el comportamiento desigual de los principales sectores de la producción y por consideraciones cualitativas especiales. Es fundamental saber no solamente cuánta producción, sino también qué clase de producción, para comprender el proceso de crecimiento de una economía débil y falseada. Por ejemplo, un aumento en la producción que refleje la expansión del monocultivo o la explotación extranjera de los recursos naturales o la elaboración de artículos de lujo para el consumo doméstico, figurarían siempre como contribuciones al desarrollo económico en cualquier cómputo estadístico. Sin embargo, desde el punto de vista de la única clase de desarrollo que tiene sentido para un país subdesarrollado, las resultantes principales de tal aumento pudieran muy bien ser desfavorables. Por esta razón debemos examinar algunos aspectos salientes del desarrollo en los principales sectores de la producción del PBN.

a. El sector agrícola.

El aumento promedio anual per cápita de la producción agrícola en Latinoamérica en 1945-57, fue solamente de 1.5%. El índice fundamental de desarrollo en este sector sería la producción de alimentos para el consumo, pero éste aumentó a un ritmo aún menor que los cultivos para la exportación. En todo caso, el promedio general de 1.5% no bastó para mantener el nivel per cápita de producción anterior a la guerra, tanto de la agricultura en su conjunto, como de la producción de alimentos considerada separadamente. La disminución per cápita de la producción fue sustancial durante la mayor parte del período. Solamente en 1956/57, el mejor año del período,el nivel se acercó al de 1933/34 — 1937/38[46].

Para una región en la que, como Preston James dice sin rodeos, "podemos afirmar que una gran parte de la población está sufriendo hambre"[47], este record no representa desarrollo en ningún sentido. Es más bien una afirmación de la agravación de la crisis permanente basada en el sistema conocido y profundamente asentado del monopolio feudal y neo-feudal sobre la tierra. Todas las estadísticas disponibles apuntan hacia una concentración continuada y probablemente ascendente de la propiedad sobre la tierra en los años recientes. Un estudio de Moacyr Paixao demuestra que en el Brasil, poco más del 3% de los propietarios están en posesión de más del 62% de la tierra arable, mientras que el 85% de los campesinos posee menos del 17% de la tierra. La situación en Cuba, antes de 1959, era parecida: menos del 1.5% de las empresas agrícolas poseían el 47% de las tierras, mientras el 70% de las propiedades ocupaban poco más del 11% de la tierra[49].

Aún en México, en donde una reforma agraria extensa; pero solamente efectiva en parte, había tenido lugar antes de 1940, un nuevo proceso de concentración de la tierra comenzó después de aquel año. De acuerdo con Luis Yáñez Pérez, hacia 1950 alrededor del 50% de las tierras cultivadas estaban en posesión del 13% de los cultivadores, mientras 708 grandes empresarios obtenían el 35% del total de los ingresos agrícolas de la república[50].

Hacia 1955, de acuerdo con un cálculo semiofical mexicano, el sector privado agrícola, en contraste con el sector comunal creado por la reforma agraria, se había expandido de tal manera que "podía ser aún mayor que las propiedades privadas en 1930"[51], es decir, antes de que se distribuyeran la mayoría de las tierras como consecuencia de la reforma agraria. El hecho de que muchas de las nuevas grandes propiedades sean empresas capitalistas relativamente eficientes, no altera el significado de la "contra-reforma" ya que éstas se han dedicado casi exclusivamente a producir productos de exportación, emplean mucho menos obreros de los que de otra forma pudieran subsistir de la tierra y de ahí resulta que retardan la producción desesperadamente necesaria de comestibles para el mercado interno y agravan la seria situación de desempleo agrícola.

Para el conjunto de Latinoamérica, Otto Feinstein resume de manera conservadora la situación actual de la posesión de la tierra y su utilización como sigue: "la distribución de la tierra está hecha de tal manera que una proporción infinitesimal de los clasificados como propietarios legales de la tierra posee una vasta mayoría de la misma. Menos del 5% de los terratenientes posee usualmente más del 50% de la tierra. Esto no sólo significa concentración de la tierra en grandes propiedades, usualmente incapaces de financiar su modernización, sino también que casi todos los otros propietarios poseen usualmente parcelas demasiado pequeñas para una producción racional".[52]

A esto hay que añadir solamente que sin una revolución agraria —no una mera reforma— que haga posible la asimilación de la técnica del siglo XX en la producción agrícola, cualquier florecimiento óptimo o de otro género de la economía latinoaméricana, es incapaz, por su índole, de satisfacer las necesidades de desarrollo de la región.

b. El sector industrial.

Aunque el estancamiento de la agricultura y, en particular, de los productos alimenticios, reduce considerablemente la significación del aumento total en la producción de bienes materiales, el hecho de que la producción de la industria de elaboración aumentó a un promedio anual de 3.2% per cápita —más del doble del aumento de la agricultura— el hecho aportó algo sustancial, tanto cualitativa como cuantitativamente al desarrollo material alcanzado durante este período.[53] Un resultado es el cambio que se operó en la distribución por sectores del PBN de Latinoamérica. En 1945 la industria de elaboración y la construcción representaban el 17% del PBN y la agricultura el 26%, mientras que en 1957, como ya hemos indicado, la participación de la industria de elaboración y de la construcción juntas igualaron la de la agricultura, representando cada una el 23.5%[54].

Si consideramos los países separadamente, encontramos que los incrementos relativos en el sector de la industria de elaboración, fueron relativamente más pronunciados en las repúblicas menos industrializadas, aunque al mismo tiempo, al fin del período, la agricultura aún mantenía su posición predominante. Así, en Colombia, por ejemplo, el sector agrícola descendió del 45 al 31% del PBN, y aún esta proporción superaba la aportación de la industria de elaboración. El modelo en Brasil, —que en este aspecto representó una excepción entre los cuatro países de mayor producción industrial— fue el mismo que en Colombia: en 1957 el sector agrícola aún era el predominante. En cuanto a Argentina, Chile y México, donde la industria había sobrepasado ligeramente a la agricultura en 1945, el cambio registrado en la importancia relativa de dichos sectores fue insignificante[55].

Mientras que para las economías subdesarrolladas del conjunto de Latinoamérica la relativa industrialización indicada por los cambios operados en esos dos sectores del PBN, tiene algunas implicaciones de desarrollo positivo, el grado de desarrollo industrial alcanzado es exagerado por muchos de los resúmenes estadísticos. Por ejemplo, nos encontramos que una proporción sustancial de lo que es clasificado como actividad industrial —aún en las repúblicas más desarrolladas— continúa técnicamente al nivel de las operaciones de una herrería rural.

La situación en Perú, sobre la cual pueden hallarse estadísticas recientes y bastante numerosas, puede ser considerada típica para la mayor parte de Latinoamérica. Desde el punto de vista del desarrollo industrial en general, Perú tiene una situación ligeramente mejor que la media entre las 20 repúblicas y su PBN y su desarrollo industrial en los últimos años se acerca al promedio de la región. Además, Perú posee una moderna fundición de hierro y acero.

En 1955, ligeramente más del 80% de la mano de obra industrial, incluyendo artesanos, trabajaba en talleres que, con un promedio de menos de 14 obreros, y probablemente la mitad de ese número, producían el 40% de los productos elaborados del país. En el caso del Perú es difícil hablar de progresos serios industriales por otra razón: de 1945-55 hubo una disminución en la participación relativa de la industria local en los suministros totales de productos elaborados.[56]

Si consideramos ahora el aumento de la producción de bienes de capital en Latinoamérica[57], aparece que ha sido más sustancial de lo que realmente fue, debido en parte, a la base tan baja de que se partió. En vista de la complejidad de la producción industrial y de las diferencias en terminología y otros criterios estadísticos usados por las distintas repúblicas, es difícil determinar la relación entre la producción de bienes de capital y bienes de consumo, elemento de bastante importancia para apreciar el nivel de madurez industrial. No obstante, podemos obtener un cálculo aproximado en el realizado por las Naciones Unidas de 1954. De acuerdo con este cálculo, basado en estadísticas de 6 países —Argentina, Brasil, Colombia, Chile, México y Venezuela— que representan el grueso de la producción industrial de Latinoamérica, "las industrias de bienes de capital... representan no más del 15% de la producción industrial total de Latinoamérica".[58] Probablemente este porcentaje fue mayor en 1957, aunque quizá no mucho.

Al mismo tiempo, una considerable disipación improductiva de la producción de bienes de capital limita su importancia como índice del desarrollo económico básico. En 1945-57 —para toda la región y prácticamente todos los países por separado—; más de la mitad de las inversiones fijas de capital se orientaron hacia "edificaciones y construcciones", el mayor porcentaje del cual se concentro en "residencias" que en Latinoamérica son en abrumadora mayoría casas muy lujosas, una importante mercancía de la lucrativa especulación urbana.[59]

Entre las repúblicas más activas industrialmente, se ha prestado una justificada atención al Brasil. En Brasil la producción de lingotes de acero se quintuplicó en 10 años y el valor de la producción de bienes de capital aumentó con una rapidez que casi triplica a la de bienes de consumo. No obstante, considerando la producción industrial en conjunto, los cambios estructurales resultantes no han sido tan espectaculares como los acontecimientos parecen indicar.

Aunque el valor de la producción de bienes de capital se elevó de alrededor de un cuarto a un tercio del total de la producción de la industria de elaboración, en menos de una década, este éxito está seriamente afectado por el hecho de que la producción de maquinaria, en 1959, representó menos del 3% del valor total de la producción industrial.[40] Operando en una economía plagada de persistentes y agudas deficiencias de energía y transporte —característica prácticamente común a toda América Latina— sin capacidad reproductiva, produciendo exclusivamente para el mercado interior y dependiendo de las ganancias por concepto de exportaciones de café y de inversiones directas de capital extranjero, para obtener bienes de capital y varias materias primas, la industria brasileña ha aumentado la vulnerabilidad de la economía ante factores externos, sin lograr los medios para una industrialización básica.

La industria argentina, tradicionalmente la más fuerte de Latinoamérica en términos de producción per cápita, presenta características estructurales similares a las del Brasil. La producción de maquinarias y equipos aumentó en más del 300% entre 1937-38 y 1955, mientras su participación relativa en la producción industrial se elevó del 3.7 al 6.1%. Sin embargo, reparaciones y reposiciones de piezas representaron el 40% de este total, como resultado de lo cual sólo el 60% de la producción en este sector representó un incremento de las existencias de maquinaria y equipos, de lo cual, a su vez, el 60% se concentró en facilidades de transporte.[41]

La deficiencia fundamental del desarrollo industrial en Argentina y Brasil, prevalece sobre toda la región. Es resumida por el hecho, previamente señalado, de que al fin de un período de 12 años de intensificación de la actividad industrial —que culmina la fase moderna de un proceso que comenzó con la primera guerra mundial— Latinoamérica todavía dependía de las importaciones para más de 90% de sus necesidades en maquinarias y equipos.

Debe mencionarse también un factor adicional en relación con el problema de los "enquistamientos" que hemos abordado, pero que también complica la valoración del desarrollo de Latinoamérica. La gran mayoría de las empresas modernas de elaboración de la región son de propiedad extranjera. Las inversiones privadas directas de los Estados Unidos en este sector, más que se duplicaron durante el período 1945-57 y, en 1959, tenían un valor en contabilidad de aproximadamente 1.400 millones de dólares, mayor que la inversión en cualquier otro sector con excepción del petróleo, y representaban cerca de la sexta parte del total de las inversiones privadas directas de los Estados Unidos en Latinoamérica.

La mayor parte de estas inversiones se ha dirigido hacia la industria pesada y hacia la industria alimenticia, y el 70% se ha concentrado en Brasil, México y Argentina. Solamente Brasil ha recibido más del 30% del total.[42] Se estima que dentro de una persistente tendencia a la expansión, en 1957 la participación privada extranjera (Estados Unidos y Europa) en las inversiones en las industrias del Brasil, representó el 37% de total.[43]

El impacto de esta situación en el desarrollo industrial y económico de América Latina en términos generales es, por lo menos, contradictorio. De una parte, existe una producción nueva con sus correspondientes efectos multiplicadores. Al mismo tiempo, esto no se puede considerar completamente beneficioso ya que mucha de esta producción consiste meramente en el montaje de piezas importadas y también depende de materias primas del exterior.

De otra parte, la capacidad de expansión de las empresas extranjeras a través de la reinversión de los beneficios está limitada a largo plazo por las posibilidades de su remisión. De aquí que mientras mayor sea la expansión, mayor será la exportación eventual de capital e ipso facto la decapitalización creciente de las seriamente subcapitalizadas economías latinoamericanas. Como muy bien dice el economista brasileño Caio Prado (hijo), cualquiera que sea el estímulo inicial para el desarrollo provisto por las fábricas propiedad de extranjeros, "con el tiempo se transforma en una obstrucción".[44]

Una observación final puede ser hecha para confirmar las limitaciones del desarrollo industrial de Latinoamérica. Es bien conocido que en cualquier región subdesarrollada la capacidad de la industria para absorver mano de obra es de una importancia decisiva, tanto para la aceleración del desarrollo industrial como para el desarrollo económico en general. En este sentido anotemos que entre 1945 y 1955, la proporción de la mano de obra dedicada a la agricultura, decayó del 57.4 al 51.6%.[65] Esto representa una disminución apreciable en términos absolutos y un fenómeno asociado teóricamente con el desarrollo económico.

Para América Latina lo contrario es lo cierto. Como lo describió recientemente un funcionario de la Organización de Estados Americanos, es un circulo vicioso: la intensificación de la pobreza en los campos ha estimulado un éxodo creciente de la población rural hacia las ciudades; el nivel de la técnica agrícola ha sido demasiado bajo para compensar la péridida de mano de obra, y el desarrollo industrial muy lento para ofrecer empleo a los campesinos desplazados[66]. De este modo, la producción del total de trabajadores dedicados a la industria y a las construcciones aumentó solamente del 17 al 18.5% del total. Al mismo tiempo, la parte correspondiente al sector de los servicios aumentó del 23 al 27.4% o sea a más del doble del indice de la industria y la construcción.[67]

En otras palabras, el grueso de la mano de obra en éxodo de la agricultura, incrementó las filas de burócratas, limpiabotas, vendedores de periódicos, sirvientes domésticos y similares, para no mencionar los desempleados. Este fenómeno explica al mismo tiempo la disparidad entre el aumento sin precedente de la población en la América Latina y la industrialización de la región que avanza mucho más lentamente.

7.— Los ingresos personales durante el periodo de "florecimiento óptimo"

Para una apreciación general de la evolución de la economía de Latinoamérica, una última pregunta debe ser formulada: ¿Cómo fueron afectados los niveles de vida de las grandes masas de población? El primer punto en el que se debe hacer hincapié es el de que de 1945 a 1957 el consumo per cápita de la región en conjunto aumentó en un 40%, en comparación con un 31% para el PBN per cápita. Este fenómeno ha sido descrito como "alentador" por los economistas de la CEPAL.[68]

Sin embargo, un examen de la distribución de los ingresos creados por el PBN revela que el incremento del consumo privado —aldededor del 80% del consumo total— fue limitado estrictamente a una opulenta minoría y de ahí que, aparte de sus implicaciones sociales pueda ser caracterizado mejor como una deplorable disipación de la plus-valia. Aún aceptando que en el caso de Latinoamérica pueda ser justificado el debate entre teorizantes respecto de cuánto puede o debe ser "exprimida la población... a través de un aplazamiento de la elevación de los niveles de consumo... y utilizado para inversiones básicas, con el fin de... lograr un rápido aumento de la producción", como dice Gunnar Myrdal en otro texto,[69] existe muy poca justificación para este "exprimir el jugo" que tiene como consecuencia un superconsumo y una subinversión por parte de los que perciben las utilidades y que, consecuentemente, no ofrece ninguna persepectiva para un rápido aumento de la producción.

A pesar de que las estadísticas sobre ingresos personales están muy diseminadas y son relativamente poco exactas, todo evidencia que la significativa disparidad entre los ingresos de las clases poseedoras y la clase trabajadora en América Latina, se ha incrementado durante este período y, como resultado, los problemas materiales y sociales de la pobreza durante el periodo de bonanza han sido iguales, si no mayores, que antes.[70]

Esta situación la confirma la continua migración de campesinos desposeídos y la situacón de hambre a la cual ya nos hemos referido. Otros síntomas han sido las vastas luchas sociales y las salvajes represiones políticas que alcanzaron un grado de intensidad y una extensión geográfica probablemente inigualada en América Latina durante cualquier otro periodo de alto índice de actividad económica.

Un síntoma general es el agudo encarecimiento de la vida en la mayoría de los países, que aún de acuerdo con las cifras oficiales, alcanzó proporciones fenomenales en algunas repúblicas, a pesar de la subestimación habitual y notoria de los organismos que confeccionan las estadísticas en casi todos los gobiernos.[71] Los salarios normalmente se rezagaron y, aún en los casos en que las huelgas forzaron ajustes temporales más o menos correctos, el alza de los precios fue tan rápido, que siembre hubo un lapso de tiempo en el cual los ingresos reales de los asalariados disminuyeron.

Las tendencias fluctuaron en dependencia de los países y de los años. Las estadísticas de Argentina indican que un alza real en los salarios y los sueldos industriales durante los primeros años de la postguerra, fue seguida por una tendencia a la disminución después de 1949[72]. El record no es tan claro en Brasil y en Colombia, en donde en cualquier caso "los salarios reales per cápita en la industria disminuyeron algo en los últimos años, a pesar de un aumento en la producción per cápita".[73] En general y a largo plazo, la clásica "redistribución de la riqueza" característica de la inflación prolongada y rápida, impuso su tributo a los asalariados de América Latina.

Son dignas de consideración las estadísticas chilenas sobre este punto, porque son más completas y merecedoras de confianza que la mayoría de las otras. De 1945 a 1957, la proporción relativa de los gastos totales nacionales de los consumidores, representados por los salarios y los sueldos de oficina, disminuyó en un 10%, mientras que el consumo derivado de utilidades, intereses y rentas, aumentó en cerca de un 15%. Al mismo tiempo, el hecho de que el consumo per cápita de artículos tales como carne, patatas y especialmente trigo, disminuyera sustancialmente durante el período, sugiere que la mayoría de los chilenos se empobreció, tanto en términos relativos como absolutos.[74]

Aparentemente, en Perú, en donde una buena parte de los ingresos no se computan como salarios, las "características generales de la distribución de los ingresos no experimentó ninguna variación sustancial entre 1945 y 1955". Durante esta década, alrededor del 45% de la población total del Perú pudo satisfacer solamente las "necesidades mínimas para la subsistencia", lo cual convertido en términos monetarios, significa un consumo anual per cápita equivalente a no más de 50 dólares, menos de la tercera parte del per cápita promedio nacional.[75]

En Venezuela, la mayor parte de los datos conocidos señalan una mayor diferenciación entre los ingresos de las altas capas y los de la mayoría. De acuerdo con un análisis, alrededor de tres cuartas partes de la población venezolana percibe menos de un tercio del enormemente exagerado per cápita de ingresos nacionales.[76] En Cuba, una sola estadística nos dice lo suficiente acerca de la distribución de los ingresos; con anterioridad a la Revolución de 1959, el promedio anual de desocupados era de un 25%.[77]

Se puede argumentar que las estadísticas concernientes a Cuba, Chile e incluso a Argentina, carecen en cierto modo de relieve, ya que esas repúblicas experimentaron poco o ningún desarrollo en 1945-57. No se puede decir lo mismo sobre México, país sobre el cual recientemente se han publicado notables estadísticas acerca de la distribución de los ingresos.

De acuerdo con un análisis detallado y en general de orientación conservadora, de la economista mexicana Ifigenia de Navarrete, aparecen los siguientes datos reveladores:[78]

1º De 1940 a 1950, los ingresos personales de los empresarios se elevaron del 60% al 66% de los ingresos personales en la república, mientras los de los asalariados disminuyeron de la misma forma del 40 al 34% del total.

2º De 1950 a 1957 en términos de ingresos familiares, (a) el promedio de ingresos mensuales en las familias de las capas más humildes, que comprenden el 20% de la población mexicana, fue de 22.3 dólares en 1950 y de 19.8 en 1957 —computados en pesos de 1957 y convertidos en dólares de ese mismo año— representando una declinación relativa del 6% al 4.5% de los ingresos totales y una declinación absoluta del 11% (b) para la mitad de la población, incluyendo el 20% de las capas más humildes; el promedio de ingresos familiares reales fue aproximadamente el mismo en 1950 y en 1957, o sea alrededor de 28 dólares al mes —en dólares de 1957— lo cual representa, no obstante, una disminución relativa del 19 al 15.5% de los ingresos familiares totales; (c) mientras en 1950, el 70% de las familias recibieron el 31.5% de los ingresos familiares totales, en 1957 recibieron solamente el 28.5%.

Si existe alguna exageración en este estudio de la tendencia del ingreso de la mayoría de los mexicanos a permanecer estacionario o aún a disminuir, es en el sentido de subestimarla. Por ejemplo, de acuerdo con la profesora soviética M. V. Danilyevitch, los ingresos reales de los obreros industriales en México entre 1939 y 1952, mostraron una tendencia a la disminución después de 1940,[79] de donde se deduce la sospecha de que el empobrecimiento absoluto está más difundido de lo que demuestra el análisis de la economista mexicana. Esta sospecha es apoyada por las tendencias en el consumo de alimentos per cápita. De 1934-36 a 1952-56, de acuerdo con una encuestra de las Naciones Unidas, un análisis de la información obtenible "revela la existencia de varias tendencias importantes que se han reflejado en un descenso de los niveles de nutrición".[80]

En todo caso no hay probablemente ninguna exageración en la conclusión general propuesta por la señora Navarrete como resultado de su estudio, afirmando que del 65 al 70% de la población mexicana no tuvo ninguna participación en los "beneficios del desarrollo económico". No se pecaría de exageración si se afirmara que las privaciones sufridas durante este período de "florecimiento óptimo de la economía" por el grueso de la población mexicana, bajo las condiciones relativamente favorables de la economía de ese país, fueron más intensas en la gran mayoría de las otras repúblicas latinoamericanas.

8.— Conclusiones:

El camino hacia el desarrollo

Ciertamente muchos círculos se han percatado de la gravedad de la presente crisis en Latinoamérica, como un desastre económico y la agudización de los conflictos políticos y sociales. Tampoco han faltado los factores, reales o imaginarios, aducidos para explicar esta situación. Sin embargo, es muy frecuente la tendencia —aún entre especialistas de alguna competencia— a conceder verosimilitud a la noción de que el desarrollo económico ha sido "rápido" en Latinoamérica, o de que "el desarrollo de América Latina ha sido impresionante", o de que Latinoamérica "ha llegado a la edad de un desarrollo económico vigoroso".[81] Esto, como hemos tratado de demostrar, está lejos de ser cierto, de acuerdo con toda la evidencia obtenible. Lo que hemos llamado el "florecimiento óptimo" de la economía latinoamericana se ha confundido con un funcionamiento satisfactorio.

¿Cómo resumir la evidencia? Si existe una fórmula matemática para medir y apreciar el contenido del nodesarrollo y del antidesarrollo de las actividades económicas que hemos examinado y definir con precisión el FBN real de Latinoamérica, su magnitud relativa en una escala mundial y su índice temporal de variabilidad, el autor de este trabajo no la conoce ni tiene capacidad para inventar una. Pero quizás, pidiendo prestada una frase a Joan Robinson, "no tiene objeto encerrar algo en definiciones más precisas que el sujeto al cual se aplican".[82] Nosotros podemos añadir: más precisa que los datos estadísticos escasos e imperfectos con los cuales tenemos que trabajar.

De aquí que no intentemos formular más que una conclusión general: la de que el desarrollo, tal y como ha tenido lugar, ha sido sumamente exagerado y ha dejado de satisfacer en todos sentidos, sociales o económicos, las necesidades de desarrollo de la región. Para concretar, la característica decisiva de este desarrollo es que dejó de proporcionar o establecer las bases para un incremento suficiente y rápido en la capacidad productiva y reproductiva de las ramas de la economía cuyas deficiencias fundamentales son la causa principal de la perpetuación del subdesarrollo. Consecuentemente, la crisis actual de Latinoamérica no marca el fin de una era de progreso, sino la culminación de un proceso que agravó, en aspectos esenciales, los males crónicos internos y la vulnerabilidad externa de la economía subdesarrollada y dependendiente de la región.

Los factores que deforman la economía de Latinoamérica e impiden su desarrollo, están entrelazados tan estrechamente que no se pueden remediar por separado. Los problemas de la tenencia de la tierra y su utilización, de las industrias básicas y de la vulnerabilidad hacia factores externos, son facetas de un problema mayor: Las ramificaciones políticas y económicas de la función dominante en toda la región, que es la exportación de materias primas bajo términos y condiciones dictados desde el exterior.

El "florecimiento óptimo" que hemos estudiado y la crisis que engendró, indican con suficiente claridad que la economía latinoamericana ha llegado a la coyuntura donde la eliminación de la dependencia neocolonial debe ser situada en la agenda y con ello el abandono del tratamiento espontáneo del subdesarrollo. Sólo sobre esta base será posible adoptar los objetivos sociales y los métodos económicos racionales que requiere un ataque victorioso contra el subdesarrollo.[13]

4.—A partir del 1955, en los Estados Unidos el ritmo de aumento medio anual del producto per cápita ha sido de alrededor del 1%. Para una mayor comprensión del ritmo de Latinoamérica, es interesante hacer notar que en el período que estamos considerando ha sido más elevado que en el conjunto de los países subdesarrollados del Sudeste de Asia, pero mucho menor que en los países socialistas del Este de Europa, en donde, según las apreciaciones más conservadoras, el aumento per cápita de los bienes materiales, con toda seguridad ha promediado más del 7% anual en todos los países y en algunos hasta el 10%. Economic Survey of Europe, 1956. Naciones Unidas, 1957, Capitulo II, pág. 2). De 1957 a 1959, cuando el desarrollo de Latinoamérica se paralizó, "el promedio anual del ritmo de desarrollo llegó al 17%" [15% per cápita] para todos los países socialistas y el 10% en la Unión Soviética [9% per cápita]" de acuerdo con un informe de N. El ritmo de expansión global fue de 4.5% por año, pero la inmigración elevó el aumento de la población a 3.2% anual. Ritmos de desarrollo elevados, por supuesto, se registraron en algunos países de tiempo en tiempo, pero solamente por breves períodos.

7.—El PBN a precios de mercado, es uno de los dos sistemas más comprensibles para apreciar la actividad económica; el otro es la renta nacional, que estima la producción expresada en términos de ganancias derivadas del PBN. La CEPAL de la cual hemos obtenido la mayor parte de nuestras estadísticas, considera que para Latinoamérica "los cambios en el producto bruto per cápita, expresado por los precios constantes de un año específico, es el método más satisfactorio y práctico para apreciar el ritmo del desarrollo económico". La CEPAL define el "ingreso bruto" para la región como "equivalente al producto bruto... más o menos las ganancias o las pérdidas netas resultantes de cambios en los términos del intercambio" y, por tanto, menos revelador del "éxito de los esfuerzos constructivos". Economic Bulletin for Latin America, United Nations, Vol. 1, No. 2, Septiembre 1956, pág. 30. De 1945 a 1955, el aumento promedio anual per cápita de los ingresos fue cerca del 22% mayor que el del PBN; de 1955-58 fue un 50% menor.

13.—Las importaciones son también financiadas con inversiones y préstamos extranjeros, pero aún durante el período en que el flujo de capital extranjero pueda temporalmente exceder el reflujo, bajo la forma de utilidades, intereses y amortizaciones, las existencias de divisas resultantes representan solamente una fracción de las divisas acumuladas mediante las ganancias de las exportaciones. Así, en el período de tres años, de 1954 a 1956, cuando el flujo de capitales extranjeros posterior a la guerra alcanzó su nivel máximo en Latinoamérica —flujo neto de aproximadamente 2,000 millones de dólares— constituyó el 8% del valor total de las exportaciones, 24,000 millones de dólares en cifras redondas.

14.—"...de fines del siglo XIX a las vísperas de la segunda guerra mundial... como promedio, una determinada cantidad de bienes primarios exportados pagarían, al final del período, solamente el 60% de la cantidad de bienes elaborados que ellos hubieran podido pagar al comienzo del período". 16.—El Mercado Común Latinoamericano, pág. 47. En los principales países exportadores del Sudeste de Asia, en conjunto, las condiciones del intercambio por término medio mejoraron sólo ligeramente de 1948-54, después de lo cual se produjo una tendencia al empeoramiento (Economic Survey of Asia and the Far East 1959, Naciones Unidas, 1960, pág. 63).

17.—El nivel de precios de los bienes de capital refleja muy probablemente el hecho de que un número considerable de las importaciones correspondió a las empresas extranjeras que operan en Latinoamérica. "Los precios en las transacciones internas de las compañías no reflejan genuinamente los precios del mercado; el embarcador y el destinatario no tienen intereses opuestos. El único efecto de los débitos cargados a las subsidiarias que operan en el extranjero por concepto de equipos... embarcados a los mismos, es un débito en los libros de contabilidad; las utilidades se cambian entre la compañía matriz y sus subsidiarias en el extranjero... El lugar donde se percibe un balance ventajoso depende de... los índices relativos del impuesto de utilidades", derechos de importación, etc. (Post-War Price Relations, etc., pág. 126). Ya que las operaciones de las subsidiarias o ramas de compañías extranjeras de Latinoamérica están estadísticamente integradas en el conjunto de la actuación económica de la región, en este sentido, sus manipulaciones con los precios de las importaciones no alteran el significado de los términos fluctuales del intercambio. De otra parte, no se puede excluir el hecho de que en algunas de las repúblicas la mejoría de los términos del intercambio benefició más a los inversionistas extranjeros que a las empresas nacionales. Vea Ibid, pág. 111.

18.—Los índices siguientes, aplicados al conjunto de la región, muestran la evolución de los precios de las exportaciones y de las importaciones y las condiciones del intercambio (obtenidos dividendo los índices de los precios de las exportaciones entre los índices de los precios de las importaciones) de 1955-59:

20.—De no indicarse lo contrario, las estadísticas concernientes a los países en particular, han sido tomadas o computadas de las ediciones anuales del Economic Survey of Latin America de las Naciones Unidas. Las cifras del PBN, convertidas por esta publicación en dólares de 1950, han sido reconvertidas en dólares de 1957, con un incremento del 14%. Todos los aumentos o disminuciones en los porcentajes del PBN han sido calculados sobre la base de dólares de valor constante.

21.—En 1957, en adición a la Argentina y Venezuela, PBN per cápita superiores al promedio de la región, se atribuyen a Uruguay, Cuba, Costa Rica y Panamá.

22.—Ver también la nota 17.

23.—Para los países más atrasados, como Haití, Bolivia y Paraguay, cuya población en conjunto es menos del 5% del total de Latinoamérica, irregularidades y deficiencias estadísticas hacen extremadamente difícil aún adivinar a cuanto asciende el PBN per cápita. En Bolivia, p. e., no se efectuó ningún censo entre 1900 y 1950. De acuerdo con el último, el PBN per cápita de Bolivia se estimó ligeramente superior a 80 dólares. Probablemente disminuyó algo durante los últimos siete años. Vea Análisis y Proyecciones del Desarrollo Económico. IV. El Desarrollo Económico de Bolivia, Naciones Unidas, 1958, pág. 17.

24.—Al proponer el Mercado Común Latinoamericano como una solución urgente a los problemas de desarrollo posteriores a 1957, el desarrollo para 1975 se proyecta sobre las bases de dos ritmos de aumento anual alternativos del PBN per cápita: 2% y 2.75%. Estos ritmos, así como el papel asignado al Mercado Común, cuando se constituya, para promover el desarrollo, parecen muy poco reales. Véase El Mercado Común Latinoamericano, Passim.

25.—La diferencia sería considerablemente mayor si las cifras de producción per cápita fueran comparadas. En 1955-56, la producción de acero en Latinoamérica fue un 40% menor que el consumo. Desde 1950, el consumo ha aumentado con mayor rapidez que la producción. (Economic Survey of Latin America 1958). Naciones Unidas 1959, pág. 81).

26.—El Mercado Común Latinoamericano, pág. 62. El PBN per cápita de todos los países ha sido convertido en dólares de 1955 cuando fue necesario.

27.—Durante 1955-57, el promedio anual per cápita del consumo de cobre en Latinoamérica fue de 0.4 kilogramos; la cifra comparable para los Estados Unidos fue de 7.0 kilogramos; para Inglaterra 9.0, para Francia 4.3 y para Austria 3.5 (ibid). El consumo per cápita de energía, en el equivalente de millones de toneladas métricas de hulla (redondeadas) fue como sigue: América Latina 600; Austria 1.900; Francia 2.400; Inglaterra 4.700; y los Estados Unidos, 7.600. 41.—Economic Survey of Latin America 1957, pág. 66. Para un país dado y en un año determinado, la pérdida pudiera ser proporcionalmente mucho mayor, como en el caso del Ecuador, p. e., donde en el año 1957, el drenaje representó más del 20% de las ganancias por concepto de exportaciones. (Ibid, pág 76).

42.—Las remisiones brutas de intereses y utilidades fueron de 1.345 millones de dólares (Ibid. p. 66); las importaciones de maquinaria industrial se estimaron en 1940 millones de dólares (Economic Survey of Latin America 1958, pág. 52); el porcentaje de las inversiones se calcula aproximadamente igual al de 1954-56, según cálculos del Mercado Común Latinoamericano, pág. 60.

43.—The Political Economy of Growth — op. cit. pág. 19. Baran también cita la siguiente observación provechosa de Economic Survey of Europe since the War, 1953, pág. 25, publicación de las Naciones Unidas: "En los países del Este de Europa, los servicios no conectados directamente con la producción y el transporte de mercancías no se consideran como productivos y su valor se excluye de los ingresos nacionales [el producto]. Para un país pobre que está tratando de desarrollar su industria y de reducir el subempleo común en las ocupaciones de servicio, la definición marxista de renta nacional [producto] tiene naturalmente algunas ventajas sobre el concepto más amplio adaptado a las economías ricas, industrializadas, y que actualmente se aplica de manera común a los países subdesarrollados.

53.—El sector minero, que es manejado casi exclusivamente por extranjeros, registró un incremento aún mayor que la elaboración, pero ello se debió casi exclusivamente a la extracción de petróleo crudo de Venezuela. Excluyendo el petróleo, el promedio de aumento per cápita sería menor que el incremento del PBN en conjunto (Economic Bulletin for Latin America, CEPAL, Santiago de Chile, vol. 4, No. 1, Marzo de 1959, pág. 49). Incluyendo el petróleo, la participación de la minería en el PBN de Latinoamérica se elevó aproximadamente del 3.5% en 1945 al 5% en 1957.

54.—Con propósitos de comparación, es interesante hacer notar que durante el mismo período aproximadamente, en los países menos desarrollados del campo socialista, la proporción del PBN (bienes materiales) representada por la producción industrial, aumentó más rápidamente y alcanzó en general más altos niveles. Hacia 1958-59, se levó de 40.5 a 66.6% en Rumania; 24.8 a 70.6% en Bulgaria; 9.8 a 55.7% en Albania; 28 a 71% en la República Democrática Popular de Corea; 10 al 37.1% en la República Democrática de Viet-Nam (New Times, Moscú, Edición Inglesa, No. 51, 1960, pág. 6).

La producción de lingotes de acero, ácido sulfúrico, alcalís sódicos y cemento, alcanzaron un aumento superior al doble durante el período 1950-57 (Economic Bulletin for Latin America, vol. 4, No. 1, Marzo de 1959, págs. 51, 54).

67.—"A primera vista puede parecer que este incremento en los servicios personales es el mismo fenómeno que ocurre en los países más desarrollados, donde según aumentan los ingresos per cápita la demanda por servicios especializados altamente remunerados es muy elástica. Sin embargo, este no parece ser el caso de... [América Latina] donde los servicios personales pobremente remunerados prevalecen y el exceso de trabajadores que no puede ser absorbido por otras ocupaciones... se oculta de esta manera... En segundo lugar... la clase media, que no puede encontrar una ocupación productiva en actividades económicas privadas, ejerce una presión constante sobre el sector público, el cual evidentemente... debe cumplir una función de absorción de no poca significación social". (Economic Survey of Latin America 1954. Naciones Unidas 1955, págs, 26-27).

68.—El mercado Común Latinoamericano, pág. 45.

69.—An International Economy, New York, 1956, pág. 62. Como se indica en nuestro cuadro, de 1945 a 1957 el coeficiente de inversiones fijas brutas para el conjunto de Latinoamérica fluctuó alrededor de un promedio de un 17% del PBN. En algunos círculos se considera ésta una cifra respetable, especialmente cuando se compara con la gran mayoría de los países subdesarrollados del Sudeste de Asia, donde el coeficiente usualmente es menor del 10%. Esta comparación, sin embargo, lo que hace es señalar lo extremadamente bajo del promedio de formación de capitales en el Sudeste de Asia, en lugar de indicar que en América Latina es adecuado. En 1955, p. e., el coeficiente para ambos, los Estados Unidos y Latinoamérica, fue aproximadamente 17%. Esto significó un promedio de inversiones per cápita de 370 dólares en los Estados Unidos en comparación con 55 dólares en Latinoamérica, es decir, en proporción inversa a las necesidades relativas de desarrollo de las dos regiones. Debe notarse también que el coeficiente neto de inversiones en Latinoamérica ha sido de alrededor del 12%. Como sugiere Simon Kuznets (Economic Growth: Brasil, India, Japan, Durham, N. C., E. U. A. 1955, pág. 23)., en los países desarrollados la obsolescencia ejerce una gran función en el consumo de capitales, mientras el empeoramiento físico es el factor principal en los países subdesarrollados. De aquí... "que la comparación propia desde el punto de vista del desarrollo económico, puede establecerse entre la formación bruta de capitales en un país industrial desarrollado y la formación neta en un país subdesarrollado". Si consideramos también la dudosa contribución al desarrollo de Latinoamérica de las inversiones en actividades puramente extractivas y construcción de residencias de lujo, aparece claramente que el problema de formación de capitales en esta región es indudablemente formidable.

Del Cuadro 35, "Cost of Living in Selected Countries", Economic Bulletin for Latin America, vol. 3, Nº 2, Octubre de 1958, pág. 81. En la mayoría de los países, los índices han continuado en aumento. En Brasil, en Diciembre de 1960 el nivel fue más del doble del de 1957 (Monde, Febrero 2 de 1961).

83.—The Acumulation of Capital, Londres, 1956, pág. 8.

84.—Otto Feinstein (op. cit., pág. 76) mantiene que América Latina "es la región subdesarrollada que ofrece mejores posibilidades al capitalismo". Aparte de perspectivas mundiales a largo plazo, las posibilidades no son brillantes en ninguna parte del mundo y son particularmente reducidas en América Latina. En las regiones que emergen de una dominación colonial directa, los poderes coloniales frecuentemente se ajustan al cambio manteniendo sus posiciones económicas principales bajo la forma de arreglos neocoloniales; este factor desalienta los experimentos no capitalistas. Además, dada la base económica extremadamente baja, puede operarse algún desarrollo inicial, aunque lento, a través de una combinación de capitalismo privado y capitalismo de Estado. En el conjunto de Latinoamérica el colonialismo directo pasó hace mucho y un desarrollo apreciable del capitalismo nativo, incluyendo el de Estado, se ha operado bajo condiciones neocoloniales. Sectores capitalistas decisivos en manos de inversionistas nacionales, como la banca y la gran industria, el comercio y el transporte, dependen en un grado significativo de las importaciones y del financiamiento extranjero. También dependen del aparato neocolonial de gobierno para defender sus intereses de clase frente a los asalariados. Sus prerrogativas económicas, políticas y sociales, aunque limitadas por el neo-colonialismo, se basan en el mismo. La crisis del neocolonialismo en Latinoamérica es también le crisis del capitalismo nacional y consecuentemente la eliminación del primero, especialmente si resiste tozudamente, como el caso de la experiencia cubana predice, produciría la eliminación del segundo, por lo menos en los sectores básicos de la producción. Tales perspectivas son, desde luego, alentadas por el hecho de que en la sexta década del siglo XX demasiadas personas en América Latina conocen que existe una alternativa mucho más expeditiva y rápida que el desarrollo capitalista.

HALPERIN, Maurice Hyman
Traveled to the USSR in October 1958

Prepared by CI Staff for State Nov. 60

The following is SECRET:

On 15 July 1960 Maurice Hyman HALPERIN and his wife, Edith Frisch HALPERIN applied at the United States Embassy in Moscow, USSR for a renewal of their passports. HALPERIN is reported to have stated that he had been in the USSR since December 1958 as a visiting professor of the Social Sciences Division of the USSR Academy of Sciences on a contract which expires in 1961. In 1948 Elisabeth BENTLEY, an admitted former Soviet espionage agent, stated that she had become acquainted with HALPERIN in the latter part of 1942 through arrangements made by Jacob GOLOS, a known Soviet espionage agent. She further stated that during the time HALPERIN was employed by the Office of Strategic Services in Washington, D. C., he supplied GOLOS with information to which he had access in his office. In late 1953 HALPERIN left the United States for Mexico after refusing on constitutional grounds to tell the U. S. Senate Internal Sub-Committee whether he was ever a member of the Communist Party. In 1958, following the efforts made by the Government of Mexico to deport a number of American Communists, HALPERIN and his wife went to the USSR where they now reside.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

1. On 5 September 1960 an article appeared in The Washington Post and Times Herald in which Maurice Hyman HALPERIN was quoted as saying that the statement issued by the United States Department of State concerning his employment by the Soviet Government was a "deliberate and malicious distortion". HALPERIN was also quoted as saying that he was associated with the Academy of Sciences of the USSR, working on a book on Latin American economics from 1945 to the "crisis" in 1958. HALPERIN added that he is "not working for the Soviet Government any more than Van Cliburn when he performed in a government owned concert hall".

2. According to Mr. Lloyd Frank JORDAN, Office of Scientific Intelligence (OSI), 2618 Barton Hall, extension 4201, the Academy of Sciences of the USSR is directly subordinate to the USSR Council of Ministers and it receives broad directive for work to be undertaken by the Academy from the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the USSR. Mr. JORDAN stated that anyone associated with the Academy of Sciences of the USSR would be in the employ of the Soviet Government. Mr. JORDAN said that there are two studies showing the relationship of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR to the Soviet Government; one is OCI-5613/59 which is classified, and the other a study issued by the U.S. Senate Committee on Government Operations on "National Policy Machinery in the USSR" which is unclassified.

Halperin Denies Giving Reds Advice on Latins

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (AP)—Maurice H. Halperin, former United States Government official who now lives in Moscow, yesterday accused the State Department of issuing a "deliberate and malicious distortion" about his status here.

In a typewritten statement, Mr. Halperin said:

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow . . . I am a visiting professor at the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it."

Last week Senator Keating, Republican of New York, read into the Congressional Record a State Department document which said Mr. Halperin is now in Moscow and is "working for the Soviet government."

Headed OSS Unit

The document said there were indications Mr. Halperin is giving the Soviet government advice on Latin-American affairs. During World War II, Mr. Helperin was head of the Latin American division of the United States Office of Strategic Services, an intelligence organization.

After the war, Mr. Halperin got a job with Boston University as a professor. He lost this job in 1953 because he refused to tell congressional investigators whether he ever had been a member of the American Communist Party.

The bald, mustached 54-year-old Mr. Halperin was located Sunday in a Moscow apartment house by a newsman and was asked to comment on the State Department's document.

Declines to Elaborate

(Moscow reported there were "technical difficulties" in moving the story until Monday. The newsman apparently was cut off while trying to telephone the story.)

Mr. Halperin first declined to admit the newsman into his apartment, but agreed to meet him later in the lobby of a nearby hotel where he promised to give a written statement.

Mr. Halperin appeared punctually at the agreed hour. He carried the following statement, on which he declined to elaborate:

"It seems to me that the State Department and Senator Keating are scraping the bottom of the barrel to come up with this stale red herring.

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival I have filed two United States income tax returns, listing my salary and employer. I am not working for the Soviet government any more than Van Cliburn (an American pianist) when he performs in a government-owned concert hall.

"I am a visiting professor at the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it, as some of our leading scientists can testify. My appointment and my Soviet visa expires in July, 1961, as the United States Embassy here very well knows.

"My teaching and resource activities involve theoretical problems related to the economic growth of underdeveloped areas. For the State Department to say that I am 'advising the Russians on Latin-American affairs' is a deliberate and malicious distortion.

"Specifically, I am making a study of the Latin-American economy from 1945 to the crisis of 1958. When my book is published it will be available to the State Department and anybody else willing to purchase a copy."

The United States Embassy declined to comment on the statement or on Mr. Halperin's status. It did say he appeared at the embassy in July and asked to have his American passport renewed. The request was granted, an embassy official said.

Halperin Says Reds Not Not Employ Him

MOSCOW, Sept. 4 (UPI) Maurice H. Halperin today branded a reported State Department statement that he is working as an adviser to the Soviet government on Latin American affairs as a "deliberate and malicious distortion."

In a statement to reporters, Halperin said he is a professor associated with the Academy of Sciences of the USSR, working on a book on Latin American economics, and, he explained, the American authorities know all about it.

(A State Department document in Washington last week said Halperin, a former Boston University professor and World War II intelligence specialist on Latin American affairs, was working for the Soviet government.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.), had the document entered in the Congressional Record.)

"It seems to me that the State Department and Senator Keating are sweeping the bottom of the barrel to come up with this red herring," Halperin said.

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival, I have filed two U. S. income tax returns, listing my salary and employer.

"I am not working for the Soviet government any more than Van Cliburn when he performed in a government-owned concert hall," he continued.

"I am a visiting professor in the USSR Academy of Sciences, and not the first American to be associated with it. For the State of Department to say that I am an adviser to the Russians on Latin-American affairs is a deliberate and malicious distortion.

FORMER U. S. AIDE AT WORK IN SOVIET

Ex-Boston U. Professor Was in O.S.S. in World War II

By JACK RAYMOND
Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 — The State Department has disclosed that a former United States Intelligence official is in Moscow working for the Soviet Government.

He is Dr. Maurice Halperin, a former Boston University professor who was head of the Latin American Division of the Office of Strategic Services during World War II.

Dr. Halperin was dismissed from Boston University in 1954 after he refused to say whether he was a Communist. He has been linked in testimony before Senate investigators to a Soviet spy ring.

The State Department's disclosure was contained in a memorandum in support of a proposed law to deny passports to persons supporting international communism.

The Supreme Court ruled in 1958 that passports could not be denied to Communists or others because of their political beliefs.

Dr. Halperin and his wife, Edith, were then in Mexico City, the State Department noted. They had been linked to the escape behind the Iron Curtain of Alfred K. and Martha Dodd Stern, who were under Federal indictment for espionage.

After the Supreme Court ruling, the Halperins applied to the United States Embassy in Mexico City for passports and left Mexico Oct. 13, 1958. At the time, the State Department noted, they were about to be deported from Mexico for Communist activities.

Reports that Dr. Halperin was working for the Soviet Government in Moscow were confirmed last July 15, the State Department memorandum went on, when he and his wife appeared at the embassy to renew their passports.

Embassy officials reported that they had been told by Dr. Halperin that he and his wife had been in the Soviet Union since December, 1958, and that he was working for the Soviet Academy of Sciences "doing research in the foreign field, especially relating to underdeveloped countries."

The State Department, recalling that Dr. Halperin was an authority on Latin-American affairs, added that "our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time."

State Department officials have repeatedly called attention to the Soviet trade and cultural offensive in Latin America.

Referring to Dr. Haleprin's employment by the Soviet Academy, the State Department observed that it was directly subordinate to the Soviet Council of Ministers.

Requested by Keating

The memorandum was prepared at the request of Senator Kenneth B. Keating, Republican of New York. He and Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut, are sponsoring a bill that seeks to restore some of the State Department's authority to deny passports.

Senator Keating, who entered the memorandum in The Congressional Record of Aug. 16, expressed regret at the time that his bill was not likely to be passed in this session of Congress. President Eisenhower and State Department officials have backed the purpose of the measure.

Meanwhile, Representative Francis E. Walter, Democrat of Pennsylvania and chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activity, said he had ordered a month-long preliminary investigation into the case of two missing employes of the National Security Agency.

The two employes of the top-secret coding agency, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin, are alleged to home taken valuable secrets to the Soviet Union.

Representative Walter said that he understood that one of the missing men had made enquiries in their agency about the U-2 reconnaissance plane flight over the Soviet Union before it took place on May 1.

Mr. Walter said that he was convinced that the Soviet had had advance knowledge of the flight. Francis Gary Powers, the U-2 pilot, was downed in the Soviet Union and subsequently sentenced to ten years detention.

Refused to Appear

BOSTON, Aug. 31—Dr. Halperin was officially dismissed from the faculty of Boston University on Jan. 6, 1954. He had refused a summons to appear before a university committee of review to discuss his case.

Dr. Harold C. Case, president of the university, telephoned Dr. Halperin in Mexico City offering to pay his expenses to Boston and return. But the professor declined. He had been chairman of the university's Latin-American regional studies.

The State Department says that Maurice H. Halperin, a former United States Government official linked by Senate investigators to Soviet espionage activities, apparently is serving now as a Latin-American adviser to the Russians.

Halperin was head of the Latin-American Division of the Office of Strategic Services during the latter part of World War II and later an associate professor at Boston University. Before the war, he had been on the faculty of the University of Oklahoma.

In 1954 he was dismissed by Boston University after Senate investigators received testimony linking him to a Soviet spy ring and he refused to answer a question as to whether he was a Communist.

The latest information on Halperin's whereabouts is contained in a report compiled by the State Department about persons to whom it has been compelled to issue passports under a 1958 decision of the Supreme Court.

The Court held that the Department lacks authority to deny passports to Communists or to other persons because of their political beliefs.

After the ruling, Halperin applied for a passport at the American Embassy in Mexico City, where he had gone after being dismissed by Boston University, and used it to leave Mexico on Oct. 13, 1958.

The State Department said that shortly after Halperin and his wife departed from Mexico it received information that he was employed in Moscow by the Soviet Union.

"This was confirmed on July 15, 1960, when the Halperins appeared at the American Embassy in Moscow and presented their U. S. passports for renewal," the Department's report said, adding:

"Halperin stated that he had been in the U.S.S.R. since December, 1958, and that he is employed by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences where he is doing research in the foreign field, specially, relating to undeveloped countries."

The Department recalled that Halperin was something of an authority on Latin-American affairs and said, "Our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time."

Ex-OSS Official Works For Reds in Moscow

A former Boston University professor, who once was a high official in the OSS, has turned up in Moscow working for the Soviet government.

The professor, Dr. Maurice H. Halperin, fled this country seven years ago after an inquiry into his Communist background.

According to the State Department, he probably is advising Soviet officials on Latin American affairs, an area in which he is expert.

Prof. Halperin was suspended by Boston University in 1953 after he refused, on constitutional grounds, to tell a Senate subcommittee whether he had ever been a Communist Party member.

According to the State Department, he had previously been involved in Soviet espionage in wartime Washington. He had been named by Elizabeth Terril Bentley, admitted former spy courier, as one of her sources of supply among Government officials.

Intrigue in Mexico

And since 1953, Dr. Halperin has been involved in still more intrigue as an "exile" in Mexico. It was he, for example, who assisted two suspected spies in their flight from Mexico to Czechoslovakia to avoid United States extradition proceedings.

On July 15, 1960, Dr. Halperin and his wife, Edith, appeared at the United States Embassy in Moscow to present their United States passports for renewal.

All this was disclosed in a State Department memorandum prepared for Senator Keating, Republican of New York, who has been urging the passage of Eisenhower-supported legislation empowering the department to deny passports to active participants in Soviet skullduggery.

The memorandum, citing "cases where passports have had to be issued to known Communists," devoted considerable attention to the case of Dr. Halperin. It was obvious on the basis of the information contained in his dossier that the State Department had been keeping an eye on the former professor's movements for some time.

Fired in Oklahoma

From 1931 to 1941, Dr. Halperin—a Harvard University graduate—had been a professor at the University of Oklahoma. According to the record, it was in this period that he directed Communist activities in Oklahoma and, on repeated visits to Mexico, conferred with Mexican Red leaders. On one visit to Cuba in 1935, he and other leftwingers had been arrested by Cuban authorities and expelled from the country.

In 1941, much of this was disclosed in an investigation conducted by an Oklahoma State legislative committee. The committee, investigating subversive activities in Oklahoma, produced information that in 1940 Dr. Halperin had cashed a check for $436 drawn on the Bank of Foreign Trade in Moscow. As a result, Dr. Halperin was dismissed from the University of Oklahoma.

Despite this record, Dr. Halperin managed to enter Government service. Employed as chief of the Latin American division of the Office of Strategic Services (the OSS was then the United States Civilian Intelligence-Gathering Agency), he later was transferred to the State Department. In both agencies, according to the Elizabeth Bentley testimony, he transmitted confidential documents to a Soviet spy ring.

Linked to Spy Ring

In 1949, he became head of the Latin American regional students section at Boston University's College of Liberal Arts.

A year later, he was first publicly identified as a member of a Soviet spy ring. This came about when Vice President Nixon, then a California Congressman, made known a top secret memorandum on espionage transmitted by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to the White House on November 8, 1945.

In March, 1953, in Boston's Federal Building, Dr. Halperin repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment when—in a hearing conducted by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee—he refused to reply to various questions concerning his alleged Communist activities.

In November, 1953, Dr. Halperin and his wife, without notifying the university, left their home in the middle of the night never to return. Turning up in Mexico, they became members of the American Communist group in Mexico.

Like most ACGM members, the Halperins did well. They invested in an ice cream company, dabbled in real estate, and obtained jobs. Dr. Halperin was employed by the Mexican government as a financial consultant and his wife taught in the American School Foundation.

They also became friendly with Alfred K. Stern and his wife, the former Martha Dodd, daughter of a former United States Ambassador to Germany. The fact the Sterns had been implicated in Soviet espionage came out with the arrest in New York of Jack Soble, a Soviet agent. To avoid being extradited to the United States to testify before a special grand jury on their associations with Soble and "the double agent Boris Morros," the Sterns fled to Czechoslovakia in July, 1957.

Dr. Halperin, described as being "intimately involved in their plans for escape," had obtained airline reservations for the Sterns under other names. As a result, the Mexican government was considering his case for deportation. On October 12, 1958, the Halperins left Mexico, having obtained plane reservations in the names of other persons.

In Russia Since 1958

The State Department memorandum concludes:

"We received information shortly after Halperin's departure from Mexico that he was employed in Moscow by the USSR. This was confirmed on July 15, 1960, when the Halperins appeared at the American Embassy in Moscow and presented their United States passports for renewal.

"Halperin stated that he had been in the USSR since December, 1958, and that he is employed by the Soviet Academy of Sciences where he is doing research . . . relating to underdeveloped countries.

"It will be recalled that Halperin is something of an authority on Latin American affairs. Our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time.

"The Soviet Academy of Sciences is directly subordinate to the Council of Ministers."

Dearest Margaret & family,

We missed all of you when you left. Even now we often look up at your window hoping you still may be there.

Thanks for thinking of David. He bought a guitar - has been playing folk tunes since.

We are well. It's hot and dusty here now, but we manage. Our apt's fine. Our trip of 7 days at Leningrad was most delightful. It's a real interesting city and the Hermitage comes real close to the Louvre.

David got notice to day he passed the first half - 6 - all he took - of his National Medical Board exams. He made 78 - 75's passing, we are pleased.

What's new with all of you. How's the weather? How did you enjoy Paris. We did get your book from London & gave it to the Doctor. Saw the clipping in London Paper. Congratulations!!

Love from all of us -

Edith.

Federal Bureau of Investigation
Attention: Mr. S. J. Papich

SUBJECT : Maurice Hyman HALPERIN
Espionage - R
Bureau File Number 65-14303

1. This office has learned through a sensitive source of known reliability that, for many years, Maurice Hyman HALPERIN has been acquainted with a Dr. Marc JAIMA who had an office at 55 bis rue de la Convention, Paris 15, France.

2. On 12 February 1960 we learned through a delicate source who has provided reliable information in the past that Marc JAIMA, M. D., a naturalized French citizen, born on 29 December 1906 in Ismail, Rumania, resides with his family at 55 bis rue de la Convention, Paris 15. His wife, Ernestine Monique JAIMA, nee SEGAL, was born in Paris on 30 January 1913. A son, Serge JAIMA, was born on 7 October 1940 in Charenton-le-Pont, Seine, France. This source had no derogatory information on JAIMA.

3. According to our records, a Dr. M. JAIMA, living at 55 bis rue de la Convention, Paris 15, was a member of the "Comite d'Initiative" (organizing committee) of MRAP (le Movement Contre le Racisme, l'Anti-Semitisme et Pour la Paix - Movement Against Racism, Anti-Semitism and for Peace), a Communist front organization formed in 1949 to promote Communism among Jewish elements. However, our records fail to show any continued record of activity in this organization on the part of JAIMA.

1. It has come to our attention through a sensitive source of known reliability that Maurice Hyman HALPERIN, a former member of our predecessor organization, apparently has known the following individual for a number of years:

Dr. Marc *JAINA
74 Avenue Gastob Boissier
Viroflay (Seine et Oise), France

Office address c 1945
55 bis rue de la Convention
Paris 15, France

2. HALPERIN, who is residing in the USSR at the present time, is of continuing interest to us because of his prior connection with our predecessor organization and the Department of State and because of his association with known Soviet agents including Martha Dodd STERN and her husband, Alfred K. STERN. In the summer of 1959 HALPERIN's son, Charles (Carlos) David *HALPERIN, who is generally known as David HALPERIN (born 5 May 1937, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma), visited the JAINA family in Paris en route to and from the USSR to see his parents. It is believed that he was in Paris c 25-30 June 1959 and again in the latter part of August 1959.

3. We would appreciate having you attempt to obtain information on JAINA through your independent sources. We prefer not to disclose to your liaison services our knowledge of HALPERIN's connection with the JAINA family because of the sensitivity of our source. However, we would have no objection to your querying your liaison services for information on David HALPERIN based upon the attached newspaper clipping. David HALPERIN is now in Chicago, Illinois where he is studying medicine. Maurice HALPERIN attended the Universite de Paris c 1929-1931.

Red Asylum in Mexico . . By Roscoe Drummond

Foreign Communists Find It a Safe Operating Base

MEXICO CITY—Foreign Communists continue to find Mexico an easy and valuable base from which to operate—and they are operating on a large scale today.

Drummond

Mexico provides not only a welcome haven when things get too hot at home—there are at least 100 Communist families from the United States here right now—but also a strategic spot from which to mount subversive activities throughout the western hemisphere.

For years the Mexican government has given safe harbor for foreign Communists—as well as revolutionaries of the extreme right—on the theory that it was applying the respected and humane concept of asylum for those suffering political persecution.

Mexican leaders and intellectuals greatly pride themselves that their country offers asylum so freely and so unquestioningly and there is no evidence that the new government will change this policy in any important particular.

What Mexican leaders do not choose to recognize is that there is a vast difference between providing asylum for those who are persecuted and providing asylum for those who use this privilege to prepare persecution against others.

THIS IS the way the great [illegible] tradition of political asylum is being abused here today. The record is perfectly clear on that.

For five years Mexico harbored some 100 to 150 Venezuelan Communist leaders assembled under the direction of the Soviet Embassy. They carried on subversion against their country from within Mexico and the dangerous rise of communism in Venezuela came from services rendered while Mexico was making it safe for them to operate. They have now made their way back to Venezuela.

There is a group of at least 80 Guatemalan Communists who are doing the same thing and are waiting only the timely moment to return.

Occasionally a foreign Communist violates his "asylum" so blatantly that he runs afoul of the law here or elsewhere. This is what happened to Jose Manuel Fortuny, the Secretary General of the Communist Party in Guatemala, who has been operating freely here for some time. He obtained a false Mexican passport to go to Moscow a few weeks ago, but this became known and had to be discarded. He started his return trip by way of Rio de Janeiro and was picked up by the alert Brazilian police for presenting another false passport.

THE ADULT United States Communist population here hovers around 200 most of the time. Once in a while a U. S. Communist, as in the recent case of Gus Hall, is given over to U. S. authorities. But this is a rarity. When Communist Albert S. Stern whose wife is Communist Martha Dodd Stern, was wanted to testify in the Soble Soviet spy case, he was sheltered safely here. They both made off for Prague, where they were lately joined by Maurice Halperin, a former Boston University teacher who was also living here—and now all three are ready for future assignments.

Moscow maintains a busy and bulging embassy in Mexico City, one of its largest in the western hemisphere, to direct and energize subversive operations. There are 128 adults on the embassy list and 48 children. Wives do their embassy chores whether they are accredited or not.

The clandestine character of much of the Soviet embassy's role here is illustrated by its extremely tight operations. It does not permit itself to employ a single Mexican national to do even the most menial caretaking work. A Mexican isn't allowed even to polish the knob on the outside of the front door. It uses only ten non-Soviet employes and these are Communists imported from Spain. All ten speak Russian fluently.

Even the education of the children of the embassy staff is carried on inside the embassy walls and no Mexican teachers are employed.

The Soviet embassy has ten officers on its military staff among whom are three naval captains—this in a country whose navy is virtually nonexistent. This staff is obviously more concerned with what military secrets it can procure from the United States than from Mexico, particularly since the border is so easy to cross by agents who serve the Soviets here in Mexico.

Listed below are the names of persons or companies with whom Subject and/or his wife have been in correspondence during the period 17 August to 23 October 1959. For your information only, a photocopy of each item is attached. Since the following correspondence was obtained from a highly sensitive source, information contained herein should not be disseminated outside of your Bureau.

1. Correspondence with Ed MALTZ, 27 E. 72th Street, New York 21. (Attachment I)

   a) In a short letter postmarked 14 September 1959 the writer asks Subject and his wife to send a note to "Aunt Marg", at Forest Hills Nursing Home, Yellowstone Blvd., Forest Hills, N.Y. Enclosed with the letter is a small newspaper clipping, apparently to point out that Paul NEWMAN will do Exodus.

   b) A personal letter from "Ed", with no return address, is postmarked New York City. Enclosed with the letter is a copy of the first page of the Sports Section from the 27 September 1959 issue of the New York Times.

   c) An unsigned personal letter, bearing no return address, is postmarked New York City and addressed to Miss Kathy MALTZ. Ed MALTZ is apparently planning to visit Mexico during December. He enclosed a newspaper clipping, concerning actors who are taking part in the film production of Exodus, for delivery to Subject.

a) In a personal letter dated 17 August 1959, addressed to Margaret MALTZ and signed by "Maxim," one paragraph reads: "You may have been joking when you spoke of 'delirious crowds who greeted Nixon.' The fact, alas, is that the crowds were less [illegible] enthusiastic, DESPITE THE FACT THAT [illegible] IN THE NEWSPAPERS AND THE RADIO ANNOUNCED THE HOUR OF THE ARRIVAL AND THE ROUTE TO BE TAKEN. The Poles still feel closer to the USA than to the USSR. After all, they have millions of kinsfolk in the States who send them food or clothing or money."

b) MALTZ forwarded a letter dated 14 September 1959, which had been addressed to [illegible], at Apartado 21378 in Mexico City, from Harcourt, Brace and Co., Inc., publishers, 750 Third Ave., New York. The letter, signed by Lisa M. MAYER, of the School Textbook Department, requests LIEBER's permission to reprint "A Shipment of Mute Fate" by Martin STORM, adapted for radio by Les CRUTCHFIELD.

c) A letter dated 24 September 1959 from "Maxim" is addressed to Subject's wife. LIEBER is glad to learn that Bart FLES, New York literary agent, has no objection to LIEBER's handling [illegible] [illegible] in a Cold [illegible] for possible Polish publication. [illegible] cannot understand why Subject's wife should wish to disguise herself by using the pen name "Eugenio Pol[illegible]sky." "Unless in selecting a Russian pseudonym you wished in this subtle fashion to cast aspersion on the Russian character." LIEBER has just returned from Bulgaria, where he had spent fifteen days "on a perfectly glorious beach on the Black Sea .... we have little to complain about, especially since Khrushchev is strengthening the peace front." LIEBER had received a letter from Phil [presumably Philip STEVENSON] and also a card from "Jerry, who seems to be enjoying Moscow. His wife, Alice, returned to the states. Question: Will Jerry follow?" Toward the end of the letter LIEBER thanks his correspondent for the greetings from Salvador OCAMPO and Berta. "What, I wonder, is Salvador doing since the dismal failure of that bandit? It may interest you to know that Alice MILVY, the widow of the lawyer who had set up that scoundrel with a substantial sum, told us that her husband had also been victimised, and he had been one of [illegible]'s closest friends." LIEBER's letter also indicates that Margaret MALTZ stayed at the Grand Hotel while in Warsaw.

d) Note from Subject to LINDER, dated 7 October 1959. Subject has mailed a check to LINDER's account in [illegible] and will continue to transfer the interest, apparently on some investment, about every two months.

e) Letter from LINDER, addressed to Subject and dated 7 October 1959. LINDER will have a statement notarized by a [illegible] officer to indicate MALTZ is holding "[illegible] funds" for the LINDERs. LINDER mentions "the various reverential references to 'God' that Khrushchev has been making on his transcontinental tour. Rather [illegible] for the kind of atheist K. insists he is. But I'm sure that a good part of the American people are [illegible] impressed ... I personally feel convinced that Khrushchev's visit to the U.S.A. is going to compel a relaxation of tensions." In this letter LINDER says he was down on the Black Sea coast in Bulgaria for the first twenty days of September. In expressing sorrow over the death of Dr. Ernesto [illegible], LINDER writes, "I even have a sense of guilt and complicity in his tragic and untimely end (Ursula [Dr. [illegible]'s wife], by the way, indicated that this wasn't normal, but of course this remains between us) because while he was still in Mexico Ernesto had written us to say how anxious he was to get to one of the people's democracies where he could make a contribution; and we pulled a number of wires here and in Berlin to achieve this for him."

3. Correspondence with Maurice HALPERIN, Kutusovsky Prospect, 13, Apartment 127, Moscow G-151. (Attachment 3)

Dump of Albert Maltz 74-5239

a) In a letter from HALPERIN, dated 26 September 1959, the writer emphasizes the importance of addressing his mail correctly, as captioned above. On 25 September HALPERIN received a letter dated 15 September from the MALTZes; however, pictures were not enclosed, and HALPERIN wonders whether this happened through error or pilferage. He is pleased with clippings Margaret has sent him and thanks Albert for the UN materials. HALPERIN is stunned by the death of Narciso BASSOLS, with whom he had had a "stimulating conversation" last February in Moscow. The HALPERINs expect to get a telephone soon; next week HALPERIN will have a full-time research assistant. In the postscript, he adds, "Any news about the little business matter of ours we asked you to handle?" He offers to see [illegible] about a Russian edition of Seven Shares ... [See references to Helen [illegible] under 4 - e, below]

b) Another letter from HAITRIN dated 14 October 1959 acknowledges receipt of the UN "Ec Survey of LA 1957" and a registered package containing clippings.

4. Correspondence concerning Seven Shares in a Gold Mine. (Attachment 4)

a) Subject's wife, in several letters dated 23 September 1959, wrote persons listed below that she was asking her English publishers, Victor Gollancz, Ltd., to send each a copy of her book entitled Seven Shares in a Gold Mine, obviously to promote its sales and to seek its publication in Soviet✓ Satellite countries. In two of the letters, addressed to the first two persons listed below, she enclosed copies of a review of the book, written by Viola Brothers [illegible], which appeared in Mainstream, an American magazine.

Mr. Alexei KRASILNIKOV, Publishing House for Foreign Literature, 52 Novo Alexeyevskaya, Moscow, USSR

Mr. Miodrag STAMATOVIC, Jugoslovenska Autorska Agencija, Marsala Tita 16, Belgrade, Yugoslavia

b) In another letter dated 23 September 1959, and addressed to Mr. Hilary [illegible], Victor Gollancz, Ltd., 14 Henrietta St., Covent Garden, London, W.C. 2, Subject's wife requests that the names and addresses of [illegible]L and TARN, two literary people in Poland, be added to the list she had sent the publishers a day or two ago.

c) A letter from Victor Gollancz Ltd., signed by Hilary RUBINSTEIN and dated 29 September, is in answer to an order placed by Subject's wife.

d) A letter from Dilia, Czechoslovak Theatrical and Literary Agency, Prague, dated 26 September 1959, acknowledges receipt of reviews of Seven Shares in a Gold Mine, which have been sent on to a publishing house for consideration.

e) A letter from Tamara KUGERSKAYA dated 21 October 1959 acknowledges receipt of book and letter, noted in 4 - a, above. KUGERSKAYA passes on greetings from Helen KOMLEVA.

f) On 20 October 1959, a check, drawn on the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles and signed by Margaret MALTZ, is sent to Simon and Schuster, Inc., 136 West 52nd Street, New York 19, N.Y.

5. Correspondence with Pilar de AMANN, Tomas Breton 9, Madrid, Spain. (Attachment B)
[illegible] Albert Maltz 201-5237

a) A handwritten letter in Spanish from "Pilar" to the MALTZes is dated 20 September 1959. Pilar has just received MALTZes' letter telling her of the death of Dr. Ernesto AMANN, her former husband, and now requests details as to the circumstances. She writes that their son Dickie had not heard from his father since September 1958, nor has the last letter AMANN had written his son via the MALTZes been received.

b) An answer to the foregoing, written in Spanish by Subject's wife, on 1 October 1959, reveals that a letter which Dr. AMANN had written on 27 July had been forwarded to Pilar de AMANN for delivery to their son Dickie. Although Subject's wife, at Dr. AMANN's request, had read the letter and had forwarded it to Pilar at the above address, she cannot understand why it was not received. Subject's wife relates what was in the letter to Dickie. Suffering from encephalitis, Dr. AMANN died in a German hospital after his return there for the third time. The MALTZes visited Dr. AMANN during their recent European trip.

a) In a letter dated 16 September MARGOLIS asks MALTZ to give his preference for attorneys to consult with respect to the possibility of litigation against the Immigration Service.

b) Subject's answer to the foregoing is dated 23 September. Since Rabinowitz and Boudin had represented him previously, Subject writes, he would be reluctant to hire any other law firm unless there were a "solid reason" to do so.

7. Correspondence with Bernard SKAURON, Public Accountant, Business [illegible], P.O. Box [illegible], Studio City, California. (Attachment 7)

a) Four pieces of correspondence, dated early October 1959, concern Subject's finances.

b) A letter from SKAURON, dated 22 September 1959, deals with real estate investment opportunities as well as with Subject's finances.

c) With a letter dated 13 October 1959 SKAURON sends Subject a copy of Waldo FRANK's petition for a writ of certiorari to review an earlier judgment preventing his travel to China.

d) In an envelope postmarked 22 October 1959 SKAURON mailed Subject his check book analysis for September. cif - U.S.

8. Correspondence with Philip and Janet STEVENSON, 2101 Stanley Hills Drive, Los Angeles 46, California. (Attachment 8) 201-57339

a) In an envelope postmarked 16 September 1959 Philip STEVENSON sends Subject a copy of a memorandum dated 14 September 1959 which STEVENSON had sent to Hy ANZEL. STEVENSON is sending ANZEL "the finished screen treatment of Albert MALTZ's novel, The Cross and the Arrow, under the working title of The Hill under Storm." The memorandum concerns financial agreement for this under contract.

b) A letter dated 13 September 1959 sets forth STEVENSON's ideas for writing a screenplay, presumably based on La Rosa Blanca. STEVENSON may go to Mexico for a few days on 25 September to discuss the book.

c) Personal thank-you note, dated 3 October 1959, from Janet STEVENSON to Margaret MALTZ, following Philip STEVENSON's return from a visit with the MALTZes.

d) A paper, presumably prepared by Subject, presents the factual errors in The Cross and the Arrow and is addressed to Philip [illegible].

e) A personal letter from STEVENSON to the MALTZes is dated 7 October 1959. With thanks, STEVENSON acknowledges receipt on 6 October of the material on The Cross and the Arrow. The writer is apparently working on a story, probably La Rosa Blanca, an outline of which he will send the MALTZes.

f) In a letter dated 20 October 1959 Subject writes his comments and criticisms of STEVENSON's screenplay outline of La Rosa Blanca.

9. Correspondence with Mrs. Laurie BLANKFORT, 504 North Bedford Drive, Beverly Hills, California. (Attachment 9)

a) In a letter dated 22 September 1959 and addressed to Margaret MALTZ, Laurie BLANKFORT discusses plans for placing one [illegible], a Mexican girl, in the home of a certain PATTEN family in California.

b) Margaret MALTZ, in a personal letter dated 9 October 1959, acknowledges receipt of the foregoing letter by thanking Laurie for visiting Mrs. PATTEN. Subject's wife tells her correspondent that she (Margaret) is going to be interviewed on television in Spanish in a couple of weeks. As indicated in this letter, Mrs. BLANKFORT has visited Mexico.

10. Correspondence with 530 N. Fuller Avenue, Los Angeles 36, California. (Attachment 10)

a) A personal letter dated 24 September 1959 and signed "Miriam" is addressed to Subject's wife. The envelope bears the above return address.

b) In an unsigned letter bearing the above return address, dated 2 October 1959, the writer asks whether Subject has received the Merry Go Round renewal Assignment. (see paragraph 15 - 1)

11. Correspondence with Mr. Adia [illegible], Government Press Office, Tel Aviv, Israel. (Attachment 11)

a) In a letter dated 22 September 1959 FRENKEL acknowledges receipt of two letters, dated 31 August and 3 September, from Subject. The writer gives background information on the formation of the State of Israel, obviously at the request of MALTZ.

b) Apparently in answer to a request by letter dated 1[illegible] September from Subject, FRENKEL, in a letter dated 2[illegible] September, describes medical practices among the Druse. In a handwritten postscript the writer notes he will devote his time, as Subject requested, to PREMINGER while he is in Israel, only however if the writer is given notice of PREMINGER's arrival date well in advance.

c) A letter dated 9 October from FRENKEL acknowledges receipt of two cables from Subject and encloses a summary of security measures in Famagusta, Cyprus, during the Aliya-Beth era, presumably as background information for Subject's writings.

d) Three letters, dated 13, 15, and 19 October 1959, from Dr. Adia FRENKEL provide Subject with additional background information and research analyses. The letter dated 13 October includes photostats of identity cards issued in 1946, 1947, and 1948.

e) In a letter dated 20 October 1959 Subject poses to FRENKEL a series of questions concerning the Haganah leaders and Irgun members. Subject indicates that "Otto" /probably PREMINGER/ was in Mexico the previous week, working with Subject on the story. "Otto" will be arriving at the Hotel Dan between November 15 and 18 for a five-week stay in Israel.

/In view of information contained in these letters, as well as in other pieces of correspondence noted herein, it would appear that Subject is working on a screenplay for the movie to be based on Leon URIS' best seller, _Exodus_. Otto PREMINGER, well-known Hollywood movie director, is scheduled to direct the film version of _Exodus_./

12. Correspondence with Larry Edmunds Bookshop, 6658 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood 28, California. (Attachment 12)

a) A letter from the bookshop dated 23 September 1959 is signed "Milton." Milton sent Dr. AMANN "the Casserole Cooking" the day he received MALTZ's letter but neglected to bill Subject. Books for Subject have been ordered from England.

b) Subject's check payable to Larry Edmunds Bookshop is enclosed in an envelope addressed to the bookshop and postmarked 3 October 1959. Also enclosed is the letter listed above, on which MALTZ has added his comments, noting that AMANN has died and that Subject will await delivery of the books ordered.

c) Letter dated 28 October 1959, addressed to Subject's wife, is signed "Milton." Apparently in answer to a request made by Subject's wife, the letter lists works by CHEKHOV which the book shop has in stock.

13. Correspondence with Seven Seas Books, Glinkastrasse 13 - 15, Berlin, Germany. (Attachment 13)

a) A letter dated 22 September 1959 and signed by Kay PANKEY tells Subject that Seven Seas Publishers is sending him thirty copies of The Cross and the Arrow in care of Larry Edmunds Bookshop in Hollywood.

b) Letter from Seven Seas Books, dated 5 October 1959, is signed "Gertrude" (Gertrude GELBIN, chief editor). Gertrude has been and continues to be in poor health. She writes about what appears to be sales figures for a particular publication, perhaps one of Subject's books.

a) Letter from Dilia, dated 24 September 1959, is signed by Dr. Vojtech STRNAD. Subject is requested to send another copy of his play Black Pit for the Slovak translation.

b) Letter from Dilia, dated 29 September 1959, is signed by "Barmon." The writer acknowledges receipt of signed copies of an agreement for the Czech edition of The Cross and the Arrow. The last paragraph of the letter concerns stories by one Mr. ROBERTS, Penitenciaria 469-8, Guadalajara, Jalisco, which Dilia has forwarded to publishers for consideration.

c) A letter from Dilia dated 9 October 1959 informs Subject that an advance on the Czech edition of The Journey of Simon McKeever, to be published by the State Publishing House of Political Literature of Prague, has been transferred to Subject's account with the Banco Nacional de Mexico.

15. Correspondence addressed to Subject at Yarto 14, San Angel, Mexico 20, D.F. (Attachment 15)

a) Letter from Kindler Verlag, Lucile-Grahn-Strasse 37, Munich 8, Germany, dated 15 September 1959 and signed by Dr. F. J. RADDATZ. RADDATZ acknowledges receipt of a letter dated 22 August from Subject. The writer has obtained a copy of The Cross and the Arrow and will inform MALTZ should he decide to publish a West German edition.

b) In a letter dated 17 September 1959 from Ingo PREMINGER, of Preminger/Stuart Agency, Inc., 8462 Boulevard, Hollywood 36, California, the writer discusses financing arrangements for a film production.

c) Letter from Adrian SCOTT, 13341 Wyandotte St., Van Nuys, California, dated 22 September 1959, in which the writer encloses a check, signed by Robert A. Scott for 350 dollars, for payment on a loan MALTZ made to the writer, apparently several years ago.

d) Letter from Jewish Currents, 22 East 17th Street, New York 3, N.Y., dated [illegible] September 1959 and signed by Morris U. SCHAPPES, editor. The writer acknowledges receipt of a contribution Subject had made while abroad. The editor suggests Subject might write for publication in Jewish Currents an article or travel letter about any one of the countries he visited recently.

e) Letter from Science & Society, 30 East 20th Street, New York 3, N.Y., dated 28 September 1959 and signed by T. E. HALTON, secretary. Swedish press cuttings will be held until the return of Henry MINS, who will be abroad until the middle of November.

f) Letter from Dr. Harold LEVINE, Room 1324 Karl Meyer Hall, Cook County Hospital, Chicago 12, Illinois, dated 1 October 1959. The writer makes reference to A Long Day in a Short Life and The Journey of Simon McKeever and suggests Subject may one day visit Cook County Hospital in Chicago, a place filled with "humanist literature."

h) Letter from Avraham [illegible], Ben-Shemen Youth-Village, Near Lod, Israel, dated 7 October 1959. The writer thanks Subject for his books and offers help in supplying material Subject may wish for his "book about Israel." [illegible] describes his work among the children, adding that he will leave Ben-Shemen during the summer of 1960 to complete his studies in the field of education for a year or two in either England or the United States.

i) Letter from the legal department of Universal Pictures Company, Inc., Universal City, California, dated 12 October 1959 and signed by Joseph S. DUBIN, chief studio counsel. Enclosed with the letter is an Assignment, giving exclusive motion picture rights for Merry Go Round, a play written by Subject (under pseudonym of Eric [illegible]) and George SKLAR, to Universal Pictures. Since Subject is in Mexico, the writer requests that the enclosed Assignment be executed by Subject before a consular officer or notary of the American Embassy.

alias of Albert Maltz XI-5739

j) Another letter from Universal Pictures, dated 28 October 1959, encloses a second copy of the foregoing Assignment, to be executed in New York.

k) Although Camille (Mrs. Jean) PARIS, of 4 Francis Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts, writes on 13 October 1959 she would be happy to translate one of Subject's novels, she must first be certain a publisher wants it. She does not want to repeat the unfortunate experience of Black Pit, which she had translated into French only to find no one would produce it. The writer suggests that Subject send his "three books" to Miss Monique NATHAN, les Editions du Seuil, 27 rue Jacob, Paris 6, a house "open to progressive ideas." Mrs. PARIS is planning a trip to Mexico "either in spring or later on."

l) Personal letter dated 16 October 1959 from Alvah BESSIE, 6437 A Geary Boulevard, San Francisco 21, California.

a) Letter dated 11 September 1959 from Morris GOODMAN, 1119 No. Wexford Drive, Los Angeles 35, California. The writer thanks Subject's wife for a contribution she had made to a committee of which GOODMAN is chairman. GOODMAN has given a check on behalf of Mrs. MALTZ to Frank WILKINSON.

b) Letter with no return address, dated 28 September 1959 and signed "Charlie." The writer mentions a book which he hopes will be placed "east of West Berlin" and notes his regret over the death of Dr. AMANN. After expressing dissatisfaction over his present job, apparently with some magazine in New York City which also employs one Phil [illegible], the writer adds, "Nevertheless, the KHRUSHCHEV visit makes up for almost everything, and so on this bright note, I'll sign off." The writer, in a postscript, asks that his name not to be put on the envelope, "just Mimi's, she knows it's for me."

c) Personal letter from Clarice CHAPMAN, 7728 Kraft Ave., North Hollywood, California, dated 28 September 1959.

d) Letter dated 4 October 1959 from Ray SPENCER, 6917 Pacific View Drive, Hollywood 28, California. He is saddened by the death of Ernesto [AMANN] and adds the postscript: "Mr. K. was absolutely sensational... There is a definite change of atmosphere for the better, we believe."

e) Letter from Barthold Fles, Literary Agent, 507 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, New York, dated 6 October 1959 and signed "Bart." The writer is flying to Germany on 6 October and will ask Gollancz [Victor Gollancz Ltd., London] "for your statement when I come to England." Before returning to the United States in three weeks, the writer also intends to see Gertrude GELBIN and Stefan HEYM in Berlin.

b) Personal bread-and-butter letter, postmarked 16 September 1959, Santa Monica, California, is signed "Frances." In the letter Frances writes that "Fernie" will take Kenneth MacKENNA's job at Metro after the first of the year, under a three-year contract.

Dear Margaret and Albert,

First let me point out that your letter of Sept. 15 (delivered yesterday) was sans pics. The envelope did carry double postage. So what happened - error or pilferage? Sure would like to know and, of course, get the original or duplicate sets of pics for the Hermitage. Also, IMPORTANT - the envelope was not entirely correctly addressed (Apt. 13 instead of 127, an understandable slip). Please note simplified correct address above (house no. not required).

And now to tell you Edith and I were very happy to get your letter. We can see Granny-elect Margaret and Gramp-elect Albert knitting away at the sweaters and booties. We shall want to hear when the big events take place. Again, our best wishes to Peter and spouse.

I can't get too many slips, Margaret, so full speed ahead. And one tiny reminder - the date on each slip, please. Your score with respect to choice of slips is very high --I'd say about 95% of what you send is of top interest.* An afterthought that troubles me --I've reckoned up the postage spent and it's running mighty high.

Albert, many thanks re the UN materials. The 1957 Survey has not yet arrived, but I'll let you know. And I shall be on the look-out for 1958.

So much appreciate the Novedades supplement re [illegible]. Still feel stunned by his death. I had such a stimulating conversation with him here last February, and we were to continue on his next visit.....

Little by little, we're getting better organized. We are due a telephone shortly, which will improve living efficiency enormously. Also, next week I shall have a full time research assistant, at last! No need to tell you what that will mean. So, while we don't ~~[illegible]~~ move ahead at the pace of the moon rockets, we're not standing still either.

The music season is on - went to our first concert day-before-yesterday. This is one department that is on the level of Soviet rocketry as far as quality is concerned. We've never had it so good before....

Wish you'll give our very best regards to all our good friends.

Muchos abrazos from Edith and

P.S. Any news about the little business matter of ours we asked you to handle? Any news about a Russian edition of "Seven [illegible]"? I could see Romanova — she still has my copy of the book.

* including, of course, the info[illegible] - what it [illegible] [illegible] is always as interesting as what I [illegible]. Also, who is [illegible]. [illegible] of the PP [illegible].

1. Reference is made to our teletyped message of 24 November 1958 and to previous correspondence concerning Subject's travel with his wife from Mexico, through western Europe, to Prague, Czechoslovakia.

2. Enclosed for your information is a copy of a report, from an official Swiss source, of Subject's activities in Switzerland from 15 October 1958 to 10 November. Also enclosed are photocopies of letters from Subject and his wife to members of the family in the United States.

3. The David EFRON mentioned in both the official Swiss report and Subject's letters was described by a usually reliable source on 18 August 1947 as an Argentine citizen who was a Communist Party member of long standing; under cover of his International Labor Organization (ILO) assignments EFRON was touring Latin America to assess the Communist position and strength within the labor framework of each country visited. Another usually reliable source reported in February 1951 that EFRON had been a specialist in Latin American affairs for the ILO until the fall of 1947, and that he had been repeatedly reported as a Communist and closely associated with Vicente LOMBARDO Toledano, president of the Confederacion de los Trabajadores de America Latina (CTAL) and secretary-general of the Partido Popular (PP - Marxist Party of Mexico). A David EFRON, mentioned in your reports of 23 June 1952 and 21 January 1952, appears to be identical with EFRON.

4. This information is from a usually reliable and highly sensitive source and should not be disseminated further.

Attachment to CSCI-3/753,048

As a supplement to bits of information hitherto orally transmitted here is a summarized account on the movements and activities of

HALPERIN Maurice, alias PASTOR Daniel,
born 3.3.1906, US citizen, economist,
married to Edith; domiciled Medellin 36-9,
Mexico 7, D.F.

during his sojourn in Switzerland from 9 October to 10 November 1958:

On 15 October subject and his wife arrived by air from LISBON at the Hotel "Schweizerhof" in ZURICH. On 18 October he and his wife took the 1320 H. train to GENEVA, where they stayed at the Hotel "Bernina". On 19 October, 1700 - 1900 H., he visited

EFRON David, born 1.9.1904, citizen of ARGENTINE, Consellor with the ILO in GENEVA, domiciled Avenue Andre Gide 2, CHENE-BOUGERIES/GENEVA.

On 20 October at GENEVA he inquired at a local travel agency for the possibilities of a flight from ZURICH to PRAGUE. On that day the HALPERIN's traveled by train (leaving GENEVA at 1245 H) to ZURICH, where they occupied a room at the "Schweizerhof" again. At 1830 H. subject visited the information office of the Zurich main station to learn about train connections for PRAGUE and for LUGANO. On 21 October, in answer to a telephone call, he visited the Czech Consulate General in ZURICH, where he stayed from 0940 - 1115 H. At 1630 H. he went to consult the "Swissair" information desk at the main station. He stated that he possessed a flight-ticket Mexico-Lisbon-Zurich-Tel-Aviv, but had no definite booking so far and wanted his luggage to be stored at Kloten airport for the time being. He then mailed letters to

1) Mr. David C. HALPERIN, 5411 South University Ave., CHICAGO/ Ill.;
2) Mr. Theodore HALPERIN & family, 22, Kahler Ave., MILTON/ Mass.;
3) Rabbi & Mrs. Hillel CANCRAN, 4 de Kalb Place, MORRISTOWN/ New Jersey;
4) Mrs. Annie FRISCH, 17 Beach Road, LYNN/ Massachusettes;

Letters 1 - 3 are of similar contents. Photostat copies of Nr. 1 & 4 are attached.

At 1930 H. he inquired at the "Swissair" office for any communication that may have come in for him.

On 22 October Subject negotiated with the KLM airtravel office for cancelling of his 2 flight tickets to Tel-Aviv and refunding.

On 23 October at 0925 H. he inquired at the information office of the Federal Railways about train connections to PARIS and fares. At 1025 H. he entered the Czech Consulate General, but reappeared in the street 3 minutes later.

SECRET NOFORN

As of 23 October HALPERIN had made three telephone calls: one to GERTUR, Arlesheim/Basel, [illegible]str. 14, one to Carlo IGELI A.G., Zurich, home in Kuesnacht; and one to SCHMID, Zurich. All of the above are either timber and lumber importers or dealers.

On 24 October the couple visited the Czech Consulate General at 1025 H. where they remained for 25 minutes. At 1110 H. they went to the snack bar of the Zurich University. HALPERIN then visited for 30 minutes the Seminary for social economics, commercial sciences and statistics. At 1515 H. HALPERIN went to a travel agency to cash a cheque of 50 $.

On 25 October HALPERIN inquired for trains departing for LUGANO and obtained various prospectus of this town. From 1025 - 1055 H. the couple called at the Czech Consulate General. On the way back they changed 200 $; at 1311 H. they left by train for LUGANO.

Up to this date the couple had not received any visitors and as far as could be ascertained had no suspicious telephone calls while staying in ZURICH. They ostensibly endeavored to cut down expenses to a minimum, taking meals in cheap restaurants or buying food to be eaten in their room at the hotel. The luggage deposited at Kloten airport was discreetly searched. The personal belongings were of rather poor quality. A list showed that they had sold furniture and household goods prior to their departure from Mexico. Amongst various articles there were also two pocket editions of dictionnaries in Chinese and Russian. All this and their demeanour seemed to indicate that the couple plan to settle definitely in the East.

At 1625 H. of 25 October the couple arrived at LUGANO, where they rented a room at the hotel garni "LUX" for 3 or 4 days.

On 26 October they went on an excursion to the Monte Bre. At 1730 H. of that day HALPERIN inquired at the main post office for the telephone number of a certain Alfred STERN in PRAGUE. No such extension was found in the directory, however.

On 27 October they made an outing to Cassarate and Campione and back to LUGANO.

On 28 October HALPERIN again went to the telephone exchange at 0915 H. where he asked to be connected with Lazaro PENA in PRAGUE, Nr. 67856. The partner in PRAGUE being absent, the call was postponed to the afternoon; it went through at 1640 H. and a certain Mr. STEIN answered the call on the number indicated. HALPERIN talked in Spanish, announcing himself as Professor Maurizio HALPERIN from Mexico. He explained that he was a friend of LOMBARDO, with whom they (the partners on the phone) had accidentally met last year at the shop of Dr. Berta ARENARES. At present he (HALPERIN) was staying in LUGANO and waiting for the visa to go to PRAGUE. There he would like to find his American friends, the STERN family, whom his partner should also know. He then wanted to know when LOMBARDO would arrive in PRAGUE from MEXICO.

(probable identities:

LOMBARDO, Vincente, b. 16.7.1894, Mexican citizen, dom.
Mexico-City, Artistas, Villa Obregon 51;
Trade Union leader; member of WFC; member of presidium
Dr. [illegible], Berta: no record.)

On 29 October the HALPERIN's left LUGANO at 0904 H. by train for ZURICH. During their sojourn at LUGANO no contacts of the couple with strangers were made; they went for walks at random in town or in the vicinity, bought papers and periodicals by the dozen, but did not receive any mail or telephone calls.

At 1253 H. of 29 October they arrived in ZURICH, went to the Hotel "Schweizerhof" and later to the Czech Consulate General. At 1550 H. subject inquired at the KLM airline agency about refunding for the tickets to Tel-Aviv, but the agency had not received directions from Amsterdam yet.

On 30 October the couple again went to the Czech Consulate General at 1035 H. and remained there for 75 minutes. At 1215 H. HALPERIN inquired at the Kuoni Travel Agency about tourist visas to Prague and was given the necessary forms to fill in. These he returned to the agency at 1410 H. together with the passports. At 1715 H. he mailed two letters to

Mr. David C. HALPERIN, 5411 South University Ave., CHICAGO/ Ill.
Rabbi & Mrs. Hillel CAHGRAN, 4 de Falb Place, MORRISTOWN/ N. J.

Photostat copies (numbered 5 & 6) of the contents are attached.

On 31 October the HALPERIN's moved from Hotel "Schweizerhof" to the cheaper hotel "Limmathof". On this day they finally received the requested refund by the KLM airline's office.

Monday, 10 November the requested tourist visas were issued to the HALPERIN's, valid for 6 days and including Hotel reservations for 5 days at Sw.Frs. 23.- per person. They immediately departed by train and left Switzerland via Buchs/rail at 1524 H. for Austria, traveling on 2nd. class tickets ZURICH-PRAGUE return.

In the period of 31 October to 10 November the couple did not make or receive any telephone calls and had no visitors, nor did they call on anybody.

Correspondence From Jane Constance Rogers to Maurice Halperin

1. Reference is made to our CSCI-3/751,016, dated 12 August 1958, and to previous correspondence concerning Subject and her correspondence with American Communists living in Mexico.

2. Enclosed for your information are photocopies of an envelope from Subject, 56 Seventh Avenue, New York 11, New York, addressed to Maurice HALPERIN, Medellin 36-9, Mexico, D.F.; and a letter, contained in the envelope, bearing the salutation, "Dear Celia." ("Celia" is probably Celia OPPENHEIM, wife of Kurt Leopold OPPENHEIM, who, as was reported to your Bureau in our teletyped message of 12 September 1958, was hiding out in a hotel during the wave of arrests of American Communists living in Mexico.) The contents of the letter are summarized as follows:

> Subject mentions that she is glad that Celia saw "Tess and Bruno," and discussed with them the hardships and worry suffered "by you and all our friends." She says that A.A.'s main interest has to do with Sr. PONTON. ("A.A." probably refers to Abraham Aaron HELLER, who visited Mexico with Subject for three months during the winter of 1957-58. "Sr. PONTON" possibly refers to Luis SANCHEZ Ponton, a Mexican lawyer concerned with the Morton SOBELL case.)
>
> Subject also mentions that her planned trip to Mexico during the coming winter is not certain unless they (she would probably be traveling again with HELLER) could find an inexpensive apartment.

[illegible],

I am sorry [illegible] tardy in answering your letter of August [illegible]. [illegible] only yesterday [illegible] returning from Lake Tahoe where I took [illegible] for a 10 days vacation.

[illegible] project looks to me eminently [illegible]ible. To be sure, outlines give usually only a very tenuous idea of what eventually comes out, but with that reservation, I think, [illegible] outline promises a useful treatise. What would seem to me to be in order is [illegible] tightening up of the [illegible] theoretical framework. In the first place, I would [illegible] ought to be broken down [illegible] number of groups: those countries that experience a certain degree of [illegible] economic advancement (Venezuela, Argentina, Mexico, [illegible]); those that [illegible] markedly stagnant (Central America, Peru and [illegible]); those that have [illegible] bourgeois revolutions (Mexico); those that [illegible] form or another (Argentina, Venezuela?); [illegible] semi or entirely feudal state (Peru?), etc. etc. In other words, [illegible] "ideal type" treatment which would [illegible] elucidate the stage of development reached by individual countries. The role of imperialism in all of them has to be clearly worked out: both economically, and politically. Secondly, when it comes to strictly economic analysis, I don't believe that much is gained by talking about "crisis-breeding printing press money" (V, p. [illegible]). This puts the critique of inflation on a wrong track, and relates to what I would consider "old-fashioned" economics. The trouble with inflation is not that it is intrinsically "crisis-breeding". After all, Soviet industrialization was financed to a considerable extent by inflation! The trouble with inflation is that it puts the burden of capital accumulation upon lower income groups; in capitalist countries, furthermore, it channels the accumulated capital into wrong, undesirable investments, creates opportunities for vast speculative profits, promotes luxury consumption, etc. etc. In other words, under capitalism, inflation tends to add [illegible] to injustice. If inflation, then at least it should promote useful capital [illegible] relatively modest inflation (a few % p.a. [illegible]) inflation of the German 1920' variety. The [illegible] which need not occupy us in the [illegible] low inflation (accompanied by devaluation) [illegible] tax" on the underlying populations, [illegible] results in lopsided development.

[illegible] impression that you should concentrate on assembling as much as possible material on the volume and mode of utilization of accumulated capital, and show [illegible] how these accumulations are being misused. This would permit you to analyze both the domestic structure of the economies under consideration as well as to show the impact of capital outflows due to imperialism etc.

These are my first reactions. I will be glad to go into all of [illegible] once I have more stuff to look at. You are obviously most welcome to [illegible] (for what it's worth) as a reference. If the Committee chooses to consult me, I would suggest that the accent be placed on the empirical aspect of the study with the analytical part made subject to further discussion and clarification.

I will write to Bravo very soon; I was absolutely sn ed under by various and undry committments, and am struggling now to finish ings up before school starts end of September. And then I have a book to finish (th Sweezy) and deadlines surround me on all sides.

With very best wishes,

Yours,

Paul Baran.

Ad y/ memo & oral of 18 Oct.58 509/XI/58

As a supplement to bits of information hitherto orally transmitted here is a summarised account on the movements and activities of

HALPERIN Maurice, alias PASTOR Daniel,
born 3.3.1906, US citizen, economist,
married to Edith; domiciled Medellin 36-9,
Mexico 7, D.F.

during his sojourn in Switzerland from 15 October to 10 November 58:

On 15 October subject and his wife arrived by air from LISBON at the Hotel "Schweizerhof" in ZURICH. On 18 October he and his wife took the 1320 H. train to GENEVA, where they stayed at the Hotel "Bernina". On 19 October, 1700 - 1900 H., he visited

EPRON David, born 1.9.1904, citizen of ARGENTINE, Counsellor with the ILO in GENEVA, domiciled
Avenue André Gide 2, CHENE-BOUGERIES /GENEVA.

On 20 October at GENEVA he inquired at a local travel agency for the possibilities of a flight from ZURICH to PRAGUE. On that day the HALPERIN's traveled by train (leaving GENEVA at 1245 H) to ZURICH, where they occupied a room at the "Schweizerhof" again. At 1830 H. subject visited the information office of the Zurich main station to learn about train connections for PRAGUE and for LUGANO. On 21 October he visited the Czech Consulate General in ZURICH, where he stayed from 0940 - 1115 H. At 1630 H. he went to consult the "Swissair" information desk at the main station. He stated that he possessed a flight-ticket Mexico-Lisbon-Zurich-Tel-Aviv, but had no definite booking so far and wanted his luggage to be stored at Kloten airport for the time being. He then mailed letters to

1) Mr.David C. HALPERIN, 5411 South University Ave., CHICAGO /Ill.;
2) Mr. Theodore HALPERIN & family, 22, Kahler Ave., MILTON / Mass.;
3) Rabbi & Mrs. Hillel CANORAN, 4 De Kalb Place, MORRISTOWN /New Jersey
4) Mrs. Annie FRISCH, 17 Beach Road, LYNN /Massachusettes;

./. Letters 1 - 3 are of similar contents. Photostat copies of Nr. 1 & 4 are attached.

At 1930 H. he inquires at the "Swissair" office for any communication that may have come in for him.

On 22 October subject negotiates with the KLM airtravel office for cancelling of his 2 flight tickets to Tel-Aviv and refunding.

On 23 October at 0925 H. he inquires at the information office of the Federal Railways about train connections to PARIS and fares. At 1025 H. he enters the Czech Consulate General, but reappears in the street 3 minutes later.

On 24 October the couple visit the Czech Consulate General at 1025 H, where they remain for 25 minutes. At 1110 H. they go to the snack bar of the Zurich University. HALPERIN then visits for 30 minutes the Seminary for social economics, commercial sciences and statistics. At 1515 H. HALPERIN goes to a travel agency to cash a cheque of 50 $.

On 25 October HALPERIN inquires for trains departing for LUGANO and obtains various prospectus of this town. From 1025 - 1055 H. the couple then calls at the Czech Consulate General. On the way back they changed 200 $; at 1311 H. they leave by train for LUGANO.

Up to this date the couple has not received any visitors and as far as could be ascertained had no suspicious telephone calls while staying in ZURICH. They ostensibly endeavored to cut down expenses to a minimum, taking meals in cheap restaurants or buying food to be eaten in their room at the hotel. The luggage deposited at Kloten airport was discreetly searched. The personal belongings were of rather poor quality. A list showed that they had sold furniture and household goods prior to their departure from Mexico. Amongst various articles there were also two pocket editions of dictionnaries in Chinese and Russian. All this and their demeanour seem to indicate that the couple plan to settle definitely in the East.

At 1625 H. of 25 October the couple arrived at LUGANO, where they rented a room at the hotel garni "LUX" for 3 or 4 days.

On 26 October they went on an excursion to the Monte Bré. At 1730 H. of that day HALPERIN inquired at the main post office for the telephone number of a certain Alfred [illegible] in PRAGUE. No such extension was found in the directory, however.

On 27 October they made an outing to Cassarate and Campione and back to LUGANO.

On 28 October HALPERIN again went to the telephone exchange at 0915 H. where he asked to be connected with Lazaro PENA in PRAGUE, Nr. 67634. The partner in PRAGUE being absent, the call was postponed to the afternoon; it went through at 1640 H. and a certain Mr. STEIN answered the call on the number indicated. HALPERIN talked in Spanish, announcing himself as Professor Mauricio HALPERIN from Mexico. He explained that he was a friend of LOMBARDO, with whom they (the partners on the phone) had accidentally met last year at the shop of Mr. Borta ARENARES. At present he (HALPERIN) was staying in LUGANO and waiting for the visa to go to PRAGUE. There he would like to find his friends, the STERN family, whom his partner should also know. He then wanted to know when LOMBARDO would arrive in PRAGUE from MEXICO?

(probable identities:
PENA Lazaro: Trade Union Secretary of CUBA; vice-president of Cuban C.P. & member Executive Council of WFU.
LOMBARDO Vicente, b. 16.7.1894, Mexican citizen, dom.
Mexico-City, Artistas, Villa Obregon 51;
Trade Union leader; member of WFU; member of presidium of Executive Committee & General Council of WFTU.
Dr. ARENARES Borta: no record.)

On 29 October the HALPERIN's left LUGANO at 0904 H. by train for ZURICH. During their sojourn at LUGANO no contacts of the couple with strangers were made; they went for walks at random in town or in the vicinity, bought papers and periodicals by the dozen, but did not receive any mail or telephone calls.

At 1253 H. of 29 October they arrived in ZURICH, went to the Hotel "Schweizerhof" and later to the Czech Consulate General. At 1550 H. subject inquired at the KLM airline agency about refunding for the tickets to Tel-Aviv, but the agency had not received directions from Amsterdam yet.

On 30 October the couple again went to the Czech Consulate General at 1035 H. and remained there for 75 minutes. At 1215 H. HALPERIN inquired at the Kuoni Travel Agency about tourist visas to Prague and was given the necessary forms to fill in. These he returned to the agency at 1410 H. together with the passports.

At [illegible] h. he mailed two letters to

Mr. David C. HALPERIN, 5411 South University Ave. CHICAGO/Ill.
Rabbi & Mrs. Hillel CANCRAB, 4 de Kalb Place, MORRISTOWN /N.J.

Photostat copies (numbered 5 & 6) of the contents are attached.

On 31 October the HALPERIN's moved from Hotel "Schweizerhof" to the cheaper hotel "Limmathof". On this day they finally received the requested refund by the KLM airline's office.

Monday, 10 November the requested tourist visas were issued to the HALPERIN'S, valid for 6 days and including Hotel reservation for 5 days at Sw.Frs. 23.- per person. They immediately departed by train and left Switzerland via Buchs/rail at 1824 H. for Austria, travelling on 2nd.class tickets ZURICH-PRAGUE return.

In the period of 31 October to 10 November the couple did not make or receive any telephone calls and had no visitors, nor did they call on anybody.

19 November 1958.

FROM: Deputy Director, Plans

SUBJECT: Maurice Hyman HALPERIN

1. Reference is made to our CSCI-3/751,683, dated 2 October 1958, and to other correspondence concerning Subject, an American Communist living at Medellin #36, Apartment 9, Mexico, D. F.

2. Enclosed for your information are photocopies of the following correspondence sent to Subject:

a. Letter, dated 10 August 1958, from Jane Constance ROGERS, at Mill Valley, California, mentions that she and Abraham Aaron HELLER have been at Mill Valley since 1 August. She also mentions that Albert MALTZ is in Los Angeles and that she and HELLER planned to travel through there in late August. She refers to two "youngish" lawyers from Los Angeles who came to San Francisco for a breath of "fresh air." She mentions Tim KELLY's kindness to her and HELLER at Mill Valley and that KELLY sends his love to Pablo [O'HIGGINS]. She also encloses six photographs of herself and HELLER. (CSCI-3/751,016, dated 12 August 1958, reported that ROGERS had asked HALPERIN to look for an apartment in Mexico City for her for the winter of 1958-59.)

b. Letter, dated 2 September 1958, from Martin Robert ROGERS, The Bell, Hume, Virginia, (son of Jane Constance ROGERS) queries HALPERIN about effects to be shipped when the ROGERS family goes to Mexico as immigrants. ROGERS mentions that he and his family hope to be in Mexico by 1 December "unless HASSAUSEN doesn't perform." ROGERS adds that "as a matter of fact, we have to come anyway, and we'll enter as tourists if we can't get ready as immigrants." (Evidently a lawyer named HAMHAUSEN is arranging the entrance of the ROGERS family to Mexico. There are two brothers named HAMHAUSEN who are practicing lawyers in Mexico.)

c. Letter, dated 4 September 1958, from Martin Robert ROGERS, The Dell, Hume, Virginia, requests HALPERIN to open a box in the main post office in Mexico City for him effective 1 November.

3. This correspondence was obtained from a usually reliable and highly sensitive source and should not be disseminated outside your Bureau. Photocopies of this correspondence have been furnished the representative of your Bureau in Mexico City.

SECURITY MATTER - C

Records of the Passport Division, Department of State, revealed that captioned individual was issued a passport in August, 1958, at the American Embassy, Mexico City, Mexico. Regarding her travel plans, she had previously stated she intended to depart from Mexico on July 12, 1958, for proposed travel to Europe and the Middle East for the purpose of business and pleasure. However, on August 27, 1958, the American Embassy advised the Department of State that at the time a passport was issued to the subject she refused to give specific travel data but stated she expected to travel to Israel, returning via Belgium to visit the World's Fair at Brussels and would probably stop at intervening points.

Information concerning Halperin has previously been furnished to the recipients of this letter. No investigation is requested since this matter is being handled through the appropriate Legal Attaches. It would be appreciated, however, if this Bureau is furnished any pertinent information concerning Halperin which may come to the attention of the Department of State or the ~~Central~~ Intelligence Agency while she is outside the United States.

2. Enclosed for your information are photocopies of the following correspondence sent to Subject:

a) Letter, postmarked 28 April 1958, from David HALPERIN, Subject's son, a medical student in Chicago, Illinois, concerns David's studies and his health, and mentions that he was elected to the student government on the Student Representative Party ticket.

b) Note, dated 3 May 1958, from Subject's mother, at 824 Bluehill Avenue, Dorchester, Massachusetts, concerns purely family matters.

c) Letter, dated 9 May 1958, from Sadie F. BIRNBAUM, 8 Chase Street, Lynn, Massachusetts, gives news of friends and relatives of the HALPERINs, including one Elinor GOLSMAN.

e) Letter, dated 29 April, from A. DORFMAN, in Santiago, Chile, indicates that HALPERIN may have asked the writer for help, possibly in finding a job. (A. DORFMAN is believed identical with Adolfo DORFMAN, a suspected Communist and former employee of the United Nations who is now in Argentina DORFMAN and Fanny, his wife, were both born in the Soviet Union, but DORFMAN is believed to be a citizen of Argentina now.) The writer describes himself as a "well-known and uncompromising" supporter of (President) FRONDIZI (of Argentina) and says that since the latter's election triumph he (the writer) has been "practically snowed under with requests for assistance, advice, etc." (It is believed that DORFMAN did, in fact, accept a position as an adviser in the FRONDIZI government.) The letter also enclosed a hand-written note, signed "Fanny."

f) Letter, dated 9 May 1958, from Bob and Terry ROGERS (aka Martin Robert ROGERS and Teresa Soracco ROGERS), in Venice, Italy, describes the Italian part of the ROGERS' European tour. Two parts of the letter may be of significance. First, ROGERS' comments on the Italian elections: "The CP is campaigning vigorously and spending a lot of money. They and the Christian Democrats are the only ones you seem to feel. The local papers seem resigned to leftist gains, so the immediate future of Italy will depend in large part on the coalitions that NENNI may be willing to form." Second, his "few random notes": "Just as many cops as in Benito's (MUSSOLINI's) day. U.S. missile base straddles industrial Italy. U.S. army vehicles constantly on highways in this region (Turin-Milan-Venice)." The letter also mentions the fact that the ROGERS were going on to Austria and Brussels after completing their tour of Italy.

g) Letter, dated 14 May 1958, from Oscar LEWIS, at the University of Illinois, concerns some translations HALPERIN was doing for LEWIS. LEWIS says that he has overdrawn his research account and asks HALPERIN to take this into account when computing his bill for the translations. LEWIS also says that he is hoping to be able to visit Mexico the first two weeks in June.

1. Following an order issued by the President of Mexico on 6 September 1958 for enforcement of Article 33 of the Constitution a round-up was made in Mexico City of American Communists and other foreigners, allegedly Communists, currently residing here both as tourists and inmigrantes or inmigrados.

2. Among the first Americans to be picked up and who were the only ones actually to leave due to this order were: Bernard BLASENHEIM, John BRIGHT and Allen LEWIS.

(201-39727)

3. Bernard BLASENHEIM entered Mexico in 1950 with "Inmigrante" status and currently enjoyed status as an "Inmigrado" here. U. S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill received a call on 7 September 1958 from former Senator George BENDER of Ohio requesting that he intercede for Mr. BLASENHEIM who was being detained by Mexican authorities. According to local newspapers William O'DWYER, former U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, was requested by a phone call from New York to intercede for BLASENHEIM with local authorities. O'DWYER's office was unable to secure an "amparo" for BLASENHEIM. BLASENHEIM was deported from Mexico, arriving in San Antonio, Texas on American Airlines flt. 690 on 11 September 1958. (ODINCH) Ambassador Hill advised (former) Senator BENDER that he could not intercede that the procedure was completely legal (by Mexican law) and advised Mr. BENDER to check into BLASENHEIM's background. Mr. BENDER withdrew his request, said he did not know BLASENHEIM; had had a call from New York

201-12559

4. John BRIGHT, entered Mexico as a student immigrant originally but in March 1955 his status was changed to that of a "technical immigrant" retroactive to October 1954. BRIGHT had not yet attained "inmigrado" status. When picked up BRIGHT was incarcerated at Miguel Schulz 135 in solitary confinement (LIFEAT). He was deported from Mexico on the same flight as BLASENHEIM.

201-47451

5. (Dr.) Allen LEWIS, who has been an instructor at the National University of Mexico, had "inmigrado" status in Mexico. He was picked up by persons claiming to come from Gobernacion during the night of 6 September 1958 and taken from his home in Coyoacan to the Detention Center at Miguel Schulz 135. Mrs. Brooke LEWIS, wife of Dr. LEWIS contacted the U. S. Embassy in an effort to ascertain the reason for his deportation on 9 September 1958. Dr. LEWIS called his wife from San Antonio on 9 September and stated that he and Mr. BLASENHEIM had been brought to San Antonio by the Mexican authorities. (Interview with Mrs. LEWIS by a U. S. Embassy official, 9 September 1958).

6. During the drive by Mexican authorities the following Americans were picked up, held and released after period varying from several hours to several days:

201-128561

A. Noah SEBORER - authorities went to his home on 7 September but were unable to locate him there. He appeared voluntarily for a check of his documents and was detained at the Detention Center on 8 September. As a naturalized citizen of the U. S. he could not be returned to the U. S. without documentation and no documentation other than his Mexican "red book" was provided to the Mexican authorities. He was released on 12 September 1958. (LIFEAT)

201-163487

B. Elizabeth Catlett de MORA - picked up but released after short detention. She is married to a Mexican citizen.

201-52557

C. Lan ADOMIAN - picked up on 9 September 1958 (LIFEAT). ADOMIAN is a Russian-born naturalized American who entered Mexico as a U. S. citizen but ught Immigration papers in Mexico as a Spaniard in view of his claim to Spanish tizenship, having been a member of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade during the Spanish Civil War. He enjoys immigrant status in Mexico.

D. Martin *OVERGAARD, who was deported from the U. S. in 1950 as an undesirable alien, was another of the group who was picked up during this drive. He is listed by the Mexicans as a Dane.

7. It is interesting to note that Excelsior, a reputable Mexican newspaper, commented that the major portion of group being detained were "pro-Soviet U. S. citizens, Europeans now naturalized Americans and some from Central and South America."

8. LINEB-1 reported that as of 11 September 1958 the American Communists in Mexico expected the arrests to cease very shortly. From LIFEAT it was learned that consternation existed among the group and that they had scattered to various places, in and around Mexico, after the first onslaught by the local authorities.

9. According to various newspaper articles the following persons were marked for detention if they could be located:

A. Ralph *SCOTT, former Alfred K. *STERN chauffeur and currently handling the STERN residence in Cuernavaca (LIMOUSINE reported that SCOTT was in Cuernavaca) on 21 September 1958. This station is not aware SCOTT a Communist but he is loyal to the STERNs - see various letters to and from Alfred K. and Martha Dodd STERN (in Prague)).

201-102553

B. Max *SHLAFROCK - he and his family are in New York City now and have been there for several months.

201-5557

201-125767

D. Frederick Vanderbilt *FIELD - "inmigrado" in Mexico and presently married to Nieves *TILLETT (former wife of James TILLET) by whom he has a child born in summer 1958.

201-28561

E. Maurice *HALPERIN - he and his wife left their residence on first hearing of the pick-ups. His son, David and family remained in their residence however. (LIFEAT)

F. Gray Dayton *BEMIS - has small chicken farm in Ixtapalapa, suburb of Mexico City at last report. An American by birth and married to a Guatemalan Communist who was active in organizing canneries on West Coast of U. S. BEMIS reportedly is ill. Has been "inmigrante" since April 1955 in Mexico.

G. Albert *MALTZ, one of the "Hollywood Ten." Local authorities are aware that MALTZ and family are in the United States at this time but were afraid that subject should re-enter Mexico under an assumed name. MALTZ is an "inmigrado." The papers also mentioned that Helen *SOBELL, wife of Morton *SOBELL, of the Rosenberg case, who is now in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, had been staying at the MALTZ residence during the time she was in Mexico (She departed Mexico on 10 September 1958 voluntarily.)

H. John *ARUCOCK (believed to be identical with Joseph *RASKOB, painter). "Inmigrante" in Mexico. If Joseph RASKOB is the one meant, he is believed to be in the U. S. A. exhibiting paintings. Reported as detained but no information that this was so.

Ex-OSS Official Works For Reds in Moscow

By VICTOR LASKY

North American Newspaper Alliance

A former Boston University professor, who once was a high official in the OSS, has turned up in Moscow working for the Soviet government.

The professor, Dr. Maurice H. Halperin, fled this country seven years ago after an inquiry into his Communist background.

According to the State Department, he probably is advising Soviet officials on Latin American affairs, an area in which he is expert.

Prof. Halperin was suspended by Boston University in 1953 after he refused, on constitutional grounds, to tell a Senate subcommittee whether he had ever been a Communist Party member.

According to the State Department, he had previously been involved in Soviet espionage in wartime Washington. He had been named by Elizabeth Terrill Bentley, admitted former spy courier, as one of her sources of supply among Government officials.

Intrigue in Mexico

And since 1953, Dr. Halperin has been involved in still more intrigue as an "exile" in Mexico. It was he, for example, who assisted two suspected spies in their flight from Mexico to Czechoslovakia to avoid United States extradition proceedings.

On July 15, 1960, Dr. Halperin and his wife, Edith, appeared at the United States Embassy in Moscow to present their United States passports for renewal.

All this was disclosed in a State Department memorandum prepared for Senator Keating, Republican of New York, who has been urging the passage of Eisenhower-supported legislation empowering the department to deny passports to active participants in Soviet skullduggery.

The memorandum, citing "cases where passports have had to be issued to known Communists," devoted considerable attention to the case of Dr. Halperin. It was obvious on the basis of the information contained in his dossier that the State Department had been keeping an eye on the former professor's movements for some time.

Fired in Oklahoma

From 1931 to 1941, Dr. Halperin—a Harvard University graduate—had been a professor at the University of Oklahoma. According to the record, it was in this period that he directed Communist activities in Oklahoma and, on repeated visits to Mexico, conferred with Mexican Red leaders. On one visit to Cuba in 1935, he and other leftwingers had been arrested by Cuban authorities and expelled from the country.

In 1941, much of this was disclosed in an investigation conducted by an Oklahoma State legislative committee. The committee, investigating subversive activities in Oklahoma, produced information that in 1940 Dr. Halperin had cashed a check for $436 drawn on the Bank of Foreign Trade in Moscow. As a result, Dr. Halperin was dismissed from the University of Oklahoma.

Despite this record, Dr. Halperin managed to enter Government service. Employed as chief of the Latin American division of the Office of Strategic Services (the OSS was then the United States Civilian Intelligence-Gathering Agency), he later was transferred to the State Department. In both agencies, according to the Elizabeth Bentley testimony, he transmitted confidential documents to a Soviet spy ring.

Linked to Spy Ring

In 1949, he became head of the Latin American regional students section at Boston University's College of Liberal Arts.

A year later, he was first publicly identified as a member of a Soviet spy ring. This came about when Vice President Nixon, then a California Congressman, made known a top secret memorandum on espionage transmitted by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to the White House on November 8, 1945.

In March, 1953, in Boston's Federal Building, Dr. Halperin repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment when—in a hearing conducted by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee—he refused to reply to various questions concerning his alleged Communist activities.

In November, 1953, Dr. Halperin and his wife, without notifying the university, left their home in the middle of the night never to return. Turning up in Mexico, they became members of the American Communist group in Mexico.

Like most ACGM members, the Halperins did well. They invested in an ice cream company, dabbled in real estate, and obtained jobs. Dr. Halperin was employed by the Mexican government as a financial consultant and his wife taught in the American School Foundation.

They also became friendly with Alfred K. Stern and his wife, the former Martha Dodd, daughter of a former United States Ambassador to Germany. The fact the Sterns had been implicated in Soviet espionage came out with the arrest in New York of Jack Soble, a Soviet agent. To avoid being extradited to the United States to testify before a special grand jury on their associations with Soble and "the double agent Boris Morros," the Sterns fled to Czechoslovakia in July, 1957.

Dr. Halperin, described as being "intimately involved in their plans for escape," had obtained airline reservations for the Sterns under other names. As a result, the Mexican government was considering his case for deportation. On October 13, 1958, the Halperins left Mexico, having obtained plane reservations in the names of other persons.

In Russia Since 1958

The State Department memorandum concludes:

"We received information shortly after Halperin's departure from Mexico that he was employed in Moscow by the USSR. This was confirmed on July 15, 1960, when the Halperins appeared at the American Embassy in Moscow and presented their United States passports for renewal.

"Halperin stated that he had been in the USSR since December, 1958, and that he is employed by the Soviet Academy of Sciences where he is doing research . . . relating to underdeveloped countries.

"It will be recalled that Halperin is something of an authority on Latin American affairs. Our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time.

"The Soviet Academy of Sciences is directly subordinate to the Council of Ministers."

Halperin, U. S. Ex-Aide, Is Now a Soviet Official

Associated Press

The State Department says that Maurice H. Halperin, a former United States Government official linked by Senate investigators to Soviet espionage activities, apparently is serving now as a Latin-American adviser to the Russians.

Halperin was head of the Latin-American Division of the Office of Strategic Services during the latter part of World War II and later an associate professor at Boston University. Before the war, he had been on the faculty of the University of Oklahoma.

In 1954 he was dismissed by Boston University after Senate investigators received testimony linking him to a Soviet spy ring and he refused to answer a question as to whether he was a Communist.

The latest information on Halperin's whereabouts is contained in a report compiled by the State Department about persons to whom it has been compelled to issue passports under a 1958 decision of the Supreme Court.

The Court held that the Department lacks authority to deny passports to Communists or to other persons because of their political beliefs.

After the ruling, Halperin applied for a passport at the American Embassy in Mexico City, where he had gone after being dismissed by Boston University, and used it to leave Mexico on Oct. 13, 1958.

The State Department said that shortly after Halperin and his wife departed from Mexico it received information that he was employed in Moscow by the Soviet Union.

"This was confirmed on July 15, 1960, when the Halperins appeared at the American Embassy in Moscow and presented their U. S. passports for renewal," the Department's report said, adding:

"Halperin stated that he had been in the U.S.S.R. since December, 1958, and that he is employed by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences where he is doing research in the foreign field, specially, relating to undeveloped countries."

The Department recalled that Halperin was something of an authority on Latin-American affairs and said, "Our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—The State Department has disclosed that a former United States intelligence official is in Moscow working for the Soviet Government.

He is Dr. Maurice Halperin, a former Boston University professor who was head of the Latin American Division of the Office of Strategic Services during World War II.

Dr. Halperin was dismissed from Boston University in 1954 after he refused to say whether he was a Communist. He has been linked in testimony before Senate investigators to a Soviet spy ring.

The State Department's disclosure was contained in a memorandum in support of a proposed law to deny passports to persons supporting international communism.

The Supreme Court ruled in 1958 that passports could not be denied to Communists or others because of their political beliefs.

Dr. Halperin and his wife, Edith, were then in Mexico City, the State Department noted. They had been linked to the escape behind the Iron Curtain of Alfred K. and Martha Dodd Stern, who were under Federal indictment for espionage.

After the Supreme Court ruling, the Halperins applied to the United States Embassy in Mexico City for passports and left Mexico Oct. 13, 1958. At the time, the State Department noted, they were about to be deported from Mexico for Communist activities.

Reports that Dr. Halperin was working for the Soviet Government in Moscow were confirmed last July 15, the State Department memorandum went on, when he and his wife appeared at the embassy to renew their passports.

Embassy officials reported that they had been told by Dr. Halperin that he and his wife had been in the Soviet Union since December, 1958, and that he was working for the Soviet Academy of Sciences "doing research in the foreign field, especially relating to underdeveloped countries."

The State Department, recalling that Dr. Halperin was an authority on Latin-American affairs, added that "our information indicates that this probably is the field in which he is working at the present time."

State Department officials have repeatedly called attention to the Soviet trade and cultural offensive in Latin America.

Referring to Dr. Haleprin's employment by the Soviet Academy, the State Department observed that it was directly subordinate to the Soviet Council of Ministers.

Requested by Keating

The memorandum was prepared at the request of Senator Kenneth B. Keating, Republican of New York. He and Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut, are sponsoring a bill that seeks to restore some of the State Department's authority to deny passports.

Senator Keating, who entered the memorandum in The Congressional Record of Aug. 16, expressed regret at the time that his bill was not likely to be passed in this session of Congress. President Eisenhower and State Department officials have backed the purpose of the measure.

Meanwhile, Representative Francis E. Walter, Democrat of Pennsylvania and chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activity, said he had ordered a month-long preliminary investigation into the case of two missing employes of the National Security Agency.

The two employes of the top-secret coding agency, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin, are alleged to have taken valuable secrets to the Soviet Union.

Representative Walter said that he understood that one of the missing man had made enquiries in their agency about the U-2 reconnaissance plane flight over the Soviet Union before it took place on May 1.

Mr. Walter said that he was convinced that the Soviet had had advance knowledge of the flight. Francis Gary Powers, the U-2 pilot, was downed in the Soviet Union and subsequently sentenced to ten years' detention.

Refused to Appear

BOSTON, Aug. 31—Dr. Halperin was officially dismissed from the faculty of Boston University on Jan. 6, 1954. He had refused a summons to appear before a university committee of review to discuss his case.

Dr. Harold C. Case, president of the university, telephoned Dr. Halperin in Mexico City offering to pay his expenses to Boston and return. But the professor declined. He had been chairman of the university's Latin-American regional studies.

Halperin Denies Giving Reds Advice on Latins

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (AP) — Maurice H. Halperin, former United States Government official who now lives in Moscow, yesterday accused the State Department of issuing a "deliberate and malicious distortion" about his status here.

In a typewritten statement, Mr. Halperin said:

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow . . . I am a visiting professor at the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it."

Last week Senator Keating, Republican of New York, read into the Congressional Record a State Department document which said Mr. Halperin is now in Moscow and is "working for the Soviet government."

Headed OSS Unit

The document said there were indications Mr. Halperin is giving the Soviet government advice on Latin-American affairs. During World War II, Mr. Halperin was head of the Latin American division of the United States Office of Strategic Services, an intelligence organization.

After the war, Mr. Halperin got a job with Boston University as a professor. He lost this job in 1953 because he refused to tell congressional investigators whether he ever had been a member of the American Communist Party.

The bald, mustached 54-year-old Mr. Halperin was located Sunday in a Moscow apartment house by a newsman and was asked to comment on the State Department's document.

Declines to Elaborate

(Moscow reported there were "technical difficulties" in moving the story until Monday. The newsman apparently was cut off while trying to telephone the story.)

Mr. Halperin first declined to admit the newsman into his apartment, but agreed to meet him later in the lobby of a nearby hotel where he promised to give a written statement.

Mr. Halperin appeared punctually at the agreed hour. He carried the following statement, on which he declined to elaborate:

"It seems to me that the State Department and Senator Keating are scraping the bottom of the barrel to come up with this stale red herring.

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival I have filed two United States income tax returns listing my salary and employer. I am not working for the Soviet government any more than Van Cliburn (an American pianist) when he performs in a government-owned concert hall.

"I am a visiting professor at the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it, as some of our leading scientists can testify. My appointment and my Soviet visa expire in July, 1961, as the United States Embassy here very well knows.

"My teaching and research activities involve theoretical problems related to the economic growth of underdeveloped areas. For the State Department to say that I am 'advising the Russians on Latin-American affairs' is a deliberate and malicious distortion.

"Specifically, I am making a study of the Latin-American economy from 1943 to the crisis of 1958. When my book is published it will be available to the State Department and anybody else willing to purchase a copy."

The United States Embassy declined to comment on the statement or on Mr. Halperin's status. It did say he appeared at the embassy in July and asked to have his American passport renewed. The request was granted, an embassy official said.

Halperin Says Reds Not Not Employ Him

MOSCOW, Sept. 4 (UPI) Maurice H. Halperin today branded a reported State Department statement that he is working as an adviser to the Soviet government on Latin American affairs as a "deliberate and malicious distortion."

In a statement to reporters, Halperin said he is a professor associated with the Academy of Sciences of the USSR, working on a book on Latin American economics, and, he explained, the American authorities know all about it.

(A State Department document in Washington last week said Halperin, a former Boston University professor and World War II intelligence specialist on Latin American affairs, was working for the Soviet government.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.), had the document entered in the Congressional Record.)

"It seems to me that the State Department and Senator Keating are sweeping the bottom of the barrel to come up with this red herring," Halperin said.

"There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival, I have filed two U. S. income tax returns, listing my salary and employer.

"I am not working for the Soviet government any more than Van Cliburn when he performed in a government-owned concert hall," he continued.

"I am a visiting professor in the USSR Academy of Sciences and not the first American to be associated with it. For the State of Department to say that I am an adviser to the Russians on Latin American affairs is a deliberate and malicious distortion.

"Specifically, I am making a study of the Latin American economy from 1945 to the crisis of 1958."

"COMMENT", Dec 75 issue (alumni magazine of Simon Fraser University in British Colombia.)

By Nick Hyde

Fortune, or chance, has played a major role in Simon Fraser Political Science professor Dr. Maurice Halperin's nearly seventy years of life.

It was chance that compelled him to seek employment with the National University of Mexico. It was chance that earned him a three-year post in Moscow. It was chance that led him to a teaching stint in Cuba. And it was chance that brought him to Simon Fraser seven years ago.

In fact, fortune began wielding its capricious influence over his life even before Dr. Halperin was born.

"I might have been born in Canada," he says. "My father sailed from Liverpool to the New World at the turn of the century, with Montreal as his destination. However, he decided to move on to Boston."

This was a "rather fortunate circumstance over which I had no control," since Montreal at the time was still a provincial city while Boston was "a metropolis, a great centre of culture and learning and all its splendid facilities were available to me."

Among those facilities which he made use of were the Boston Latin School — a secondary school which boasts such luminaries as Benjamin Franklin and Ralph Waldo Emerson among its alumni — and Harvard University.

He completed his postgraduate work in Paris at the Sorbonne which, at that time, was the most prestigious university in the world and "the impact it had on my way of life and thinking was a permanent one."

While attending the Sorbonne, Dame Fortune stepped in and "I was appointed to the faculty as a Reader in North American Civilization. Even though I came from Harvard, the level of competence and sophistication of the French students was much higher and I had to work very hard to keep up with them."

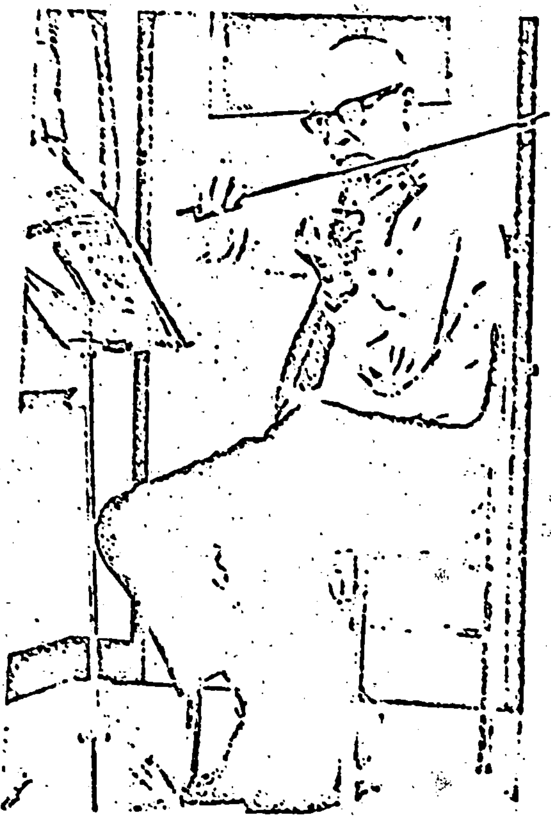
After completing his doctorate, Dr. Halperin joined the faculty at the University of Oklahoma and found that midwestern state to be "like another country. Boston and Paris were much closely related than were Boston and Oklahoma."

However, chance intervened to rescue him from what could have been a number of indifferent years in a then small and remote university on the American Prairies, turning them into years spent in "an oasis of high culture."

Dr. Halperin explains:

"It was during the Depression and jobs were scarce, so the university attracted a number of bright teachers and researchers whose first choice might not have been Oklahoma.

"And when you have a group of people like that, in addition to the opportunity of understanding and learning to appreciate the virtues of middle America, well, it was something that stayed with me for the rest of my life."



Maurice Halperin, Simon Fraser's oldest professor, is a keen musician who has played with the New Westminster Symphony Orchestra.

The Second World War interrupted Dr. Halperin's sojourn at the University of Oklahoma and he joined the Office of Strategic Services, a special research and intelligence agency attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"I had a front row seat in the planning of some of the most interesting operations of the war," he says. "I consider my experiences there were at least the equivalent of a second PhD because I was associated with a whole group of social scientists in different disciplines.

"Through this, I had the realization that we had practical matters to consider in the social sciences, as well as theoretical ones. And I learned the value of co-operative effort, the value of getting work done on time, and the value of efficiency in research.

"It helped me to see the relationship between the social sciences and practical problems. I became more oriented toward problem solving than I had been before."

Dame Fortune keeps popping up in life of SFU's oldest professor and has taken him to Mexico, Cuba, Moscow — and to 'best place of all'

After the war, Dr. Halperin worked with the United Nations for a couple of years and then joined the faculty of Boston University where he was involved in the establishment of an interdisciplinary department of Latin American studies.

During this period he visited Brazil twice, lecturing at the University of Sao Paulo and serving as a consultant to the state government of Sao Paulo. After his second visit, he was decorated by the Brazilian government with the Order of the Southern Cross.

It was then that chance interfered again, this time in a most malicious way.

"My stay at Boston coincided with the most intense period of McCarthyism and this raised problems for a great number of people at the time. In my own case, I was given the choice of co-operating with the Inquisition or, as it turned out, losing my job.

"Among other disagreeable aspects of co-operating, it would have turned me into an informer against people who, as far as I know, had committed no crime. I just couldn't think of facing my students with their knowledge that I was an informer."

Leaving Boston University, he went to the National University of Mexico City where he remained for six years. While working there, he did some consulting work for the Mexican government, thereby gaining further practical experience on the problems of underdevelopment in Latin America.

This experience led directly to his next position — a three-year appointment at the Academy of Sciences in Moscow. Halperin explains:

"At that time, the period when Kruschev was trying to loosen up some of the rigid controls of Stalin's dictatorship, there was a desire at the Academy to have some western expertise on Latin American developmental problems. In other words, my Mexican experience was a direct prerequisite for the Moscow invitation.

"It's strange how, in retrospect, what seemed to be a rather difficult choice in 1953 turned out to be very lucky. You never know. Something happens that can crush you or, on the contrary, can make you healthier and more robust than you've ever been before.

"And, when the invitation came from Moscow, I was footloose and free. My status in Mexico was always that of a visiting professor, so I had no problems of security — tenure or pension, for example — to tie me down when it came. I had nothing to lose and everything to gain."

Dr. Halperin spent three years at the Academy and found it to be an extraordinary experience. "I wasn't there as a tourist; neither was I there as an outside researcher. I was actually in the machine, with no permanent ties to it. I was working in the factory, rather than just studying it."

Fate once again intervened in his life, this time in the form of the celebrated Latin American guerrilla leader, Che Guevara.

"Late one night, there was a knock on my door and I opened it and there stood Che with a couple of his Cuban friends. He had been told about me by mutual friends in Mexico and they suggested that, in view of the need for competent educators and social scientists in Cuba, I might be interested in accepting an invitation to teach at the University of Havana."

As it happened, Dr. Halperin was interested. He spent the next six years in Cuba, and after leaving, produced a book on the country — The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro: An Essay in Contemporary History. It was published by the University of California Press and a second edition, in paperback, has recently appeared. (Incidentally, Dr. Halperin's published work spans 45 years and "several thousand pages.")

As with the Moscow appointment, it was the fact that he was freed of concerns about job security, since he had none, which allowed him to accept Guevara's offer.

Although Cuba was "a very pleasant country," Dr. Halperin found life there to be somewhat disconcerting since, "as a highly-paid foreign expert, I lived high off the hog and didn't share the austerity of the rest of the country.

"And it was troubling, you know, when neighbors would knock on our door to see if we could spare a thimbleful of salt or a tablespoon of cooking oil and there we were, sitting with everything at our disposal."

And a further quirk of fate, naturally, brought him to Simon Fraser in 1968. He'd met a Canadian while in Havana and one day, about a year later, he received a phone call "from a place called Burnaby." It was the same Canadian, inviting him to participate in a seminar on Latin America, with "all expenses paid."

When he received the invitation, in the spring of 1968, he had already resigned his position in Havana and was planning to return to the United States the following September. "When the invitation came, I thought, 'Two weeks? Why not?', so I accepted and came up here and, like the man who came to dinner, they couldn't get rid of me.

"I never dreamed I would end up in Canada, three-quarters of a century after my father left it, but I now feel thoroughly assimilated to the Canadian environment." In fact, he's so well assimilated that he is now listed in the Canadian edition of Who's Who.

During his well-travelled life, Dr. Halperin has had the opportunity to teach at a number of reputable institutions in North America, Europe and Latin America but he says that he's "never been in a more congenial place than Simon Fraser, never in my life.

"It's the best place, all in all, that I've ever been. Students and faculty have it very good here and I'm not talking only about the splendid scenery and the mild climate. The facilities for learning, teaching, research and recreation — I'm a steady customer at the swimming pool and the [illegible] you know — are magnificent."

While attending the Sorbonne, Dame Fortune stepped in and "I was appointed to the faculty as a Reader in North American Civilization. Even though I came from Harvard, the level of competence and sophistication of the French students was much higher and I had to work very hard to keep up with them."

After completing his doctorate, Dr. Halperin joined the faculty at the University of Oklahoma and found that midwestern state to be "like another country. Boston and Paris were much closely related than were Boston and Oklahoma."

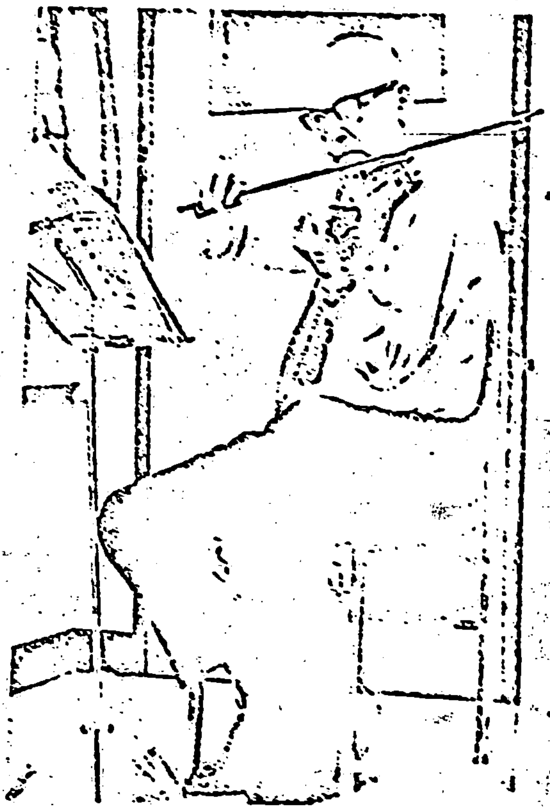
However, chance intervened to rescue him from what could have been a number of indifferent years in a then small and remote university on the American Prairies, turning them into years spent in "an oasis of high culture."

Dr. Halperin explains:

"It was during the Depression and jobs were scarce, so the university attracted a number of bright teachers and researchers whose first choice might not have been Oklahoma.

"And when you have a group of people like that, in addition to the opportunity of understanding and learning to appreciate the virtues of middle America, well, it was something that stayed with me for the rest of my life."

The Second World War interrupted Dr. Halperin's sojourn at the University of Oklahoma and he joined the Office of Strategic Services, a special research and intelligence agency attached to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.



Maurice Halperin, Simon Fraser's oldest professor, is a keen musician who has played with the New Westminster Symphony Orchestra.

"I had a front row seat in the planning of some of the most interesting operations of the war," he says. "I consider my experiences there were at least the equivalent of a second PhD because I was associated with a whole group of social scientists in different disciplines.

"Through this, I had the realization that we had practical matters to consider in the social sciences as well as theoretical ones. And I learned the value of co-operative effort, the value of getting work done on time, and the value of efficiency in research.

"It helped me to see the relationship between the social sciences and practical problems. I became more oriented toward problem solving than I had been before."

Dame Fortune keeps popping up in life of SFU's oldest professor and has taken him to Mexico, Cuba, Moscow — and to 'best place of all'

After the war, Dr. Halperin worked with the United Nations for a couple of years and then joined the faculty of Boston University where he was involved in the establishment of an interdisciplinary department of Latin American studies.

During this period he visited Brazil twice, lecturing at the University of Sao Paulo and serving as a consultant to the state government of Sao Paulo. After his second visit, he was decorated by the Brazilian government with the Order of the Southern Cross.

It was then that chance interfered again, this time in a most malicious way.

"My stay at Boston coincided with the most intense period of McCarthyism and this raised problems for a great number of people at the time. In my own case, I was given the choice of co-operating with the Inquisition or, as it turned out, losing my job.

"Among other disagreeable aspects of co-operating, it would have turned me into an informer against people who, as far as I knew, had committed no crime. I just couldn't think of facing my students with their knowledge that I was an informer."

Leaving Boston University, he went to the National University of Mexico City where he remained for six years. While working there, he did some consulting work for the Mexican government, thereby gaining further practical experience on the problems of underdevelopment in Latin America.

This experience led directly to his next position — a three-year appointment at the Academy of Sciences in Moscow. Halperin explains:

"At that time, the period when Kruschev was trying to loosen up some of the rigid controls of Stalin's dictatorship, there was a desire at the Academy to have some western expertise on Latin American developmental problems. In other words, my Mexican experience was a direct prerequisite for the Moscow invitation.

"It's strange how, in retrospect, what seemed to be a rather difficult choice in 1953 turned out to be very lucky. You never know. Something happens that can crush you or, on the contrary, can make you healthier and more robust than you've ever been before.

"And, when the invitation came from Moscow, I was footloose and free. My status in Mexico was always that of a visiting professor, so I had no problems of security — tenure or pension, for example — to tie me down when it came. I had nothing to lose and everything to gain."

Dr. Halperin spent three years at the Academy and found it to be an extraordinary experience. "I wasn't there as a tourist; neither was I there as an outside researcher. I was actually in the machine, with no permanent ties to it. I was working in the factory, rather than just studying it."

Fate once again intervened in his life, this time in the form of the celebrated Latin American guerrilla leader, Che Guevara.

"Late one night, there was a knock on my door and I opened it and there stood Che with a couple of his Cuban friends. He had been told about me by mutual friends in Mexico and they suggested that, in view of the need for competent educators and social scientists in Cuba, I might be interested in accepting an invitation to teach at the University of Havana."

As it happened, Dr. Halperin was interested. He spent the next six years in Cuba, and after leaving, produced a book on the country — The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro: An Essay in Contemporary History. It was published by the University of California Press and a second edition, in paperback, has recently appeared. (Incidentally, Dr. Halperin's published work spans 45 years and "several thousand pages.")

As with the Moscow appointment, it was the fact that he was freed of concerns about job security, since he had none, which allowed him to accept Guevara's offer.

Although Cuba was "a very pleasant country," Dr. Halperin found life there to be somewhat disconcerting since, "as a highly-paid foreign expert, I lived high off the hog and didn't share the austerity of the rest of the country.

"And it was troubling, you know, when neighbors would knock on our door to see if we could spare a thimbleful of salt or a tablespoon of cooking oil and there we were, sitting with everything at our disposal."

And a further quirk of fate, naturally, brought him to Simon Fraser in 1968. He'd met a Canadian while in Havana and one day, about a year later, he received a phone call "from a place called Burnaby." It was the same Canadian, inviting him to participate in a seminar on Latin America, with "all expenses paid."

When he received the invitation, in the spring of 1968, he had already resigned his position in Havana and was planning to return to the United States the following September. "When the invitation came, I thought: 'Two weeks? Why not?', so I accepted and came up here and, like the man who came to dinner, they couldn't get rid of me.

"I never dreamed I would end up in Canada. Three-quarters of a century after my father left it, but I now feel thoroughly assimilated to the Canadian environment." In fact, he's so well assimilated that he is now listed in the Canadian edition of Who's Who.

During his well-travelled life, Dr. Halperin has had the opportunity to teach at a number of reputable institutions in North America, Europe and Latin America but he says that he's "never been in a more congenial place than Simon Fraser, never in my life.

"It's the best place, all in all, that I've ever been. Students and faculty have it very good here and I'm not talking only about the splendid scenery and the mild climate. [illegible] facilities for learning, teaching, research and recreation [illegible] a steady customer at the swimming pool and the [illegible] you know — are magnificent."

Independence Entangled

The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro

by Maurice Halperin

(University of California Press; $12.95)

At the end of a passage describing the euphoric early days of the Cuban Revolution, Maurice Halperin laments: "Alas, it was destined to change." In effect, this attitude symbolizes his reaction and assessment of Castro and Cuba in this first volume of a two-part study of the revolution from the first days of Fidelismo to the present. A note of frustration which occasionally marks his narrative of the first five years of the revolution undoubtedly comes from his sense of the unfulfilled promise of the July 26th Movement. For a great many Western intellectuals (including Halperin), this has been a characteristic reaction. In the first exuberant months, it seemed as if Cuba might become the first Socialist revolution to rise spontaneously out of historical circumstances, not led by a rigid party structure, and the first to proclaim a "joyous socialism," rather than the tortuous necessities of work norms, ideological conformity and sacrifice. After several years of living in Cuba, through its best and bleakest moments, Halperin feels that this possibility is extinguished. One feels that he wanted very much for it to succeed. His book is an explanation of why the revolution failed.

Although the current volume only covers the first five years of the revolution, the author breaks into the chronology to keep the next years' events in mind. Everything about the revolution was in flux as he sees it, but at the same time Castro's bungling, bravado and adventurism made surrender to a rigid, bureaucratic socialism almost inevitable. Nothing, from Halperin's point of view, could be a sadder reflection of this devolution than the support Cuba lent to the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Halperin's basic argument is that Castro's "rise and decline" must be seen as an international event. For this reason he writes primarily about the foreign policy of the revolution (the only pictures in the book show Castro during his 1963 trip to the Soviet Union). If it is accurate to say that the revolution was pushed leftward and finally into an alliance with the Soviet Union by the inept and hostile policy of the United States, then it is also true that Cuba's fate has continued to depend upon the international struggle between the US and the Soviet Union. While Castro may have been committed to Cuban nationalism and social reform at home, he could, ironically, only achieve these goals by means of an aggressive foreign policy.

Castro remains a vague and blustery figure while Che Guevara figures hardly at all. By placing his emphasis elsewhere, Halperin tells the story of the revolution through the events which touched it from the outside, particularly those which effected its ties to the Communist world. Most important were the Sino-Soviet struggle, the world price of sugar, the internal bureaucratic struggle of the USSR, the changing American presidency, the role of the Cuban Communist Party, the CIA, and so on. Gathering his facts primarily from magazine and newspaper articles, plus his own first-hand knowledge of events, he pieces together a fascinating reading of Castro's speeches, policy changes and their context. The shifting and rather indecisive attitude of the revolutionary leadership toward artistic and intellectual liberty, for example, has stemmed from Castro's need to balance conflicting demands: for orthodoxy by Cuban and Russian Communists, and for greater freedoms by Western intellectuals.

Castro's dilemma has always been to assert Cuban independence, and yet retain alignment with the USSR. Perhaps this contradictory policy was doomed, if for no other reason than Cuba's enormous dependence upon other nations to absorb her products and provide her with energy. In any case, when Castro opted to exploit the Cold War and let Khrushchev foot the bill, he created the crisis which Halperin pinpoints. He made the economic success of the revolution at home an absolute necessity, yet a necessity that could only be met with outside help. Castro's own impatience, inefficiency and indecision made matters worse. From the early attempts to industrialize to the abrupt and devastating decision to produce a mammoth sugar crop in 1970, the Cuban economy, the author argues, has continually sunk to lower levels. The result is Castro's dependence upon the Soviet Union, an admission of failure.

Halperin's emphasis on foreign affairs makes good sense, but leaves little room for discussion of the internal dynamics of the revolution and of the impact of social reforms on the population. It makes what Castro said and did, and the revolution itself, explicable only in a sort of code of international affairs. However, given the volatile nature of Cuban politics and the Cold War, it still seems too early to write off the revolution.

Fidel Castro

Gifted demagogue

The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro — An Essay in Contemporary History, by Maurice Halperin. Berkeley, Los Angeles, London: University of California Press. $12.95.

By Philip W. Bonsal

Maurice Halperin has been forced out of two teaching positions at American universities because of his political beliefs. He spent three years on the faculty of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, went to Cuba in 1962 at the invitation of Che Guevara and, though his relations with Guevara quickly deteriorated, spent six years at the University of Havana.

Though one might expect from such a background that dreary mix of the stuffy and the shrill so often associated with the polemics of the far left or right, Professor Halperin's book is a work of insight, wit and understanding.

In this book he concentrates on the first five years of Castro's rule, through 1964, with a sequel to come. However, this volume contains enough about the later years to warrant the use of the word "decline" in his title.

After stressing the pride and optimism of the revolution's fifth anniversary, he writes that none of those present at its celebration "could remotely imagine the disappointments and failures that lay ahead, and that on the tenth anniversary of the Revolution, there would be only bitter austerity and hard work — and the tarnished but unflinching charisma of Fidel — to arouse their enthusiasm."

Professor Halperin's account of Castro's first two years in power (when the author was not yet in Cuba) does not give due credit to the United States. After all, initially the United States did make efforts to find an accommodation with Castro, despite the latter's vicious anti-Americanism and his plundering of American properties in ways not even provided by Castro-dictated legislation.

Nor does he adequately explain how, after the policy of accommodation had been abandoned, injudicious American economic sanctions plus the Bay of Pigs failure left the presumably reluctant and sceptical Russians no choice other than massive support for Castro and Guevara.

But when Castro and Khrushchev had become masters of the Cuban people's destiny, Professor Halperin comes into his own. His description of the relations between those volatile and voluble rulers is a delight. The Chairman's surrender over the missiles in his October, 1962, confrontation with President Kennedy, without informing Castro first, much less consulting him, was deeply humiliating to his Cuban ally.

Yet by April of 1963 the sulks and strains of the previous fall had been banished. With uncontested rhetoric the two autocrats bemused their peoples and themselves into the spectacular euphoria that surrounded Castro's visit to Russia. How this was done is but one engaging example of Professor Halperin's analytic and narrative talents.

This exuberant reconciliation did not prove lasting. Khrushchev was overthrown — perhaps partly because of his unprofitable strategic involvement in Cuba. Castro's export of subversion and insurrection to other American republics was considered tactically undesirable by the Kremlin.

Guevara's fatal campaign in Bolivia and other setbacks, combined with the failure of grandiose but unsound schemes for industrialization and agricultural diversification at home, considerably diminished Castro's stature.

His downward curve was further accelerated by failure — after six years of preparations and exhortations — to produce ten million tons of sugar in 1970 and by the disruption of the Cuban economy that effort had caused. Castro's later reconciliations with his Russian patrons smacked more than a little of submissions.

Professor Halperin also describes the Washington-initiated exploration during the final weeks of President Kennedy's life, of a basis for discussions between the Cuban and American governments. He believes that if Kennedy had lived something constructive might have evolved from the effort. His conclusion is debatable, since nine years have now elapsed without any significant positive development.

During those nine years there has indeed been a cooling down of American attitudes toward Cuba.

But Castro's attitude toward the United States has not changed. His concept is still that his people, armed to the teeth and knowing only what he chooses to tell them, must remain blindly united around their Maximum Leader, ready to thwart the plots of the once defeated but still wickedly unrepentant imperialists.

This is unfortunate. Although a return to the old association between the two countries is neither desirable nor possible, the people of both would profit from a rational relationship. This will not be easy to establish even when both governments are truly ready to face the task. Meanwhile in the light of Professer Halperin's brilliant account of contemporary Cuba, it seems reasonable to speculate that increasing numbers of Castro's subjects are less willing now to entrust their lives to the phenomenally gifted orchestrator of mass emotions — politically often astute yet repeatedly incompetent in so many fields — who has been their absolute ruler since 1959.

Philip Bonsal was American Ambassador to Cuba, 1959-1960, the first two years of Castro's rule. He is the author of "Cuba, Castro, and the United States" (University of Pittsburgh Press).

The Rise and Decline of Fidel Castro

Maurice Halperin

The author of this unusual book was twice forced out of teaching positions at American universities because of his political beliefs. He spent three years on the faculty of the USSR Academy of Sciences and five years, from 1962 to 1968, at the University of Havana. He went to Cuba in 1962 on the invitation of Che Guevara, who had visited him in Moscow, and there gathered the materials for this intimate portrait of the Castro regime.

Mr. Halperin concentrates his attention on Castro's foreign policy, placing it in the context of domestic policy and conditions. Obviously skilled in reading the new socialist rhetoric, Professor Halperin guides the reader through the maze of documents, speeches, and propaganda which constitute the record of the Castro regime during the sensational events involving Kennedy, Khrushchev, missiles, and the CIA. Although the main narrative is concerned with the years 1959-1964—primarily the period of the rise of Fidel Castro—it contains digressions into events of the following years when, according to the author, Castro's great utopian dreams turned into nightmares. A second volume, carrying the story down to the present, is in preparation.

Maurice Halperin is Professor of Political Science at Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, B.C.

"A brilliant contribution to the literature on contemporary Cuba and perhaps even more a remarkable series of insights into the new politics of mass society."

INFO
FROM WARREN H. TIBBENHAM
SUBJECT Maurice Hyman HALPERIN
ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

1. It is requested that you take up the case of HALPERIN with KKCOWBELL. Attached for your information and background is some biographic data and information concerning his activities on behalf of Soviet Intelligence.

2. We would like you to explore with KKCOWBELL the possibility of sending one of his officers here to debrief HALPERIN along the lines of the Milton SCHWARTZ case. The fact that he has been unwilling to tell us anything and is yet now anti-Soviet indicates that a KKCOLLIER officer might have much better entree. Give KKCOWBELL as much of the attached information as he seems to need to make a decision.

3. Subject is probably still in British Columbia at the university mentioned, but in any case the KKCOLLIERs should be able to locate him precisely through Subject's son and/or daughter at the addresses given. It is known that he is quite close to his children.

4. In any event, we are interested in any comments or traces KKCONCOCTER may have concerning him.

2. The RCMP interviewed HALPERIN in early 1969. He was friendly and indicated he is now anti-Soviet but was reluctant to talk about the past. He said he wants to write a book "setting all the past into proper perspective."

SUBJECT: Maurice Hyman HALPERIN
DPOB: Boston, 3 March 1906

1. The source for the following information is a highly-sensitive, thoroughly-tested informant with knowledge of KGB activities in North America during the Second World War:

A. Source knew that Maurice Hyman HALPERIN, Chief of the Latin American Division of O.S.S., was a valuable KGB agent while he was in O.S.S.

B. Source knew three KGB officers who at various times during the Second World War were responsible for directing HALPERIN and other penetrations of the U. S. Government - Vasilij Mikhailovich ZUBILIN aka ZARUBIN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York City; Pavel Panteleymonovich KLARIN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York and Stepan Zakharovich APRESYAN, Soviet Vice-Consul in New York.

2. It is known from several other sources, including Elizabeth BENTLEY, that HALPERIN had been involved in communist activities since the late 1920's and had worked for the KGB during World War II.

3. HALPERIN refused to tell a U. S. Senate committee if he had been a CP member and in 1953 he fled from the U.S. to Mexico. In 1958 he went to the USSR and allegedly worked for the Academy of Science and Moscow University. In 1962 he left Moscow and went to Cuba. He aided Alfred Kaufman STERN and Martha Dodd STERN to escape from the U.S.A. to Czechoslovakia in 1957.

4. HALPERIN's career can be divided into the following periods:

1931-1941	Professor at the University of Oklahoma
1941-1945	C.O.I. - O.S.S.
1945-1946	Department of State
1946-1949	American-Jewish Conference, handling minority groups and acting as a liaison official with the U.N.
1949-1953	Boston University
1953-1958	Mexico
1958-1968	U.S.S.R. and Cuba
1968-1969	Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, British Columbia.

5. If HALPERIN agreed to cooperate, he would be an extremely valuable source on a number of topics, as is indicated by the outline of his career. One of the most important topics, and the one in which we are in the best position to check the validity of his information, is that of KGB penetration of the U. S. Government, especially O.S.S. and the State Department.

6. HALPERIN has indicated that he is now anti-Soviet.

7. HALPERIN's son, Dr. David HALPERIN, lives at 5309 South Harper Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

8. HALPERIN's daughter, Judith GAMORON, and his son-in-law Rabbi Hillel GAMORON, reside at 617 North Witcomb Drive, Palatine, Illinois.

9. HALPERIN is quite deaf.

The following is a SMADOVE request for approval to disseminate WOFIRM derogatory information concerning Subject. SMADOVE/26 hand-carried the request to us and made the comment that SMADOVE hoped that WOFIRM would refuse the request since the derogatory information could have come only from one or two sources and SMADOVE is generally opposed to making public information that has been acquired by covert means. Although the following does not mention it, a similar request has been sent to LNERGO and SMORANGE:

1. "In order to acquaint you and your Agency with the reason for our request in paragraph 6 below, we would explain that recent changes in the regulations of the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the provisions of the Immigration Appeal Board Act have created certain problems.

2. "When a Special Inquiry is held by an Immigration Officer at a Canadian Port of Entry to enquire into a persons admissibility, if information is available to the SMADOVE prohibiting the immigrant's entry under the provisions of the Immigration Act, and this information cannot be released for security reasons, SMADOVE is required by Immigration Regulations to issue a "Solemn Declaration" for use at the Inquiry. Should such an Inquiry result unfavorably for the immigrant, he has the right of appeal.

3. "In issuing the first "Solemn Declaration", in order to provide protection for our sources, we only made a declaration that we were in possession of information making the subject ineligible for entry to Canada under Section 5 of the Immigration Act. However, the Immigration Appeal Board has since ruled that a "Solemn Declaration" should contain sufficient information to enable the individual, against whom action is being taken, to have a reasonable opportunity of knowing the nature of the allegations.

As you will note, we ha provided information which in the opinion of our legal branch will be the minimum requirement if our declaration is to be found valid.

5. "We would therefore request that you ascertain if consideration can be given to have your Agency authorize us to include the information contained in lines nine, ten and eleven of the attached draft "Solemn Declaration". The decision of your Agency should be made with the understandings that the declaration would be available to HALPERIN and his counsel at both the Immigration Special Inquiry and the Immigration Appeal Board Hearing.

REF: OCOA-11131, 6 October 1966

SHADOVE has furnished the following additional information regarding Subject.

1. On 5 July 1966, Maurice HALPERIN advised a reliable source that he and his wife were in Montreal to visit their children. HALPERIN stated he has a daughter residing in the United States but would not be entering that country. HALPERIN stated to source that they would remain in Montreal, Quebec, as he had to purchase a hearing aid and obtain additional medical attention. HALPERIN went on to state that he and his wife are American citizens and plan to eventually return to the United States. Maurice HALPERIN concluded by stating he is teaching economics at the University of Havana, Havana, Cuba.

2. The HALPERINS did not otherwise come to our attention during their stay in Canada.

3. The foregoing may be disseminated for official purposes, providing SHADOVE is not named as the source.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: "American Defectors to the USSR"

1. The attached material was part of a soft file entitled "American Defectors to the USSR", which was set up by SR/6 (Support) around 1960 and maintained by various SR components until ca. 1963. The compilations were derived from a variety of sources, and contain both classified and overt data.

2. In the fall of 1966, the files were turned over to CI Staff. In most instances, basic information was then abstracted for the US Defector Machine Program. In all instances in which the material was unique, or represented a valuable collation effort, it has been incorporated into the appropriate 201 file, along with a copy of this memorandum.

3. It is suggested that any dissemination of this data should be coordinated with SB Division and with CI Staff (CI/MRO), in view of the frequently inadequate sourcing and of the fact that disseminations have already been made through the US Defector Machine Program.

HALPERIN Maurice Hyman, ~~—~~ 201-125561

3 March 1906, Boston
Professor and long-time communist

1931. Already a Harvard graduate and communist, he became a professor at Oklahoma University. (OO files)

1935. He made a trip to Cuba, where he and other left-wingers were arrested and expelled. During this period he continued to direct communist activities in Oklahoma and made ~~[illegible]~~ many trips to Mexico to confer with Mexican communist leaders. (OO files)

1940. He cashed a check drawn on the Bank of Foreign Trade, Moscow. [This was not discovered until 1941; see next item.] (OO files)

1941. Congressional investigation of ~~xxxxx~~ subversive activities in Oklahoma uncovered the check-cashing, his 1935 visit to and expulsion from Cuba, association with leftist individuals, articles to left-wing publications, membership in left-wing groups like Civil Liberties Committee, etc. (SRS, memo from Herman Horton to Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, 10 August 1960)

8 September 1941. Dismissed from Oklahoma U. while on sabbatical. Reinstated 11 Feb 1942 but with understanding he would resign at termination of sabbatical. (SRS, Herman Horton memo)

1942. Late in the year, Elizabeth Bentley was introduced to him by Jacob GOLOS, according to her 1948 testimony. (CI/SIG, OO, SRS)

1943. As of this time he worked for OSS in Washington D.C., despite his known communist activities and sympathies. He was (or became before the end of the war) head of the OSS Latin American Division. (Washington Post, 1 Sept 1960, attached). According to Elizabeth Bentley's testimony and book ("Out of Bondage"), he supplied Golos and the communist apparat with information from his OSS office. (SIG,SRS)

1948. Elizabeth Bentley testified that she had met him in late 1942 through Jacob Golos (known Soviet agent) and that while Halperin was employed by the OSS in wartime Washington he gave information to Golos. (SIG)

Autumn 1949. He began teaching at Boston University. (SRS, Horton memo)

Late 1952 or early 1953. By this time he was director of Latin American Regional Studies at Boston University. He was summoned to testify before the Jenner Committee in Boston, since Bentley had named him as one of her sources. He refused to say whether he was a communist. (OO files)

RIS 13/11/67

Later in 1953. He was suspended by certain B.U. authorities in disagreement with an impartial B.U. committee which had decided not to fire him for the time being. (OO files)

28 November 1953. The Halperins took off for Mexico. (SRS, Horton memo)

6 January 1954. He was formally dismissed from B.U. (SRS, Horton memo)

A# 00784

about their association with Jack Soble and Boris Morros. Halperin was very closely associated with them and instrumental in their getaway plans - he got their plane reservations without saying they were for the Sterns until the last minute, etc. (SRS; NY Herald Trib 1 Sept 60)

A# 25361

Later in 1957 or the first half of 1958. Public disclosure of his role in the Stern affair caused him and his wife (Edith nee Frisch) to lose their jobs. She was a teacher at the American School Foundation, while he worked in a Mexican Government bank and at the Mexico University National School of Political and Social Sciences. (SRS, Horton memo)

26 July 1958. They applied for US passports at the American Embassy in Mexico City. (SRS, Horton memo)

26 August 1958. Their passports were issued. (SRS, Horton memo). This followed a 1958 Supreme Court decision that the State Department could not deny a passport because of communist or other political beliefs. (Wash Post, 1 Sept 60)

25 September 1958. Their passports were visaed by the Mexican authorities "to travel in Mexico in the status of immigrants," valid till 25 Sept 59. (SRS, DBF-56611. By this time the Mexican Government had begun deporting US communists. (SRS, Horton memo)

13 October 1958. They departed Mexico. (Horton memo and Wash Post, 1 Sep 60)

✓ 11 November 1958. They arrived in Czechoslovakia. (SRS, DBF-56611)

3 December 1958. They arrived in the USSR on tourist visas to firm up tentative job offer (the Soviets wouldn't commit themselves before he actually in USSR.) Job was visiting professor under Social Sciences Division of USSR Academy of Sciences, on contract till July 1961; no teaching, but research and handling student theses. Salary unfavorable since in rubles, but he hoped to compensate by getting experience and material for book; also use rubles for grand tour of USSR before departure. (CI/SIG and SRS, DBF-56611)

13 December 1958. They in Moscow as of this date but must have gone to Leningrad soon after, since he said his job was there at first. They moved to Moscow some time before July 1960. (SRS, DBF-56611)

15 July 1960. He and wife appeared at the American Embassy Moscow to renew their passports. No excuse for not having reported in earlier. The passports were renewed for two years, to expire July 1962. They gave their legal address as Medellin 36, Mexico City, and their current address as Kutuzovski Prospekt 13, apt 127, Moscow. Halperin gave them the job information reported above under 3 December 1958 and indicated that they intended to leave the USSR upon expiration of the contract in July 1961. Both were frank about the shortcomings of Soviet life. When asked if they would return to the States in July 61, he said that their permanent address was Mexico. A daughter and her husband and children were visiting then until 3 July. (SRS, DBF-56611) 24 August 1960)

[illegible]

October 1960. The American Embassy requested that he appear for an interview about just what his job was. He wrote on 30 October saying that they were just leaving on vacation and swearing that his job was not in conflict with his US citizenship. A certain Max Berger [not further identified] reported that Halperin was getting higher-than-usual salary and his passport should be revoked. (SRS, DBA-1753, 6 February 1962)

SECRET

November-December 1960. Halperin, "an identified Soviet agent who left the US in 1960 [sic] and is now in the Soviet Union," was to be head of one of the two new organizations founded during a Moscow conference of communist leaders: "office for permanent studies and cooperation with Latin American parties" to be organized by the Communist Parties of Argentina, Brazil, and Cuba, and to be located in Peiping. [This presumably never happened.] (SRS, TDCS-3/462,130, 13 January 1961, info Nov-Dec 60, from an official Swedish service from usually-reliable source who Polish official with high-level contacts)

As of February 1961. He was reported as a US national lecturing in economics at Moscow U. Helped gather data for Che Guevara's Punta del Este speech. The Halperin's son in US was planning visit them in 61 but canceled to their great disappointment. Halperin seemed to regret having gone to the USSR and said on several occasions he would like to return to the US; always "joking" about the unpleasant aspects of life in the SU. Had been offered job in Cuba and was trying decide whether accept. (SRS, CSCI-3/772,459, 7 Sept 1962, from Cuban refugee who was Economic Counselor at Cuban Embassy Moscow Oct 60 - Feb 61)

July 1962. Their passports would have expired, requiring issuance of new ones. (Only passports actually issued - not renewed - after September 1959 had the new three-year validity instead of the old two-year validity, according to Central Processing.) We have no record of ~~xx~~issue of new ones, but it seems to have been done, because at the end of 1962 Halperin spoke of keeping his US citisenship after moving to Cuba.

1 October 1962. They moved to Cuba. He was already working in a textile factory and would start teaching at Havana University on 8 October. (SRS; copy of a glad-to-be-back, pro-Cuban propaganda-like ~~letter~~ personal letter written by Halperin). They got a big welcome in Cuba because they came from Moscow, but it soon wore off and the Cubans considered him cold and pedantic. (SRS, DBA-62084, 13 January 1964)

21 January 1963. Elizabeth Mora (long-time communist) returned to Mexico from a women's congress in Havana, where she had seen the Halperins. They had a mansion and servants because of his "important job," but he had aged greatly, looked old, had to do without such amenities as underwear and socks, was rationed to one tube of toothpaste every six months, etc. Wife said it was Soviet treatment that had broken him, not Cuban. They intended to stay in Cuba because of the friendlier climate and his feeling more useful there. She wanted to become a Cuban citizen so that she could visit her son and his family in Mexico, but he planned to keep his US citizenship. (SRS, DBA-34390, 26 Feb 63)

17 June 1963. Date of VIEN 3538, IN 61623,: a VIEN case officer, JOANNESS, in touch with Halperin who in Vienna writing a book on the Castro impact on South America. Joanness rated him "sound non-communist leftist without party ties or extremist dogmatism" - ! (SRS)

October or November 1963. Published article about damage to Cuba from hurricane Flora in October. He reportedly an economist employed by Cuban Government. (SRS, DBA-62084, 13 Jan 64)

16 August 1960. On this date, according to NYT article of 5 Sept 60, he called on the US Emb for renewal of his American passport. (Reproduction of article is in with Martin and Mitchell material in Kay Grady's NSA file.) Renewal was apparently being delayed, possibly because of renewed attempts within the US Govt to deny passports to commie sympathizers.

5 Sept 60. The same NYT article reported just above said that he had just assailed a State Department report that he was working as an advisor to the Sov Govt on Latin American af~~fairs.~~ Said he was professor associated with Academy of Sciences, writing book on Latin American economy 1945-58. "There is nothing mysterious or dubious about my being in Moscow. Since my arrival I have filed two US income tax returns, listing my salary and employer. I am not working for the Soviet Govt any more than Van Cliburn was when he performed in a Govt-owned concert hall. I am a visiting prof in the USSR AS and not the first American to be associated with it. My appointment and my Soviet visa espire in July 1961."

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

1. Attached is a copy of DBA 34398, dated 26 February 1963, concerning Maurice Halperin and his activity in Cuba.

2. The Station's attention is drawn to page two which states that Subject's wife hopes to obtain Cuban citizenship so that she can come to Mexico to see her son and grandchildren. On the same page, there is an interesting, yet vague, reference to his treatment in the USSR.

3. Headquarters is still most interested in Subject, and the Station should be alert to any information it can gather on HALPERIN, or on his wife's travel to Mexico, which might be used for KUDESK or KUWOLF purposes.

SUBJECT: Maurice Hyman HALPERIN

1. Reference is made to our CSCI-3/772,459, Subject: "Contact with U.S. Defectors Abroad," dated 13 September 1962.

2. Sub-paragraph (e) of referenced CSCI reported that at sometime during the period October 1960—February 1961 Maurice HALPERIN had stated several times to a CIA source in Moscow that "he would like to come back to the U.S., and once asked the source if he should accept a position in Cuba which he had been offered by Faure CHOMON."

3. This office has received the following additional report concerning HALPERIN from the CIA office which contributed the original report:

a. "On 27 December 1962 another source of this office advised that he received a 1962 Christmas card from Maurice Halperin on which the return address was given as 'Apt C-2, Calle 12, no 103, Miramar, Havana, Cuba.' The only message on the card was one of Christmas greeting. Halperin and the source have known each other for a number of years and they always exchange Christmas cards, but this is the first time Halperin's greeting has borne a Cuban address."

b. "The last time that the source saw Halperin was in Moscow when source was visiting in the USSR during August—September 1961 as a member of an official U. S. delegation."

4. There is no record of the Habana return address in the intelligence files of this office.

Subject: Current Address of Maurice Halperin

1. A source of this office has just advised us that he received a Christmas card (1962) from Maurice Halperin on which the return address was given as: "Apt C-2, Calle 12, no 103, Miramar, Habana, Cuba." The only message on the card was one of Christmas greetings. Halperin and our source have known each other for a number of years and they always exchange Christmas cards. This is the first one Halperin has sent with a Cuban address on it. The last time that our source saw Halperin was in Moscow when he (the former) was visiting in the USSR during August-September 1961 as part of an official US delegation.

2. In view of Halperin's past activities and associations, we are making this information known to you. Our source comments that Halperin always seems to show up wherever there is some sort of activity going on.

THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

SOURCE Cuban national, A 12 170 210, who arrived in the US in June 1962 as a political refugee.

Source is a graduate engineer who served for a year in the Ministry of Public Works following the advent of the Castro regime, and then was assigned to the Ministry of Foreign Relations and went to the USSR as Economic Counselor. He was in the USSR from October 1960 to February 1961. Shortly after his return to Cuba he took asylum in the Argentine Embassy where he remained more than a year until his safe-conduct was arranged. This is one of several reports from source.

[This report emanated from the Caribbean Admission Center at Opa-Locka, Florida.]

1. From October 1960 to February 1961 I served as Economic Counselor of the Cuban Embassy in the USSR. During my stay I met and became fairly well acquainted with a number of defectors from the West, including Douglas McLean, who defected from the UK, and Maurice Halperin from the US. I did not meet Guy Burgess, because I was told that he is in bad physical condition due to excess drinking. McLean, who is now known as Frazier, likewise drinks heavily, and at a party the hostess cut down on his liquor saying, "If he drinks too much, he gets in bad shape."

2. McLean and his family are living in Soviet Government-furnished quarters in a new, but not elaborate, apartment building near the Ukraine Hotel. His wife made a number of remarks to my wife about how far it is necessary to walk to get food, or anything else, in the USSR. Otherwise she did not complain. McLean made numerous jokes about shortcomings of living in the USSR, including comments about the elevator in his apartment building never working. He also made some half-hearted jokes about the Soviets always spitting when they spoke.

3. At the time I knew him he was on the staff of an English language publication, "Economic Affairs."

4. Maurice Halperin was a US national, and I believe taught economics at a US university. He subsequently worked at the National Bank of Mexico, but was expelled about 1956 and went to the USSR. Halperin is now a lecturer in economics at Moscow University. Halperin assisted in gathering data used by "Che" Guevara in his speech at Punta del Este, and commented about it when the speech was published.

Dissemination limited to full-time employees of CIA, AEC and FBI; and within State and Defense, to the intelligence components, other offices producing NIS elements, and higher echelons with their immediate supporting staffs. 5. Halperin, I believe, is of English-Jewish background. He still has a son in the US and was happily anticipating a visit from the son [illegible]. The son cancelled the trip for unspecified reasons, and Halperin became extremely depressed.

6. Halperin mentioned on a number of occasions that he would like to come back to the US, and at one time asked me if he should accept a position in Cuba which had been offered to him by Fidel CASTRO. I believe he has regretted his going to the USSR. He is always "joking" about unpleasant aspects of life in the Soviet Union.

ROSENFIELD

1. From a sensitive source of known reliability, it has been learned that Mr. William [illegible], 71 [illegible] Little Road, Stamford, Connecticut, a cousin of Maurice HALPERIN, on 3 March 1962, attended a seminar for high school students of the New England area at the Teacher's Meeting House, Stamford, Connecticut. A discussion about Latin America was led by Professor [illegible], a young, Italian-American professor from Wesleyan College. [illegible] allegedly stated that the professor was a liberal, extremely well-informed, and that he "thrilled" [illegible] with statements like: "More people are killed in violent outbreaks in Venezuela than in Cuba"; and "At least something is happening for good in Cuba; nothing in Venezuela."

EDWARD

2. According to source, the previous week Professor [illegible] had lectured on Cuba for seven hours at Columbia University. Source further reported that Professor [illegible] is going to work for the RAND CORPORATION to help plan policy for Latin America. [illegible] is quoted as saying there are almost no experts on Latin America in the U. S. A., so, despite his youth (about 30), he is considered to be one.

3. According to source, Mr. ROSENFIELD is submitting his views on Professor [illegible] to Maurice HALPERIN in Moscow, USSR.

4. It is requested that information contained in this communication receive no further dissemination without prior coordination with this office.

SUBJECT GYROSE/Operational
AMDENIM-1 Progress Report - 13 August 1962

ACTION REQUIRED REFERENCES

REF: UFGA-4425 dated 19 June 1962

1. SUMMARY: In the period since ref progress report AMDENIM-1 has been primarily engaged in keeping his fences mended with the various exile groups in the area in anticipation of moving into a position in the AMBUD-1 organization in which he will be responsible for coordinating the selection of paramilitary candidates from these groups. In addition to this he has prepared a number of reports providing background information, ~~and~~ on current activities in the local PBRUMEN community and mounting Operation Antonico I, an effort to establish contact with PBRUMEN fishermen thru his own fisherman contacts. Details follow:

OPERATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

2. In response to a Station request subject provided an estimate of the current situation in PBRUMEN. This report stressed the points that the farmers and the fishermen in PBRUMEN are the most willing and capable of providing support to resistance activities as a result of their having suffered the most at the hands of the current administration after being largely responsible for its obtaining power. He also provided a general strategic plan of Oriente Province in which he defined the main areas in which guerrilla elements can survive and how they can be reached from coastal resupply points. His ability to do this is based upon his being a native of the area and one who has been primarily interested in its geography due to his former large agriculture holdings there.

3. He has had one meeting with AMBUD-1 for the purpose of maintaining contact. His main question to AMBUD-1 was with regard to the latter's ability to actually control the people on his staff. He was disappointed by the reply which though positive could not be supported with an example of where AMBUD-1 had actually brought about the dismissal of anyone who had proved to be ineffective. AMDENIM-1 is a good friend of AMBUD-1 as a result of his father's long standing relationship with him, but at this point has very little respect for him as a result of, as he says, AMBUD-1's failure to actually make his organization into an effective body and to engage in activities which actually detract from the success of the current PBRUMEN regime. It remains that he is willing to join AMBUD-1's organization and attempt to create unity among the military sections of the member groups at such time as KUBARK gives him the go ahead.

4. Following his belief that the most important job at hand is the development and maintenance of maritime reception points along the north coast of PBRUMEN, AMDENIM-1 has devoted considerable time to readying assets among his exiled fisherman friends to make contact with their former fisherman associates still based in PBRUMEN. The foundation for this activity is quite tenuous as a result of a variety of factors which make it difficult to arrange sea rendezvouses in the absence of radio contact. Several trips have been made to the Anguila Key area for this purpose, the last of which was supported by KUBARK and was called Operation Antonico I. This attempt was unsuccessful due to the failure of the inside contact to appear. It developed that the woman and child who were to be exfiltrated on this operation appeared in the JMWAVE area two days later, having obtained permission to leave PBRUMEN by air. They carried the message that someone had stolen the port chief's personal boat as a result of which the inside contact was unable to depart on schedule due to the implementation of temporary restrictions until the theft had been investigated. She said the next rendezvous was scheduled for 12 August, however imminent bad weather forestalled any chance of making this rendezvous. The effort to establish contact continues on the basis that, once a commo system can be set up, it will be comparatively easy to establish further rendezvouses and thus develop ratlines into the north coast.

5. Coincidentally with the above AMDENIM-1 is continuing his efforts to come up with radio operator candidates and to obtain candidates for infiltration. Based upon past experience this effort is being made more selective in that the need for more self sufficient personnel is greater than ever. The increasing difficulty of covering people inside makes it necessary to reduce the size of the infiltration parties and to have people who can withstand the rigors of existing on minimum supplies until they can establish themselves with natives who are willing to provide them with a base of operations. Most of the people who are willing to infiltrate at this point are of the type who want immediate action and are unwilling to take the time to establish a clandestine base from which they can methodically develop the assets in place who are essential to the growth and refinement of a resistance base. He has a number of people on tap who are qualified as candidates for small guerrilla teams, but who are not capable of maintaining themselves clandestinely until the time for guerrilla action arrives.

6. FUNDS EXPENDED:

a. $200. was given to Heriberto SARDINAS Campo as maintenance until his 04 clearance comes through. It is intended that SARDINAS will be an investigator of operational leads and an assistant to AMDENIM-1 in the handling of his fishermen and operational candidates.

b. $300. was given to AMDENIM-1 for passage to the widow of AMGLAD-1. He is the channel for this payment until such time as HQs arrives at a settlement figure and this obligation can be disposed of.

c. $325. was given to AMDENIM-1 in support of Operation Antonico I, which operation is described under paragraph 4.

7. INTELLIGENCE PRODUCTION: AMDENIM-1 has provided a number of memoranda on developments within the various exile groups in the JMWAVE area, none of which qualify as intelligence information but all of which contribute to the Station's better understanding of the local politics. Specifically, he has provided info on the political beliefs and background of most of the PBRUMEN exiled labor leaders and the activities of the Bequer group. He has also been helpful in clarifying the picture as to the movements within the UR at this time while the Station is trying to determine how best to organize this group in order to be able to take over its more worthwhile features without becoming unduly committed to giving it special prominence in the exile community. He is being counted on to help bring the UR into the AMBUD-1 organization as a means of creating the appearance of greater unity among the exile community.

8. COMMENTS AND PLANS: While no spectacular achievements are resulting from AMDENIM-1's efforts at this point he is steadily becoming more and more susceptible to KUBARK control and more professional in his efforts. A recent example is the critique he gave his fishermen for not realizing more information out of the refugees they met at Anguila Key while waiting for their inside contact. They had failed to adequately debrief two young men, who had succeeded in surviving in PBRUMEN for over two months on their own, on the basis that they were too young to be knowledgeable. As it turned out the two refugees had used the cover of sponge salesmen and had been able to travel from Havana to Santiago de Cuba without being stopped once. On learning of this, AMDENIM-1 was reminded of a good cover he has heard about, namely fighting cock fanciers, which activity seems to be on the increase as a result of the greater amount of spare time available to the people. The sport is actually becoming a year around proposition rather than being restricted to the winter months as in the past. It is planned to have AMDENIM-1 continue his present pursuits on the basis that he is free to move as the Station desires and can have an overall constructive effect on the AMBUD-1 organization at the time desired. He will continue his efforts with the fishermen and will provide candidates for infiltration as they become available and can be accepted by the Station. Operation Antonico III is scheduled for 27 August using a Magnolia (boat) to establish contact with fishermen living on a key in the Caibarien area. There is a possibility that he will journey to Jamaica to make contact with an old associate who is now a prominent member of the PBRUMEN government as a means of eliciting information on current regime policy and plans.

1. DURING A MEETING WITH 06 WEYDE ON 21 MAY 63 HE REFERRED TO HIS VISIT TO WASHINGTON TO 06 DEBRIEF AELADLE . HE STATED THAT ON ONE OCCASION, WHILE HE AND DR. MEIER WERE RIDING IN A CAR WITH AELADLE, AELADLE CASUALLY REFERRED BY NAME TO A KGB OFFICER PRESENTLY ASSIGNED IN GERMANY, COMMENTING THAT HE KNEW THE INDIVIDUAL VERY WELL AND KNEW THAT HIS POLITICAL VIEWS WERE THE SAME AS HIS OWN, BUT THAT WESTERN INTELLIGENCE SHOULD LEAVE THE INDIVIDUAL ALONE AS HE WOULD PROBABLY ONE DAY MAKE THE SAME DECISION AS AELADLE ON HIS OWN.

2. BY THE TIME 06 WEYDE REALIZED THE SIGNIFICANCE OF WHAT AELADLE WAS SAYING THE NAME HAD SLIPPED BY AND NEITHER HE NOR 06 DR. MEIER WAS ABLE, OR FELT 06 HE 06 COULD, ASK FOR THE NAME AGAIN. AFTER LEAVING AELADLE BOTH WEYDE AND MEIER TRIED TO RECALL THE NAME OF THE INDIVIDUAL BUT COULD ONLY AGREE THAT THE NAME BEGAN WITH AN ''A''. IN REVIEWING THE PRESENT SOVIETS ASSIGNED IN THE GFR WHOSE NAMES BEGIN ~~WITH~~ ''A'' 06 WEYDE TENDS TO THINK THE NAME MENTIONED MIGHT HAVE BEEN AKHLUYEV (201-294348), ALTHOUGH HE IS FAR FROM CERTAIN ON THIS POINT.

3. WE HAVE VERY LIMITED INFORMATION IN OUR FILES ON AKHLUYEV AND NONE INDICATING KGB AFFILIATION. HE ARRIVED AT THE STM ON 16 FEBRUARY 61 ALONG WITH HIS WIFE, IS CARRIED BY THE BFV AS AN EMPLOYEE OF THE TRADE MISSION, AND RESIDES WITHIN THE 29 TRADE MISSION BUILDING.

4. THE ABOVE LEAD, ALTHOUGH VERY SKETCHY, APPEARS DEFINITELY WORTH PURSUING AND WE WONDER IF IT WOULD BE POSSIBLE TO QUERY AELADLE SOME MANNER. 06 WEYDE HAD THE IMPRESSION THAT AELADLE DESIRED TO PROTECT THE INDIVIDUAL FROM ANY INTELLIGENCE APPROACHES BASED ON HIS INFORMATI SO HE HAS PROBABLY NOT SUBMITTED ANY DETAILS. IT MAY, HOWEVER, PROVE PROFITABLE TO REVIEW WITH AELADLE AGAIN SOME OF THE SOVIETS ASSIGNED IN WEST GERMANY AND WORK IN ALL THE ''A'' NAMES. AELADLE MIGHT THUS GIVE SOME INFORMATION WHICH WOULD HELP US TO ESTABLISH THE IDENTITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL HE MENTIONED IN THE CAR. PLS ADVISE IF THIS IS POSSIBLE

1. Subject was interviewed for an immigrant visa on 7 July 65. Unfortunately Clastonbury could not be present because of other business. The interviewing officer was briefed prior to the meeting and faced the applicant with a series of questions regarding her association with Soviets and any approaches that may have been made to her in light of her unusual life. In response to these questions, we are told that SLIOOR gave thoughtful consideration to each question and probably truthfully replied that although she has met several Soviet diplomats, no approaches for cooperation were made to her. She realized the full implication of the questions and made no attempts to be evasive. Subject was given her visa immediately after the interview.

2. Attachment 1 is a translation of the 01 VALTYK traces on subject. As noted in the traces SLIOOR was an acquaintance of Grigoriy GOLUB (201-150156) and Georgiy *STENING born 29 June 1913 in Moscow (aka Georgi STEINING, 22 OPHA-1807, 30 July 56 and OPHW-1456, 9 October 56). These names were not used in the interview. 22

REF: [OFHA]-4656, 18 June 1965

1. Appearing as part of Section 12 of the SPR on Mikhail Vasilyevich MURASHOV (201-205139), forwarded with reference, are the following entries. [Helsinki] Station would like to clarify some of the information previously reported by the Station which undoubtedly has led Headquarters to the conclusion contained in the second paragraph immediately below.

When told that Subject (Mikhail Vasilyevich MURASHOV 201-205139) has been posted to Finland, Source (a Soviet defector) commented that Subject (MURASHOV) would probably be responsible for penetrating the police.
(This speculation by Source is probably not correct since this responsibility belongs to Peter Nikitovich SAVELYEV, who arrived in Helsinki about the same time that Subject did, to replace Ivan Yefimovich [illegible].)

2. Petr Nikitovich SAVELYEV (201-140400), Counsellor of Embassy and Head of the Press Section. SAVELYEV filled the Counsellor slot vacated by Vasiliy [illegible]vich SOLOMKO (201-142338) who dealt with trade. We do not recall the Chief of the Press Section prior to SAVELYEV's arrival. However, SAVELYEV was NOT the replacement for Ivan [illegible] (201-259447) as stated in [OFHA]-5447, 13 February 1962.

22 3. We doubt very much that SAVALYEV was involved in police penetration. His contacts in Finland (also in Norway) were for the most part with the press 22 ([OFHA]-6610, 22 May 1964, etc.) and he circulated freely in that media. SAVALYEV did not speak Finnish, despite the fact the [VALINKS] informed us he spoke fairly good Finnish ([OFHA]-5447) which was probably an initial assessment on their part. 22

4. Although a GRU suspect during his tour in Norway, his activities in Helsinki at first appeared to be those of a KGB co-optee, and later more obviously those of a KGB officer in the CA field. Walter R. CLASSONBURY's contacts with SAVALYEV took place either in press circles or in the presence of Aleksey SHUMAKOV (201-203095) whom we suspect of being the deputy resident in Helsinki. Thus the milieu in which SAVALYEV operated, we tend to place him in the KGB category rather than GRU.

5. SAVALYEV, who left for home leave on 10 July 1964 and never returned, was replaced by KGB officer Albert AKULOV (201-232590), first secretary and press attache.

6. Concerning Ivan Yefimovich SERGEYEV (201-259447), SERGEYEV replaced KGB officer Grigoriy Ye. GOLUB (201-150156), Chief of the Consular Section. After the defection of AELADLE/1, this Section was in confusion and the exact slot-for-slot replacements are not known. In our best judgment, SERGEYEV was replaced by Anatoliy PAVLOV (201-331811) who departed 2 March 1963 because of ill health. PAVLOV was temporarily replaced by KGB officer Boris Vasilyevich PERELETOV ostensibly assigned to the Cultural Section (22 OFHA-6483, 6 March 1964) who departed 31 March 1964 also because of ill health. PERELETOV was replaced for consular responsibilities by KGB officer Feliks Dmitryevich KARASEV (201-736991).

Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-285412)

23 December 1927   41 Yrs old   Born Moscow

Stationed in Havana from September 1960 until September 1963. Attache. In 1961 he toured Latin America with the Soviet Soccer team as escort and interpreter (probably with security functions as well). He arrived August 1965 as Third Secretary. He replaced NECHIPORENKO. His Spanish has been described as fluent with hardly any accent. His English is fair and he is studying it now.

In March 1966, XX LICOZY/5 was told he would be handled in the future by L.

In response to L's claim that a radio had been stolen from him, a policeman was sent to his aprtment and L. ended the conversation by recruiting the policeman at the rate of 5000 Pesos per month. The policeman reported the incident and the Metropolitan District Police sanctioned a D/A op. The first and only recorded requirement given the policeman by L was for some Bio data on a Venezuelan who spent time in USSR.

L is friendly with YATSKOV, replaced him (he claims) as Consul General, (1966)

Shortly after Arab-Israeli War L tacitly XXXXXXXX admitted he believed that Egypt's charges of U.S. involvement on Irael's XXXX side were false. contrary ~~to~~ U.S. (announced) st.

Then there's the one about Miss Elizabeth Duncan Wilde. L told her that he was ready to "go to the other side". He stated that he was afraid because the phones in both U.S. and Soviet Embassies were bugged. He asked if she would go to U.S. Embassy with his story. She consented and reporting stops here. UNRESOLVED [illegible]

Paul Dillon observed L and BARANOV in the area of XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX XXXXXXXXX a hotel where a meeting with Uriy DRUSS was to have taken place one night ago, taking pictures with an 8mm camera. BARANOV is a Soviet tech.

L pursued AMSLOUCH/3, daughter of a Finnish agent, both in Havana and in Moscow. His intentions XXXXXX were unknown, but could have been romantically XXXXXXX inclined rather than professional.

L is an aggressive personality. With his fellow workers he is dictatorial and disdainful. He has been known to XXXX return to the Embassy thoroughly gassed, yelling and shouting and resulting in an altercation with the guard on duty. Other times he won't finish one drink. He is chauvinistic XXXX to his own race and deprecatory to other nationalities. A sneering attitude, boisterous and arrogant at times. He can be gentle at othertimes, has frequently labeled intelligent, XXXXXXX He is definitely crafty, although not particulary subtle. works fast, doesn't appear to try hard at cloaking his true intentions, either in conversation with others or in a recruitment attempt. He is tough as nails. His build is athletic, his appearance is ruggedly handsome. He appears confident, self-assured in relations with non-Soviets.

201-285412

The file is very difficult to follow. Items appear with ~~XXXXXXX~~ no further mention. AMOUR?

Salient feature of file is that LOGINOV was never the object of ~~XX~~ consistent concentrated attention by anyone. There is virtually no reporting on the LICOZY/5----LOGINOV relationship. What there is implies that L/5 is uncooperative and nearly refuses to work with L.

SUMMARY

SUSCEPTIBILITY: Nothing in the conventional sense. If he is trying to tell us anything he is obviously trying to get our attention via a CI ploy with the intention of bringing us to him. He moves with confidence and near-impunity--certainly not like one who might be in trouble.

PROFESSIOANLISM: Not smooth and subtle nor particularly secure. But crafty, fast on his feet, makes fast decisions and then acts on them. Aggressive and ubiquitous. Socially active. Woman-chaser.

PERSONALITY: See above.

Should be leaving before another year and one-half. Has been there for three and one-half years.

SUBJECT REDWOOD
Unidentified Visitor to the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City

ACTION REQUIRED REFERENCES

1. LICALLA and LILYRIC reported an unidentified visitor to the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City between 29 November and 3 December 1965. The visitor appears to be a Soviet; however, LIFIRE has not reported any unaccounted for Soviet to have visited Mexico during this period, nor was the presence of a Soviet visitor reported to the Station by any other source. He has not been seen since 3 December 1965.

2. According to LICALLA, the visitor was principally in contact with the cook, Anatoliy Aleksandrovich MUKHIN (201-293944), administrative assistant Stanislav Sergeyevich SILNIKOV (201-271103), guard Nikolay Ivanovich ZAKHAROV, code clerk Aleksandr Petrovich PAVLOV (201-761265), Third Secretary and known KGB officer Vladimir Ivanovich SHPAKEVICH (201-343894), First Secretary and known KGB officer Aleksandr Vladimirovich PRIKHODKO (201-202379) and Press Attache and known KGB officer Nikolay Sergeyevich LEONOV (201-132139).

3. According to LILYRIC, the visitor was seen leaving the Soviet Embassy with MUKHIN, and later with Third Secretary and suspect KGB officer Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-285412) on 30 November 1965. On 1 December he was seen leaving with MUKHIN and his wife, Commercial Counselor Georgiy Stepanovich VISKO (201-243602) and chauffeur Anatoliy Pavlovich PRASHCHUKIN (201-735052) in the car normally driven by Pravda correspondent Vladimir Agafonovich DOLGOV (201-763035). 1. LICOZY/5 reported that on 12 October 1965 Subject visited his place of business and said that he had been referred to LICOZY/5 by the Soviet Embassy. He said he was interested in a one-way ticket to the Soviet Union. Subject furnished the following information to LICOZY/5 : He was born on 19 August 1942 in Michigan. He is a student at U.C.L.A. and wanted to visit the USSR as a tourist. Subject held U. S. passport number C 530394 issued 29 August 1962. His permanent address was given as 19222 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, California. His tourist card showed that he entered Mexico by bus at Sonoita, Sonora on 9 October 1965. Subject paid for 15 days in the Soviet Union but said that he planned to stay longer.

2. He left Mexico via Air France flight 702 on 16 October (confirmed by flight manifests). His plans call for him to depart Paris for Moscow via Air France flight 724 on 17 October.

3. During a routine visit to the Consular Section of the Soviet Embassy, Valentin S. LOGINOV thanked LICOZY/5 for "taking care" of Subject but, in the presence of both PRIKHODKO and Consular officer Vladimir S. KORMUSHKIN, LOGINOV admonished LICOZY/5 for asking for more biographic data than he needed to fill out the necessary papers. LICOZY/5 denied that he had asked for more information than he needed. (Subject apparently reported LICOZY/5's actions in obtaining the above biographic data (or was debriefed by LOGINOV, a suspect KGB officer).

4. It seems unusual for an American student to travel from the U. S. to Mexico in order to travel to the Soviet Union since he is automatically increasing the cost of his travel by a considerable amount. Since Subject crossed into Mexico on 9 October, only a week before his departure for the USSR, it would appear that he came to Mexico exclusively for this purpose. It thus appears that the purpose of travelling via Mexico was to conceal this trip from the U. S. authorities.

5. Local ODENVY not advised.

11. CURRICULUM VITAE:

A February 1960 Diplomatic List from Argentina lists Subject as a new Soviet Military Attache due to arrive in Buenos Aires in the near future. There is no indication that Subject ever filled that post.

From September 1960 to September 1963, Subject and family were in Havana where Subject served as an Attache at the Soviet Embassy. In December 1961, he accompanied the Soviet DYNAMO soccer team on a Latin American tour as their escort and interpreter.

Subject arrived in Mexico City on 3 August 1965 to replace known KGB officer Oleg Maksimovich NECHIPORENKO (201 305870), as a Third Secretary.

12. INTELLIGENCE AFFILIATION:

Subject is listed as probable RIS, probably KGB on the basis of his activities while stationed in Havana and by virtue of his replacing a known KGB officer in Mexico City. Per HMMA-28390, 3 Mar 66 Subject considered known KGB.

13. INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITY:

While Subject accompanied the DYNAMO soccer team through La Paz in December 1961, he became acquainted with KISHIN-1 (Identity 1), a KUBARK Bolivian security service penetration and later a low level Bolivian university-cell CP penetration. It is not recorded upon whose initiative the contacts were made. However, by KISHIN-1's admission he had several informal and friendly meetings with Subject during which Subject encouraged KISHIN-1 to accept a Cuban student grant. In fact he specifically expressed an eagerness to be of any assistance in helping KISHIN-1 to get to Cuba. KISHIN-1 never went to Cuba, although he did correspond with Subject on the matter on at least one occasion. KISHIN-1 was terminated as an agent in July 1963 for security reasons and because it was believed that he was a fabricator. No further developments in his association with Subject were noted.

On the same trip through Latin America in December 1961, Subject was observed to have in his possession some $2,000 in United States currency. After sending the soccer team back to Moscow from Quito, Subject continued alone through Panama City, where he was seen in contact with a Mexican citizen with whom he flew on to Mexico City. In Mexico City Subject reported to known KGB officer Aleksey Ivanovich GARMASHOV (201 227418) at the Soviet Embassy. From a sensitive source it was learned that GARMASHOV had been instructed to look into the matter of Subject's four-day delay in returning to Havana from Quito and that Subject's superiors in Havana were concerned. It is not known what relationship, if any, these circumstances have to each other.

In Havana early in 1963, Subject befriended and apparently attempted to cultivate VASLOUCHs 1, 2, and 3 (Identities 2, 3, and 4). The association was discouraged by KUBARK because VASLOUCH-1 and 2 were performing important functions in connection with Cuban FI activities and contact with a possible RIS officer was not thought desireable.

In September 1962 at the invitation of Senhor Vazco Leitao de CUNHA, Brazilian Ambassador to Cuba and newly appointed Ambassador to the Soviet Union, VASLOUCH-3 traveled to Moscow and accepted a clerical position at the Brazilian Embassy where she remained for approximately two years. A year later, in September 1963, Subject returned PCS to Moscow. Between December 1963 and February 1964, Subject made three attempts to see VASLOUCH-3. According to VASLOUCH-3, the contacts were by telephone only and she did not meet with Subject personally while in Moscow.

15. CONTACTS:

In December 1961 in La Paz, Bolivia, Subject was in contact with KISHIN-1. See paragraph 13 above and Identities.

Subject was in contact in Panama City and on a flight from Panama City to Mexico City in December 1961 with Edmundo Fausto ZORRILLA Martinez, a Mexican citizen who had been traveling around Latin America. The nature of this contact has not been determined.

Subject befriended and apparently attempted to develop in Havana VASLOUCHs 1, 2, and 3. See paragraph 13 above and Identities.

[illegible] ON 20 DECEMBER 1963, THERE WAS A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT THE SOVIET CONSULATE AND EMBASSY IN THE VEDADO SECTION OF THE CITY OF HABANA WHO WERE APPARENTLY MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR DEPARTING FROM CUBA. SOME OF THESE INDIVIDUALS PRESENTED A BOOK WITH A RED COVER BEARING THE CYRILLIC LETTERS "CCCP RPT CCCP" IN GOLD AND RECEIVED A FORM TO FILL OUT AND RETURN. OTHERS RECEIVED A WHITE CARD WITH A PHOTOGRAPH. ONE SOVIET ASKED FOR A POSTPONEMENT OF HIS TRIP, SAYING THAT HE WAS MARRIED TO A CUBAN GIRL WHO WOULD NOT BE ABLE TO STAND THE COLD. A HIGH DIPLOMAT, WHO WORE GLASSES AND WHO WAS ABOUT 60 YEARS OLD, ANGRILY EXPRESSED HIMSELF TO THE CUBANS IN

Embassy offices. LICALLA thinks that Subject left the Embassy at 1115, having put his luggage in the car with license plates 19-DA. (This is the car regularly driven by LOGINOV.) A LICALLA photograph of Subject is forwarded as Attachment B (Headquarters only).

4. From LIENVOY it appears that LOGINOV was principally responsible for Subject's travel arrangements. LOGINOV probably met Subject at the airport, since LIMITED reported that LOGINOV left the Soviet Embassy in 19-DA at 0535 and returned at 0658 on 20 March 1966, apparently having dropped Subject off at the Hotel Agnes. Subject's wife was not reported to have visited the Embassy.

5. The Station had not believed that Subject would be able to take the 21 March flight to Havana, since there had been no record of his having requested a Cuban visa; however, a LIONION photograph subsequently received showed that Soviet Vice Consul Vladislav Sergeyevich KORMUSHKIN (201-744341) had visited the Cuban Embassy in person on 16 March 1966, at which time he probably arranged for Subject's visa.

1. Subject has been identified as a KGB officer based on the following incidents :

2. On 12 February 1966 Aleksandr Vladimirovich PRIKHODKO (201-202379), KGB case officer, during a meeting with LICOZY-5, told LICOZY-5 that he would bring Subject to their next meeting and that Subject would be LICOZY-5's new case officer.

3. During January 1966 Cristobal TORRES Ponce, chauffeur employed by the American Embassy in Mexico City, made several trips to the Soviet Embassy in regard to a Soviet visa for one of the American Embassy officials. TORRES spoke with Subject, who, after asking whether it would get TORRES in trouble if he went to dinner with Subject, ended up by inviting TORRES to dinner on 24 January 1966. TORRES did not meet Subject that date, and on 8 February 1966 Subject called TORRES at the American Embassy to ask why he had not shown up. TORRES replied that he had had to work. Subject asked whether TORRES had located a person who could teach him English. TORRES replied that one person whom he had asked had not been interested, and Subject asked him to keep looking for someone. Subject again called TORRES on 9 February 1966, but TORRES was out. (It is noted that Subject's calls to TORRES have not appeared on LIENVOY and were therefore presumably made from a pay station.)

SUBJECT REDCOAT/LCIMPROVE - Edward WEBELMAN Preminger

1. LICOZY-5 reported that on 24 June 1966 his KGB case officer, Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-285412), stopped by his office on legitimate business, then said he had some (operational) business for him. LICOZY-5 demurred, but LOGINOV went ahead, took a piece of paper out and began reading from it, asking LICOZY-5 if he knew "Eduardo WEBELMAN." LICOZY-5 interrupted, saying he did not know the man and did not want to do anything about him. LOGINOV said he did not want LICOZY-5 to do anything, it was just that he did not know who he was. LICOZY-5 refused to discuss it further. When LOGINOV left LICOZY-5's office he left behind a piece of paper with the following written on it in Russian:

> Eduardo Vebelman, about 55 years old, Mexican of Jewish extraction, owner of a steel plant and a firm which sells photographic equipment. Came to Mexico during World War II. Lives in the Pedregal at Teololco 320. His son is Mauricio Vebelman.

2. Station files had no traces on anyone named WEBELMAN. The 1965 Mexico City Telephone Directory lists the following:

Arno WEBELMAN, Arts Fotograficos, Uruapan 7, tel. 11-44-77
Eduardo WEBELMAN, Teololco 320, tel. 48-57-17
WEBELMAN Hermanos, S. A., Paseo de la Reforma 308, 1st floor, tel. 11-41-90 and 11-43-79.

3. The Mexican Gobernacion file on Subject (apparently identical with LOGINOV's "Vebelman") was reviewed on 11 July 1966. It shows that Subject was born on 7 October 1917 in Warsaw, Poland, is Jewish, and came to Mexico on 8 December 1939 as a student. In 1942 he had received "Immigrante" status and was working for Adolfo *WEBELMAN Coskpe (?), manager of WEBELMAN y Cia., a firm then located at Aluminio 192 in Mexico, D. F. (Comment: Adolfo WEBELMAN is presumably a relative of Subject's but not his father, who is given as Szymon WEBELMAN.) The last entry in the file is dated 1944.

REDWOOD/LCIMPROVE - KGB and GRU Residencies in Mexico City

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

1. Attached are analyses of the KGB and GRU residencies in Mexico City. Included are only those officers who are probably or known to be intelligence officers. Of the 52 Soviets currently assigned to Mexico City, 22 are identified intelligence officers and 13 probably intelligence officers, i.e. roughly 67% of the total Soviet colony.

2. The case officers have not been divided into separate target groups, with the exception of KGB S & T, since the Station's information is too fragmentary for a realistic breakdown. With the exception of S. S. KONSTANTINOV, who is known to be the KGB resident, the positions of resident and deputy resident are unconfirmed, but represent the Station's best guess.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

FROM:

SUBJECT: Ernesto CHAZARO Peregrino

1. Reference is made to your memorandum dated 27 June 1966 and to the interview with Subject conducted in Veracruz on 7 July 1966 by of your office and a representative of this office. We wish to make the following observations regarding Subject's statements in connection with his encounters with Soviet Embassy Third Secretary, Valentin S. LOGINOV.

2. Regarding Subject's claim to have visited Mexico City on or about 16 May 1966 and to have contacted the Soviet Embassy on or about 18 May 1966, this office has established the fact that a contact as described by Subject did not take place at any time during the period 10 through 30 May 1966.

3. Subject made statements to the effect that he had met LOGINOV and a second Soviet at an unknown restaurant at 1800 hours on or about 18 May. He claimed to have talked to these two Soviets for approximately one hour (i.e. until about 1900 hours) after which they left the restaurant, walked to and entered LOGINOV's car, drove to an unknown apartment near the Soviet Embassy, parked the car and entered the apartment and then phoned three call-girls who arrived within 20 minutes. Following the arrival of the girls Subject excused himself and left the apartment about 1900 or 1930 hours. To our knowledge there is no precedent for the KGB using call-girls for the purpose and in the manner described by Subject.

9 Aug 66

4. Subject stated that he believed that the automobile driven by LOGINOV, an automobile that he had seen several times, bore the license number "67." Our records show that no Soviet Embassy official or employee drives an automobile with the number 67 or 76. LOGINOV drives an automobile with Mexico City diplomatic license 19 DA.

5. Subject's statements to the effect that LOGINOV deposited 50,000.00 Mexican pesos to Subject's account in the Banco de Londres in Veracruz as a "gift . . . for nothing" and then took the money back when Subject refused it, is not in keeping with our experience with regard to KGB modus operandi. Also, information available to this office indicates that according to established Mexican banking practices it is not possible to set up a checking account without the presence of the owner of the account who must sign signature cards for comparison with the signatures on checks.

6. Subject's general vagueness as to dates, times, addresses and locations in connection with his encounters with LOGINOV, in addition to those points cited above, leads us to the conclusion that Subject has fabricated a large portion of what he has stated. This office has little doubt that he did meet LOGINOV in Veracruz during early May 1966 in connection with the missing Soviet sailor, but we consider his account of contacts with LOGINOV subsequent to this occasion as fabrication.

7. In view of the above and in view of Subject's statements on 7 July to the effect that he had absolutely no desire to become involved with personnel of either the Soviet or American Embassies and wished to remain completely "neutral," this office is not considering using Subject as an informant of any kind.

This document is for the use of your agency only and neither it nor its contents should be further distributed without appropriate authorization.

Reference is made to your memorandum dated November 2, 1965.

A reliable source at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, has informed that the Soviet scientific ship LIRA, of 2,435 tons and carrying a crew of 76, was at Mazatlan from October 23-28, 1965.

Another reliable source advised that a person believed to be from the Soviet Embassy, Mexico, D.F., visited this ship while it was in port; however, he was not identified.

Valentin S. LOGINOV

In their reply to a request we sent them for traces of subject, our headquarters have replied as follows:-

"Valentin S. LOGINOV was Assistant Naval Attaché at the Soviet Embassy in BUENOS AIRES in 1960, and was listed as Attaché in HAVANA in 1961-63, where his exact duties were not known. If he now assumes NECHIPORENKO's post of Vice-Consul, his career appears to be an unusual one, and he must be presumed to be an intelligence officer".

2. This office would appreciate receiving any information available to you on the trip of these Soviets.

4

FROM: ORONSKY

SUBJECT: LICOWL-1

Cys. 6

P-8451
P-8588
P-11767

Below is a summary of the noteworthy items from Subject during meetings with him in September and October.

1. During September the meeting site was changed to the streets between Merida and Morel on Puebla street in Colonia Roma. Subject walks along Puebla street and I pick him up in the car and drive elsewhere for the meeting. I attempted to change the time of the meeting as well but Subject does not close his store until just before 2100 hours each day and feels that it would appear odd if he were to close the store at various times of the evening on different days of the week. His wife is not always in the store and he would have to close the store in order to meet me. He closes at 1400 hours on Sundays. I also instructed him to change the speed of the recorder from 1 7/8ths to 3 3/4ths. We have no recorders in the Station that will take a large reel at 1 7/8ths and this extremely slow speed is not necessary.

2. During early September Subject commented that there is a new apartment building being constructed on the corner of Gelati and General de los Santos, across the street from the Soviet Embassy. (This is our new basehouse). I took considerable notes on this as though I had never heard of the place before and asked several questions about it. He said that the owner of the building is Sr. VILLAGRAN and that VILLAGRAN has the reputation of being an anti-Communist and a loyal Mexican citizen. He said that the building would probably be completed by March 1966 and that it will have about six floors. Several Soviets have mentioned to Subject that they would like to rent apartments in the building since it is so close to the Embassy.

3. Subject said that ISAYEV had been in his store about the last week in September. (As far as I can tell this is ISAYEV's first visit to Subject's store.) ISAYEV made a great many anti-U.S. remarks during his visit to the store and blamed the U.S. for most of the world's troubles. At one point he said that the Soviets made much better cars than the U.S. and that Soviet cars were built like "tanks". Subject laughed at this remark because the thought crossed his mind that only a soldier would like to drive a "tank" and from where Subject was standing at the time he could see the Soviet's new fleet of American Fords and Chevys.

4. I again asked Subject why the Soviets had not been visiting his store in the evenings as they had in the past and he insisted that it was because most of his "friends" at the Embassy had returned to the Soviet Union beginning in July and their replacements had not warmed up to him yet.

I asked him if a small fiesta might not help this situation and he said that he thought that it might help. I told him to make plans for a fiesta in honor of Mexican Independence Day and to invite as many of the new Soviets as possible. He said that he would probably give the party on Friday, 17 September. I suggested that he invite Yuriy ANDRIANOV (the GRU chauffeur) first and tell ANDRIANOV to invite several of his friends. At the next meeting with Subject he reported that NIKIFOROV, LOGINOV and KORMUSHKIN were the only Soviets who came to the fiesta on the 17th. They arrived, had a few drinks, danced to some Russian records which they had brought with them and then left. (All are KGB types). They told Subject that the other Soviets could not attend because they had to attend a Czech Embassy reception that same evening. /I can find no record of such a reception either at the Czech or Polish Embassies and there is no indication on the Soviet lines that they had anything planned for that evening. A Soviet from Cuba arrived on the 17th but we have no idea how many Soviets were at the airport to greet him./ I questioned Subject about the Soviets who had appeared at the fiesta and he gave me a little information about them. They visited his store several times in the next few weeks and I showed him photographs of the men and he expanded on his previous information. He had the following to say about them (he has previously reported on NIKIFOROV).

LOGINOV: Subject said that he believes LOGINOV replaced

NECHIPORENKO (correct). Subject calls him "the Bull" and described him as being vulgar, crude, ill-mannered, short tempered and a tyrant. He is a person who thinks that he is some sort of a "big shot" and when he sits down he spreads his legs and arms and takes up a space big enough for two men. His Spanish is very bad and he smokes "Fiesta" cigarettes. At the fiesta LOGINOV told him that he was from the northern part of the Soviet Union, is married and has children. He claimed to have served in the Red Army.

KORMUSHKIN: Subject likes KORMUSHKIN who is friendly, well mannered and outgoing. He speaks good Spanish and told Subject that his wife likes Mexico. Although KORMUSHKIN was wearing glasses in the photo shown to Subject, he commented that he often sees KORMUSHKIN without his glasses. He smokes "Record" cigarettes and Subject calls him "El Jovencito".

5. Subject said that ISAYEV had dropped by his store during the week of 18 October and spent some time making fun of the King and Queen who were visiting Mexico at the time. ISAYEV felt that the very existance of a King and Queen in 1965 was silly. He also claimed that the Soviets had discovered the Comet that was then in the sky. (The Comet had actually been discovered by two Japanese and bears their names.) He bragged about the great advances in the Soviet Union in all fields and told Subject with great pride that the ruble was worth more than the dollar. He commented that the U.S. was a waring nation while the Soviet Union sought only peace and that the United States would change to something similar to the Soviet system in the near future.

6. The rest of the meeting and the next two, were spent discussing Stanislav SILNIKOV and his request that Subject act as "fiador" on an apartment for him as well as supply him with a prostitute. (see HMMA-27568 of 4 Nov.)

7. In addition, Subject said that ANDRIANOV had asked him to get Viktor KALININ some aphrodisiac pills. ANDRIANOV said that they were "for Viktor KALININ in Moscow" but Subject thinks they are "for Yuriy ANDRIANOV in Mexico". Subject said he hasn't the slightest idea where to buy such a thing.

8. I told Subject to test the recorder by speaking into the microphones both in the upstairs room as well as in the main part of the store and then to play back the tape. Although RESCIGNO has explained the workings of the recorder to Subject several times, he claimed that he did not know how to do this. I then instructed him to disconnect the recorder and to deliver it to me at 2100 hours on Friday, 5 November. I said that I would test the recorder myself. He asked why RESCIGNO could not come to the store and test it and I told him that RESCIBNO was away. He then asked if RESCIGNO was a Mexican or an American. He said that RESCIGNO speaks Spanish like a Mexican and looks like a Mexican but that he (Subject) is sure that he ~~was~~ is an American. I told him that I really didn't know since I had never asked him. I changed the topic of conversation by saying that if he reported that SILNIKOV wanted a girl for this Sunday, I would return the machine to him on Saturday, 6 November. If not, he would get it back at the next regular meeting which I would set on Friday when I meet him.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ [illegible]
15 August, [illegible] Restaurant

1. The C.O. resumed acquaintanceship with Subject, and in the immediate and sizable vacuum left by Gerald F. Costetner's departure, tried to establish a friendly rapport with Subject. For this reason the C.O. gave Subject a more "friendly" name to know him by, Mel Berger- it being explained to Subject that Mel was the C.O.'s true first name. Subject thought the choice of Berger was good, because he knows several people of that name, and it would occasion no surprise at his office. Subject will continue to use his normal manner of telephoning in, and asking for Monroy.

2. Subject reported that he had come back to Mexico from a trip on 10 August. Nechiporenko was at the airport to greet him. Nechiporenko had visited his office previously, and brought along his replacement "Valentin", and at that time had found out when Subject was expected back. Nechiporenko was invited by Subject to visit him at his home for breakfast on 11 August. He showed up alone. The only business discussed was that Nechiporenko said that Subject would be contacted by "Sasha" (Alexander Prikhodko). Subject was not to contact the Soviet Embassy, or in any other way try to reach Sasha. Subject had a souvenir pistol which he had obtained from some Gauleiter (presumably during WWII), and Nechiporenko asked if he might have it. Subject gave it to him. Nechiporenko evidently asked Subject to arrange for a one day trip to Paris for him while he was en route to the Soviet Union from his stopover, Brussels. (Subject complied, and notified his agent abroad. Subject received a wire a few days ago that Nechiporenko was "no show" in Paris). Nechiporenko was not interested in Subject's observations of U.S. attitudes toward the Viet Nam and Dominican situations, although Subject had been asked to note such attitudes while he was on his trip. Nechiporenko mentioned, without Subject knowing why, that Catalina Torres, who had worked previously in Subject's office, who had attended the Mexican Soviet Cultural Institute, who had as boy friend the American who was giving English lessons to Nechiporenko (Gary Hodges ?), and who had married some Mexican and was now in Acapulco with her husband (works at Las Brisas)- would be able to contact Nechiporenko by mail to the Soviet Embassy in Mexico.

Attention "Paul": the C.O. would appreciate knowing any collateral info about Nechiporenko's departure, the identity of "Valentin", and a brief precis of Subject's former associations with Prikhodko.

1. LITEMPO reported the return of Subject, his wife and daughter Nataliya to Mexico on 21 September 1966 via Sabena flight 555 from Brussels (and Moscow). (Note that Subject's daughter Nina has remained in the USSR.) Subject and his wife were still travelling on the same passports used when they left Mexico in August 1966 (copies have been forwarded to Headquarters) and Subject is still listed as Second Secretary in his passport. The only addition to the passports is a Mexican entry visa valid for sixty days issued on 30 August 1966 in Moscow.

2. Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-285412) has been reported telling LICOZY-5, LICOWL-1 and LICANNY-1 that he is now the Consul General, replacing Subject. When LICOZY-5 asked LOGINOV what he was then going to do with Subject, LOGINOV said that it was not his decision, but that Subject would probably be put in charge of some department in the Embassy as First Secretary. The Station will keep Headquarters advised of any indications of the nature of Subject's present duties and status within the KGB hierarchy.

3. During Subject's absence on home leave, LILYRIC reported that suspect KGB chauffeur Vasiliy Stepanovich MIROSHNIKOV (201-273046) was seen driving Subject's car a few times. LICOWL-1 also reported that MIROSHNIKOV was driving a car with diplomatic plates 26-DA, which is Subject's car.

FROM: Oronsky

SUBJECT: LICANNY-1 (P-8415)

1. Subject is an official of Garza-Lopez Tours which is a representative for Inturist in Mexico City. We have had no contact with him since July 1964. At one time he had given the Station reports on various Soviet tourists and had been recruited prior to a trip to the Soviet Union in connection with Inturist. During the past few months he has been giving Don Lautz reports on various Soviet tourists such as the Soviet Orchestra which visited Mexico and Cuba recently. Lautz passed these reports on to me and Cynthia sent them home. Subject sees Lautz once or twice a week in connection with visa matters. He told Lautz that he had been contacted by KUBARK some years ago but that due to the pressure of his business he did not have time to write reports or to act as some sort of Double Agent. He said he was willing to pass along information on Soviet tourists but did not wish to become an agent for both the Americans and the Soviets. About a week ago Lautz told me that Subject had reported that Valentin LOGINOV, Vice-Consul at the Soviet Embassy, had asked Subject to supply him with information on boats and trains between Mexico and New York. Subject wanted to know what he should do. I asked Lautz if Subject wanted to talk to me and Don said that he did. I then arranged to meet him in Lautz's office at 1430 hours on 6 January.

2. Subject appears to be about 40-45 years old, 170 lbs., thinning redish hair, blue eyes, small brown mustache. He is well dressed and speaks native American English. I asked him about his contacts with the Soviets and he said that he had not had any extended contact with the Soviets for some time. During August 1965 he was approached by YATSKOV whom he knows as the Soviet Consul and was asked by him to prepare a chart of all commercial passenger ships operating between Veracruz and New York City "for the month of September". He also wanted the costs of travel and baggage. Subject has not given this report to YATSKOV. (A copy is attached.) During December he met LOGINOV for the first time at the airport while Subject was attending to the Soviet Orchestra. LOGINOV did not know Subject and was very cool toward him until YATSKOV came by and greeted Subject warmly. LOGINOV then became very friendly and asked Subject's name. LOGINOV subsequently visited Subject's place of business and told him that he was the replacement for Oleg NECHIPORENKO (KGB Officer) and that Oleg ~~ax~~ had sent regards to Subject. He said that he hoped that he and Subject would be as friendly as Subject had been with Oleg. (Subject commented that he had not been especially friendly with NECHIPORENKO.) Subject said that LOGINOV's Spanish is almost native and that he (Subject) was shocked to learn that he was a Soviet. LOGINOV referred to YATSKOV's request and added that he also wanted Subject to include rail travel in the chart and he was especially interested in the cost of "excess baggage" by rail. He also wanted to include sea travel from Veracruz to Europe.

3. Subject said that he did not want to become a D/A but that he would be willing to supply ~~xxx~~ whatever information he could concerning the Soviets he dealt with and the Soviet tourists. I asked if he would be ~~[illegible]~~ willing to supply personality data on LOGINOV including LOGINOV's background, education, family etc. He said that he would be glad to do this. He said that he would not be able to meet me on street corners or in restaurants and preferred to talk to me after he had finished his business with Don Lautz. I instructed him not to discuss his relationship with me with Don Lautz or with anyone else for that matter. ~~axdxthxt~~ He said that he would call LOGINOV and arrange to give him the report and perhaps have lunch with him.

4. Subject will never be anything exceptional in the way of an Access agent but I have asked Headquarters to renew his POA.

A representative of Garza Lopez Tours, S.A. who has furnished reliable information in the past called on me today to report that Mr. Loguinov of the Soviet Embassy has requested his agency to provide data on train schedules from Mexico to New York City and boat schedules from New York City to Europe. The Soviets were particularly interested in the train baggage allowance and the cost for excess baggage, he said.

Loguinov is a replacement for Oleg Neciporenko who was recently transferred from the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City. My informant described him as tall, blond, blue-eyed, about thirty years of age, and as a person who speaks fluent Spanish without any accent.

29 December

Contact Report: Meeting between Edgebrook and Kadiddle, 28 December

COS

On 28 December I called on Kadiddle at his residence, primarily for the purpose of setting up an elementary commo system ~~[illegible]~~ and to arrive at salary arrangemnets with him. Salary was fixed at £50 per month, (slightly above what Accra had suggested) ~~and~~ plus £100 allowance during the duration of his tour here as Ambassador. As he had previously requested, I returned to him his receipt for 35,000 pesos, which he instantly burnt in an ashtray, with obvious relief. He commented that he hoped he would never have to sign another, and it is clear that there may be some problem in working out a paid acknowledgement. I will leave it for later; will certify the 1 Jan payment, and try it on the following month. I asked him if he had been having problems with his conscience about taking money from the Americans, and he replied that he had not been able to sleep the night after our first payment, but after talking the whole matter over with his wife (the stronger personality of the two) he had finally resolved it in his mind: friends had to help one another, and if accepted the Americans as such - which he has always done - he should not be too proud to let them bail him out of a tight spot. "They were going to turn off the electricity, and there was only a thousand pesos left in our bank account".

For commo, we agreed to call in his wife and consult together. She was more than sensible about helping, recognized both the uses and dangers of the telephone, and made some useful suggestions. Personal contact, based on social relationship, is the basic arrangement, either at his house or mine. Telephone contact to be only between his wife and mine; if either of the two women call and suggest seeing one another at any hour between five and six, it means that either I am to call on Diddle at that ~~[illegible]~~ time or he on me, depending on the context of the conversation. Any other hour mentioned signifies social contact between the women themselves, who are, of course, available to pass written messages. Emergency contact can be made by Diddle himself, calling only from a pay telephone, never from his house or office.

In regard to CE affairs, Diddle made two comments which he suggested I might want to [illegible] up with Easby:

a. He asked me if I had met or talked with Noel Lindsay ~~at~~ (Vice President of Grant Advertising S A) at the dinner ~~hxxgxx~~ Diddle gave Christmas night, and on learning that I had, he commented that Lindsay's cultivation of him had been so assiduous that he was beginning to wonder if he was not dealing with someone who might be visualizing himself as his future British case officer. There was something about Lindsay, he said, that made him feel that he was assessing Diddle quite carefully. He asked if we could run a file check on Lindsay himself and on Grant Advertising. I said I would check.

b. Pearl Gonzalez has been pursuing him much too actively; asking him to her house out ~~of turn~~, wanting to do a profile on him for the English language News, of which she is the Society Editor. What a perfect cover for acquiring bio data, he explained, and what odd friends she had for an American, (she is listed as a US national in the Anglo-American directory, and is, according to Diddld, either separated or divorced from a Mexican husband) newspaper woman or not. One evening a month or so ago, he had gone to dinner at her house, found most of the other guests sped on ~~thxxx~~ their way rather unceremoniously, and was left with only Mrs Gonzalez and ~~two~~ men, who~~m~~, he found to his surprise, were both Russians (names not recalled, and never very clearly given during the initial flurry of introductions). These two engaged him in serious conversation:

Russians: How do you feel about Communism?

Diddle: There is something to be said for many if not all the important systems under which various countries are governed; however my primary concerns is not with Communism in the abstract, but with the best way for Ghana to be governed. We must take the best of all, and fit ~~them~~ it to our country.

Russians: No, no, the question is what do you think personally about Communism? What are your own beliefs?

Diddle: (getting the wind up at this point) Primarily, I must be described as a nationalist.

PRIKHODKO

One of the Russians was very tall, brunette, wavy thick hair, aged about 38 not obviously Russian in appearance, very good-looking. The other was middle height, deep lines running from the corners of his nose vertically down his cheeks, not so handsome, age about 42. Diddle has not seen them since, although he has kept an eye out for them, cursing himself for not having their names. Conversation in English - which is about all Diddle has, other than Fani and some German. He believes he would be able to identify them from photographs.

Diddle's point in reviewing this was not to let me know that there were Russians looking him over-we both well aware of that - but to point up Mrs Gonzales's role as a spotter. He does not think that she could have been unwitting of the role she was playing, and has avoided her since.

Regarding Andreyev, he suggested that I cultivate him, and on being told that I plan a dinner on 8 Jan (to which Diddle invited) for about 18 people, he commented that it would be an excellent opportunity to ask Andreyev as well. Doubtful, of course, that he would accept, but no opportunity to continue his exposure to us should be overlooked. He made the usual comments concerning Andreyev's differences from his colleagues, adding only that A had told him that he was basically internationalist in outlook. As others, he senses something wrong in A's relationship with his wife. (Comment: I ~~did~~ do not, as yet. She did not appear comfortable in a large group of people she did not know, dancing to music she clearly did not like: twist, frug & cetera, but they seemed to be on good enough terms. He was pushing her join in, but not impatiently)

Diddle asked for EEI's on the tri-continental congress; a number of Ghanians will be transiting Mexico on their way to and from Havana; he specifically mentioned Dendorkenoo, whom he described as an anti-alice 3

Nkrumah Ghanian employed as a civil servant at the UN, and not someone he would have expected to be named as a delegate to the Conference, and John Tettegah, whom he said was a "crypto-democrat" at heart, and not the anti-westerner he is usually described as being. What Tettegah used to be, and what he really is at the present time are two quite different things. He has become a friend, says Kw-b, although he cannot appear as such.

I told him that Rattesey would be coming on the sixth, more or less, and that I would get him a list of requirements for the Conference.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD:

FROM: Oronsky

SUBJECT: LICOWL-1

1. I met Subject on Friday, 11 February at 1900 hours. The meeting was a very short one since I only wanted to determine if he had found a girl for SILNIKOV to "paint". He said he was still looking.

2. The boy who watches Subject's store at night did not show up on 7 February and Subject was forced to sleep above the store himself. At 0300 hours on Tuesday (8 February) he was awakened by the noise of a car horn and looked from the window to see Valentin S. LOGINOV and Vladislav S. KORMUSHKIN blowing the horn of their car in the driveway of the Embassy. Both Soviets were drunk and were yelling for the gate guard (who happened to be SILNIKOV) to open the gate for them. They were driving car 337-D (LEONOV's) or 336-D (KORMUSHKIN's). Subject returned to his bed and did not see them leave the Embassy.

3. Since both LOGINOV and KORMUSHKIN live in apartments outside the Embassy and since they would not willingly go to the Embassy at 3 a.m. while drunk, it is likely that they were working when they got drunk and therefore had no fear of being reprimanded for it. They may have returned to the Embassy to make a report or to secure some classified materials before going home. Both men replaced known KGB officers and both work under Pavel YATSKOV.

4. I set our next meeting 24 February.

SUBJECT: Cristobal TORRES Ponce - Embassy Chauffeur

Yesterday noon Mr. TORRES came up to my office and reported that he was sent to the Russian Embassy in order to pick up Miss. MUELLER's passport and that he was approached by Valentin S. LOGUINOV, 3rd. Secretary, who asked him if he would like to go to Russia and that if he would like to receive Russian magazines and that if the U.S. Embassy uses to send somebody to follow its employees when they go some place in town , and that this individual finally invited Mr. TORRES to have supper with him next Monday, January 24, 1966, and that they will meet one each other at the corner Insurgentes Sur with Baja California, under big advertisement "CANADA", at 1830 hours.

Mr. TORRES also commented that this individual told him that in order to get a Visa for Russia, takes time, because they have to call Russia in order to get authorization, same process the U.S. Embassy does when the Russian Embassy requests a visa for one of the members of its Staff.

SUBJECT : Charles G. MUELLER, U.S. Embassy (Economics Section) Officer

1. Reference is made to LIENVOY (three conversations on 12 and 13 January 1966) reports of conversations of Subject with Valentin LOUGINOV, Soviet Embassy Officer, and conversations of Mrs. Edith STENSBY (Citizenship, U.S. Embassy) with Soviets concerning a proposed visit by Subject's wife and daughter to the USSR.

2. Paul Dillon and I advised Minister Boonstra (who was Acting Charge) on 14 January 1966 of this proposed visit and of the conversations we had learned about.

3. Mr. Boonstra had not previously heard of this proposed visit of Mrs. MUELLER to the USSR. He said he would (without divulging CAS as the source) look into this.

4. Later on 14 January 1966, Mr. George VARROS told me of the proposed trip. He said the Ambassador had personally approved it (Mr. Boonstra later also confirmed this).

5. VARROS also said he thought it "not good" for Mrs. MUELLER to make such a trip. He said (Confidentially) that she gets really drunk quite often and she talks about anything and everything she knows about. For example, she told at a party (when she was practically "blotto") about MUELLER's "taking pictures all over Mexico for CIA!"

6. VARROS will give Mrs. MUELLER a pre-briefing (defensive briefing) just prior to her departure. She will (and VARROS thinks this is wrong) be travelling on a diplomatic passport.

Wednesday, 6 April: SILNIKOV arrived about 1330 hrs and had a drink of tequila. While there, a high level Soviet came into the shop and after he had left SILNIKOV told him that the Soviet is studying Spanish in the Embassy. (This followed Subject's comment to SILNIKOV that the Soviet spoke very good Spanish). SILNIKOV said that each Wednesday all the Soviets must speak Spanish and those who refuse to do this must pay a fine. With the fine money they buy more Spanish booklets and records. SILNIKOV said that there are some Soviets who simply refuse to learn Spanish or Mexican customs and that these people will probably not be sent abroad again. Commented that this would be a shame since Mexico has such excellent beaches, weather and everything is so inexpensive here. He left the shop about 1430 hrs. Subject was about to close his shop at 2100 hrs when Valentin S. LOGINOV came into the store. He asked if he could use Subject's phone and then made a long distance call to Cuernavaca and spoke to someone in Spanish. Subject could not hear what was being said but got the phone number - Cuernavaca 2-30-65. (I told Subject to bring me the phone bill when it arrives so that I can double check the number.)

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: Dr. Ernst GOEBEL

1. Subject called me on 23 March to report that he had learned a little which might interest me. We made an appointment to meet in his office at 1700 the same day. The meeting lasted for 20 minutes.

2. Subject stated that at 1200 hours on Sunday, 20 March, LOGINOV came to the French Club. He was accompanied by his wife whose salient features were redish hair which could be died and very generous proportions, "a typically stout Russian woman." There was also another Soviet couple with them. The man was described as very blond, boyish haircut with a part, not quite as tall as LOGINOV (ca 5'9"), with a solid muscular build, like a weight lifter. His apparent age was 25 to 35. His wife was dark haired, normal figure and also young. The two couples had three children with them all in the 4-6 bracket. Subject did not remember their sexes since he was concentrating on the adults. (COMMENT: I first thought that the second Soviet would be KORMUSHKIN but Subject insisted that he did not wear glasses (KORMUSHKIN always wears glasses). However, Subject's description fits GORLITSYN and wife perfectly. I will take pictures to the next meeting for confirmation.

3. Subject stated that upon arrival the two men went into the locker room and emerged in shorts. The women were already dressed in shorts. They had their own badminton rackets and repaired to a side lawn where they played badminton until Subject left at 1330. During the period 1200 to 1330 they did not contact anybody but simply played badminton among themselves.

4. Upon leaving Subject spotted LOGINOV's car in the parking lot noting the make, color and license plates.

5. Subject was apologetic about the paucity of his information but I encouraged him and told him it was a fine start. Subject said that he had briefed his wife on LOGINOV and she will be on the lookout for him during the week. Subject appeared to be very much interested in pursuing this subject for me and gave every indication that he will keep working on it.

18 March 1966

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ LICOOKY-5
18 Mar 1730, Subj's office

[illegible] Copenhagen & Paris

1. Subj reported that on 16 Mar he was called at his office by Valentin Loginov, who said he just wanted to have lunch with Subj and talk. Loginov wanted to set the luncheon for 17 Mar, but Subj demurred and the meet was set for 18 Mar. They went to the Meson La Borda Restaurant on Bolivar Calle (incidentally, Loginov paid the check, being more prone to take the tab than his predecessor Aleksandr Prikhodko).

They talked for two hours, most of that time taken up by Loginov in a review of the world situation for Subj. Loginov intimated to Subj that he wanted Subj to be au courant and in the know on political events. He spoke of the Sino-Soviet split, mentioning the widely known reasons for the split but commenting specifically from the Soviet viewpoint on the Chinese hero-worship of Mao Tse Tung, the impulsiveness and belligerency of China as compared with the Soviet Union's genuine policy of seeking peace. He mentioned that China had had a break in the past two years by having abundant harvests. He said that hardly a Communist Party in the world now supports Red China, mentioning specifically as those that do the Australian, New Zealand and Viet Nam parties.

He commented at length on the Indonesian situation, blaming the Chinese for having reduced Communist strength in that country. He said that a hundred thousand Communists in Indonesia had been killed since last October.

In like vein he commented adversely against the Chinese in the recent overthrow of Nkruma in Ghana.

He spoke of the upcoming Congress of the CPSU at which he said would be announced a program for more consumer goods, lower prices, etc. for the Soviet people. In this connection he made certain comments about Khrushchev, stating that Khrushchev had done many good things for his country but that he was a man who relied too much on his fallible judgment.

He commented about France. He said nothing about the U.S. /Comment: The C.O. asked Subj to prepare a precis on the topics covered and the main points that Loginov made about them/.

2. Re operational matters Loginov asked Subj if he had prepared the answers about the personalities in the Foreign Office and the Registro Civil. Subj said he hadn't, and Loginov asked him to have them ready for their next meet.

Subj told Loginov about an upcoming trip to Copenhagen, which he is to undertake in behalf of the Chief of Mexican Tourism, Agustin Salvat (see attached letter). Loginov asked Subj, if he were in Paris, to look up Ginette Palacci Porter, wife of the British NATO official. Subj said he wasn't sure of being in Paris, but he would try to see her if he goes there. /Comment: Subj plans to leave Mexico on 23 Mar, travel to Brussels and Amsterdam, be in Copenhagen for the Congress on Congress Organizations from 30 Mar to 2 Apr, continue on business to Vienna and Paris. There is no set date for his return/.

Loginov inquired if any of the employees of Subj's office spoke English, indicating that if they did they might be able to gain employment at the U.S. Embassy in Mexico. Subj volunteered nor ready information to Loginov about his employees.

Loginov said he would call Subj for their next meet.

3. The C.O. told Subj to prepare a superficial personality resumé on the persons wanted by Loginov (this for prior submission to the Station). Also, while in Paris, if it is not too much trouble, try to see Ginette Palacci for the purpose of having some little to report to Loginov (naturally pre-checked by the Station) and also for the Station's benefit to discern if the Soviets abroad had made any overtures to her.

4. Subj parenthetically remarked to the C.O., in a loosely defined manner of showing the activity of the Israeli Embassy in Mexico, that there was to be a Congress of Intellectuals in Mexico with about fifty participants from all over Latin America. The major theme of the Congress was to be The Situation of the Jews and Anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union, but the theme was being held under cover as far as all advance publicity was concerned. (Attached is the announcement card for the Congress). Subj's firm is handling the arrangements.

5. The C.O. will contact Subj on 22 Mar prior to his departure abroad.

Addendum: Subj remarked to the C.O. after his long talk with Loginov that he regarded Loginov as a better intelligence official than Prikhodko, much more savvy, and that he must have been in the intelligence game longer than Prikhodko. Subj said that Loginov had told him that he would show Subj pictures of the places he had been in Latin America.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: Dr. Ernst GOEBEL

1. Upon receipt of POA on Subject, I called him at his office (Auxiliar de la Construccion, SA, Holbein 168, tel: 43-31-36) on 11 March 1965 and made an appointment to see him at 1800 on 14 March at the office. Since I had met him socially in the fall of 1965, he remembered me which facilitated the contact.

2. I met with him from 1800 to 1835 at his office. He took me to a back office where we conducted the conversation. I stated my business briefly - that I knew LOGINOV was a member of the French Club and I desired information about his activities and contacts at the club. He was in immediate agreement to help me in any way he could. I have him LOGINOV's full name, physical description, type and license plate of his car and showed him pictures of LOGINOV and his wife.

3. Subject said that he had not seen LOGINOV at the club nor heard his name. He is sure that LOGINOV is not a tennis player which is Subject's only occupation at the club. Subject said he only goes there on Saturday afternoons and Sunday mornings to play tennis. However, his wife often goes during the week with the children. Subject agreed that both he and his wife would look out for LOGINOV. At my suggestion he agreed to make inquiries about LOGINOV from Club employees such as the manager or the bar tender who know everybody. He agreed to mask his interest by stating only he had heard that a Russian was a member and to express normal curiosity about this unusual fact.

4. Subject immediately agreed to my request that this subject be a matter of strictest confidence between himself, his wife and me (his wife is an American citizen whom I have met and on whom we also have a POA). As I was leaving and thanking him for his cooperation, he expressed his appreciation in the confidence that I had in him in a matter of this nature.

5. Towards the end of the conversation he asked if I worked with Al White at the Embassy. I said "no, but I know him." He answered, "of course, you would be with counterintelligence and he is in political work." I agreed with this. He did not appear to be the least suspicious about Allan. He said he knew him through their wives (cancer work) and the children and remarked that Allan speaks pretty good German. Other than his telling me that I work in counter-intelligence, he did not ask any questions about my position in the Embassy.

6. Subject made a very good impression; direct, businesslike and no nonsense. He said that he would call me in tow or three weeks to advise the results of his investigation.

Subject: SOVIET SHIPS VISITING MEXICAN PORTS
105-5156 (3/7/66)

Reference is made to your memorandum entitled "Travel of Soviets," dated February 3, 1966, your number 10097.

Enclosed herewith for reference are copies of the crew list of the Soviet ship "Vnushitelnyi."

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the above ship arrived in the harbor at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, on February 2, 1966, and remained there until 3:30 P.M., on February 5, 1966.

According to this source, VALENTINE S. LOGINOV, a Third Secretary of the Embassy of the USSR, visited the ship, arriving by air from Mexico City and was staying at the Hotel Freeman in Mazatlan. According to this source, national intelligence operatives in Mazatlan reported LOGINOV had no contacts while in the city except with the ship's crew. No attempt was made by the Soviets to introduce propaganda material from the ship.

On February 21, 1966, PEDRO ZARATE MARMOLEJO, Commandant of the Customs Guard, Maritime Customs Office, Mazatlan, Sinaloa, advised that his men have been carefully watching the elements of the Soviet whaling fleet that are currently visiting Mazatlan. They have been alerted to the importation of any propaganda or contraband, but, as yet, nothing has transpired. When the flagship of the Soviet whaling fleet arrived recently, there was no one aboard who spoke Spanish or English, and the Captain seemed to be completely lacking in instructions about documents in order to enter the harbor. He did not have the necessary papers prepared. A Soviet Embassy official was sent from Mexico City in order to straighten matters out.

ZARATE said that the purpose of the visit of the whaling ships was to take on fresh water and supplies. The crews were also given liberty.

Also enclosed herewith for reference are copies of the crew list of the Soviet vessel "Iskatel" which visited Mazatlan on January 9, 1966.

In connection with the visit of the "Iskatel," it is noted that a Soviet Embassy car, believed to contain Soviet Commercial Consul GEORGIY STEPHANOVICH VISKO and USSR Embassy chauffeur VASILIY STEPHANOVICH MIROSHNIKOV, was observed on the highway leading to Mazatlan on January 11, 1966, and was subsequently observed on January 14, 1966, in Mazatlan.

This office is attempting to obtain the crew list of the Soviet whaling vessels that have visited Mazatlan during February, 1966, and will make them available when obtained.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ [illegible]-5
3 March 1966, Subject's office

1. Subj reported that on Tuesday, 22 Feb, he was visited by Valentin Loginov, his new case officer, who dropped in without prior notification to arrange [illegible] accommodations for Nicolai Khlebnikov and for Prigova and daughter for [illegible]. Loginov wanted to talk, but Subj said he had to make an appointment and hastily arranged a luncheon meet for 23 Feb 1400 at the La Borda Restaurant on Bolivar Street. /Comment: Subj stated that he called in to the Station on 23 Feb after the luncheon. Had the C.O. ~~been apprised~~ of this call, the Station probably would have received the advance notice re Khlebnikov and his Soviet flight companions/

2. Loginov came to Subj's office on 23 Feb and together they went to the La Borda Restaurant.

Loginov repeated Aleksandr Prikhodko's interest in Subj's health and offered to send the report on Subj's condition from the Temple Clinic to Moscow. Subj asked Loginov why he wanted the report, and Loginov answered "we want to take care of your health." /Comment: Subj will not comply/.

Loginov startled Subj by asking what he knew about the super-secret Jewish organization "Pluga" /Comment: Subj explained to the C.O. that "Pluga" was formed all over Latin America after the arrest of Eichmann had caused Nazi-like anti-Semitic organizations to spring into being in the Latin countries. Jews formed "Pluga" (which is a Hebrew word meaning some kind of military unit) in order to receive military training. Subj knows about the organization through his contacts in the Israeli Embassy in Mexico although he is not a member. He gauges the Mexican contingent at about 25 to 30. The Israeli Govt sent an organizer and instructor to Mexico. Members have gone from Mexico to Israel for training (Subj knows because he handled their travel arrangements)./ Loginov stated that he would like to know about the members of "Pluga", because "it would be interesting if this organization could work for them (the Soviets)". Loginov was pleased with Subj's remark that the organization was militantly anti-Nazi. Subj indicated without too much enthusiasm that he would do what he could.

Loginov put another request to Subj in a rather desultory manner, asking Subj's cooperation if Subj " wants to, can or will" comply. Loginov remarked that "We know that you have friends among the French officials in the French Embassy" and wanted Subj to find out the reaction of these officials to a) De Gaulle's declaration against the U.S. in Viet Nam b) De Gaulle's views on French withdrawal from NATO and c) a third point that Subj could not recall. Subj said he would try. /Comment: Subj does know well the French Press Attache, but he didn't tell that to Loginov/.

Loginov told Subj that the Soviets were anxious to recruit someone in the Secretariat of Gobernación, some "small guy", and that Subj should spot the person for them. Subj said he would think about it.

Loginov requested information about the employees who worked for Subj. Subj named most of the employees in his office, and gave the briefest of details about them. Subj was nonplussed by the question, but he did not ask Loginov why he wanted the information. /Comment: Subj expressed to the C.O. his fear that the Soviets might try to recruit someone in his office, and for that reason thought it best for the C.O. to limit his personal calls to the office. The C.O. agreed on the need for caution on general principles, but thought it unlikely that Loginov would so blatantly advertise his intentions of subverting Subj's personnel. Nevertheless, the C.O. suggested to Subj that this might constitute a "sore point" in Subj's relations with Loginov and be exploited as an irritating factor for the future/. Loginov did not write down the names of the employees.

Loginov brought up the answers to Prikhodko's questions. Subj said they weren't ready. Loginov asked if Subj could have them by next time. Subj said he would try.

/Comment: For all the above requests the C.O. instructed Subj to do nothing, explaining that we were awaiting definitive word from Washington on the course of the operation. Subj is prepared for the eventuality that we may wish to break off his relation to the Soviets/.

3. Subj asked Loginov directly if this were his first job abroad. Loginov replied that he had been in Latin America for a couple of years, and mentioned specifically Panama, Colombia, Ecuador and Chile. When Subj remarked that the Soviets didn't have official representation in these countries, Loginov answered that he had been in commercial missions and other missions. Subj stated it as his impression, because Loginov mentioned having been in the jungles and in provincial towns, that Loginov had been on special missions of sabotage.

Subj [illegible] asked Loginov if he knew about "the plans" (for the [illegible] [illegible]). Loginov said he did, and that "we are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] — in very near future to have a [illegible] [illegible] from home."

The C.O. asked Subj how he sized up Loginov. Subj said he wanted more time to formulate his impressions, but noted that Loginov is not "tonto", speaks slowly, and uses the soft approach.

4. Subj moved to his new condominio apartment on 26 February. The telephone is [illegible]-14-40. The address, already reported to the Station, is Av. Cumbres de Acultzingo 20 Dep. 602, Lomas Altas, Mexico 10 D.F.

5. Subj was annoyed that at his last call-in on 3 March to ext. [illegible]70 he was asked his name. He refused to give it, believing he was sufficiently identified by asking for Herb. The C.O. recommends that the latter be accepted to designate the caller in this instance.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ LICOZY-5
18 Feb 1230, Subject's office

1. At the time of delivering to Subj on the evening of 15 Feb a case of wine that he had requested, the C.O. permitted Subj, at the latter's suggestion, to make a "rush-in" show for his meet with Aleksandr Prikhodko on 16 Feb at Sanborns Restaurant, Insurgentes, at 0900.

2. Subj reported on 18 Feb the story of his brush-off meet with Sasha on 16 Feb. He told Sasha, whom he found standing to the side of the restaurant in Sanborns, that he was sick, and had got up out of a sick bed against his wife's instructions, just to show Sasha that he wasn't trying to avoid a meeting - but, he was too sick to stay. Sasha accompanied Subj outside and walked with him toward Subj's home. Sasha told Subj to submit to him the findings of the Temple Clinic on Subj's illness, and he would forward them to Moscow (for medical advice). /Comment: Subj has no intention of doing so/.

Subj told Sasha that he had spoken to Jacobo Zabludovsky about Sasha's questions on U.S. nuclear policy, and that Zabludovsky had just laughed at him for putting such naive, silly questions. Zabludovsky had said that everyone knows of U.S. interest in curbing the spread of nuclear power. Sasha laughed, and said that was only newspaper talk.

Subj expressed concern to Sasha as to why he had been turned over to Valentin Loginov. Sasha repeated his previous statement that Loginov had more opportunity for outside contact, even visits to Subj's office as part of his natural consular duties. Further, the changeover had been ordered by their superiors. Sasha said that Loginov would get in touch with Subj.

3. The C.O. found out that when Subj had mentioned Echeverria to Sasha at an earlier meet as being a seeker for the presidency of Mexico, Sasha had shown great interest.

The C.O. asked Subj if there were any activity on travel to the Soviet Union (for the purpose of discovering if Subj would bring up the name of Maria de la Paz Cervantes, a Sabena airline employee interested in travel to the Soviet Union). Subj replied that some members of the Jewish community in Mexico were inquiring about a trip to the Soviet Union.

4. Subj is to call in whenever he hears from Loginov about a meet.

PRM

Note: Subj, in anticipation of his housewarming of his new apt, requests that by April (or during April) we procure for him 1 case of Scotch, 1 case of Cognac, a case of White Wine, and a case of Red - if it is possible. The C.O. suggests gradual accumulation of this lot over the next two months.

SUBJ: Contact Report/ [illegible]-5
8 Feb, Subj's office; 14 Feb, La Pergola Restaurant 2000

1. On 8 Feb the C.O. visited Subj's office briefly to advise him how to [illegible] with the next meet with Aleksandr Prikhodko, when the latter had initiated their meeting. Basically, Subj was to give Sasha a "hard time."

2. On 10 Feb in a telephonic double-talked conversation Subj advised the C.O. that Sasha had called his office on 9 Feb, asked if he were going to be brushed off further, and insisted on a meet for 11 Feb 0900 breakfast at Sanborns [illegible]. The C.O. told Subj to go ahead with the meet, and follow the line agreed upon.

3. On 14 Feb Subj reported to the C.O. the results of his meet with Sasha on 11 Feb at Sanborn's Restaurant. Subj found Valentin Loginov, the Soviet Consul, with Sasha. The latter told Subj that since he has little work that takes him outside of the SovEmb, he is turning Subj over to Valentin who will henceforth be Subj's contact. Subj, who had met Valentin once before at the SovEmb, jokingly replied that that was all right with him, Valentin was a nice guy- much better than Sasha. Sasha, however, carried the ball for most of the balance of the meet.

Sasha complained because Subj had not yet brought the answers to his questions. Subj replied by ripping into Sasha in turn with complaints of why he hadn't done the answers- his sickness, his visit to Temple, Texas clinic, the findings of the clinic, his business at the office, etc.

Subj followed this with the burden of his complaints about the Soviets, which was that while he was willing to do services for the Soviets, he was fed up with the "junk" assignments they were handing him; he wants to do what is concrete and important. Sasha started to soothe him in the same old way about how important the little things were, etc., but Subj cut him off. At about this time, Valentin chimed in by saying that he and Sasha just pass along to Subj the tasks they receive from higher up, and that it is up to Subj to tell them if he will or will not accomplish them. Subj agreed to that principle.

Sasha then startled Subj by asking directly why it was that Subj was working for the Soviet Union. Subj answered candidly that he didn't really know why- and said the Soviets knew he was not ideologically with them. Sasha seized on that to say that was just the way the Soviets wanted it- Subj was right not to show any enthusiasm for the Soviet Union or Communism, etc. Subj continued, however, to state that he felt a comradeship with the Soviets because of their past association during the toughest part of his life when they faced a common enemy (referring to his Partisan fighting days against the Germans). He said also that it looks as if the Soviets are going to win out in the future, and he wants to be on the side of the victors.

Sasha then went on to ask Subj to do certain things for him. He would like the answers to the questions at the next meeting. He asked Subj to check with his friend, Jacobo Zabludovsky, the newspaperman, why it is that the U.S. is supporting Mexico's stand on de-nuclearization, and why the U.S. is for control of nuclear power at Geneva. Also, he was to sound Zabludovsky out on who was lining up as candidate for the next President of Mexico. ~~XX~~ Re the latter, Subj told Sasha and Valentin the story he had already turned in to the Station: that Echeverria, of Gobernación, was trying to line up five Jews in the Jewish Community of Mexico to support his candidature for the presidency.

Sasha set the next meet for 15 Feb 0900 again at Sanborns Restaurant on Insurgentes, and said that Valentin would not be there because he was going to be in Veracruz on that date.

4. Subj told the C.O. that some time ago when Sasha agreed to get Cuban cigars for Subj he told Subj that Soviet couriers no longer transit Mexico to Havana, but that they go direct from Moscow.

Subj also mentioned that Pavel Yatskov had booked passage at Subj's office last week for a trip to Mazatlan and Manzanillo.

5. The C.O. at first okayed the meet with Sasha set for 15 Feb, and instructed Subj not to bring the answers. Further, he was to throw the Zabludovsky bit right back at Sasha as being too ridiculous to put to a knowing newspaperman what was common knowledge about U.S. policy on nuclearization. Then, in Valentin's absence, Subj was to express concern to Sasha about being given a contact who probably didn't know what the score was on everything that had gone before in Subj's work, etc. Lastly, Subj could mention to Sasha that he was reading the Penkovskiy Papers, and he couldn't see how a Soviet so high up in Intelligence could turn sour.

COPIES MADE

After checking with Francis Coyne, it was decided to continue on the tack of annoying Sasha and therefore have Subj miss his next meeting. Subj was later apprised of the change in plans, and will not show up on 15 Feb or 16 Feb.

6. Subj advised the C.O. on 15 Feb that Sasha had called to find out why Subj had missed his meet, and put the screws on for 16 Feb. The C.O. told Subj to be no show on 16 Feb. Subsequently summoned to a "crash-in" meet.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: AEGELATIN, Jr.

DATE OF MEETING: 16 June 1966

1. I had lunch with Subject at the Reforma Club from 1330 to 1500 on 16 June 1966.

2. Subject immediately identified the passport photo of BOYAROV as the "Viktor" he had met on 4 June.

3. He said that our picture of LOGINOV was not "Vasilio" whom he described as younger and not as heavy as LOGINOV's picture.

4. Subject reported that on 13 June ISAYEV called him at home and asked to come by that evening. (Confirmed by LIENVOY). ISAYEV arrived about 1930 and stayed to about 2030. Subject suggested that they have a Martini. ISAYEV said that he had never had one and was interested in the ingredients and how it was put together. However, after he had drunk half, Subject noted that he obviously did not like it. Therefore, Subject offered him a Cuba Libra which he accepted and drank. The result of this combination was the first time Subject has seen ISAYEV a bit tipsy.

5. ISAYEV said that he had heard that Subject had had a successful weekend fishing 3-5 June. Subject admitted this and then sounded off about how rude YATSKOV had been (drinking Vodka in front of Nick and his friend, refusing to come to Nick's for a drink or inviting Nick and his friend in, anger at Nick's success, etc). ISAYEV merely shrugged this off. Nick then mentioned that he had met the new man "Viktor," (BOYAROV), had spoken a few words of English with him and thought he was very nice. ISAYEV answered that although "Viktor" was not a fisherman, he had enjoydd seeing the Mexican countryside and particularly the scenery at Pucuato. They did not discuss the third Soviet, "Vasilio."

6. ISAYEV asked what his fishing plans were. Nick said that he was so busy with his many problems at the new plant that he would not be going fishing during June. Nick then suggested that they go on the weekend of 1 July. However, he added "but just you and me. Don't bring any of your friends like that rude Pablo (YATSKOV)." ISAYEV answered "Not even Anatoliy (KARABACH?" Nick answered that Anatoliy was okay and he could come. This date is tentative and will be confirmed.

7. ISAYEV remarked zhat his wife and child were in Cuernavaca and that KARABACH's wife would go down on the weekend of 18 June leaving them both bachelors. Nick facetiously remarked that he would have to organize some wemen for them.

8. Nick asked ISAYEV about the Soviet volleyball team. ISAYEV said that he had been heavily engaged in working with them. He was with the team for each game, then went out with them to dinner, took them to the hotel, etc. and didn't get home nights until 1 am.

9. Nick brought up the point that ISAYEV had never invited him to his house. ISAYEV, definitely uncomfortable and searching for words, said that he hadn't invited them because his wife thought that there was too big a contrast between Nick's home and theirs. That Nick was "rich" with lots of beautiful things - that they lived very modestly having inherited undistinguished furniture from his predecessor, etc. Nick pooh-poohed this stating that friendship is what counts and the circumstances of one's home meant nothing. ISAYEV ended by saying rather lamely that he would invite Nick to his home. Nick said that from ISAYEV's words and discomfiture, it was obvious that he is ashamed to invite anyone to his house.

10. Finally, Nick said that it was his impression that ISAYEV had absolutely no immediate plans to return to the USSR and Nick feels that he will be here until November or December.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: Nick KOURCHENKO, Jr.

DATE OF MEETING: 7 June 1966

1. I met Nick at his apartment from 2030 to 2200 in order to debrief him on the fishing weekend of 3-5 June.

2. Nick reported that when he and his Mexican friend arrived at Pucuato at 1845 on Friday, 3 June, YATSKOV and two other Soviets were already there fishing in front of the cabins. They had come in ISAYEV's VW. Shortly thereafter the Soviets came to the cabins and Nick greeted YATSKOV and introduced his Mexican friend to him. YATSKOV did not introduce the other two Soviets by name but they all did shake hands. Nick invited them all into his room but only YATSKOV came. He accepted a drink and left with it. Later outside Nick asked one of the new Soviets his name and got the answer, "Vasilio." The other one then used an English word and Nick asked if he spoke English. This Soviet said his name was Viktor and that he spoke a little English. Nick then asked YATSKOV which of the other two was the newly arrived Soviet. YATSKOV said that it was Viktor. Nick then lent them his extra lantern and that ended things for the night.

3. The next day both groups fished separately at Sabanita. About noon YATSKOV came by and noticed that Nick was having luck so he brought the other two Sovs to a spot immediately adjacent. They stayed about an hour, didn't have any luck and left. They met again that evening at the cabins. Nick and his friend had caught 28 trout and the Soviets none. YATSKOV was upset, jealous and even angry. Nick then invited Viktor in for a drink. Viktor did the same as YATSKOV, took the drink with him. YATSKOV said that the Soviets would leave Sunday morning since they had no luck. Nick left early Sunday morning for fishing. He later learned from the owner that the Soviets had left fairly early Sunday morning.

4. Although all the Soviets were pleasant and correct there was absolutely no socializing or extended conversation. They did not accept Nick's invitations to come in for a drink, except for the above noted occasions when they accepted a drink and left taking it with them.

5. "Viktor:" Nick described him as an older man, 36 to 42, medium height, 82-85 kilos, heavy but not fat build, roundish, boyish face, looked like an American in general appearance. Does not speak Spanish. Said he spoke a little English. However, their conversation was so limited that Nick couldn't determine his fluency. He obviously understood everything that Nick said but his answers and comments were short and simple. As noted above, YATSKOV said that he is the newly arrived Soviet. He did not do any fishing himself but simply watched YATSKOV and the other Soviet.

6. I showed Nick a picture of BOYAROV. Nick couldn't positively identify it. Our picture has sunglasses. During the day Viktor had on a white towel protecting his neck and a wide hat but no sunglasses. At night Nick saw very little of him and it was dark. However, Nick did say that our photo was not at all incompatible with Viktor. Also showed him a photo of GAZIYEV and he said that this was definitely not Viktor. (COMMENT: Since GAZIYEV and BOYAROV are the only new Soviets in town, and Viktor spoke English, he has to be BOYAROV. But why did he use the name Viktor when his name is Vitaliy?'

7. "Vasilio": About 28-32 years old, medium to dark blond curly hair, medium height, very good athletic build, tough and strong appearance, the all-American boy type. Speaks pretty good Spanish but not as well as ISAYEV or YATSKOV. There are only two Vasiliys at the Embassy, BUTSEV and MIROSHNIKOV, but neither comes any where near the above description. (COMMENT: Nick's description of"Vasilio" fits LOGINOV to a "T." However, his name is Valentin and not Vasiliy. I will show Nick pictures at the next meeting.)

8. Previously Nick has met 8 Soviets, all in true name (mostly by first name only). Thus it is strange that BOYAROV and LOGINOV should use phony names.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/LICOZY-5 — cc P-2712
11 May 1200, Subj's office

1. By telephone an attempt was made to line Subj up for an LCFLUTTER. But the time Subj was able to allot for "meeting the representative from Washington" was too limited for the operator, and thus the examination was postponed to some later date.

The C.O. wants to go on record, in any event, for believing that the timing was not appropriate for subjecting Subj to the LCFLUTTER. Subj had been led over a period of months up to the point where he carried out a break-off from the Soviets re clandestine work for them. Just the same day he had been scheduled for the examination, 3 May, he had a scene with his old Soviet case officer, Prikhodko, and no matter what aplomb Subj has (and he has plenty) Subj finds the break-off scenes emotionally wearing. Hence, to have sprung an LCFLUTTER on him at this time, he may have been inordinately sensitive to a feeling that we mistrusted him - coming as it did after our adamant stand that he cut loose from the Soviets. The risk of affronting Subj by an LCFLUTTER was not, in the C.O.'s opinion, worth it at this particular stage of relationships in the operation.

2. On 11 May Subj reported that on 10 May at about 1630 Valentin Loginov, P- came to his office. Loginov asked Subj if he knew anything about the Congress of Intellectuals that was going to take place in Mexico. Loginov said that the Congress, whose topic was Anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union, was really anti-Soviet. He brought Subj a pamphlet in Spanish "The Jews in the Soviet Union" (printed by the Soviet Embassy in Mexico) - (attached). Subj did some fast thinking, because he in reality had booked the hotel reservations for the group that was to attend the Congress. He told Loginov that he had handled the hotel reservations at the Hotel Del Prado. When Loginov asked for the names of the delegates, Subj said he didn't know them.

Earlier that day Subj had seen Israeli Amb Arad, and the Congress had been a topic of discussion between them. Arad had said that some news media, specifically El Dia, Politica, and Siempre, had criticized the Congress as being anti-Soviet. The Israeli Embassy actually was supporting the Congress, but for policy reasons, had to remain in the background. An Israeli, named Tov, was in Mexico promoting the Congress, but he was not associated with the Israeli Embassy. Arad feared there might be leftist interruption of the Congress, scheduled to take place at the Hotel Del Prado on 13, 14 and 15 May, and he had asked Gobernación for Secret Service protection. Arad told Subj that eight persons had come to Mexico, brought by the Soviets. He didn't know where they came from or who they were. Arad was happy that some newspapers were defending the Congress.

attempting [illegible]

After Loginov's visit Subj called Arad to advise him of the Soviet's interest in the Congress. Subj said that Arad would be dining at his home that evening (11 May).

3. Loginov also told Subj that he had been in Veracruz because of the seaman that had jumped ship there. He said that he had found the seaman, and returned him to his ship. There had been a fight aboard ship, the seaman who fled had fled-had hit a companion with a bottle and thought he had killed him. The man had not been killed.

4. Subj said he would be going to New York for five days on 15 May. He stays at the St. Regis Hotel.

1. On 2 May 1966 Subject called me and asked for a meeting which took place at his office from 1530 to 1600 the same day.

2. Subject reported that on Saturday, 16 April he saw LOGINOV with his wife and son leaving the French Club at ca 1500. He noticed that another car, 25 DA (GORLITSYN's) was parked next to LOGINOV's. A half an hour later 25 DA was still there, which meant that its owner had something to do with the Club independent of LOGINOV. I showed Subject pictures of GORLITSYN which he immediately identified as the Soviet who was with LOGINOV the first time Subject saw him at the Club. (comment: Since this makes two times that GORLITSYN has been at the Club, perhaps he is also a member.)

3. Subject reported that on Sunday, 24 April he and another member, Antonio SARMIENTO, were looking for a fourth to play doubles. Subject noticed LOGINOV standing beside the tennis court and asked SARMIENTO to invite LOGINOV to join them. However, LOGINOV declined and said that he was going to have a swim with SARMIENTO's wife. After lunch Subject saw LOGINOV and SARMIENTO playing chess together and overheard that they are on a first-name basis. From the above Subject commented that LOGINOV and the SARMIENTOs have a close social relationship.

4. Subject knows SARMIENTO casually as an occasional tennis companion. SARMIENTO owns a plastic factory which makes airline bags and similar items. He is about 35. His wife's name is Violeta and she is in her late 20s. Subject looked them up in the phone book and got the following listing: Violeta SARMIENTO, Manuel M. Ponce 143, Guadalupe Inn, tel: 24-21-58.

5. We have several LIFEAT traces on the SARMIENTOs in social contact with NECHIPORENKO at the French Club. Evidently LOGINOV took them over from him.

6. Now that Subject has found a link, I told him to try to engage LOGINOV in conversation, have a drink with him, etc. in order to establish a direct line to him.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ LICOZY-5 -felip-
25 Apr 1000; entrance to Zoo below Arquimedes, in cars

1. Subj reported that he was at the airport the night of 23 Apr to receive the INTURIST delegation. AMAV representatives Ibarguien and Romero were also on hand. Boichenko was much put out because their arrival had been delayed over the matter of obtaining Mexican visas. He told Subj he would be in Mexico only for the first day of the AMAV conference in Guadalajara, because he was going on to Montreal on 28 Apr to inaugurate Soviet ship service direct between Montreal and Leningrad. The others would remain in Mexico for the conference.

2. The delegates were taken to the Hotel Reforma. Subj, who brought Lev Mikhailov to the Reforma, asked how it was that Mikhailov had left the Foreign Office to be in INTURIST. Mikhailov said he had a 15 year old daughter, in Moscow, and wanted to remain there. His card read "Director of International Organizations", INTURIST.

3. Subj had coffee at the airport with Valentin Loginov and Visko. Nothing was said of Subj's break-off from Loginov.

4. Subj will await overtures from the Soviets. He said he was not planning to be out of Mexico until 15 May.

SUBJECT: Contact Report/ LICOZY-5
20 Apr, 1300, Subj's office

1. When the C.O. arrived at Subj's office, one of the male employees of Subj evidently advised him that "Mr. Ferger" was there. Subj came from his inner office to advise the C.O. that (Leonid Vasilyevich) Nikiforov was in his office making travel arrangements. /The C.O. remained in the outer office, but with his back to the passageway and his face buried in a magazine/. P-9026

Subsequently, Subj told the C.O. that Nikiforov was leaving for vacation to the Soviet Union on 21 Apr via Air France. He was due to return to Mexico on 24 May.

Subj also mentioned that the INTURIST delegation coming to the AMAV meeting in Guadalajara (27-30 Apr) had not arrived in Mexico as scheduled (on 19 Apr) because there had been a delay in their receiving Mexican visas. The delay was occasioned by Mexican demand for minimal biographic information in order to process the visas. The group of four has been re-scheduled to arrive in Mexico on 23 Apr via Sabena.

The C.O. saw the exchange of telegrams re the information required for visa issuance, and noted the following:

Viktor Boichenko, born 21 July 1925 in Aktyubinsk; president of INTURIST; Passport D 01155 B, issued 6 Oct 1965.

Lev Mikhailov, born 11 May 1924 in Moscow; chief of the International Department; Passport C 065257, issued 25 Sept 1965.

[illegible]
Assam Ahmedov (sic), born 24 June 1924 in Tashkent; chief of the Uzbekistan Tourism Directorate; Passport 069757, issued 24 Dec 1965.

Lyudmila Kuznetsova, born 5 Mar 1923 in Moscow; Latin American Department; Passport C 065784, issued 6 Oct 1965.

Subj mentioned that at the Copenhagen Congress on Congress Organizations that he attended 30 Mar to 2 Apr 1966, he met two Soviet "scientists" and the INTURIST rep for Denmark. The " representatives from the Academy of Sciences" were Gennadiy Andreyevich Mozhaev and Timur T. Timofeiev (cards attached).

2. The C.O. who had heard from Subj on 19 Apr by telephone that he had had his confrontation with Valentin Loginov last week requested a full account of that meeting. Subj reported that Loginov had called him on 15 Apr requesting a meet somewhere outside; Subj insisted that Loginov come to his office.

The following day, 14 Apr, Loginov came to Subj's office. He asked Subj how his trip (to Europe) had been and specifically asked if Subj had seen Ginette Palacci Porter. Subj replied that he had found out that Ginette and her husband were vacationing in Italy.

Loginov asked what impressions Subj had received in Europe on France's backing out of NATO. Subj answered that he had spoken to some Frenchmen, including George Laguero of Air France, who considered in general that de Gaulle was not wrong, but that his way was too drastic, that he was annoying everyone, and that France could not be isolated.

Then Subj made his break-off announcement to Loginov, saying But- I'm sorry to tellx you that I'm not going to be able to work with you any more. There are several reasons. Loginov asked if anything had happened. Subj replied he had reasons. Loginov asked what they were. Subj said he was tired; he had a lot to do; and frankly he was plain disappointed- there had been big deals planned, nothing happened, and he was doing just junk. Loginov asked if that was Subj's final decision. Subj said yes. The Soviet then asked if they could talk it over. Subj said certainly, any time. Thereupon it was agreed between them that they would meet half an hour before the expected arrival at Mexico Airport of the INTURIST group coming to Mexico. They would meet in the restaurant.

Subj told Loginov he had traveled with Amb Bazarov, and that they had become very friendly. And he asked Loginov if he minded that he saw the Amb again. Loginov said not at all- but not to call the Amb at the SovEmb or use the phone for any calls to the SovEmb.

As stated in para. 1 above, the INTURIST delegation did not arrive on 19 Apr, and Subj who knew of the postponement did not go to the airport, and consequently missed his meet with Loginov.

3. Subj, in his customary way asked "did I do right?" The C.O. said it was fine if Loginov got the no-nonsense idea that Subj was through. The C.O. told Subj to wait until the Sovs get in touch with him again, and to have their second meet, at which Subj again makes perfectly clear that he is through. He is to remain friendly though, and is free to do anything he wishes re establishing contact with the Soviet Ambassador. Subj said he would under any circumstances postpone his meet with Loginov until at least the night of 23 Apr when the INTURIST delegation is scheduled to arrive.

Date: 22 July, inst.

Some time ago subject's radio was stolen from his home. He reported it to the police and nothing happened. He has continued to request police assistance in this matter, until the robbery and subject's complaining about lack of police attention was brought to the attention of Gen. C~~O~~UETO, who assigned, or requested that an agent be assigned to go out and calm down the irate Soviet. The agent went out on 19 July, last. Policeman ~~Who is agent?~~

Luis CUETO Ramirez

On 20 July, last, the agent reported back to Gen. C~~O~~UETO that he had talked to subject for some time about the stolen radio, but that following the discussion the subject had asked the agent "to work for him on certain matters", offering him 5,000.00 pesos per month. Agent requested instructions. Gen. C~~O~~UETO contacted L/8, discussed the matter and told the agent to accept the offer. Agent again saw subject on 21 July, last, and was given his first "assignment" by subject.

This was a request for agent to locate one NICOLAS JUAN BOSTROEN and latter's wife, VALENTINA GRUSDOW DE BOSTROEN, both described as Venezuelan citizens, and to advise subject soonest as to street address and telphone number of residence, as well as place of employment.

L/4 made a quick check of the Gobernación files on the BOSTROENs, with following results:

NICOLAS JUAN BOSTROEN: P/12893

VALENTINA GRUSDOW DE BOSTROEN:

The Gen. Mgr. of Stephens-Adamson de Mexico is RICHARD SEYMOUR BAKER, a U.S. citizen.

L/8 suggests that we may desire to contact BAKER, to get a line on the BOSTROENs, and, if that source and others available to us give them a clear bill, that we may desire to contact them and start a little backfire. L/8 will cooperate fully with us. He would like to know your reaction. (He is personally intrigued by the case and will be anxious to hear from you via the same route back.)

1. At 08:00 hours I had a telephone call from the Secretary of Gobernacion, Lic. Luis Echevarria. He said that he had an urgent matter in which he needed my help. He added that this was a matter that President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz was personally very interested.

2. Echevarria sent Lienvoy/2 to see me and gave me the following information and aske d the following help of me.

a). President Diaz Ordaz is personally very "upset" by certain recent actions by some Soviets in Mexico. (Note: I believe, but do not know this, that some Soviet has tried to "recruit" a source close to the President and that this has "backfired").

b). Valentin LOGUINOV, Soviet (Known KGB) is of particular and urgent interest interest to the President. I was told by Echevarria on the telephone that the top name on the list he would send by Lienvoy/2 would "probably get the same treatment that some others got in 1959". This refers to PNG actions taken in March 1959 against two Soviets caught with Demetrio VALLEJO Martinez and the Railroad Strikers. I was asked if I could send two things to Echevarria urgently: These are: A Summary of data on LOGUINOV, particularly saying what there was to show him a "Spy"; and, secondly, a list of know Spies in the Soviet Embassy. (Note: These requests were given to me orally and on a card by Lienvoy/2, when I saw him at 08:40 hours on 22 July 1966).

c). Data on two "Trouble-Makers": Felix ALVAHUANTE and Lenin ALVAHUANTE. These two are known and a file resume will be made and sent to Echevarria. This request was sent by a card from Echevarria which Lienvoy/2 gave me.

done 22 July 66

3. I asked Echevarria for his personal assistance in getting the data on Soviets which the Mexican Foreign Office has. I told him that this data, with photographs particularly, would help us. He promised to get this data for us; and I intend to push for it on a continuing basis.

Nevertheless, it was a point that always bothered me [illegible] to make it a matter of record.

[illegible] from his written notes)

[illegible], 24 June. Subject saw the short American woman (previously reported as phoning from Subject's store to a tourist agency) leaving the Soviet Embassy about 1130 hours. He did not see her enter. She came into the shop to use Subject's phone but the phone was out of order. About the same time he saw two men who appeared to be Americans enter the Embassy. One was white and the other a negro. Subject went to pick up some bottles and heard them speak to each other in English. According to Subject, [illegible] told him that two Americans had visited the Embassy to [illegible] visas because they did not want to fight in Viet Nam. (We have not been able to identify the woman but the Americans are [illegible]. LICOWL said they left the Embassy at 1157 hours.) They [illegible] made two visits to the Embassy. [illegible] clear how SILNIKOV knew anything about these visitors [illegible] SILNIKOV is no longer on the main gate of the Embassy.

3. Later in the day SILNIKOV dropped by (and made the comments above). He also told Subject that Viktor KALYGIN had been placed on the main gate once more (confirmed by the basehouses) and that he (SIL) was "officially" the administrative officer. He said he can now find time to eat Mexican food with Subject and said he would be by the following day about 0900 hours.

Saturday, 25 June. SILNIKOV came in about 0900 hours and [illegible] wife, Carmelita, fixed him some special Mexican food [illegible] of her Saint's Day. He was there for about a half [illegible]. Valentin LOGINOV came in and ordered 75 pesos [illegible] of [illegible] drinks to be delivered that same day by 1500 hours. Paul:

1. I have reviewed the entire LOGINOV file and have made copies of all pertinent LIENVOY clips for the following P files and have included a note to that effect in each of these files:

Miriam AVILA Katz	P-581
Socorro FLORES	P-12259
Salvador PAZ Plata	12775
Erika KAMMERMAN	P-12843

2. Attached hereto are copies of all the clips I found on the other people included on the list you gave me.

a. Besides the 11 April clip on Dr. Juan Luis ALVAREZ Gallou I found a 12 Jul 66 call from Jose Luis ALVAREZ Gayou, probably at least related if not the same person. This is the only name on which there are any/other possibly identifiable traces:

(1) According to a 28 June 1961 LITEA Contact Report, Jose Luis ALVAREZ was one of the students in the Tuesday and Thursday, 7 to 8:30 p. m., Russian language classes at the IICMR during the months of February and March.

(2) HMM-6018, dated 17 November 1961, based on information from LIENVOY Unit C, reported that one Jose Luis ALVAREZ was a member of the MLN Committee of Michoacan.

(3) In a 30 November 1961 Legal Attache report one Jose Luis ALVAREZ of Morelia, Michoacan, was named as one who assisted the National Liberation Movement in Mexico.

(4) HMMA-20810, dated 1 March 1963, included the following information from LIBRIFORM: "One Jose Luis ALVAREZ (matronymic unknown) is putting items in the 'Voz de la Universidad' (Universidad Autonoma Nacional de Mexico) for the Czechs. KUBATA, the Charge d'Affaires in the Czech Embassy praised ALVAREZ for his reports and said 'we will give you money and material to help support the magazine'. ALVAREZ also works on the University's 'Periodico de la Universidad' (newspaper).

(5) HMMA-27516, dated 27 October 1965, provided an 11 October 1965 listing, again based on LIENVOY information, on which the name of Jose Luis ALVAREZ was again included as an active member of the MLN and a member of the State Committee of Morelia, Michoacan, which had its general offices at Guillermo Prieto 35-10 in Morelia.

b. About Gloria ALFARO, I wonder if she may not be related to Ofelia ALFARO Lopez (P-11339), teacher at the UNAM Economics School and friend of Antonio SARMIENTO (P-12703) and his wife, Violeta. Both Ofelia ALFARO and LOGINOV attended a Christmas party at the SARMIENTO's last year (pertinent clips included with the Gloria ALFARO material attached). In the 22 June 66 conversation Gloria ALFARO had with LOGINOV she mentions having met him at Christmas time.

c. Copies of all of LOGINOV's contacts with the Instituto de Interpretes-y-Traductores, including the one which mentioned Senorita HARNANDEZ, are attached. Other people connected with that outfit are:

Lio KELSIN
Sarita lnu
Jacobo Chensinski

3. Besides the names on your list I also found two clips on Margaret (Magre) FEDOR who seems to be on quite familiar terms with LOGINOV. I have included copies of them also.

4. Note that all of the calls in question are incoming calls. Also to each of these people something is mentioned about classes.

1. In response to a call-in by Subj, the C.O. went to see Subj on Saturday morning 25 June.

2. Subj reported that Valentin Loginov had dropped in to the office on 24 June to make arrangements for a return trip to the Soviet Union for (Nicolai) Leonov, who, Loginov said, had to be in Moscow at the latest 4 July. Subj said he would try to handle. /Comment: Loginov said he would come by the office on 27 June with Leonov's passport, because there was the liklihood that Subj would attempt to get a KLM flight for Leonov via Houston (requiring a U.S. visa for Leonov). In any event, Subj told the C.O. that he was not going to the U.S. Embassy to request the visa, but would buck the whole problem to KLM who would have to make any visa arrangements that were required/.

3. Interestingly enough, Loginov took the opportunity to bring up operational matters again to Subj, and Subj used the ensuing discussion to make his stance utterly clear to Loginov. The conversation went more or less as follows: Loginov said: "You're mad at me." Subj said: "Why should I be mad at you?" Loginov said: "Because of Majestic" (referring to the fact that the Sovs had first given a travel request to Viajes Majestic to be serviced). You know we have to spread it around among friends." Subj shrugged this off. Then Loginov asked: "Are you still mad?"

Subj replied: "I'm not mad, and I never was. Look, Valentin- " (and then he made his first attempt at clarification, saying in effect that in normal friendly matters they were like brothers; Subj exaggerated as is his manner- mentioning intimate matters like "marriage" and "even unto death (hasta la muerte)" but saying that that was the culmination point- "anything else" was finished). Loginov said (without batting an eye): "I had some business for you." Subj cut him short: "Don't bring me anything- important or not important- you can keep it. You want to go for coffee; you want to go out with girls; - with much pleasure; anything up to that point. And I want you to understand that clearly. Don't force me; and let's be good friends." Loginov said: "You're getting difficult."

Subj replied: "No, I'm not difficult. And there's no damage. I made my decision - and your chiefs will understand my position."

GUIDRY

Loginov tried again: "A good friend of yours was appointed Chief of the U.S. Travel Service - Paul Giedro- he's a friend of yours?"

Subj became a little heated in reply: " Yes, he's a good friend. I will always be close to him. But you get this very clear- any plans you have for Paul Cicaro, forget about them, is that clear? I won't do a goddam thing. I hope you understand that. We're friends (you and I), but beside being friends- period!"

Loginov took out a piece of paper and started to read from it, asking Subj if he knew the man "Eduardo Vetelman- approximately 55 years old- a Mexican Jew." (Attached is a photocopy of the piece of paper Loginov had been reading, and which he left behind on Subj's desk apparently by mistake. It's in Russian, and Subj was not able to translate completely at first glance. Subj plans to return the original to Loginov when he comes by on 27 June.) While Loginov was reading, Subj said insistently: " I don't know the man, and I'm not going to do anything ..." LOginov replied: "I'm not asking you to do anything - it's just that I don't know (about him). About Paul Giedro, he's a good friend of yours..." Subj said: "Forget it."

4. Subj asked the C.O. - "did I do wrong?" The C.O. replied that Subj had done beautifully- but he has to expect that the Sovs will keep up all kinds of pressures- subtle, small, or even great, and not so subtle. But the way is clear- all he has to do is say "no."

Subj said that Loginov had brought him a box of "Punch" cigars (Cuban), and Subj as usual offered to pay, but Loginov pressed them on him. Subj then said to the C.O. he wanted an expression of policy on how he should handle that kind of thing from the Sovs- take the gifts, after offering to pay? refuse outright? The C.O. said we would give the guidance he needed for that situation.

5. The C.O. will drop around to Subj's office early next week.

Addendum: the C.O. told Subj that there was a rumor that Oleg Nechiporenko was seen around town. Subj said he knew of nothing on that score, but doubted it strongly- since he was sure Oleg would have contacted him. The C.O. underscored that Subj do nothing about the rumor.

SUBJECT: [illegible] office

1. Subj rep[illegible] Valentin Loginov had dropped in at his office on 20 July. (Loginov had other business in the office too). Loginov told Subject that he had received [illegible] Moscow pertaining to Subj- that "they" were very disappointed, because they had [illegible] Subj. and they had hopes that Subj would cooperate. Subj answered (in what must sound like a broken record by now) that he still was a friend to the Soviets, that he was on their side, he was their man - but he can't do anything for them. He hoped they wouldn't try to force him- because he just can't do anything for them. P-555

Loginov didn't give up: he told Subj that Pavel Yatskov was leaving for Moscow on 4 August (he was in Subj's office to make the arrangements)- and would be returning in a month. He asked what word Yatskov can bring back to Moscow. Subj said he had already told him: nothing- he can't do anything for them. Loginov then asked what [illegible] Yatskov could bring back to Subj- and Subj said not a thing. He jokingly told Loginov if they can bring "Tamara" (a Soviet actress who had attended one of the [illegible] film festivals) that would be fine with him. Loginov appreciated the joke, and parted from Subj cordially.

/Comment: Loginov did not ask for the piece of paper he had left in Subj's office - re some man he had started to inquire about, and Subj left it at that- he didn't bring the subject up, although he has the piece of paper to return to Loginov/.

2. In response to the C.O.'s inquiry Subj mentioned the names of some applicants for travel to the Soviet Union.

Apparently for a [illegible] Congress to take place in Moscow in August 1966 Loginov had referred several applicants to Subj's office: Julieta Fernandez de [illegible]chen and her sister(Dr. Fernandez' card attached) and two friends. Dr. Fernandez made inquiries about travel arrangements. She has not come back yet.

Licenciado Luciano Lara had come to the office (?) on 21 July to arrange travel to the Soviet Union. Subj said that his employee, Miriam Avila Katz, who handles [illegible] matters, had told him that [illegible] had been invited by the Soviet Ambassador and also that he was a close friend to the Mexican Amb to Moscow.

The Montfort Travel Agency in Tijuana had transferred a request to Subj to handle the travel to the Soviet Union as tourists for two "Señoras": Maria Jesus de Abakian and Estela Castro.

/Comment: the C.O. told Subj we wanted more info about these applicants/

3. The C.O. reminded Subj that we would like additional information about the individuals who had left to attend the Microbiological Congress in Moscow. The C.O. suggested that Subj have someone in his office extract from the folder Subj has all extra information that can be adduced; such as, address, age, profession, etc. Subj said he would try to have it done before he leaves on his trip (on 31 July).

4. Subj asked if there was anything new about "Herb" (Gestetner). The C.O. said he had word from Washington about the ground rules in case he (Subj) were to go to Santiago de Chile. What he does about seeing Herb is his own affair - but if he does see Herb Subj is to omit reference to our "business" in Mexico as far as volunteering information is concerned. What Herb does vis a vis Subj is Herb's business.

5. The C.O. will get to see Subj before he leaves for Europe on 31 July.

In discussing LOGINOV with LIRANA you might wish to point out that the reason he can devote 85% of his time to intelligence work is that there are 3 KGB Consuls but no consular work:

✓ 4 hours a week office hours
✓ average 6 visas a month.
✓ USSR has less ~~con~~ consular work in Mexico than any other major country, most minor ones ✓ Consular work could be handled by 1/3 of the time of the most junior officer, ✓ etc.

But more interesting was that at 1730 Sr. Valentin "el Toro" (LOGINOV) came in to make a telephone call. Apparently it was with some Mexican woman since he was quite happy (contento). Among other things that I was able to hear was that he wanted to see her that night, that at night he dreams that she is in his arms and that tomorrow (Sunday) they could go swimming together. They talked for quite a while and he seemed quite gallant. He told her that he would take care of everything if she wanted to go to his country (USSR). I went outside the door of the store in order to afford him more liberty. When he finished talking, he wanted to justify himself to me by saying that he is a batchelor because his wife is in Cuernavaca.

Sunday, 21 August 1966

Today everything is normal since I know that my friends won't come to my house to eat. I had made my program for today, Sunday, that is to say to leave, to take my wife and grandchild to the country and eat outside the house.

But at 1330, which is the hour to close, my wife and grandchild were already there. Then SILNIKOV arrived to drink a beer. He was feeling pretty bad from last night's "drinking bout" at the fiesta celebrating the Ambassador's return. He told me that they were drinking all night. But at this time it was raining quite hard so that I couldn't close up and leave the store. My wife asked him why he had always thought differently (sic) in not coming to eat at our house. And on the moment he said that he would come. My wife shot me a questioning look and finally SILNIKOV broke the silence saying; "wait here, I will be back in a minute". Then he left in the rain which had abated a little. It then started to rain harder and a car left the Embassy driven by the Ambassador's chauffeur Sr. Viktor (STRYZHEV). He didn't park in front of the store but in Gelati, the street running parallel to the store. Then SILNIKOV came in to tell me he was ready. We shut up the store, got into the car and drove to my house. We parked the car in the street and entered my house. Once inside the first thing they did was to inspect the house in great detail even the "azotea". I think that the house pleased them. They made me show them everything including the bathroom and bedrooms. Then we sat at the table to drink tequila (la copa) and beer. My wife served barbecued chicken, una sopa, and a guisado which they ate with relish, or so it seemed to me since they ate everything served them accompanied by pleasant chatter. But he didn't even mention

4. I asked Subject if he had mentioned SILNIKOV's pornographic negative to the latter. At first Subject said no, then yes; that he had asked Silnikov about it but Silnikov said that the negative didn't belong to him but to Vasiliy who took it back to Moscow with him. Subject added that Vasiliy had returned to the USSR about two weeks ago. (Comment: This is most probably BUTSEV whom Subject calls Vasiliy and who returned to the USSR on 24 July.) (Second Comment: This is another example of one of Silnikov's vulnerabilities evaporating into thin air).

5. Concerning the item in the notes for Saturday, 30 July, in which Silnikov hid in the ballroom for twenty minutes because two other Soviets came in, Subject had the following to say about these two Soviets:

a. Valentin (El Torro), then follows a perfect description of LOGINOV.

b. Vladimir: here follows a good description of KORMUSHKIN including the fact that he replaced KOSTIKOV. Only KORMUSHKINS name is Vladislav, not Vladimir.

6. I asked Subject about the discrepancy in the 19 July meeting when he said that SILNIKOV and PRASHCHIKIN had come to the store on Saturday 16 July but his notes said that PRASHCHIKIN and his replacement had come. Subject said that he doesn't know who PRASHCHIKIN's replacement is. He also couldn't explain the discrepancy, stating that he couldn't remember the incident now.

7. I also asked him about his item of 21 July in which at the request of VALENTIN he had delivered two cases of refrescos to General Cano 32. (We have no Soviets at this address). He changed it to General Leon 32 (MIKITIN's home and the film office). The VALENTIN noted above is LOGINOV. When Subject delivered the two cases only a Soviet woman was at home. He described this address as a single house which is undergoing renovation inside.

8. In discussing SILNIKOV's recent work fixing up the Embassy I asked who actually did the work. Subject said that the Soviets do not like to deal with established firms for repairs to the Embassy because they charge too much. They prefer to deal with small independent people whom they can beat down on the price. Subject knows of two such individuals:

MEMO FOR RECORD

In his monthly report for August 1966, LICALLA said YATSKOV seemed to have taken PRIKHODKO's place. When I asked why he thought that, he answered:

PRIKHODKO is not here (he left 28 June on home leave). PRIKHODKO had been entering the Embassy through the main door and was seen working in window # 22. Now YATSKOV is entering through the main door and was seen working at this window. YATSKOV also had the same contact with NIKIFOROV which PRIKHODKO had previously had. Now that YATSKOV has also left (4 Aug), LICALLA thinks that LOGINOV is probably taking his place. (This last statement is not clear: whether LOGINOV is taking YATSKOV's place in YATSKOV's old job, which would be most logical. Or whether LICALLA thinks LOGINOV may now be in the PRIKHODKO job. In any case, PRIKHODKO himself should be back momentarily.)

Vladimir Goncharenko, [illegible] (wife), children, Marina and Vladimir, Sabena, 7 August. Brussels/Moscow, 9 August.

Re Licenciado Luciano Lara- dropped into Subj's office 28 July (?) and was very officious. When Subj did not have confirmed travel to Satellite countries (including Rumania and Czechoslovakia) ready, Lara fussed and said he would go to Moscow and make his arrangements from there. Plans stay in Moscow a month. Has free ticket on Aeronaves Mexico to Madrid. Subj booked him for travel from Madrid to Moscow, via Amsterdam, and return.

Valentin Loginov had dropped in to Subj's office on 27 July but Subj was too busy to see him. Loginov called Subj on 28 July and made an appointment to see Subj at 1200 on 29 July at the Flor de Mexico Restaurant near Subj's office.

The C.O. stressed to Subj that he continue to play the same tune with Loginov of friends, yes- work, no.

2. On 30 July the C.O. saw Subj briefly in his office; Subj's wife had accompanied him to the office because she will be managing it while Subj is away on his European trip starting 31 July. According to Subj, his wife is not witting of the C.O. except as a friend of Subj. With the wife Esther, around, Subj was able to manage only a brief account of his meet with Loginov on 29 July. The expected power play by Loginov did not take place- he met with Subj just to confirm Pavel Yatskov's travel arrangements and to ask Subj again if they could bring Subj anything from Moscow. Yatskov dropped in to the Flor de Mexico too, but contributed nothing to the conversation. Subj said he didn't want anything from Moscow (he had given Prikhodko fifty dollars to bring him back two kilos of caviar).

For the promised additional information on the group who were going to the Microbiological Congress in Moscow (see previous Contact Report for complete list), Subj turned over to the C.O. the attached list which gives only telephone numbers of the professionals going to the Congress, and in some cases the positions.

The C.O. told Esther that he might drop in to the office, if he could do anything for her. Note: Subj not due back until the end of August.

SUBJECT: LICOWL-1

1. I met LICOWL-1 on 27 July at 1930 hours (COIGNE was sick). The meeting lasted until 2015 hours and I set the next meeting for COIGNE for the same time and location Wednesday, 10 August. Tell COIGNE he will owe LICOWL-1 $800 pesos for salary for the month of July and at the end of August he will owe him another 800 pesos for August. I always pay him at the end of the month.

2. He turned over two audio microphones and I gave them to Feldmann. The microphones were installed in his shop and we have taken the recorder out. The brown paper attached was found in LICOWL's notes (Written) for the 25th of June. He said he did not recall how it had gotten there and did not know who had written and drawn on the paper - it's very odd since the word written on the piece of brown paper and the last entry in LICOWL's notes are the same - but the handwriting is definitely different. Only LICOWL should have access to his notes.

LICOWL's written notes from 27 July meeting (translated by WEENING:

SILNIKOV P/

Wednesday, 20 July: Today my friend Estanislao (SILNIKOV) came to drink a Tecate beer at about 11 am, and I asked him about the photographs which he had told me he wanted me to make from a negative which he has. He answered that he was going to look for the negative and bring it to me. Then he told me that another one of his friends (i.e. Soviets) was leaving on 24 July and that now it was Vasiliy's turn (BUTSEV did leave on 24 July), since he has a son about 9 years old and now it is time to teach him how to be a good comrade," . . ."since for thoseof us who live in a free country, this life of this people seems bad to us because everything is different from what we do. They teach us to love our Progress (?), to live well with our neighbors, to help the poor, to give food to beggers. While they come to our country to create disorder and create distance within our families and in our work, and they infiltrate themselves everywhere in order to sow hatred. They show us everything which is produced in their country and how much they have. But they import things from our countries through their embassies. Daily, their sedition movements can be seen. In fact, a month ago a group of Mexicans (in name) obtained visas for Moscow and in the (Soviet) Embassy they were given a "blast" with as much vodka as they could drink. A good start in getting to know the country which so "foolishly" hopes to improve its mentally backward who cannot realize the evil they do in supporting those who sow desolation wherever they go. After seeing people come every day to the Embassy to get propaganda we can only think that their work is (valid).

LOGINOV P/

Thursday, 21 July: Today at 1045 Sr. Valentin (LOGINOV or. KUCHEROV) came in to use the telephone and asked someone to wait for him at General Cano 32, and as he was about to hang up he stressed that they be sure to wait for him at 7:30 pm. After talking to whoever it was, he asked me to send him, at the same address on General Cano, two cases of quinine water and gingerale by 7 pm. without fail. I delivered them in person and took them into the kitchen and I noticed that the house was being repaired and that they were getting ready for oompany, since there were several bottles of liquor there. (COMMENT: No Soviets live at General Cano 32. NIKITIN lives at General Leon 32 and,
